Evaluating Tecumseh, Area for New Secretary Office

Time will tell whether Tecumseh will permanently lose its branch office of the Secretary of State.

William Thompson, state official in the Secretary's office, said Monday morning that all branch offices are being re-evaluated, and this includes the Tecumseh branch which was closed Saturday.

Mrs. Ethel Hammack, branch manager here since 1959, submitted her resignation several weeks ago and announced her intentions to close the office Saturday, Dec. 28.

Mr. Thompson said managers are appointed on a patronage basis and acknowledged that his office had one application.

Ernest Oliver, who was recently appointed magistrate here by the district judges, applied for the appointment at the county level and also informed the Lansing office via mail of his interest in the office.

If folks in the Tecumseh, Clinton, Britton and outlying areas are interested in a branch office here, they could write to Mr. Thompson, Secretary of State Office, Lansing, Michigan. His phone number is 90-517-373-2565.

In regards to Mr. Oliver's application, Mr. Thompson said no action had been taken. He said the final appointment is an administrative decision and would be made by James Hare, Democrat, Secretary of State.

Mr. Oliver is a Democrat and sought the State Representative post currently held by Robert Stites at the November election.

The local office reportedly grosses approximately $5,500 per year.

Mr. Thompson told The Herald that if enough people were concerned about having an office in Tecumseh ,their feelings "would certainly be considered."

The local office was about one-third the size of the Adrian office, which also handles license plate sales and transfers for Blissfield, Hudson and Morenci. Tecumseh office handles in the excess of 8,500 auto plates a year plus those for trucks and trailers.

However, new and used car dealers in Clinton and Tecumseh sell annually approximately the same number of vehicles as the Adrian agencies do. One dealer here stated that he would probably go to the license bureau in Dundee, rather than to Adrian, as it would be quicker.

Unless the office is reinstated here, auto dealers — main users of the office during the year — would have to travel about 20 or 30 miles, roundtrip, to Adrian.

The county's two largest dealerships, Underwood Chevrolet-Pontiac and George Underwood Fordland, would be forced to make the 30-mile trip, or go to Dundee, which would be almost a 40-mile roundtrip.

Tecumseh's Chamber of Commerce will wire the Lansing office, protesting the closing of the office, and it's understood that the Jaycees plan to follow suit.

Office 2 Days Only

Tecumseh and the area will have a Secretary of State office on a somewhat make-shift basis at the local fire station on S. Evans St.

Mrs. Mary Emerson, manager of the Adrian office, will conduct business here all day on Wednesdays and on Saturday afternoons, beginning this Saturday, Jan. 4.

She also says a temporary office will be maintained here the final two weeks of February.

CHRISTMAS VISITORS — The Rev. Francis Outram and his wife, Eileen, really enjoyed their first Christmas in the United States when their two children, Margaret and John, arrived for the holidays. Mr. Outram is an exchange rector from England, for the Rev. Frank Hawthorne, who is abroad filling in for the English pastor.

Here for Holidays

Christmas away from home is a sad time for many people. But for the Rev. Francis Outram and his family, Christmas in America is a time of worship, new experiences, and fun.

Dean Outram, as he is known in England, and his wife, Eileen, arrived from England in October, 1968, in an exchange program with the Rev. Frank Hawthorne, who is now at the Rev. Outram's parish in Battle of Sussex, England.

The exchange was arranged through the bishops of the Church of England, which is of one communion with the Episcopal Church of the United States.

"The people here have been so wonderful to us," the Rev. Outram said. "We have been overwhelmed with kindness."

Dean and his wife received an extra Christmas present when their two children, John, 21, and Margaret, 19, arrived Monday to spend the Yule holidays in America before returning to England Jan. 10, to continue their educations.

The Rev. Outram delivered his first sermon here Oct. 12 and will be here until July, when he will return to his parish in Battle.

Battle, the site of the 1066 Battle of Hastings, is of Norman work and dates back to 1110. The deanery, where the Rev. Hawthorne is residing, is of the late Elizabethian period.

"The difference between the Church of England and America's Episcopal Church is a matter of size," the Rev. Outram said. In England, the church is the main church of all England. In the United States, the Episcopal Church is one denomination among others.

The historical pattern of the church life is the main difference between the two churches.

The Outrams hope to do some traveling in the States before they leave.

"My ambition is to visit the Grand Canyon," Dean Outram said.

The Rev. Outram was educated at Cambridge University in England where he received a degree in natural science.

He worked as a geologist for three years until he returned to the University to study theology. He was ordained in 1953.

Dean, whose father was also in the ministry, served six years as a chaplain in the Navy during Word War II then worked on educational work in Ceylon for four years.

After his return, he started his first independent parish in 1946.

Icy Streets Are Blamed for Mishaps

Ice and snow continued to contribute to the number of accidents on local streets during the past week, and in one mishap an 18-year-old girl was taken to Herrick Hospital for treatment.

A resume of the mishaps investigated by local police is:

Dec. 24 — Bruce Le Gibbard, 18, Clinton, lost control of his car on slippery N. Malden Lane and struck a telephone pole. A passenger, Jill Holden, 18, of 208 S. Union, suffered a facial laceration and was taken to the local hospital for medication.

Dec. 25—William A. Edwards, 216½ S. Oneida St., reported his auto damaged while parked at the curb. Other driver is unknown.

Dec. 25 — Joe Mannino, 114 Park St., reported his car extensively damaged while parked in front of his home. Other driver is unknown.

Dec. 27 — Harold G. Gordon, 31, of 1207 Russell Rd., lost control of his car on the ice and struck a mail box. Accident occurred on Russell Rd.

Dec. 27 — An auto owned by Robert McCrate of 513 Seminole Dr., was damaged at Ed's Standard Service after David Meyers, 16, of 1008 Red Mill Dr., stopped for some gasoline, got out of his car, which then rolled forward into McCrate's parked vehicle.

Dec. 27 — Donald Whelan, 26, of 1207 Willow St., reported the under part of his car damaged when he struck a tipped manhole cover on Occidental Rd. at Southwestern Dr.

Dec. 28 — Allen J. Whisman, 17, Brooklyn, was cited for failure to stop within an assured clear distance after sliding into the rear of a car driven by Richard W. Treece, 51, of 106 Cairns. Accident occurred on E. Chicago Blvd.

Dec. 30—Ronald D. Randolph, 17, of 301 Adrian St., was headed west on Tecumseh-Macon Rd., near Hewlett Hwy., at about 45 mph when he skidded on ice. He slid across the road, through a ditch, scraped a tree and eventually stopped in a field. He was issued a ticket for failure to have his car under control.

Dec. 30 — Margaret Jarvis, 19, Ypsilanti, struck ice on N. Ottawa St. at the curve and hit the guard rail. Her auto sustained some damages but no damage was inflicted on the guard rail.

County Supervisors Sworn into Office

By BILL SANFORD

The seating arrangement has been changed and new faces occupy those seats. But as some feel and others express, Parkinson's Law is about to be tested with virtuosity. The new revamped Board of Supervisors was sworn-in Monday afternoon before Judge Rex Martin and the latter day saints in public life showed signs of conflict as well as utter boredom.

Two new supervisors on the 21-member board represent Tecumseh, Faye Whelan and T. J. Wagner. Gone are the faces of Don Sunderland, Harold Easton, Cal Zorn and the Rev. B. O. Bashore. Among the others missing from the area were Jim Mitchell in Raisin township and Art Eaton, Tecumseh, both townships were joined in a district and William Mackey took office in their places.

Ron Brown still represents Cambridge along with Franklin. M. M. Halley is representing Clinton as well as Macon township in District 1, and Deerfield joined Ridgeway to form a district represented by Stacy Zilke.

All 21 of the members were present to speak the oath of office. According to law, no business transacted by the supervisors in the short session Monday is legal, the only business transpiring was the election of a chairman and chairman protem, which will have to be confirmed at their January meeting.

Merrill Hull of Blissfield was elected to the post of chairman, nobody knows how long, as no rules governed the action taken by the supervisors. A pro-tem was also elected in the person of Ron Brown.

On the previous and outlawed board of supervisors the protem was the heir apparent to the throne of leadership to the county's governing body. Hull had served in 1968 as retiring chairman Harry Dusseau's protem. Ironically, Hull defeated Dusseau in the August Republican primary.

It is apparent after one meeting that party lines will cross and criss-cross in mad fashion for the next two years. The three Democrats who sit on the board now favor the city voice

County Says Room Should Be 'Free'

County Supervisors have informed Cal Zorn, city manager, that its Building and Grounds Committee is not interested in renting the Council room at $100 a month for the district judges.

Mr. Zorn says it was his understanding that county officials feel the room should be given free to the judges, as they were providing a convenience and service to the people here and the county should not subsidize such a service or convenience.

Council set the fee of $100 a month at the Dec. 16th meeting when Stacey Zilke, chairman of the county committee, and Kenneth Glaser, approached the city about using the room. Mr. Zilke notified Mr. Zorn that the county would not rent the room.

They wanted the room reserved each Wednesday for the district judges and wanted to install some recording equipment and construct some shelves for legal books.

City officials feel the asking price is not out of line and they should not provide such a facility free. They cite overhead expenses, janitorial costs, installation of equipment and the fact that the room would be reserved for the judges and not the city — for which it was intended.

Although the fee here may seem steep to some, the supervisors allocated $96,000 for purchase of a piece of property and its remodeling for the judges in Adrian.

It's understood other facilities in Tecumseh are being sought, but it's not known where. According to law, the judges must hold court here but the law doesn't say how often.

Volunteers Net $258 for Needy

Forty man-hours from members of the Kiwanis and Rotary Clubs manning the Salvation Army kettles the Saturday before Christmas netted $258.50.

Two men from each club every hour for 10 hours was the schedule.

The money was used for 25 families in the Tecumseh area.

Association To Adopt New Name

If stockholders approve at the annual meeting on Jan. 15, Adrian Federal Savings and Loan Association will drop the name that has identified the corporation for nearly 35 years.

New name will be "First Federal Savings and Loan Association of Lenawee." The name change has already been approved by the directors.

Allen Graybiel, president, said the main reason for the change "was to better define the area which we serve."

Adrian Federal does business mainly in Lenawee County, but also has patrons in other counties.

John Surratt, Tecumseh office manager, is vice-president and secretary.

The corporation, formerly the Adrian Building and Loan Association, is celebrating its 80th anniversary this year.

Wood Sentencing Held for Report

David Wood, confessed to breaking and entering and stealing a truck, still awaits sentencing in Circuit Court.

According to local police, Judge Rex Martin is awaiting a probationary report. The 23-year-old youth has a past record.

Wood broke into the H. W. Tuttle Co. plant here last month and then stole a company truck. Shortly afterwards, the Tecumseh firm sustained a $100,000 fire.

Start Tree Pick-up

Free pickup of Christmas trees by the city will begin this Thursday, and residents are asked to have them at the curb.

Pickups will end next Tuesday, Jan. 7.

Letters to the Editor

TO THE EDITOR:

In a recent Herald, the Police Blotter contained the name of a person who was issued an unfair ticket. The ticket was given for running a red light, that he never ran, at least not in the sense of the policeman's thoughts.

This person was making a left turn from Chicago to Ottawa and was under a green light when it turned yellow then red. He then proceeded to make his turn when an over-anxious driver comitig through the green on Ottawa almost hit him. The policeman who was one lane over and three cars behind evidently came through the red light and issued him a ticket.

What I am asking is: How much did this policeman see? Did he see this person under the light? Is it illegal to be under a green light and then proceed to turn when it is red? If so, I, along with many, many other people have been breaking a law.

When the ticket was issued, the driver did not argue but was not given an opportunity to explain. I think it is very unfair that people are always being wrongly accused, especially when the accuser knows only half the facts.

Name withheld.

Ikle of Blissfield, were united in marriage in a double ring service before the altar enhanced with white gladioli and chrysanthemums and lighted candelabra fronted with Christmas greens.

Supervisors

in county affairs. The banning of city officials is apt to be more evident with the complete burden of office being on their shoulders. As city officials and elected as such, their actions on the board had the tendencies of going along with the wishes of their city commissions rather than taking separate, individual stands. The opposite now appears to be the case.

Adrian supervisors gathered some interest from the local partisans when they came out in favor of a streamlining of the board's actions.

The old-line supervisors who were elevated to the county post gave the impression that the new board would simply be a continuation of their control over the county board. Those still remaining are Zilke, Hailey, Brown, Hull, John Keller, Wayne Fish of Hudson, Art Twiss, Lewis Glaser of Adrian and Melvin Rodesiler.

The "old pros" have worked hard to gather support among the incoming 12 members who by virtue of numbers, could force some changes in the board.

Morris Rosenthal of Manitou Beach expressed a desire to outline the agenda for each meeting of the board so that members would be able to attend the meetings more versed in the actions at hand.

Salaries, meeting dates, committee assignments and other business pertinent to the board will be the agenda for the first few meetings of the county supervisors.

The seats are in a semi-circle around the chairman's desk now, the number has been reduced. A new lesson in governmental pragmatism has been instilled, but the moment Merrill Hudrapped the gavel it appeared that the old triumvirate was still very much alive. In the months ahead it will either survive and go on to control the body, or like the 35 member board, slip into obscurity.

Mr. and Mrs. Edwin F. Walters and daughter, Debra Ann, of 509 Stacy, had as their house guests over the Christmas holidays Mrs. Walters' parents, Mr. and Mrs. Albert Overholt and Miss Ruth Ann Brown, sister of Mrs. Walters, all of Goshen, Ind.

YOU TOLD US

By DOROTHY GRIGG
Herald Society Editor

Seven little men with five hammers each all began beating on my poor befuddled brain Saturday morning while their counterparts worked on the intestinal area. Now I know without a doubt why so many people look peaked and sunken-eyed like they have been through Dante's Inferno.

Fortunately for me a weekend in bed seemed to relieve the situation considerably, but I have called many homes where such was not the case and the flu bug made an extended stay of two or three weeks.

First on my list of New Year's Resolutions right up next to "Do unto others as you would have them do unto you" is "Keep Fit."

Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Kruger of Ridgeway had as Christmas dinner guests, Mr. and Mrs. Glen Hall, Blissfield, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Moore, Battle Creek, and Mr. and Mrs. Don Clark, Tecumseh. A Difference Between 'Cite' and 'Arrested'

Although a police ticket carries the terminology of "arresting officer" and the accident report includes "arrested" for traffic violations, motorists are not really arrested unless they're taken into custody.

Riley Koertge, owner of the Chicken Basket, has questioned the usage of "arrested" in traffic violations. In his recent case, involving a violation for failure to yield the right of way, Mr. Koertge was not arrested but was cited or issued a ticket, according to the police manual.

Officer Jerry Anderson provided the answer with some research at the local department.

Musings

by Bill Sanford

Bye, Bye, Leap Year

Well, I have survived Leap Year still intact as a bachelor, somewhat sadly though. After rummaging through life like a caricature with little to offer in the routine of what makes the spirit tick, I'm kind of sad when the altar eludes me now. It seems in all practicality I would like to be married. If only women were not allowed to vote, or drive cars.

Enough of the nonsense of bachelorhood, because it really isn't what it's cracked up to be in the movies. Let's face it, I'm no Cary Grant; more of a combination of John Carradine and Gabby Hayes, or subtitled the world's tallest featherweight.

Distinctly the bachelor's life is such that you do not eat in restaurants for pleasure, you eat in dining rooms with hundreds of little kids, not beguiling waitresses crowding your elbow, the only tip you need there is a book from Dr. Spock.

Take for instance, if I were to get married, I never want to eat in a restaurant again, but Mrs. S., theoretically speaking, would like to get out of the kitchen I want her to stay in. Not being a teenager and having forever tried to please the distaff in my life, I won't know how to argue and win, so I would lose.

Like the word "obey" from the verse in the Book of Common Prayer, it is almost always left out now, that is when the women speak it, but not the men, the men are coerced by the face on the Grecian Urn to say it non-[illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [

Area Farmer Has Good Yield

Fred Feight, 1760 Russell Rd., with an excellent yield of 167 bushels of corn per acre, has been entered in the 1968 DeKalb 200 Bushel Club.

Feight's yield came from a field of DeKalb XL-45. His entry was mechanically harvested and verified by an impartial third party.

To attain his fine yield, he used such progressive management practices as early and thick planting, good weed and insect control, heavy fertilization and high population hybrids.

He planted on May 7 in 8-inch rows at a seeding rate of 40,000 plants per acre. His estimated harvest stand was 36,000 plants.

Feight's fertilizer program included 147 pounds of nitrogen, 116 pounds of phosphate and 180 pounds of potassium. Weeds were controlled with Atrazine and one cultivation.

The DeKalb 200 Bushel Club was begun in 1961. Its purpose is to promote friendly competition as well as discussion and idea exchange among the nation's leading corn farmers. The program attempts to encourage practices which will help farmers gain the maximum amount of net profit from each acre of corn.

TERRY E. PACKARD

Recent Graduate of DeVry Institute

Terry E. Packard, 511 S. Evans St., recently was awarded a diploma from DeVry Institute of Technology, a Bell & Howell School, Chicago, Ill., one of the nation's leading technical education centers. His education covered an Electronics Technician program.

For his achievement, Packard received a diploma from Joseph J. Gershon, vice-president of education. In presenting the award Gershon said, "Not only do you personally stand to gain from your accomplishment, but so will your country. Skilled men are needed to insure that the United States maintains its lead in science, technology and industry."

"Moreover," Gershon added, "the education you have received will help you confidently meet the challenge of automation, rather than to fear it, as do many unskilled men."

Terry is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Francis Packard, 511 S. Evans St., and the first recipient of the Kiwanis Technical and Trade Scholarship.

He has been home since Dec. 22 for a vacation with his parents and returned Monday to Chicago where he will be employed by IBM.

While studying at DeVry, he was employed full time at the Chicago Post Office.

Through My Window

1968 IN REVIEW, cont'd.

The joke is on me! Last week's article was written and turned in without a second thought — The Herald comes out on Thursday, Christmas was on Wednesday and it just never entered my pointed little head that, because of the holidays, some schedules were changed. When Dad picked up our mail at the postoffice late Tuesday afternoon, he was a little surprised to find a paper; after dinner, when we read the paper, it came as a great surprise to learn, "Good Gracious, Christmas is over".

All this on the 24th of December. I just have a sneaking suspicion that this is going to haunt me for some time. I hope it afforded other people as many laughs as it did we three Duncans and one Austin.

But now it is time to settle down to business. (Please note that I am not committing myself as to exactly when 'now' is.) Last week's review ran through June, so logically we should now start with July.

My, it was warm and sunny way back then, wasn't it? No, actually, the weather was not all that good because on the 5th there was a tremendous hail storm and many notations about the last two weeks were rain, rain, rain.

Birdwise, of course, all of our July watching was monopolized by the youngsters; on the 5th it was Mama Flicker and Junior, the 10th showed us the first young oriole, the 11th brought a young nuthatch, the 14th found Papa Cardinal feeding his family and from the 16th on the brown headed red-headed woodpecker youngsters tantalized us by not coming within camera range. It was also a month of the adult red-heads eating oranges, hummingbirds, crows, woodchucks and rabbits.

AUGUST was vacation month. We stole a week and went north, quite a time at Intermediate Lake. Before taking off we laughed at a squirrel who spent all morning chasing a rabbit out of the yard and our welcome home sight was a feeder full of bald-headed bluejays. An exceptionally good month for all the regulars and finally on the 25th a brown thrasher made a long-overdue visit.

SEPTEMBER started out with a bang, when on the 1st there were 'chick-a-dees' Hooray, they soon became off-and-on regulars. The 3rd was busy with tufted titmice, hummingbirds, hairy woodpeckers and very young cardinals; on the 10th Papa and Mama Cardinal were eating together again, the bluejays were all busy and one member of the squirrel clan embarked on a life of crime by becoming an ear of corn thief; the 12th showed a white crowned sparrow; the 18th was exciting because Gertie T. rushed in with the news that she had a red-breasted nuthatch.

All month the two young squirrels played together, their wrestling matches and ferocious games of follow-the-leader were laughably puppy-like.

On the 16th a pair of very young flickers investigated this big wide world and we finished September with two days of exceptionally good hairy woodpecker watching.

OCTOBER was tremendous. Just look — 1, cardinals and orange-crowned warblers; 2, tree sparrows, robins, squirrels and bluejays; 3, ting mystery bird in cherry tree; 5 and 6, chick-a-dees; 7, blackburnian warblers, ruby-crowned kinglet, flock of chick-a-dees and yellow-bellied sapsucker; 9, cedar waxwings and ruby crowned kinglets, chick-a-dees and brown creepers; from the 12th to the 19th there was more of the same; 20, the first juncos; 22, three crows, 23 song sparrows, juncos, warblers wearing no name tags, cardinals, waxwings, flickers, brown creepers, and evening grosbeaks at Ella's. There were snow flurries on the 29th and a hard, hard frost the 30th.

NOVEMBER, however, pulled a flip-flop and started with such unseasonably warm weather that we actually had windows open. It ended on an odd note, too, there was a hard rainstorm with strong winds and much thunder and lightning on Thanksgiving Day.

The lovely cedar waxwings ended their long visit with us on the exciting Election Day. Clara entertained a brown thrasher at her feeder on the 8th and the 10th was busy here with a late gathering clan of robins.

On a snowy 18th our first winter-garbed goldfinches appeared as did a chunky little song sparrow and a surprisingly well-groomed yellow-bellied sapsucker.

DECEMBER is always such a marvelously hectic month and, in all truth, I must admit that most of our attention is focused upon the things which happen on this side of my window.

But there was bird action — a belted kingfisher made a surprise appearance on the 2nd; there was a big flock of mourning doves here the 4th; business was elsewhere on the 9th, evening grosbeaks at Blanden's and the red-breasted nuthatch at Clara's; five squirrels entertained us the 11th; the 15th and 16th were full of juncos, bluejays, cardinals and goldfinches. And, just to end the year on a high note, as Gertie T. and I work on this article we are oohing and aahing at a handsome flicker dining at the feeder.

So it is that '68 has been, if not the very best year, certainly a good year and now we anxiously wait and wonder what '69 will bring.

NEXT WEEK:
"The Big and Little Of It."

While most of us would rather see the flowers in bloom, these youngsters braved the zero weather and enjoyed the snow on the steep bank at the Tecumseh High School athletic field. The weekend snow provided a good base for sleds and toboggans for the younger folks, while many were scooting about the countryside in snowmobiles. The athletic field has always been a favorite spot for a short, fast ride. If January is indicative of the weather to come—and more snow has been predicted this week—youngsters and many adults should have plenty of opportunities to use their sleds, toboggans, snowmobiles — and snow tires. For some, have hope, summer is just 6 months away.

Preliminary Work OK'd for New Dam

Possibility of a new Globe Mill Pond dam this year gained ground Monday night when Council authorized an expenditure of some $2,000 for preliminary work.

Louis Winkelhaus, Ann Arbor engineer, told city officials that ground borings at the dam site would be necessary — regardless of who put the dam in — plus soil samplings of the pond bottom for possible use of this soil in earth work around a new dam.

He also said engineering profile of the area and the amount of flow at flood stage would be required. Design of the dam itself would be relatively simple, according to Mr. Winklehaus.

City officials learned that such information could be attained by March 1, and actual construction could start with the arrival of warmer weather in the spring.

Mr. Winklehaus suggested sheet metal at the dam site and estimated this installation in approximately 10 days. The dam and its concrete spillway would follow, and the Ann Arbor engineer indicated such construction would not be a lengthy project.

His estimate for a new Globe Mill Pond dam is $65,000, over a $100,000 less than the highest estimate received by the city. The $65,000 included some costs which were discussed at Monday night's session, indicating the Winkelhaus firm would be able to complete the entire dam within the $65,000 figure.

At the Dec. 16 meeting of Council, officials proposed a special assessment plan for financing a new dam. Main property owners in the adjoining area are the city, schools and Dr. M. R. Blanden.

Globe Mill Pond and some acreage, amounting to about 60 acres, have been offered to the city for $15,000 by Perry Satterthwaite, president of Hayden Fuel, owner of the property.

Cal Zorn, city manager, is hopeful that some Federal monies will be available for restoring Globe Mill Pond and a new dam there.

HERALD PHOTO BY BILL WHITING

NEW BUSINESSMEN — Bill Tatro and John Kitz, here with employee, Mrs. Dale Cook, have purchased the Pickard Floral Shop and took over management of the flower shop, Jan. 2. New name is J-B Floral. John, 36, is from Westland, suburb of Detroit, where he was a salesman for Roseville Floral Line and Nelson-McCoy Pottery. Bill, 38, is from Garden City and was in the vending machine business in Detroit. John has two school-age youngsters, and Bill, four children with three in school. They expect to move to Tecumseh next spring or summer. Harold and Alda Pickard, who started the business here in the Schneider building about 10 years ago, plan a trip to Florida and California, and will return to their home at Wamplers Lake.

Church Dedicated

More than 200 attended the dedication services at the Tecumseh Church of the Nazarene Sunday afternoon when Dr. E. W. Martin, Eastern Michigan District Superintendent, was the keynote speaker.

The theme of the services was "The Church with a Message for the Present and a Vision for the Future".

The Rev. Alfred Sheley, president of the Tecumseh Area Ministerial Association, brought greetings from that body and joined Dr. Martin in stating that the new church was certainly located in a desirable spot with traffic flowing in both directions.

The Harbor Light Quartette of Battle Creek provided special music and the congregation participated in the act of dedication.

The congregation first met in a small building off S. Evans St., occupied at one time by Ted Brooks Meat Market and later moved to the new parsonage building at 807 Sunset Drive. The parsonage will soon be occupied by the pastor of the Church of the Nazarene, the Rev. Herbert Nation.

Players Hold Talent Hunt

Try-outs for the hit musical, "Oklahoma", to be presented by the Tecumseh Players, will be held from 7:30 to 9 p.m., Friday, Jan. 10 and from 2 to 4 p.m. Sunday, Jan. 12, at the Community Center in the Glass Room, Joseph Balsanek of Adrian, directing.

There are varied parts to be filled and anyone wishing to try out will be welcome. Presentation dates for this production are yet to be realized, but tentatively will be during the latter part of February and the first part of March.

Selling Tags

A temporary Secretary of State office was opened here last week by Mrs. Mary Emerson, manager of the Adrian branch.

The city has provided her with free facilities at the fire station until Feb. 15.

Cal Zorn, city manager, says a charge will then be assessed for the final two weeks of February. It's not known whether she will continue a temporary office here after March 1, according to the city official.

At the present, the office is being held open each Wednesday and on Saturday afternoons for license tags.

Some complaints already have been made to Lansing for closing the Secretary's office in Tecumseh.

One auto dealer in Clinton has sought the help of the Michigan Auto Dealers Association in returning a permanent office. In his communication to G. L. Haley, executive vice-president, he pointed out that Tecumseh and Clinton dealers sell as many cars as those in Adrian.

No Problem In Tecumseh

Folks who depend on fuel oil to heat their homes can stop worrying about lack of fuel due to the recent strike of suppliers.

A check with local suppliers—and service stations — show ample fuel on hand and deliveries being made.

Don Purkey, of Lenawee Fuels, Inc., says his company has leased a 7,000-gallon tanker to haul its fuel. He reports a large supply on hand and anticipates no problem in supplying residences now or in the future.

Ray Dollison, of Beach Bros., Inc., says his company is hauling in two loads of fuel each day and has plenty of fuel in storage tanks. No trouble is expected in supplying patrons.

Several service stations also were contacted and none of the dealers expect any shortage.

Bank Report 'Tops'

Shareholders of the United Savings Bank of Tecumseh had to read just the first sentence of a letter last week to learn of the bank's record for 1968. That sentence reads:

"It is a pleasure to report that the year 1968 has been the most successful in your bank's history."

J. W. "Pat" Meadows, bank president and chairman of the board, continued in his report to shareholders a detailed review of '68.

Gross operating income jumped from $1,436,000 in 1967 to $1,640,000.

Net operating income increased to $330,000 from $303,000 of the previous year. Besides a 25% stock dividend paid to shareholders last February, cash dividends declared in 1968 amounted to $156,250, compared to $135,000 in '67.

Bank's capital and surplus was increased by $175,000.

Savings interest was the largest expense, amounting to $712,000, almost $115,000 more than the previous year.

"This increase in savings interest reflect the exceptional growth in our total savings to $19,700,000 from $15,800,000 at the beginning of the year," explained Mr. Meadows.

Also last year, the bank increased its holdings of government securities from $4,500,000 to $7,500,000.

Enclosed with last week's letter to shareholders was a check for the regular quarterly dividend of 25c per share, plus a year-end extra dividend of 25c per share.

The local bank will hold its annual meeting Jan. 21st at the Tecumseh Country Club.

Fisher Payroll at $10 Million

General Motors' 1968 employee payrolls at the Tecumseh Fisher Body plant topped the $10 million mark for the first time since the plant began operations in 1965, it was announced by F. W. vanWestrenen, plant manager.

In a recent year-end statement, vanWestrenen reported that, in addition to payrolls of $10,459,700, purchases of goods and services within the Lenawee County area amounted to $407,600.

Plant employment continued to increase during the past year, averaging 1,160, approximately 16 per cent above the 1967 average.

Fisher Body employees and General Motors contributed $50,145 to the 1968 Lenawee County and Tecumseh Area United Funds. In addition, employees invested more than $256,000 in U. S. Savings Bonds through payroll deduction during 1968.

GM Suggestion Plan awards totalled $14,000 during the past year. These awards were given to employees for ideas submitted to improve operations performed in the plant or for improving the product.

The Fisher Body Tecumseh plant produces interior trim sets for the Oldsmobile F-85, Pontiac Tempest and Buick Special series of General Motors cars.

Firemen Build Rinks

Tecumseh firemen voted Tuesday evening to donate their labor and equipment for flooding ice rinks in the city.

Wallace MacGeorge, fire chief, says a rink will be flooded at city hall and another at Nelson Field, on S. Union St. The city hall rink is presently banked for flooding, but street department employees will have to grade and bank at Nelson Field.

A rink on private property at the corner of Brown St. and Brook is currently in use. It will be checked to see if additional flooding is needed.

Youngsters have been skating at Tecumseh Park for the past week, and a check Tuesday morning by city officials report the ice thick and safe.

Construction Slips Again

Although construction in general has boomed, it continued to slide in Tecumseh during 1968 with just $680,755 in new building reported for last year by Robert E. Hamden, building inspector.

Over one-third of the total was made up by new houses. The city issued 13 permits for new, one-family houses at an estimated cost of $265,500.

Forty-four permits were issued for new construction, which also includes two 2-family houses, $49,500; a six-family apartment, $48,000; an industrial building, $2,979; 21 garages and carports, $28,576; store building, $90,000; and structures other than buildings, $2,910.

Additions and alterations contributed $193,290. There were 100 permits for residential buildings and 28 permits for other structures.

Last year, Mr. Hamden reported construction amounting to $746,825 for 1967.

More homes were built or started in Tecumseh Township last year than in the city.

The township reports 20 permits for homes and 10 permits for additions and alterations.

Total development cost in the township has been estimated at $417,550.

Board of Review Posts are Filled

Duncan Oliphant was appointed by Council Monday evening to complete T. J. Wagner's term on the Board of Review.

Mr. Wagner is now a County Supervisor and resigned from the Board last month. His term expires in 1971.

F. C. Dickinson was re-appointed to the Board of Review.

Attendance In Schools Is Normal

Pupil attendance in the Tecumsem schools has not been affected by the Hong Kong flu — or any other type of the flu — according to the schools' absentee records.

In fact, on many days the attendance records have been better than in past years.

In November the University of Michigan Health Study inoculated approximately 3,000 students and school personnel here in an experiment to prevent an epidemic of the Hong Kong flu.

While the flu has supposedly reached its peak and has stricken many adults, Tecumseh in comparison to many other communities has been fortunate.

Later this month, research reports will be available to determine the effectiveness of the mass inoculation program.

Traffic Light For N. Evans St.

Council authorized the purchase Monday night of a new traffic light for the intersection of N. Evans St. and Herrick Park Dr.

Installation of the light will probably not take place until early spring.

William Macbeth was appointed to the School Board Monday night at a special session for replacing Orville Bishop, who died last month. The new member, a vice-president of sales at the Tecumseh Products and a graduate of the University of Michigan, will complete Mr. Bishop's term, which expires in June.

Quite A Lady

By MARVEL NEUMAN

BRITTON — Moses was 120 years old and his eyes were not dim — so we read from the Bible.

Lenawee County has a resident who celebrated her 104th birthday anniversary Tuesday, Jan. 7, and her eye is good enough to read.

MRS. NELLIE ZELUFF

Mrs. Nellie Zeluff, a former Britton resident, now living in Adrian with Mrs. Flossie Long-street, is in relative good health and able to be about her room as easily as a person half her age.

The centenarian is grateful for a good home and good care. She said, "I thank God for all the goodness of my life."

She attributes her well being and cheerful disposition to the study of Christian Science, a religion that has been the mainstay of her life for many years.

She reads the Bible and Christian Science literature every day.

Her son, Lawrence, and three grandchildren, Richard, Larry Eugene and Carol Ann, look after her needs.

Mrs. Zeluff visits with friends who call on her as she sits in her big rocker.

The patriarchs of the Bible were not the only ones to live a long and fruitful life.

68 Years On Main Street

DEAN OF BUSINESS WOMEN — Mrs. Edna Heilman was honored by a drop-in surprise party Monday evening on the occasion of her 85th birthday anniversary. "Up and at 'em every day" at Gaston's Jewelry, the young lady lives on N. Union St. with her daughter, Mrs. Sally Pope, and two grandsons, Ed and Bill. Has any other Tecumseh store owner been on main street since 1900? That's quite a record.

Guilty Plea Is Entered In Shooting

Philip Beemer entered a plea of guilty to a charge of negligent discharge of a firearm in the accidental slaying of seven-year-old Rick D. L. Koontz on Dec. 4. He entered the plea in an appearance before Circuit Judge Rex B. Martin on Dec. 31.

The plea was entered on the advice of his attorney, Clyne W. Durst, Jr., of Adrian. The accidental shooting occurred in the home of the child's step-father, Gerald Ferguson, at 213 E. Pottawatamie.

Beemer's case has been turned over to the probation department for a report for Judge Martin. No date for sentencing has been set pending the probation report.

Supervisors Will Meet To Organize

The 1968 version of the Board of Supervisors will meet for an organizational meeting next Monday. The meeting is to select committee chairmen and members of the standing committees for the coming year.

Also on the agenda for the supervisors will be the outlining of the rules which the board will follow. Recent committee meetings of an interim committee appointed to study rules, changes in the meeting days, hours and other rules followed by the previous board were studied. No firm commitments were made by the committee.

Another item up for a vote will be the confirmation of Merrill Hull as chairman and Ron Brown as chairman pro-tem of the board. They were elected at a meeting of the new board one week ago. The action was not binding due to the fact that the supervisors were not officially in office before Jan. 1.

Half Notes Club Plan Bake Sale

The Half Notes Music Club members met at the United Methodist Church Jan. 3, with Lynn Peck presiding when they decided to hold a bake sale Feb. 15 at Flanders Music Service Center.

The lesson on Negro spirituals was given by Janet Heesen, featuring a record by Nat King Cole.

Those performing for the program were Mary Jo Graham on clarinet, Connie Younglove on the piano.

Cookies and punch were served to 15 by Mary Beth Lay and Roxanne Welch.

Members were urged by the president to attend the Festival at Lansing March 22.

The next meeting will be held in the same place Feb. 7.

Ruth Sufer and James Dean Speak Vows on Saturday

The Grace United Methodist Church in Ridgeway was the setting for the wedding of Ruth Liedel Sufer and James D. Dean, Saturday at 2 p.m. The Rev. John D. Lover presided at the service.

The couple approached the altar to the strains of traditional wedding music played by Mrs. Fred Schrober.

Leonard S. Liedel of Maybee and the late Mrs. Liedel are the parents of the bride. Mrs. D. Dale Dean of Ridgeway and the late Mr. Dean are the parents of the groom.

The bride was attired in a street-length ensemble of heavenly blue Saki with Venice daisy lace forming the stand-up collar and trimming the edge of the three-quarter length sleeves. Matching in color was the tiny veil of French illusion attached to a forward headpiece of silk organza flowers and petals. Her corsage was of white roses and deep blue tinted carnations.

Mrs. Leonard R. Riedel of Monroe was her sister-in-law's matron of honor. She was attired in a navy dress with white accents and navy accessories. Her corsage was of white and light blue tinted carnations.

William R. Dean of Samaria was his brother's best man.

A dinner for the bridal party followed the ceremony at the Colonial in Monroe.

An evening reception with dancing and a buffet for 300 was held at the VFW hall in Maybee.

The groom is a graduate of THS and attended a year at Hillsdale College. He served in the Army two years. He is employed at Dundee Cement Co.

The couple will reside in Maybee.

The rehearsal dinner was given by the groom's mother on Friday evening at the Country House.

Mrs. Hildreth Eggleston and Mrs. Margaretta Brisbin spent New Year's Day and evening with Mrs. Brisbin's cousin, Mrs. Rose Simpson, in Deerfield.

Deborah Crawford-James Baker Exchange Vows

Deborah Jean Crawford and James Robert Baker exchanged their nuptial vows before the Rev. Fr. Robert Handley in St. Elizabeth Church, Saturday.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Eldred Crawford, 9760 Murphy Rd., and the groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. James W. Baker, 5762 Rogers Hwy.

The 1:00 p.m. ceremony was performed before an altar decorated with Fuji chrysanthemums, holly branches and Christmas greens. Candles marked the pews, trimmed in greens and satin bows.

Mrs. Donald Johnson played the organ an accompanied the soloist, William Whiting.

The bride approached the altar with her father, in a candlelight ivory gown of rayon linen, princess styled with rolled neckline and elbow-length sleeves bordered with crystal beading and pearls. The detachable watteau panel flowed into a chapel train.

Her bouffant French illusion veil was held by an open pillbox of matching fabric sprinkled with crystals and pearls. She carried a cascade of gardenias.

The maid of honor, Karen Catterlin, of Mishawaka, Ind., a roommate of the bride's at Western Michigan University, wore a midnight blue silk worsted, floor length, A-line gown with elbow length matching gloves. Her headdress was a matching Dior bow, and she carried a crescent arrangement of ivory Fuji chrysanthemums, backed with holly greens and berries.

The bridesmaids, attired as the maid of honor, were Kathy Swanson, of Grand Ledge, another roommate; Mrs. Harold Rhora, and Mrs. Richard Horvath of Kinnelon, N. J., sisters of the bride.

Rhonda Rhora, niece of the bride, was the flower girl.

Greg Long was the best man, and the ushers were Jack, John, and Jeff Baker, brothers of the groom.

The wedding breakfast was served at St. Elizabeth Parish Hall with 150 guests attending. Silver white stylized lanterns, made by the bride's maternal grandmother, were centerpieces on the tables, with floral arrangements of Fuji chrysanthemums.

Toni Herrick, Susan Bottorff, Lisa Baker and Jill Jackson, of Philadelphia, Pa., served at the reception.

The bride graduated from Western Michigan University, Dec. 20 and is a member of the Gamma Phi Beta sorority.

Mr. Baker is employed at Fisher Body. He previously served two years in the Marine Corps.

Following a brief wedding trip, the couple is at home at 531½ McKenzie, Adrian.

The rehearsal dinner, hosted by the groom's parents, was held Friday at Don's Beef Buffet.

Rent Is Justifiable

Although the search goes on for quarters for district judges to hear cases here, Tecumseh Council cannot be criticized in asking the County Supervisors for $100 a month rent for the Council room.

Reservation of the room for every Wednesday is certainly worth some compensation. Then there's the usual overhead of janitorial services, heat, lights, and usage of other city facilities, including equipment.

We question the thinking behind a Supervisor's statement that the city should provide the room free because of "service and convenience to the folks."

Tecumseh is the second largest community in Lenawee County, and simply because it is not the largest should not result in such concessions to the Supervisors; who, you recall, have authorized an allocation of some $95,000 for the judges in Adrian.

The supervisors hae appropriated a total over $200,000 toward the establishment of the courts in Adran. No request from the district judges involving money has been denied.

Why didn't the City of Adrian provide a free jury room? Is this not a "service and convenience" for folks there. The new jury room for the judges in Adrian is nice, but no nicer than the Council room and is not as large.

However, the Adrian facility admittedly is better adapted for holding a trial and is planned for greater usage.

We hope that our city officials will not hedge on the rental fee. It seems justifiable to us.

HAPPY NEW YEAR, JULIE — Julie Ann Craft, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Oakley Craft, 12740 Burmeister Rd., Manchester, was the first baby born at Herrick Memorial Hospital in 1969. OFF the TOP

Well, the holidays are finally over, and none too soon, I'm afraid, for both my sanity and my waistline.

Now don't get me wrong; I love Christmas and New Year's and the whole bit, but it seemed almost too much this year. I must be getting older.

There seemed to be more rushing around, more programs to attend and practice for, more rich foods to eat, more confusion, more difficult shopping, and less sleep, than any other two-week period of the year.

Our eldest son was home from college almost a week early because of the Hong Kong flu epidemic. Luckily he didn't get it or bring it home to the rest of us (better knock on wood!).

But we did have a real problem in timing around here. Apparently college students — boys, anyway — never go to bed before 2 or 3 a.m., especially if they don't have any early classes. This conflicts greatly with our schedule of getting up at 6:30 a.m. and going to bed by 10 or 11 p.m. He is constantly running about five hours behind us, staying up until all hours, then sleeping in unless dragged out of bed by Irate Father. Nothing annoys hard-working Dad so much as to be awakened by the sound of the shower running or the refrigerator door opening about 1 or 2 a.m.

And the food we put away in the past three weeks! I began to feel like a supply sergeant for an Army platoon. I was in the grocery store so often, I thought I should be on the payroll. I made a New Year's resolution to cut down on the calories, but my will power is shattered after the hectic holidays, and so far I haven't lost one ounce.

Now that our routine has returned to whatever passes for normal around here, maybe I can get organized into an all-out effort to shed some of that winter blubber.

And I must do something to perk up the house — it looks so dull with all the decorations put away. Everything is packed up except the outdoor tree lights — Dad doesn't usually get them down until the spring thaw.

Our pretty Christmas tree, over which I lavished such praise just short weeks ago, began to dry out and drop its needles about Christmas Eve, and I couldn't wait to get it out of the living room. Needles drooped across three rooms when I carried it out, in spite of my efforts to handle it gently. I had to work for well over an hour to get the pesky things sweet up, and ended up with a clogged vacuum cleaner in the process, so I was quite out of the holiday mood by the time the trimmings were put away in the attic.

And I'm still finding those sneaky needles here and there — found a couple just this morning while walking across the room barefooted!

The more I think of it, I realize I'm just suffering from the Annual Post-Holiday Depression Syndrome. After the weeks of big build-up, the let-down is too much.

Must call the doctor and have a heart-to-heart talk with him. Maybe he would suggest a trip to Florida to calm my nerves. (Do you think the insurance company would accept that as a medical prescription?)

Accident Rate Continues High

Accident rate continued to run high here the past week with the local police investigating eight mishaps, which sent four people to Herrick Hospital.

Although snow and ice were responsible for most of the accidents in recent weeks, the elements figured in only about half of those checked by Tecumseh officers.

A resume is:

Jan. 1 — Richard E. Solarski, 26, of 720 Ternes Rd., and his wife, Virginia, 23, suffered injuries in an accident on W. Chicago Blvd. He was headed east when his car struck the curb at Adrian St. and then traveled over 150 feet where it bounced some 18 feet off a tree. He was charged with driving under the influence of alcohol.

Jan. 1 — Richard L. Hawkins, 19, of 315 N. Union St., and James O. Wallace, 22, of 9236 Carson Hwy., were admitted to Herrick Hospital after a mishap on W. Chicago Blvd. at Union. Wallace was cited for failure to stop within an assured clear distance after ramming into the rear of the Hawkins vehicle. Both new automobiles were extensively damaged.

Jan. 1 — Walter Wonderly, 710 S. Union St., reported an unidentified motorist drove over his lawn and snapped a maple tree four inches in diameter in his front yard.

Jan. 2 — Charles E. Sturges, 42, Livonia, was issued a summons for failure to have his car under control after he slid off Russell Rd. and struck some posts and fence owned by Frank Gruber.

Jan. 3 — Ray Smith, 502 Orchard Lane, reported a lady backed into his parked automobile at his residence. Damage was minor.

Jan. 4 — William J. Healy, 21, Toledo, O., was cited for failure to stop in time after his car struck the rear of an auto driven by Milton C. Opel, 42, Ives Rd. Accident occurred on W. Chicago Blvd. in front of Greenwald Cleaners.

Jan. 4 — Raymond S. Ayling, 49, Adrian, and Wesley D. Maki, 28, of 310 Cairns St., were involved in a minor collision on S. Pearl St.

Jan. 5 — Carl D. Schmidt, 27, of 136 E. Chicago Blvd., slid on the snow and ice into a stop sign on S. Maiden Lane at W. Kilbuck St.

People Help People In Trials and Tribulations

Jim Barton was out of doors Tuesday for the first time since he was taken ill the latter part of November.

Mrs. Barton tells a story "reminiscent of the old days when farmers turned out to help their neighbors raise a barn or get out the harvest in time of sickness."

This past week for three days, one of the Fleet-Wing trucks has been delivering Standard fuel oil for Jim Barton. The whole Fleet-Wing crew put in extra hours so that one of their trucks and drivers, Chuck Stapels, could devote almost full time to the Barton business along with Tom Barton.

"On Saturday," Mrs. Barton continued, "the Barton truck suddenly fell apart, lost the drive shaft and all brakes and Tom and Edsell Brooks had a hair-raising ride from Dr. Blanden's office north, shooting across Chicago Blvd. — all that worked was the steering and finally they came to rest in the next block north of the boulevard."

"While the truck was hospitalized, Chuck and Tom worked full time with the Fleet-Wing truck delivering Standard fuel fast and furiously."

The Barton truck was back in operation Jan. 3 and Edsell will drive for Jim for the next few months.

The Barton brothers left for their military duties over the weekend. Tom left Saturday evening by plane for Travis AFB in California, from whence he will depart for Tan Son Nhut AFB, Saigon, Vietnam.

Glenn Barton ended his Christmas leave Sunday, returning to Aerographers Mate School in Lakehurst, N. J.

After completing his course in February, he will be assigned to the Naval Air Station, Cubi Point, Philippine Islands.

Letters to the Editor

TO THE EDITOR:

Have you nice, pretty Christmas decorations you really don't want to throw away, but have used several years? I know a wonderful place for them to be taken and appreciated. The Girls Training School.

Each cottage has to have its own and there just aren't enough supplied to have very much. I received a nice "thank you" with each girl signing the card for some things I won't use again. Their joy was my pleasure.

Hope you don't feel it is "too much bother—just a big step forward." They have rooms in which these things can be stored to use next year. Any further information, call 423-2315 or 456-4260.

The girls could also use good winter coats, sweaters and walking shoes.

Sincerely,
Ruth Gove

What Did You Do For Someone?

Mrs. Frederick Helm entertained eight members of the Northeast Tecumseh Extension Club at her home recently when roll call was answered with something done for someone else for Christmas.

Making cookies and decorations and having someone in for dinner were some of the answers.

Each member contributed a poem, story or another item of Christmas for the program before an exchange of gifts was held.

Mrs. Raymond Bird will be the hostess for the January meeting.

God Is My Landlord

Later in the day, the Hayden family, William Beardsley, Earl Lindsley and family, and the Clarks were invited to attend the official starting of a new engine, to take place on Saturday morning before the threshing, in the beautiful restored Hayden family mill now owned by Henry Ford.

In 1933, Mr. Ford wanted to expand his "village industries" plan. He purchased the old abandoned Hayden Mill, which was rebuilt after the fire of 1898 had destroyed the original Globe Mill, built in 1835. He tore down the old building and erected a replica of the old Globe structure. Because of the significance of the name "Hayden," as attached to the mill for a century, Henry Ford had a sign placed at either end of the mill which simply read, "Hayden Mills 1835-1935."

The "big day" finally came — Saturday, July 24, 1943. The crowd was equal to, or beyond, the expectation of "one thousand." Hayden, Ford, Clark, Beardsley and other sponsors of the celebration were late in arriving, because of the official starting of the new engine in Ford's Mill on the east edge of town.

When they arrived at the field, the crowd was there, and cars were parked for blocks in all directions. Perry arrived first with the sound truck and announced that Mr. Ford was on the way. It was a thrilling sight to see the interest in this simple and humble event, proving the age-old lessons of the Bible so that even a child could understand them.

The ten-horse "sweep," which provided power for the old separator, was the center of attraction. Will Knight, Lyle Bailey and Alton Knowles of Adrian, and Stacy and Joe Diver of Deerfield, brought their big Belgian horses to pull the circular "sweep."

When the crop had been entirely run through the separator, it was felt that some wheat had gone into the straw stack and was lost, so Percy Cadmus agreed to run the stack through an Allis-Chalmers combine. This reclaimed only about a peck of the precious kernels, proving that the old "Civil War Separator" did a good job. (However, this one peck salvaged in 1943 grew to over 1000 bushels in 1946.)

The heart-breaking story of crop shrinkage was told when the wheat was taken to the mill and accurately weighed. It turned out to be only 1,027 pounds of grain, or 16 bushels for the 77 of an acre. This was a terrific setback for the popular six-year experiment, which was now attracting nationwide attention. Only a miraculous harvest the next season could make it possible for the project to recover from this one tragic year. This figured at only a little over 20 bushels to the acre, and the average for Lenawee County was 24. (Every bushel of wheat lost in 1943 actually did mean a shrinkage of 4,375 bushels in 1946.)

After the wheat was cleaned by Mr. and Mrs. Irving Kempf on the George Sanford farm, it "weighed out" exactly 1,219½ pounds. That meant that the tithe would be 101.05 pounds.

The first wheat that went through the thresher was broken, because of too many concaves in the separator. It was suggested that this be included in the tithe. It was just as usable for feed or flour as the other but only the whole kernels could be used for seed. Perry felt that it should be deducted from the total and the tithe for the Lord's share be taken from the best of the crop. Of course the cracked wheat was no good for replanting.

Even though this harvest was the most discouraging so far, Perry deducted 53½ pounds of cracked wheat, which now left only 957 pounds of seed wheat. Many of his friends felt that he was a little over-zealous on this point and denied the experiment a fair chance to prove the Lord's Word. The Lord had given this wheat in the harvest, and most of the people felt that there was no reason why the tithe had to come out of the select seed needed for replanting rather than from the whole crop.

Even Mrs. Hayden and Pastor Escolme felt as though Perry should take the tithe from the total harvest and give the experiment every fair opportunity to prove the Biblical lessons involved.

However, Perry was firm in his decision to throw out the cracked wheat, and remarked afterwards, "I feel at ease about it."

This further loss which reduced the crop to 957 pounds which brought the tithe down to 95.7 pounds, and left only 861.3 pounds for the fourth planting.

Arrangements were made to bring the tithe to "the storehouse" — the Tecumseh Friends Church — on Sunday evening, August 8. Rev. Clifton Robinson, who preached the original sermon which inspired the idea, had now finished his work at Cleveland Bible College and was preaching in the West Park Friends Church in Cleveland. It was decided to give the tithe to the Cleveland Bible College and have the Rev. Robinson come back to Tecumseh to preach the sermon and receive the tithe.

The church was filled. While Pastor Escolme read the scripture lesson from Malachi 3:10, Perry and Billy Hayden came down the aisle to the altar with a large bag containing 95.7 pounds of wheat. The tithed wheat was later sold to Bernard Poucher of Tipton, for $2.67. He, in turn, offered to tithe 10% of his harvest the next year. A check for the $2.67 was sent to the Cleveland Bible College.

Mr. Poucher said, "My mother always paid her tithe to the church. I am going to do the same. I will plant this wheat in the best acre on my farm and give the tithe to the Tipton Community Church."

This suggestion of Mr. Poucher gave Perry the idea of selling the tithe to someone every year, who would agree to continue the tithing . . . Thus the tithing lesson would go on and on.

CHAPTER 6.

Biblical Wheat Gains National Prominence

The first task in starting off the fourth year of this rapidly growing experiment, was to find a larger field in which to plant the 861.3 pounds of seed left from the third year's harvest.

Mr. and Mrs. Hayden drove to Macon for a conference with their loyal friend Ed Clark. He offered them their choice of a tract on either side of the Rogers Highway to Holloway, leading south from the main highway M-50. After looking over both carefully and taking tests of the soil it was decided to accept a 14-acre strip out of a 30-acre field along the east side of the Holloway road and south of the main highway. This was just about ¼ mile east of the Ford-Hayden Mill.

Ed Clark said, as a challenge, "I will plant the east half of the field with Ford wheat and see which one can raise the better crop."

Clark had the whole tract plowed with Ford's equipment. He also offered to furnish a fertilizer with lime base, at cost. The tract staked off for the fourth planting measured 14 acres . . . starting from a plot 4 ft. by 8 ft., three years before.

Operating expenses for the project were now becoming an increasing problem with each expanding crop. Perry called on Russell McAfee of the Commercial Savings Bank in Adrian, to discuss financing the experiment for the next three years. Mr. McAfee promised to study the matter and discuss it with Charles Figy, State Commissioner of Agriculture.

Publicity for the third year had surpassed the wildest dreams. The Chicago Tribune carried an outstanding story with a number of pictures. The Detroit papers again featured it, as they had been doing since its inception.

Rev. J. L. Peck of Metamora (Ohio) Methodist Church returned eight kernels of wheat by mail, to be added to the fourth planting, writing, "I picked up some straw at your harvest and found eight kernels of wheat in it when I got home. I am now returning them because their loss would cheat you out of a portion of the showing that you would make in God's experiment."

These eight grains did not look like much, but at the end of the proof of God's Word, it would mean over 50,000 kernels—about ¼ of a peck.

The Michigan Farm Bureau offered to furnish the fertilizer for the fourth planting, but Perry felt as though he should buy it from Fay Whelan, a local dealer, since he was working with the Partridge Implement Company on machinery.

Later, W. G. Ellis, Manager of the Toledo office of F. S. Royster Guano Company, donated fertilizer for the 14 acres to be applied before the planting and enough to give it a top dressing in the spring.

George Parsons and his boys were again asked to make a soil analysis. They reported that the land was very low in nitrogen and phosphorus. This required "3-18-9" fertilizer in the fall and "4-16-4" in the spring.

Saturday, September 25, was set for the planting of the fourth crop, with the 14.3 bushels of seed, in the 14-acre field.

The seed was treated with Parson's Seed Saver Dust a few days before the planting to prevent smut. Last minute details were checked on Friday night with Ed Clark.

The hour for the preliminary services was set for 10:30 in the morning, but it rained and the ground was not fit for planting until afternoon. However, the services proceeded. Chas. Figy headed a group of workmen on the Ford-Ferguson tractors and John Deere drills, and by late afternoon seed planting was completed.

Rev. Worthy A. Spring, President of Cleveland Bible College, came for the planting services and offered prayer in the wheat field. Pastor Escolme read from the Scriptures. Ivan Parker, a teacher in the Macon schools of the Edison Institute then read the names of the 12 boys who took part in the planting of the original cubic inch of wheat in 1940.

Charles Figy, State Commissioner of Agriculture, made a speech which "hit the headlines." He said, "I am interested in anything original, and this project certainly is that. We have a lesson in the Grange which says, we loosen the soil and bury the seed. The germ has life, the future plant is there and we have faith in its resurrection."

Mr. Figy continued, "If you carry this project through to completion, it will bring the state of Michigan into the limelight around the world. I think that nothing we do in Michigan can compare with the importance of agriculture. When a manufacturer takes a hundred pounds of iron and fashions it into useful articles, he still has just a hundred pounds of his material. When we plant a hundred pounds of seed, we get as high as fifty times as much as we started with . . . and with scientific farming, there is hardly a limit to the production possibilities."

Figy closed by emphasizing the importance of this Dynamic Kernels project. "With our country at war, this demonstration becomes more important than ever. They say that food will win the war and write the peace. If this is true, the lessons on 'sharing' that you are teaching in Tecumseh will live forever."

Besides being the State Commissioner of Agriculture, Mr. Figy is a practical "dirt Farmer" who owns and operates 409 acres.

A replica of the original 4 by 8 feet plot was planted at the north end of the field to show the growth in four years. It was planted by the boys from the Edison Institute who drove the tractors.

While driving to a football game several weeks later, Perry was forcefully struck with an idea — like Paul on the road to Damascus. "Why wouldn't it be a good idea to give all the profits of this experiment to some organization for building international good-will after the war?" With millions of people buying War Bonds to help win the war at this time, this idea would be a contribution toward healing the wounds and might be a strong factor in helping to maintain world peace. It is a strange commentary that, "Wheat is the symbol of Peace and the sinew of War."

Arthur Eaton stopped at the Hayden Mill early in November, and repeated a disparaging statement which he had heard that George Parsons made about the land on which the Fourth Crop was planted: "The piece of land which you selected is the poorest on all of the Ford farms."

However, Easton assured Perry that the rumor was wrong, and even told him that he would take any one acre of that land for any two of his own.

"You will get a bumper crop this year," he predicted.

He then explained that he had seen some wonderful crops taken from that field and hoped some day to own it himself, if the Ford farms should ever be broken up and sold back to small land owners again.

When the Biblical wheat project was first started, it was understood that the tithe was to go to the Tecumseh Friends Church. There was a growing feeling that it should not be limited to one group, since so many were now helping with labor, donating fertilizer and furnishing equipment; but that the tithe should go into a Foundation and be used for the benefit of all denominations. The regular "Monthly Meeting" of the church unanimously agreed to this change. The Tecumseh Friends Church has a policy of giving 50% of its income to others, so this gesture was just another example of their unselfish attitude.

The following spring found the fourth crop of Dynamic Kernels doing well. It looked strong and healthy.

Many groups throughout the country were talking between harvests about the famous Tecumseh Biblical Wheat project, and were looking forward to the outcome. Radio broadcasts, newspaper stories, magazine articles and personal appearances by Perry Hayden were becoming more and more frequent.

During the winter James Welsh, "The Old Traveler" on Radio Station WXYZ for the American Automobile Association, devoted an entire program to Tecumseh and this popular experiment.

On February 23, the Dynamic Kernels project lost one of its colorful figures. Harmon Russ, born in 1850, passed away. He was a rugged individual and lent virile atmosphere to all of the past occasions. He had never needed a doctor in his life, except for one slight injury. He always led an active life and was vigorous right up to the end . . . "A real Dynamic Kernel," according to Perry Hayden.

The weather in the spring was so wet that it was impossible to dress the field with the fertilizer donated by the Royster Fertilizer Company for that purpose.

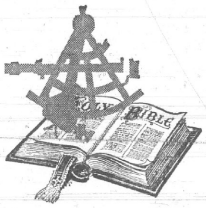
Too close for comfort



Here's a photograph taken from a kayak. You don't bring a ship this close to an iceberg! For underwater the tentacles of this cruel, cold monster may reach out a mile or more.

Life for some folks is a succession of narrow escapes. But these are adventures we can do without. They don't prove us bold sailors. They simply prove us poor navigators.

Frightened men sometimes turn to religion as a refuge when dangers—moral, spiritual and physical—loom too close for comfort. God does not fail us in crisis.

But the every-day function of faith is to pilot men on a true course through the sea of life. The Church cannot sweep away icebergs. It warns us of their whereabouts and helps us give them a wide berth.

Death of a Friend

Manilius wrote, "We begin to die when we are born and the end is linked to the beginning." I have known the death of a friend. Few people truly have deep effects on our lives, effects that go beyond mere acquaintance. In these victories of human compassion we seldom do all that we can to nurture the acquiescence of a relationship.

Last Saturday morning a friend of mine died. You do not know a Rodger Ferguson often in your life. It takes years to build something of a rapport between human beings. It cannot be done in weeks or months. It is an accumulation of memories, a battle of ideas. It is the strength of difference, the choice of behavior.

Rodger Ferguson strove to march to the sounds of different drums in life. He chose to learn and gather from what was around him, rather than seek that which lie in the unexpected and always aware "tomorrow". He collected knowledge like it was the only fruit on the barren trees of those existences that pressed about him. Before he could curse a fault in his fellowman he needed to know what force drove that fault to the surface.

When someone dies you feel truly of what you should have been to them and in turn gathered from them. I'll never forget Rodger for many reasons, perhaps the most deeply because I like what he was as a person. He was honest and to be his friend you had to abide that honesty which he saw in you.

Reflected in his own talents he saw mine without the awareness a person feels when he is too close to what he sees. There were many evenings we sat talking about sailing, drama, literature, people that made the news in big ways or never made the news at all except in our own personal world of great events.

I had a great respect for him as a man, as an entity of the universe that bore a memory unlike any other man I had ever met, with the exception perhaps of Allen Seager. He strove to live his life fully and to gather the hyacinths that would feed his soul as well the crusts of bread that give the body nourishment.

Perhaps the one or two great thrills he received out of life beyond books were sailing and camping out in the wilderness. He liked to go up north and camp out. He enjoyed the people he met. To him no man was a stranger unless he didn't like them, and they were few.

I went to the house Sunday evening, I saw his widow, Joyce. The room where we had sat and talked so often of sailing, Conrad, Hemingway, Joyce, Pound, Tennessee Williams and all of the other giants of the world of intellect, an old ship's clock that was one of his favorite items, chimed away. It echoed in the void he has left in the universe.

He had been ill for the past four years. He had gone blind a few years ago. The normal person would have used it as a crutch to go on with only a bare semblance of living. But that was beneath the inner strength of this bearded friend of mine. Two years ago, he took a great interest in Stonehenge. Through talking books and tapes he studied the Stonehenge, a great mystery in England of stones set in symetrical problems. No one knows, though several have offered opinions, what Stonehenge is.

He built out of clay on the kitchen table a miniature replica of Stonehenge. Men who could see, would have done worse. I can still see those clay symbols of a vociferous mind setting there proudly, as a monument to individual courage.

For that month the conversation over a bit of cognac or brandy would be of Stonehenge. Considering the books in the library and book shops available to those with sight, Rodger Ferguson had few meager channels in which to seek more knowledge. The nerve ends in his fingers were gone, braille was a useless tool for him.

Right now the memories of the time we spent together, Joyce, Rodger and I, are crowded with the feeling that he is dead. I haven't been the kind of friend that I should have been for the past year and I have a great deal to reproach myself for in that matter.

Joyce and I sat down Sunday night and drank a glass of brandy, the New Year's Eve drink, he wanted that.

When he left for the hospital the day after Christmas, he knew that he would never go home again, that it was all over. He had known since September that the end was near. His spirit was not that kind which dies and then waits for the body and soul to catch up, but instead, the body died and spirit kept on living in utter refusal.

I loved him as I have never loved another friend and perhaps never again. I respected him and he respected me, that is rare in human relationship, but it exists once in a while and when it does, respect as love goes hard and even bitter.

I look around now and I see people that aren't fit to be in the class with him walking around healthy and prosperous, living their lives without any feeling toward another human being or the suffering that life thrusts upon you, I begin to despise them. But then I think of my bearded friend and the sad profile, the ship's clock, the ship's lanterns.

I go around saying "I wish he had not have died." But he lived a good life, too short, yes, but nevertheless a good life. He took his own personal tragedies and made his life better. But still he left a hole in the wilderness that will not be filled easily. The last time I saw him he spoke of a poem by Edna St. Vincent Millay. "I burn my candle at both ends, it shall not last the night, But Ah! my friends and oh! my foes, it gives a lovely light."

I have learned only one true lesson in life, there are to many "goodbyes".

THE NAZARENE CHURCH WAS DEDICATED SUNDAY WITH SPECIAL SERVICES.

YOU TOLD US

By DOROTHY GRIGG

Herald Society Editor

This is the month of the new calendar, Lord,
The beginning of a New Year out of Your hand.
I would Mark the days well.
Sometimes so many hands are beckoning
I am confused.
Give me wisdom, Lord,
To know the greatest need at the right time.
Give speed to feet
And skill to hands.
And the quiet of Your presence in my heart.
Let everything I do, be done for You.

Dalton and Fairbanks In Top 10

At the holiday break in cage action for high school basketball teams, Tecumseh's Steve Dalton and Britton's Dave Fairbanks were among the top 10 scorers in the county.

Dalton has been consistent in play with the Indians this year reaching the high point of 29. The hard luck Tribe have lost three games in the closing seconds. Their play has been considerably higher than their 1-4 record suggests. Dalton is seventh in the standings with an 18.2 points per game average.

Fairbanks has led his Tory team to a 4-0 record so far in the season to put them in the lead of the River Raisin League. Fairbanks is ninth in the standings with a 17 points per game average. Tory fortunes have risen this year with 6'6" Fairbanks leading seven six-footers onto the courts for Britton.

Swim Team Places 5th

Thirty-five members of Lenawee's YMCA Swim Team participated in the AAU Patton Pool Xmas Open Swim in Detroit, Dec. 27 and 28. Thirty-five teams from five different states were represented. The 13-14-year-old girls' medley relay team, consisting of Laura Hohenstein, Linda Sharp, Kathy Rieker and Laura Lee Clift, placed 5th.

Wildcats Scratch Redskins

By GINA GREEN

CLINTON — Redskin's varsity basketballers went cold at the free throw line and on the boards as they suffered a loss at the hands of the Onsted Wildats, Friday night, 72-64.

The second quarter proved to be Clinton's downfall as they were outscored, 18-8, and were unable to make up the deficit, though they made a comeback of sorts in the second half behind the shooting of junior guard Lon Schneider. A 13-point Onsted lead in the last minute-and-a-half of play was cut to eight points but that was all the Redskins could muster.

The balanced Onsted scoring attack was paced by Jack McKenzie with 17 points, followed closely by Dave Rausch and Terry Yeutter with 16 and 15 points respectively.

Lon Schneider took scoring honors for Clinton as he notched 16 points. Jerry Porter added 13, Tim Merritt 11, and Mark Wegner, 10 points for the Redskins.

The Redskin JV's rolled to their fourth straight victory as they defeated the junior Wildcats, 73-66. Clinton's starting five held the Onsted squad to just 15 points in the first half and connected on almost 50% of their floor shots before Coach Paul Gilliland emptied his bench.

Bruce Carlton led the Junior Redskin charge with 23 points, Mike Gunn added 14, and Bari Campbell and Pete Schneider tossed in 13 and 11 points each. John Shepherd led Onsted with 22 points.

Score by quarters:

Onsted	16	18	17	21	—72
Clinton	15	8	21	20	—64

The Director Is Here And The Follies Begin

Ed Hamilton of the Jerome Cargill Productions Co. of New York City, has arrived in Tecumseh to assume the professional direction of the Tecumseh Jaycee Follies, to be held Jan. 24, 25 and 26.

Mr. Hamilton, originally from Erie, Pa., began his theatrical career at the old Erie Playhouse at the age of 12. He majored in theatre at Catholic University of America, Washington, D. C.

ED HAMILTON

Mr. Hamilton has worked professionally as both an actor and a director throughout the Midwest and the East. His acting roles range all the way from Willie Loman in "Death of a Salesman" to Nice-Nicely Johnson in "Guys and Dolls". Included amongst his directing credits are "Kiss Me Kate" and "The Pajama Game". For two years he served as Production Co-Ordinator for WSEE-TV in Erie, and at the same time was director and teacher for the Playhouse Student Theatre.

Mr. Hamilton has promised that the Tecumseh Jaycee Follies will have one purpose — entertainment. From the opening scenes through the closing finale Mr. Hamilton promises dancing, singing, and lots of comedy. If anybody in the Tecumseh area still wants to take part either on stage or back stage with the technical crew, they should call talent chairman Mrs. Jason Harness, 423-4017 or Producer and Project Chairman Larry Gerard, 423-4555.

Third Loop Loss For Tribe

Tecumseh Indians suffered their third Huron League defeat and fifth in overall play Saturday night when the Monroe Catholic Central Falcons downed the Tribe, 73-58.

The Falcons had three men top the 20-point mark in completely outshooting the Indians under the basket. Rebounding was the big strength of the MCC team and the Indians could not match it.

The win was the sixth straight for Monroe. In Huron loop play they are at 3-2 while the Indians are 1-3 in the league and 1-5 overall.

Rebounding figures on the game showed the Falcons with 41 to 21 for the home town boys.

The first period had Tecumseh scoring 16 points to 20 for the Falcons but the scoring punch of the Tribe fell flat in the second period and when they managed only 8 points while their opponents ripped the nets for 22.

The teams went to the locker rooms at half time with the score 42-24, a deficit which the Indians were unable to overcome. They managed to put on a scoring show of their own in the third period garnering 22 points and holding the Falcons to 13.

The final stanza had Tecumseh picking up 12 points to 18 for the MCC Falcons.

High scorer for Tecumseh was Wally Quinn who dumped in 15 points, Jim Hunt with 14 and Steve Dalton dropped in 10 to aid in the losing cause.

The Tribe will try to get untracked from their losing ways this Friday night when they take on the Flat Rock Rams here on their home court.

Indian Sports Teepee Has Undefeated JV's

The sports tepee of the Tecumseh High School Indians has been disappointing at times this year in major sports, but the JV basketball team has given some spark to the local athletes. The JV's have gone through their first six opponents without a marr on their record. The last victim to fall to the tomahawk of the Little Indians was Monroe Catholic Central, 38-25.

Last Saturday in Monroe, guards Craig Smith and Scott Dalton were faced with a court press but managed to break it. Smith tossed in four of the eight points the Tribe scored in the first stanza. Tecumseh's defense allowed only four points to MCC.

Tecumseh shooters came alive in the second period with center Garv Hannibal picking up five of Tecumseh's 13 points as they went to the locker room with a 21-12 lead.

In the third and fourth periods attempted field goals were kept low by the defenses. Tecumseh shot 44% from the field, making 15 out of 34.

The leading scorer in the contest was Hannibal who dumped in 13 points. Smith aided the cause by scoring 10. The boards were controlled by Hannibal and forwards Alex Gibson and Bob Pettit. Hannibal picked off 16, Gibson 10 and Pettit 13. The front three, along with Smith and Dalton at the guards, gave the Tribe a balanced attack that has proven too much for their first six opponents, and were able to do in MCC's attempted press.

This weekend will be a test of the undefeated for the JV's as they face the undefeated JV's of the lat Rock Rams who will travel to Tecumseh. The contest will determine the leadership of the JV's in the Huron League.

So far in the season the JV's have held their opponents to a 29.5 points per game average. The strength on the backboards in rebounding is one of the reasons for the consistency of the team play this year.

Good Old Summertime

Parks and Recreation Department of the City of Tecumseh has announced that 1968 was the biggest year yet for swimmers at Tecumseh Park. The number of swimmers was also up at the pool, primarily due to a revision of hours to allow more swimmers to enjoy the facility.

In 1967 the pool had 12,434 swimmers for the months of June, July and August. The year 1968 saw nearly 14,000 swim at the pool. Tecumseh Park, which was dedicated in July, saw over 10,000 more swimmers splash and dive.

The number of participants at Tecumseh Park has steadily increased as figures indicate: in 1966, 14,050 swimmers enjoyed water antics; in 1967 the figure grew to 16,000 and this year over 26,000 families, individuals and groups utilized the facilities of Tecumseh Park.

Playground activities for the small fry was approximately the same as it has been for the past two years. Baseball also remained constant with past figures. Picnics at the park facility were approximately the same although on some occasions industries used the grounds for company picnics with 60 to 70 families in attendance.

The number of senior citizens who gathered weekly at the Community Center remained about the same as in the past years, as did those who participated in softball and tennis.

Donald Moffatt, superintendent of Parks and Recreation, indicated that perhaps the largest single factor in Tecumseh Park's increase in attendance was due to the construction of the new building on the grounds.

At present the department is considering new developments and program changes that might be put into effect this year. Changes that would increase participation, modify and update the entire program.

One plan that is gaining serious consideration is a Drop-In Center for all age groups. The date for the starting of such a venture is still unsure but much interest is shown in that area of recreational facility.

Art Institute Offers Show

The Detroit Institute of Arts has arranged for a special exhibition of the prints and paintings of John Sloan, (1871-1951) beginning Jan. 7 in the Gallery at Siena Heights College. In his 50 years as an artist, Sloan established himself as a rebel and an independent.

Sloan, with a scattering of fellow artists, challenged the teachings of the academies around the turn of the century and charted a new "realistic" subject matter for the younger generations to follow.

The group, which became active before World War I, called themselves the "Eight" or the "Ash Can School." They painted and drew subjects in the often ugly and commonplace chores of dailing living, hence the name, "Ash Can".

The recently-established Lenawee Fine Arts Association is the local sponsor of the show at the Little Gallery. The show will run through Jan. 19.

This is the first exhibition arranged locally through Project Outreach in cooperation between the Lenawee association and the Detroit Institute of Arts.

Included in the exhibition will be a program of lectures, films and diary notes related to the life and art of the American Realist. Gallery talks by specially-trained association members will be available to comment on the 30 original prints in the art exhibition.

Among the paints to be on display will be "McSorley's Bar", a prize of the Institute's collection of Sloan oil paintings.

Project Outreach, a pilot program, is a joint venture of the Detroit Institute of Arts and the University Center for Adult Education through a matching grant from the National Endowment for the Arts. The purpose of the venture is to explore ways of extending the resources of the Art Institute throughout the state and to nearby areas of adjoining states.

Gallery hours for the exhibition in Adrian will be 1 p.m. to 9 p.m. Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday, with Saturday and Sunday viewing hours at 1 p.m. to 5 p.m.

Through My Window

December certainly went out in a blaze of miserable weather didn't it? Rain, snow, sleet, freezing rain and shiveringly low temperatures — we had them all. The all-day rain on the Sunday before Christmas was bad enough, but then came the freezing rain after Christmas! Just think how pretty our world would have looked had all the rain been snow; figuring that an inch of rain piles up about 10 inches of the white stuff, makes it easy to imagine that we could easily have been almost snowed in. But it didn't happen that way.

The downpour of the 22nd was dismal, dreary, dreadful and every sort of bad. It did, however, start us out on a spell of excellent bird watching.

In the first place, it was interesting to see that the birds went about their business as if it were the sunniest day of the year. They simply did not seem to mind all the fog and rain. The best customers were the little chick-a-dees.

And they deserve a paragraph or two of their own. Their performance that day was nothing short of superb. It does appear that the worse the weather the more fun these little fellows have. In their up and down flight pattern, they bounced from one tree to another, flitting and darting in wild games of follow-the-leader.

When that excitement wore off, they could always fall back to acrobatics. Selecting the very tips of the tiniest branches, they had competitions to see who could do the best job of hanging upside down while using the smallest foot hold. Such fun.

THIS KIND OF carrying on, of course, worked up quite an appetite. They took many suet breaks. I have explained about our hanging suet feeder before, how a small dowel fastens across the middle of it and serves as a perch.

In all the fog and rain there were two chick-a-dees, one sitting on one end of the perch and the second on the other — they were completely oblivious to the weather and you know, watching them ignore it made us not mind it so much either.

The ice storm brought good looking, too. The whole contingent of winter regulars suddenly remembered where the 'good eating and easy living' was.

The sparrows and starlings need not be mentioned; they are always with us and are such nuisances.

The mourning doves and bluejays showed up in great numbers, but they are always welcome. This storm and its slipperyaftermath belonged to the cardinals, juncos and chick-a-dees though. The squirrels managed to get into the act briefly, and, oh yes, there was also a surprise guest.

SEVERAL DAYS of hungry hairy woodpecker attention had left the suet feeder a bit bare, there was only a stringy piece which had been pulled through the wire — the chick-a-dees didn't mind, they simply hung bottomside-up from the end of the dangling suet and enjoyed a swinging ride while they ate.

The juncos, almost beside themselves with excitement, could hardly settle down long enough to eat. They scratched the seed loose from the ice here and then dashed someplace else for another one.

Occasionally one sat still long enough to let us see his pretty black headhood but most of our junco looking was at the charming sight of these little birds going away.

The outside feathers on their tails are white — I still like Clara's description of a junco, a little Quaker lady dressed in gray whose petticoat is showing.

THE CARDINALS were sheer beauty. At first there were only two females and one male but the odd gal evened things up quickly and found herself a man, our cardinals, what a thrill!

One male was especially pretty, I wonder if he could be related to our Mr. Bright of a few years ago? The squirrels provided the comic relief.

The ice-coated trees were slippery, of course, and we had to smile at how carefully the squirrels moved along their tree roads.

The hard laughs came at the expense of one squirrel who tried to pick up a small piece of bread.

His feet slid on the ice but even worse, the bread kept sliding away from him. When he finally did manage to get it in his mouth, he jumped from the top of the creek bank and missed the trunk of the maple tree.

Such troubles. Our mystery guest, who zoomed down to the feeder for many scratch feed snacks, was a flicker. A big, handsome, brilliantly-colored flicker.

So it is that the storms work hardships on those who must get out in all of the rain and ice but, from our point of view, it is a case of bad weather — good looking.

Yule Dinner Held Sunday

BRITTON — Mrs. Ethel Miller, Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Bortel, Melinda and Jackie, Mr. and Mrs. Roger Bortel and Robin Renee, and Mr. and Mrs. Virgil Bortel attended a belated Christmas gathering Sunday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Pat McGuire and sons of Saline.

Other guests were Mr. and Mrs. Bill Bortel, David and Kirk of Ithaca, and Mr. ad Mrs. Cloyce Miller, Susie and Tim of Bowling Green, O.

The group enjoyed a dinner and gift exchange.

Young Tories Win Two

BRITTON — The Britton seventh grade basketball team has won one game and lost two this season, while the eighth grade team has won two and lost one.

The junior high teams, coached by Principal Robert Bolton, played Deerfield at their last games.

The seventh graders beat the Deerfield team, 25-22. High scorer for Britton was Tim Gibbs, with 10 points, followed by Ron Tuberville, with 5. Gibbs also grabbed 12 rebounds.

The eighth grade whipped Deerfield's eighth graders, 47-15. Leading scorer for the Little Tories was Brad Hamilton with 11 points. Close behind was Ken Wielfaert with 10, and Scott Hetrick, with 6. Wielfaert is leading the team in rebounding.

The next junior high opponents will be Summerfield. They play at Britton Thursday evening at 6:30 p.m.

Mr. and Mrs. Russell Spalding returned home Saturday after a two-week air vacation to Arizona, Texas and Florida.

Tories Remain Undefeated

BRITTON — A fine team effort brought Coach Jim Landfair's Tories to their sixth straight victory Friday night as they dumped Ida 71-58, before a capacity home crowd.

Senior forward Jim Skelton led both teams in scoring with 24 points, as the Tories placed four in double figures.

Senior Dave Fairbanks pumped in 16 points, despite a broken left index finger injured in practice the night before; junior Rick Maska, improving with every game, added 11; and junior Jim Lister added 10. Jim Brown did a fine job at guard and chipped in 8 points. The Tories out-rebounded the Streaks, with Skelton and Fairbanks hitting the boards for 12 and 10 respectively.

The Tories top the River Raisin League with a 5-0 record, and are 6-0 overall. Ida dropped to a 3-2 mark.

Britton now has the only undefeated team in Lenawee County, after previously unbeaten Blissfield lost to Dundee Saturday night.

The Tories out-scored the Bluestreaks in every quarter. Two free throws by Jim Lister put Britton ahead at 16-14 just before the first quarter buzzer, and they were never headed after that.

The Tories worked the ball well, always looking for the open man, and were quick to grab the ball away from the Streaks whenever the opportunity arose. Ida edged to within two, 25-27, in the second quarter, but the Tories kept pulling away and led, 35-29, at the half.

The second half proved to be just more of the same; more Skelton, more ball control, more rebounding for the Tories. Turnovers and fouls hurt the Bluestreaks, as they lost four starters via the foul route, including their two leading scorers, husky Marv Skampo, who hit for 23, and Hank Banas, who added 13.

The Tories kept padding their lead in the final period, and ended with a 13-point spread, 71-58.

Britton hit 26 out of 63 field goal attempts for 41%, compared with Ida's 21 out of 57, or 37%.

Ida led at the free throw line, however, dropping in 66% compared to Britton's 55%.

Britton will be out to extend its winning streak Friday night when they host the Whiteford Bobcats, who are 2-2 in league play.

BRITTON 71

Skelton 9-6-24; Lister, 4-2-10; J. Brown, 4-0-8; Fairbanks, 6-4-16; Maska, 3-5-11; Tuberville, 0-2-2.

IDA 58

Skampo, 11-1-23; Banas, 3-7-13; Oberski, 2-3-7; Firestone, 2-2-6; Leonard, 4-0-8; Opferman, 0-2-2.

BRITTON — Mr. and Mrs. Felix Motylinski of 650 Pearl St., Dundee, announce the engagement of their daughter, Anne Justine, to David William Reeck, son of Mr. and Mrs. Eldon Reeck, 7608 Shaw Rd., Britton.

Miss Motylinski is a 1968 graduate of Dundee High School. Mr. Reeck is a 1967 graduate of Britton-Macon High School, and is attending General Motors Institute in Flint. He is employed by Fisher Body Co.

An August wedding is planned.

She Will Say 'I Do' June 21

BRITTON — Mr. and Mrs. Franklin D. Fergus of 9289 Britton Hwy., have announced the engagement and approaching marriage of their daughter, Carmen Rochelle, to Thomas Robert Love, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert H. Love, of Blissfield.

Miss Fergus is a graduate of Britton-Macon High School, a sophomore at Eastern Michigan University, and is employed at Ford Motor Co. in Saline.

Mr. Love, a Vietnam veteran, is a graduate of Blissfield High School, and is employed at Blissfield Co-op. in Ogden.

The wedding will be June 21.

Extension Club Holds Meeting

BRITTON — Mrs. Percy Cadmus was hostess for the December 31 meeting of the Macon Extension Club, assisted by Mrs. Donald Mueller.

Fifteen members and five guests were present for the noon luncheon.

A short business meeting was held, followed by roll call, when members revealed their Secret Sisters. A gift exchange followed, and the group played Bingo to conclude the afternoon.

The next meeting will be a noon luncheon Jan. 28 at the home of Mrs. Virgil Bortel.

Junior Tories Suffer Loss

Dan Warren with 14 and Gary Check with 10 points were high scorers for Britton.

"Dan has been a very consistent scorer," stated Coach Paul Palka. "He has been hitting between 10 and 16 points for us every game. Gary is averaging about 8 points per game."

Coach Palka also stated that he is trying to give a number of boys an opportunity to play, to give them needed experience. He is teaching all phases of basketball play, but concentrating on a man-to-man defense.

The Little Tories will face the Whiteford Bobcats Friday night at 6:30 p.m. Go get 'em, JV's!

Boost Tories Sports

BRITTON — An organizational meeting of the Tories Booster Club was held Monday night in the school library, with a dozen interested persons on hand.

It was decided to hold another meeting next week, Monday, Jan. 13, at 8 p.m., for election of officers. It was felt that due to the short notice for the meeting and the poor weather conditions, there was not a large enough group to hold elections.

The meeting was brought to order by Coach Paul Palka. He introduced Principal Bolton, who explained the purposes and the workings of Booster clubs in other schools.

The purpose of a Tory Booster Club, as stated in the proposed constitution, is "To develop, promote, and support projects and activities; to render financial and physical assistance, within our means, to create civic interest in any area of the athletic program in cooperation with, but independent of, the athletic director, coaches, and school officials."

Membership is open to all adults, male or female, who are interested in supporting the purposes outlined. Membership fees shall be a minimum of $2 annually.

Various ideas for projects were discussed.

William Hetrick was named temporary chairman for the evening. A nominating committee was named to present a slate of officers to the next meeting. Nominations will also be accepted from the floor. Offices to be filled include president, vice-president, secretary, treasurer, and director. Nominating committee members include Carl Kimerer, Henry Brown and John Check.

The Changing Times See Oldtimer Pass

CLINTON — Another "oldtimer" passed from the scene Saturday with the demolition of the two-story house on E. Michigan Ave., located between the present fire barn and Hunt's Gulf station.

Gulf plans to build a new service station on the site in the next few months.

Little is known about the origin of the house, which at the turn of the century was a single-story residence where an aged lady, Mrs. Phoebe Lane and her son, Claude, lived. It was located near the historic Clinton Inn in those days.

For many years the house belonged to the Lancaster family and was owned by Mrs. Glenn Randall for the past 20 years, until its purchase two months ago by the Gulf Oil Co.

Merle Hunt and his son, David, operate Hunt's Gulf, and have been told the new construction will not disrupt their business.

Thus, with the impending construction of a new fire barn on the adjacent lot west, early in March, sidewalk superintendents will have lots to keep them watching as another of Clinton's corners is spruced up to meet the changing times.

Delbert Tallman Worked 43 Years for Ford Company

CLINTON — Delbert H. Tallman, 63, of 206 E. Church St., retired Dec. 30 from the Ford Motor Company, Rawsonville plant. He was employed by the Ford family in some capacity for 43 years.

Mr. Tallman began working at the Ford family dairy in Dearborn, in 1925, and delivered milk to the Henry Ford and Edsel Ford estates for many years, while the Edsel Ford children were youngsters.

Later he worked at Greenfield Village, then the Ford plants at River Rouge and Manchester. He was transferred to Rawsonville, when the Manchester plant closed.

He has been a quality control inspector in the receiving department for 20 years.

On his last day of work, he strolled around the plant saying his farewells and was later treated to a dinner with his bosses in Ypsilanti. He was presented with gifts from the men who worked with him.

Monday, Mr. and Mrs. Tallman left in their pickup camper for an extended tour of the country.

They'll visit his brother and sister-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Tallman, at Santa Cruz, Calif., tour a bit of Mexico, spend some time in the southwestern national parks and Texas, and plan to reach Palmetto, Fla., by March to visit Mrs. Tallman's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Follis, before returning to Clinton later in the spring.

we care

A&P

we never "run out" on a sale!

We never advertise a special sale item unless we have an ample supply. Once in a great while, the special is more popular than we imagined. So occasionally, we do run out of the item.

But we never "run out" on a sale.

An A&P Rain Check is a certificate that entitles you to buy the item at the same special price, the following week.

We think that's the fair thing to do. We think that shows "WE CARE".

Not every store can care that much. A&P can...and does.

Shouldn't A&P be your store?

Critical

Airman Larry Henning of Britton, son of Mrs. Thelma Henning, is reportedly in critical condition with severe burns and shrapnel wounds, suffered Tuesday when fire and explosions rocked the Enterprise, world's largest aircraft carrier, in the Pacific Ocean, near Hawaii.

LARRY HENNING

Navy officials notified Mrs. Henning of her son's condition shortly after noon Wednesday. He's in a Naval hospital at Pearl Harbor.

Young Henning was a 1965 graduate of Britton-Macon High School, where he was an outstanding athlete. He was employed at the Tecumseh Fisher Body plant just before enlisting in the Navy in 1966.

A report that Stephen Hunt, son of Mrs. Fred C. Dickinson, also was on the giant nuclear carrier is erroneous. His mother reports that he spent six months on the carrier but was transferred to Georgia just before the last cruise.

Naval sources report 24 killed in the disaster, 85 injured and 17 missing.

Respiratory Illness Here on Decline

Respiratory illnesses in Tecumseh and immediate area have reached their peak and are on the down trend, according to officials at the Tecumseh Community Health Study.

They report a three-week climb in December with flu and other respiratory infections peaking during the week of Christmas. The number of infectious cases started dropping the following week after Christmas and a larger drop was evident again just last week.

Final report as to the effect of the mass inoculation of 3,000 Tecumseh school students will not be available until the end of January or early next month.

School officials report, however, that school attendance by pupils, teachers and other personnel is normal and in some cases better than in the past. This fact, in comparison to other communities, could indicate that the mass inoculation program did have some bearing on the number of respiratory illnesses locally.

Since the vaccination in the schools, the Health Study has closely followed the health and illness pattern of some 350 local families. These families are contacted each week regarding the health of the individual members.

The families also call the Health Study when a member becomes ill. Throat swabs are then taken of the sick.

Since the sampling of the 350 families, the Health Study has taken over 100 throat swabs or specimens, not including those from Herrick Hospital.

Before releasing any information relative to the mass inoculation of students and the effect of containing or preventing a Hong Kong flu epidemic here, officials prefer to await final tabulations and reports.

New Officials Have Troubles

By BILL SANFORD

Robert's Rules of Parliamentary Procedure rambled to the brink of disaster Monday at the Lenawee County Board of Supervisors. The Cro-Magnon assemblage would not, however, be responsible for the dark abyss of change and Mr. Robert's legacy of orderly insight was saved and proliferated.

A committee had been appointed by the board to study possible rule changes for the new board which was sworn in Dec. 30. The committee was composed of Wayne Fish of Hudson, T. J. Wagner of Tecumseh, William Mackey of Raisin, M. M. Halley of Clinton and Roy Griffin of Adrian.

The only significant change came in the area of the number of committees appointed to transact the county affairs. The previous number of 32 was reduced to 19 by combining several committees with other committees thus removing a duplication of effort on many fronts.

A move was made to abolish the health committee of the board. Two years ago a state law provided for health boards to be established within the framework of county government. Representatives of the Board of Supervisors sit on the health board which has the controlling powers of the department. The health committee of the supervisors is merely another arm of the health board with no powers at all over that county agency.

It had been recommended by County Health Director Thomas P. Hamilton, II, that the committee be abolished because of its lack of effect. It costs the county approximately $125, according to previous salaries of supervisors, for the committee meetings. They are held monthly. Dr. Hamilton considered this a

Fund Short of Goal; Commercial, Professional Divisions Criticized

Tecumseh's 1968 Community Fund Foundation drive will be one that the Foundation's directors and drive chairmen would rather forget.

Officers learned Tuesday night at the Foundation's annual meeting that the '68 drive would probably fall at least $10,000 short of its $58,724 goal. Current total of $45,932.85 was reported by Dyke Helms, drive co-chairman.

Divisions coming under criticism by the Board were the commercial or retailers and the professional sections. Although no goals had been set for any of the divisions, the directors voiced concern that neither were doing their share in supporting the community and the Foundation.

Professional section contributed only $1,085, while the commercial or retailers gave $3,019.50, of which over $1,500 came from one business. There are nearly 150 business establishments in Tecumseh and only 39 reportedly gave.

The commercial division should increase its total donation, however, as not all businesses have been contacted. Drive chairmen hope to wind up the drive and make their final report before Feb. 1.

Other business conducted during the lengthy session included the election of Douglas Dunn as president, succeeding Robert French; James L. Merritt, vice-president; Mrs. Truman Rentschler, secretary; and Mrs. Joseph Galazzi, treasurer.

Dr. George Burkhard was elected a new director, and Mr. French and Mr. Merritt were re-elected for three-year terms. Dr. Burkhard's term is for one year.

Other directors include Merlyn Downing, Hugh Walter and Mrs. Carlos Knisley.

Vern Manwaring, president of the Foundation when it was re-organized about 12 years ago, resigned. Directors expressed their appreciation to him for the time and work devoted to developing and expanding the Foundation.

Failure of the present drive to reach its goal will result in the Foundation to be unable to fulfill its $12,500 commitment to the city for the new building at Tecumseh Park. Commitments to charities, however, will be paid.

Cal Zorn, city manager, says failure of the Foundation to pay the city will not cause any great problem, but is hopeful that it will be able to come through in the following years.

Divisional breakdown of '68 contributions is:

Industry	$33,425.10
Residential	1,783.25
Teachers	969.50
Professional	1,085.00
Commercial	3,019.50
Municipal, hospital	450.50
Special gifts	5,200.00

Troy Martin Sentenced 15 to 25 Years in Jail

Troy Martin, 41, confessed killer of J. Edward Spivey, 58, of Tecumseh, was sentenced in Monroe last week to 15 to 25 years in prison.

The ex-convict pleaded guilty last November of shooting Spivey, Jan. 27, 1968, in the front yard of the Thomas Cyr residence on County Line Rd., just east of Britton. Spivey's body was found beneath his own pick-up truck.

Martin had been convicted earlier on a Federal charge of kidnaping. After the shooting, he forced Cyr at gun point to drive him to Toledo. Cyr was then released unharmed.

Federal agents later captured Martin on March 19 in Seattle. At the time he was on the FBI's 10 most wanted men list.

Monroe Circuit Judge William J. Weipert, Jr., sentenced Martin to 25 years on the kidnaping charge, and he is expected to be confined in a Federal prison this week, probably at Milan.

The state and Federal sentences will run concurrently.

Association Grows in '68

By ALLAN C. GRAYBIEL,
President, Adrian Federal

The directors, officers and staff of Adrian Federal are pleased with the Association's achievements for 1968.

Adrian Federal Savings continued to achieve strong growth throughout 1968. Asset increased by $3,000,000 to a December 31 total of $40,500,000.

In spite of intense competition for the savings dollar, by financial institutions and other facets of the economy, including the stock market, Adrian Federal increased total savings during 1968 by $2,200,00 to a new total of $36,100,000.

During 1968, the Association paid the saver total earnings of $1,517,965. This is a new high for Adrian Federal and is more than double the amount of earnings paid to savers by any other single financial institution in the area.

During the year, 619 new loans were added to our portfolio with a total value exceeding $8,400,000. There was $2,458,050 for the construction of 145 new residential units.

In addition to this new construction effort, Adrian Federal loaned $5,941,950 for the purchase, re-financing, or improvement of 474 homes.

The Association now has total assets in excess of $40,000,000 and its growth during the last 30 years of operation has multiplied forty times.

Adrian Federal extends savings and loan services throughout Lenawee County and into each bordering county, including Monroe, Washtenaw, Jackson and Hillsdale.

There are 12,668 savers and 3,725 borrowers.

The first 50 years of operation, Adrian Federal serviced primarily the people living within the confines of the city of Adrian. Services have been expanded and today we find that somewhat less than 50% of the Association's customers live within the Adrian mail area.

Because Adrian Federal Savings and Loan provided the first savings and loan services to residents of our community and because of the ever-increasing service area, the Board of Directors has voted to change the official corporate title to First Federal Savings and Loan Association of Lenawee. It is their belief that the new title better describes the Association and its service area.

In order to assure potential mortgage customers that Adrian Federal will do its utmost to provide household financing in 1969, the Board has authorized new savings interest rates.

Beginning January 1, 1969, Adrian Federal will pay 4½% on all optional savings, 5% on $5,000 to $9,500 variable rate certificates, and 5¼% on $10,000 and more variable rate certificates.

In 1969 the Association celebrates its 80th year of providing savings and loan services in southern Michigan.

Start Negotiating

Negotiations for a new master contract with the teachers started Monday night, according to Supt. James McDowell.

Representing the School Board were Aden Mead, Dr. Harold Ocamb, Robert Duhan and Supt. McDowell, team chairman.

Dermont Poley heads the teachers' negotiating team. Other members are Gary Lovett, Gerald Nelson and Raeola Laskey. A fifth teacher, depending on the section being negotiated, also joins the team.

"We don't anticipate any major problems," reports Supt. McDowell.

After the master contract is finalized, salary negotiations will start.

New Officials

waste of money as the committee held no official capacity over the health board.

The "old guard" remnants of the former township supervisors, opposed the amendment to the rules. The contention of the former township officials was that the outlay in county money to that department was sufficient to warrant a committee on the board. The membership was increased from three to five by the new rules.

Other proposals were offered by the members of the board to have rules changed affecting the time of meetings and having the minutes prepared and mailed to supervisors. An agenda to be compiled prior to all meetings informing the press and supervisors of the coming activities was also discussed and voted upon. The veterans of the old board opposed the questions and they were defeated in roll call votes. Area supervisors T. J. Wagner, Fay Whelan, William Mackey, Ron Brown, Stacy Zilke and M. M. Halley followed the "old guard" votes down the line.

Salaries for the new members of the county board of supervisors was also a point of discussion at Monday's meeting. No official action was taken although it seemed evident that a salary would be established coupled with a per diem rate for committee meetings and actual meetings of the Board.

Committee appointments were due on Wednesday. During the rule changes some felt that a committee on committees should be established. At present some of the new members who did not serve on the old board have no idea how members for committees are picked. It is presumed that the chairman makes the selections.

While the committee appointments were held in the dark, many members termed the County Board of Supervisors a newly-elected office, one established by enactments of the state legislature. But most felt that it was not a new board at all and that all committee appointments would be made on terms of seniority and previous service to the old board that became extinct on Jan. 1.

A question of salaries will probably be delayed for the month of January and undoubtedly committee appointments will determine the salary of the individual supervisors.

FRANS vanWESTRENENAN

Frans W. vanWestrenen, Fisher Body-Tecumseh plant manager, has been reappointed chairman of the General Motors Tecumseh Plant City Committee for 1969. Other members of the committee are Jerome P. Becker, plant personnel director; Robert C. Hlavin, plant superintendent; and Herman List, resident comptroller.

C of C Fails To Organize

Tecumseh's struggling Chamber of Commerce slipped another notch Tuesday night when the annual organizational meeting was scheduled — and not held due to lack of a quorum.

Another attempt to organize was tentatively planned for this Thursday morning.

The Chamber's Board includes Mrs. Robert Bowers, Arnold Sayler, Joseph Hayden, David Criss, Delbert King, Charles Buhrman, Cal Damon and Sally Hunt.

● LEON P. WILLIAMSON

Services were held Tuesday at the Dunn Funeral Home for Leon P. Williamson, 83, of 412 W. Chicago Blvd., who died Sunday at 5:30 a.m. at Herrick Memorial Hospital where he was admitted Saturday.

Prior to that, he, in cooperation with his father and older brother, Charles, established many business ventures including two ice houses, one on the Globe and one on Red Mill Pond, a cold storage building just south of the boulevard on S. The Williamsons also operated a grocery at the corner of Chicago Blvd. and S. Ottawa St. They built a building on the corner of N. Evans and Logan Sts., now occupied by Auto Parts and one at the corner of N. Pearl and Chicago Blvd. where Woolworth Co. is presently located, as well as the cold storage building which later burned.

Tecumseh JV's Still Undefeated

The Tecumseh High School JV basketball team has moved alone atop the standings of the Huron League JV teams. Last Friday they faced the only other unblemished 7-0 record of this circuit, Flat Rock, and downed them 46-42. The winning margin was provided by Craig Smith who dumped in four free throws within the last 20 seconds of the contest.

Coach Jim Curth attributes the team's desire and hustle for the unblemished 7-0 record of this year. Against the Rams as against other teams they have faced this year, rebounding played a big part in the win. Gary Hannibal hauled in 12 rebounds, Alex Gibson and Bob Pettit both grabbed nine to dominate the action under the hoop.

While the Little Indians were unable to muster a consistent offense, Pettit and Scott Dalton led a tight defense. Dalton several times forced the Flat Rock team into turnovers. The full court press of their defense did not bother the little guard.

Pettit was charged with defending Dan Duda, the Rams' leading scorer for the season. He had been averaging almost 16 points per game. Pettit held him to 6 for Friday's contest.

The closeness of the score came in the final 11 minutes of the game when Flat Rock outscored Tecumseh 24-16. The Indian defense broke down against the Ram charge.

Smith led the game's scorers with 15, Gibson added 12, Dalton 8, Hannibal 6 and Pettit 5 to round out the scorers for the Indians.

Tecumseh shot a low 32% from the field which was far below their season average of 43%. Overcoming a breakdown in defense and the lack of a consistent offense, the Little Indians have molded into a fine unit that can overcome letdowns and still come on to win.

Firemen Help Youngsters

Parents and youngsters owe the Tecumseh Fire Department a big "thanks".

For the first time in several years youngsters have a safe place to ice skate, thanks to volunteer help from the firemen.

Rinks have been established at the city hall and at Nelson Field on S. Union St. Another rink at the corner of Brown and Brook Sts., was re-flooded last week and is in excellent condition.

City officials decided last year not to build ice skating rinks, saying that they were too costly to build and maintain. Labor costs were deciding factors. The decision left Tecumseh boys and girls with the Pit at Tecumseh Park and River Raisin to skate on.

The Pit is known to freeze solid and is checked before youngsters are permitted on it. The river, however, has always been a question mark and many parents refuse to allow their children on it — and we can't blame them.

With the evening temperatures well below the freezing point, local youngsters should enjoy several weeks of safe skating — thanks to the firemen.

Pick Up Option

Monday evening Council will likely make its decision whether to purchase the Globe Mill Pond property from Perry Satterthwaite and Hayden Fuel.

Asking price is only $15,000 for some 59 acres. An option expires Feb. 1.

If Council decides to buy the property—which we think it will — residents in the area and the entire community should be encouraged at the prospects of a new Globe Mill Pond dam in the near future.

This expense of a new dam, probably $65,000, is something we feel is necessary to restore one of Tecumseh's most beautiful and potentially valuable sites. Globe Mill Pond has always been attractive — before the June flood washed out the dam and bared its ugly bottom — and some day could be a source of city water and a recreation area for the community.

Whether the city's plan to finance the dam via special assessment, or through tax monies and Federal funds, should not deter Council from acquiring the property.

Mr. Satterthwaite has made a generous offer to the city and has renewed the option once. Somewhere in the city coffers there must be $15,000 to start the ball rolling to restore Globe Mill Pond.

Circuit Meeting For Jehovahs

On the weekend of Jan. 24-26, Jehovah's Witnesses from 16 congregations of southeastern Michigan will convene for their semi-annual circuit assembly. This time the city hosting the event will be Dundee, where the assembly will take place in the high school on Adams St.

The theme of the program will be "Sharing Fully in Preaching the Good News". This is based on the scripture text Mark 13:10. The three-day program, which is designed to appeal to all age groups, will consist of talks, demonstrations, singing and actual field ministry activity.

There are 55 delegates from the Tecumseh congregation expected to be in attendance. Carlton Cecil, circuit supervisor of Jehovah's Witnesses in this area, has been in charge of program arrangements. He urged all who possibly could, to come to hear the timely Bible discussion, "God's Way is Love", at 3 p.m., Sunday. This will be the keynote talk of the assembly and will be delivered by Marvin L. Hollen, of Brooklyn, N. Y. Admission is free to all.

Sermon Films Shown Sundays

The Church of Christ will present a series of films at the Sunday evening services instead of a sermon.

The minister, W. H. Driskell, invites the public to join the congregation beginning Jan. 19 when the film, "The Patriarchal Age," will be shown.

Future films to be shown are:
Jan. 26 — "The Mosaical Age".
Feb. 2 — "The Christian Age".
Feb. 9 — "God's Plan for Redeeming Man".
Feb. 16 — "History of the Lord's Church".

Mr. Driskell said this week, "We hope to follow these with five films, "Now That I Am a Christian".

Exchange Club Projects Are Planned for '69

President Harrison Gonser opened the meeting of the Exchange Club Monday evening with a minute of silent prayer in memory of Orville Bishop and Leon Williamson, recently deceased, and both long-time members of the Club.

Members of the Rebekah Lodge served dinner at the Odd Fellow Hall to 20 members present.

An appeal from the Tecumseh Area CROP Committee was presented and $11.13 was collected for the "Food For Biafra" campaign.

Projects for the new year were discussed and members decided to continue the Boys' State and Little League projects. The you committee was asked to present a new project for the Club at the next meeting, Jan. 27.

Local Co-op Students

The co-operative education training program of the Lenawee Area is provided through the efforts of the local high school, local businesses and industries and the Lenawee Area Vocational Program administered by the Adrian Public Schools.

Students are released from school for one-half a school day to receive vocational training through actual work experience at a place of employment that is in keeping with the students' occupational goals.

By receiving skills training through on-the-job experiences, the local high school does not have to duplicate the equipment and supplies that are presently being utilized by area business and industry.

The student-trainee also receives monetary compensation to offset the cost of transportation to the work station, credit towards high school graduation and a certificate of achievement for completing the training program.

Alvin Wyse, Dorothy Baker and Robert Deck are presently employed as Co-op Co-ordinators by the Vocational Office.

The students presently enrolled in the program from the Tecumseh area are:

Jane Abner, Adrian Floral Shop; Randy Bow, A&P Tea Co.; Daniel Bush, Don's Beef Buffet; Terry Butler, Gambles; Marcia Cantrell, Richard Coak, M. D.; Barbara Carney, Lois Beauty School; Diana Jean Dunbar, All-Metals, Inc.

Redskins Are Shillelaghed

By GINA GREEN

CLINTON — The Redskins almost succeeded in handing Adrian Catholic Central its first loss in 28 games on the home court but fell short, 53-50.

With Chuck Smith hitting from the outside and the Irish dominating the boards early in the game, it looked like another easy game for Central as they took a 10-10 first quarter lead. But, the Redskins fought back to cut the lead to six points at the half.

Led by Lon Schneider and the clutch shooting of Tim Merritt and Jerry Porter, the Clinton squad tied the contest at 39-all on Mark Wegner's free throws with three seconds remaining in the third quarter.

Neither team could take the advantage in the final quarter until the Irish put the game out of reach from the free throw line in the final seconds of play.

Jerry Porter led the Clinton scoring with 14 points. Tim Merritt notched 12 and Lon Schneider added 10. Chuck Smith and Tom Hartley provided Central's scoring punch, pumping in 19 and 18 points respectively.

Clinton's junior varsity suffered its second loss of the season at the hands of an undefeated Irish JV team, 54-49.

The game was hard fought and close with both teams suffering from mistakes, including the Redskin's 21 stray passes, until Clinton knotted the score in the third quarter.

Both teams took the lead briefly but the Irish came out on top. Bruce Carlton again paced the Redskins with 24 points and Bari Campbell added 10. Jim Briedmaer led Central with 24 points and Tom Terlesky added 14 for the Irish.

Speaks Out On Vietnam

"The solution in Vietnam is not to pull out and surrender to the Communists; nor is it to continue an unending blood bath. The only honorable way to end this war is victory," said Lieutenant Colonel Jack Mohr recently.

He will speak Monday, Feb. 10, at 8 p.m., in the Holiday Inn, West at 2900 Jackson Rd., Ann Arbor.

The first American serviceman to be wounded in the Korean War — and one of the 10 most highly-decorated military men to come out of that war — he has seen first-hand the terrible consequences of compromising with the Communists.

Members of the Ann Arbor Area TRAIN Committee, sponsors of Colonel Mohr's visit, suggest that Tecumseh people interested in learning how they can help servicemen in Vietnam, make reservations by calling 663-3906. Tickets will be available at the door.

People Who Need People

"If you have idle time on your hands, you can help hospitalized veterans in many ways when you volunteer your services," said H. W. Byers, Director, Veterans Administration Hospital, Ann Arbor.

"The veteran patients need your helping hands, because they are unusual hands, hands of experience, understanding and sympathy."

A few of the assignments where volunteers work are: Nursing Service, Pharmacy, Medical Administration, Physical Medicine and Rehabilitation, Clinical Laboratory and Fiscal Division.

For further information, contact Mr. Byers by calling 663-8541, ext. 387.

On Association

Mrs. Kenneth Van Doren, owner of Bauer Manor, has been appointed to represent the Irish Hills and Lenawee County on the Southeastern Michigan Tourist Association.

Gene Fette, a Jackson artist, has done an original pen and ink drawing of the old stage coach stop, featuring a coach and four horses hitched in tandem.

The 15½ x 18 inch prints are available at the Manor or by writing Mr. Fette, 1008 Williams St., Jackson 49203.

Meeting Tuesday

Annual meeting of the United Savings Bank of Tecumseh will be held next Tuesday afternoon at the Tecumseh Country Club.

Rams Bunt Indians

The Tecumseh Indians lost their sixth game of the season Friday night, losing to Flat Rock 52-46. Had the Tribe been able to get untracked early in the first period of play the game would have perhaps had a different ending. The Tribe managed only 7 points to 15 for Flat Rock in the opening stanza of play.

The Indians were still plagued by the cool hand in the second period when they mustered only 10 points. The score at half-time was Flat Rock 29, Tecumseh 17.

The Tribe came back to the court after half-time and narrowed the gap to nine points after three quarters of play, 39-30. In the fourth period they again outscored the Rams but the difference was too much. While the first half belonged to the Rams, the second half belonged to the Indians. The Tribe tallied 29 in the second half to Flat Rocks' 52.

The second half showing was impressive considering the fact that Flat Rock is considered one of the favorites to win the Huron League crown this year. The Indians are 1-3 in the league and the Rams are at 3-1.

Leading scorer for the Indians was Puffer who led the second half charge with eight points in the third quarter and a total of 13. Steve Dalton dropped in 10, Jim Hunt 7, and Wally Quinn 6 to round out the top scorers.

The Indians travel to Gibraltar Carlson on Friday in search of their second win of the season. Their lone win was against Monroe Jefferson on Dec. 6.

John Kennedy (21) and Jim Hunt (51) have been named co-captains of the 1968-69 Tecumseh Indian basketball team. The team's next game is Friday night at Gibraltar Carlson.

Junior High GAA Organized Teams

The Tecumseh Junior High GAA Club has organized a volleyball team with the girls playing each other Tuesday. The Jan. 7 winning team players were Brenda Cangley, Bickey Felton, Sharon Broderick, Sylvia Long, Michele Fliber, Karen Wilson, Beth Curtiss, Debra Gooding, Melinda Church and Theresa Philo. Their captain was Carol Fisher.

The club is now beginning their basketball season.

Members went ice skating at the Pit Jan. 14. They arrived at the Pit at 3:30 p.m. and had an enjoyable time figure skating, racing, playing hockey and consuming donuts and hot chocolate.

The officers are:

The Young Are Still Good

By BILL SANFORD

Here is your war. A pile of letters and cards; etched in them is a respect for a group of young people at Tecumseh High School who bridged an ocean and a generation. Most of the young people we hear of today in the newspapers, on radio or telvision, protest the war in strange garb. Rebel against society and go home at nights to warm beds and the security of a tomorrow. Some are like aliens to a friendly country. Some don't care.

To a group of teenagers at Tecumseh, the war was a far off thing. Something that they did not comprehend. It was there but they could not give it shape nor form. Through Christmas cards and messages, these young people said simply and eloquently, "we care". To a man far away from home that is a longed-for message. For a moment the war stops and they are human again.

Mrs. Ruth Prettyman, sponsor of the Future Business Leaders Club at Tecumseh High School, felt that many youths were not being given recognition for what they are. During the Christmas-time period before the students in the club went on their vacations, they gathered together over 400 Christmas cards to send to the servicemen in Vietnam.

The students at the high school brought the cards to school for addressing to "Operation Mail Call" at Columbus, Ga. The aim was for 450 cards. The student body as a whole was asked to bring cards, also. Only a little over 200 cards were contributed and the rest were purchased with money made by the group through operating the concession stand; some purchased the cards individually.

The Tecumseh High students who participated in the Christmas Cheer project, were cheered in turn by the response of the soldiers, sailors, marines and airmen that replied to the cards.

They were proud of their achievement and so was Mrs. Prettyman proud of her club's actions.

Replies to their letters have been coming back since the students have returned from the holiday vacations. A number of the servicemen have sent replies to the cards.

Something of the understanding of what the average soldier in Vietnam feels about his present fate is evident in the way he writes. Many of them refer to the United States and home as "The World". Vietnam is a different situation, "the only hole dug on top of the ground", was one G. I's appraisal of that disputed plot of real estate.

In each letter, the soldier or marine who answered, stated that only would an American girl send a letter to an unknown soldier in some far off land.

Several of the letters displayed humor, some bold but strained attempts at justifying their position in the war. Few made remarks to what was going on in the war, most accepted it and could name the month, day and hour when his time in "the Nam" (the G. I. term for Vietnam) was over.

Most were men who sit in foxholes, bunkers and trenches, and wait, for war is for the most part a game of waiting, searching and unexpected assault. Too many of the G. I.s' hours are spent waiting. "Hurry up and wait" is the byword that gives them chuckles when disaster lies just ahead. Those Tecumseh High students lessened that wait that puts a strain on man and soul.

Often times they make excuses for the way they write, one wrote, "I hope you can read this for I'm a little nervous today. If you can't, just put on the envelope "return to sender" and I'll print you a letter."

The same soldier wrote, "You said for me to tell you how things are going over here. Well, pretty good in some ways. One way is I only have 49 days left to do here. Another way, I've not had any bad injuries here. The buds are seeing all your good buddies die or being injured for life."

One young man wrote to a girl and he was typical of most of the young men. There are emotions missing in their lives and it matters that someone sends a reminder that they are still a part of the rituals of the universe.

He began his letter in the way most 18-year-olds would, those far away from home in a place they had never heard of. He began, "Maybe you've heard that the guys over here really dig the girls of the Far East. WELL, it just isn't so! There aren't any girls that compare to an American girl. You have just displayed the greatest gesture of all, the thoughtfulness of a girl toward a serviceman she didn't know, who is in Vietnam. I want to thank you for your Christmas card and just let me say I think you're great."

He went on to tell about himself and what he was doing in the war. In his, like most of the letters, a note of urgency comes through, both from the sender and the receiver.

He went on to close his letter in the manner of most of them only a little more eloquently. You could tell his age by the way he wrote, it was true in most cases.

He closed the letter, "if you ever feel like you'd like to write to a guy in Vietnam you have my address, and I would love to hear from you. I already think you're sweet. I'd like to hear what makes you happy and what you like to do for fun. Then there are personal things like the color of your hair, that of your eyes, how tall you are and whether you prefer to wear your hair long or short. I'd love to hear about you. Love ....."

One young man, who lacked a card to send to his newly-found friend, drew one on a piece of cardboard. In fragile lines, in the midst of an anything but fragile war, drew the picture of a girl with a flower in her hand. In a scrawling hand he wrote, "Thank you ever so much for your card. It came to the Mekong Delta to bring me cheer that I needed so far away from home. I miss the good ol' U.S.A. and the wonderful people like you. My friends call me Charlie and if you write back, I hope that you will call me Charlie, also.

"I hope Santa was as kind to you as you were to me."

The letters themselves were as incongruous as were the students that sent them. In essence, the way that they addressed the cards was statement enough for their feelings, "To a Fellow American."

It is a lonely time for a man in war. The only reality is dreariness, the waiting, the fear, the hope. Reality of life back home is diminished by the time spent wading in rice paddies or listening to strange sounds in the night.

Perhaps some of the cards will never be answered, it will not be known what those soldiers or sailors or marines or airmen were thinking. But to those that received a message and answered, it was evident that this is our war, yours and mine. Perhaps the messages served only one purpose in the end. To give them a little closer contact with the reality they left behind when they boarded ships and planes for that far off outpost. The letters brought out the human need for people in the soldiers, and perhaps the incentive to go out and wind things up in a hurry.

One G. I. dreams about a pretty girl, a flower and peace. He traces the dreams on a card for a girl he never met. A moment of tenderness in the midst of a violent war.

WHAT YOU SHOULD KNOW ABOUT YOUR PRESCRIPTION:

It's meant for you!

The human body is an efficient organism. It runs like clockwork with each vital part doing its job. When one of these parts breaks down or a foreign substance attacks, the body reacts to the blow in a way all its own. Chemicals in the diseased area begin immediately to repair the break. Often these are not enough and chemicals from other parts of the body are utilized. When this happens a chemical imbalance is caused. Your doctor examines you to determine the amount and type of chemicals involved. He may feel it necessary to add chemicals to your system in order to defeat the disease . . . this is a prescription. By his diagnosis he can determine which chemicals will do you the most good. Some systems are stronger or better equipped to handle disease. They require less medication. Others need more outside help. Each person is different. That is why you should never use another's prescription nor allow someone else to use yours.

For the highest pharmaceutical standards, low prices consistent with quality and the personal attention you can always depend upon, bring your prescriptions to

Cubs Get the Facts

Changes pertaining to dues and books will be explained at the Jan. 20 meeting of Cub Scout Pack 72 following a planned potluck dinner at 5 p.m. in the Community Center.

The Pack Committee decided at a meeting at the home of Cubmaster Robert Hyde that all Cub and Webelos dues must be kept up to date as registration fees will be doubled this year.

To compensate for this, the committee decided that dues must be paid at each meeting whether the scout is able to attend or not, without exception.

This will pertain to Pack meetings as well. Families are asked to assume the expense of any books rather than using money from the treasury as has been done in the past.

The dinner will observe the annual Blue and Gold event for all boys and their families. The theme is "Fit For America."

Each family is asked by the committee to contribute baked goods for a money-raising auction.

The Pinewood Derby will be held at the Feb. 17 Pack meeting. Parents may purchase the Derby kits at Green's Clothing Store.

A swimming party for all scouts and Webelos, dads and brothers will be held Feb. 22 at the Adrian YMCA from 7:30 to 8:30 p.m. at a cost of 50¢ per person.

—Mrs. Richard Colson will arrange transportation.

The Pack has grown to 41 boys.

Accepted In Golden Rule

Proctor Funeral Home of Tecumseh, has been officially notified of its acceptance into the Order of the Golden Rule — an international organization of funeral directors.

The acceptance includes both Proctor Funeral Homes.

The affiliation was gained only after Proctor Funeral Home received approval of many Tecumseh people who are in a position to speak with authority on the firm's qualifications.

Funeral director members of the Order are selected for their ability to uphold the ideals of this world - wide organization, which has been in existence for four decades.

Notification of membership was made by letter from the executive director of the Order, who stressed the distinction Proctor Funeral Home holds by being accepted for membership, since ordinarily but one funeral directing firm in each community can belong.

Moreover, the requirements are such that only those firms of high ethical standing in the profession can attain the distinction of membership.

The Order places particular stress on the necessity of providing service that is modern and comprehensive, and at the same time so moderately priced that it is within the reach of all — even those in the most moderate circumstances.

Members of the Order identify themselves by means of a symbol, consisting of an armored knight with raised visor, who supports with his left hand a shield bearing the Order's motto: "Service Measured not by GOLD, but by the GOLDEN RULE."

In his right hand the knight grasps a drawn sword, as if to signify his readiness to defend the high principles inscribed upon the shield.

Auxiliary Initiations

The impressive ceremony was conducted by Mrs. Clarence Natterstad, Mrs. Dorman Vescelius, Mrs. Larry Goller, Mrs. Harold Mead, Mrs. Roger Williams, Mrs. Burt D. Tate, ritual team with Mrs. Junior Fouts at the piano.

Mrs. Truman Rentschler, president, started to formulate plans for the American Legion birthday dinner and 50th anniversary party, to be held March 15 at the Post Home.

Other business included the ordering of 7500 poppies made by the sick and disabled men in Veterans Hospitals to be distributed to the public by Legion and Auxiliary members May 22, 23 and 24.

Due to the illness of her mother, Mrs. Larry Disbrow, president of the 2nd District, was unable to be present. The organization will anticipate her visit at her convenience.

Four Youths Know Their Math

The 12th Annual Michigan Mathematics Prize Competition was recently administered at Tecumseh High School. The examination, based on the subject matter of the high school mathematics curriculum, was in two parts. The first part was designed to measure the general mathematical background of the students. The second part consisted of problems and proofs designed to measure the mathematical ingenuity of the students.

The top four per cent of the approximately 27,000 students from Michigan high schools who wrote Part I of the examination qualifed to participate in Part II of the competition. Included in this top group were four students from Tecumseh High School — Renee Albaugh, William Holmes, Harvey Schmidt, and William Weigle.

Thirty-one students from Tecumseh High School participated in Part I of the examination, which was used primarily to determine the top mathematics students who would compete in Part II for the awards.

The scores on Part I and Part II are combined to determine the prize winners. In accord with final ranking, approximately 5000 in scholarship awards will be granted to winners of this competition. In addition, the colleges in the state award numerous scholarships to students who qualify for Part II. A gold medal for first and about 20 silver medals will be presented at an awards banquet for the top 100 contestants and their teachers on February 22.

This state-wide mathematics competition is sponsored by the Michigan Section of the Mathematical Association of America, Michigan Colleges and Universities, and Industres. It is intended to foster a wider interest in mathematics and to focus attention on the necessity for mathematical training in most professions and trades.

Lost Dog Comes Home

Some dogs find their way home across a continent Some get lost a block from home. Little Schnauzer was a $150 new puppy, adored by his family. When his mistress was called to the telephone one day Little Schnauzer slipped out of his yard and disappeared. He was not to be found! A couple of days later the family was told to call the Humane Society Shelter and they were delighted to find that Little Schnauzer was there safe and sound, taken to the Shelter by a kind friend several blocks away.

TCFF

Donahue was a big elderly dog who never left his yard. Late one afternoon in winter he had a spurt of youth, evidently following some rabbit or squirrel. His mind being a little confused, due to age, he couldn't find his way home again and lay down in the cold on a porch similar to his own. The lady in the home found him and took him out to the Humane Society Shelter where his owners were relieved to find the old fellow again.

Many other lost animals find their way to the Shelter on Academy Rd., in Adrian. There they are taken care of until their owners claim them. If not claimed within 72 hours they are put up for adoption.

In addition, the Humane Society, a member of the Tecumseh Community Fund family, answers many cruelty complaints and tries through education and publicity to make residents of the County more animal conscious, particularly as to the correct treatment of pets.

Lansing Report

By GIL BURSLEY

I hope you have had a happy holiday season and I wish you the very best of luck, health and prosperity for the coming year.

Your 1969 session of the Michigan Legislature begins January 8th with the swearing in of the new House of Representatives. Control will shift from the Republicans to the Democrats (57 Dems to 53 Reps.). Senators, and the Governor, at you may recall, now serve 4-year terms. This is why you did not see me campaigning this fall although I did serve as the Nixon Chairman in the 2nd Congressional District. The Senate will remain under Republican control (20 Reps. and 18 Dems.).

On Jan. 9, according to present information; the annual "state of the state" message, which will have been prepared by Governor Romney and Lt. Gov. Milliken during recent weeks, will be presented at a joint session of the Senate and the House. It charts a broad course of recommendations from the Executive branch. Later in the month the Governor will present a much more precise budget message.

Senate Republicans met last month to make some changes in committee assignments for the new session. Accordingly, I will review the status of my standing and interim committee positions. When approved after the session starts I am scheduled to chair the Senate Corporations and Economic Development Standing Committee. It will be directly responsible for proposed basic chances in Michigan's banking structure.

I will continue as vice-chairman of the Education Committee and as a member of the Commerce, Senate Business and Interstate Cooperation Committees.

My interim committee assignments will have expired on December 31 but some I will recommend be extended another two years. As Chairman of the 16-man Joint Legislative Committee on Urban Mass Transportation I am just finishing a 100-page report which I will be glad to send you upon request.

It is my tentative conclusion at this point that the greater Detroit area will have to go to a rapid transit fixed rail system—also that a State Department of Transportation be established.

As Chairman of the Senate Committee on Abortion Law Reform, I called an all-day public hearing on October 7th in Ann Arbor. I also conferred with California Senator Anthony Bielenson who sponsored their new statute as well as with the head of the University of California Medical School Obstetrics Department, the Director of the State Department of Public Health and the San Francisco Assistant District Attorney in charge of rape and incest cases under the abortion law. Senator John McCauley and I are sponsoring bills to liberalize the present Michigan abortion statute.

As Chairman of the Joint Legislative Committee on Pesticides I called public meetings in Lansing, South Haven and Detroit. We also visited in depth the Pesticide Control Center at Michigan State University and the Dow Chemical Laboratories in Midland. We are preparing legislative recommendations for the 1969 session.

The Senate International Commerce Committee which I have headed for the past four years supervised further implementation of our basic recommendations to assist in expanding Michigan export markets and thus create jobs and income at home.

The University of Michigan's Institute of International Commerce, one of the Committee's first recommendations, published this year an excellent five-language directory of 2000 Michigan exporters. It has received world-wide distribution and is unique among the 50 states. A 1969 edition is in the works.

The State Commerce Department organized for the second successive year a West Europe trade mission composed exclusively of Michigan businessmen — who reported several million dollars in actual and projected sales. The State Agriculture Department has hired a top international marketing specialist in line with the bill I sponsored last spring creating a foreign marketing branch in the Agriculture Department.

The State Chamber of Commerce which activated a World Trade Committee in accordance with our committee recommendations is planning a high level economic mission to Japan in 1969.

In my work with the Education Committee I have been active in meetings concerned with parochial aid, bus transportation for school children, and educational TV and radio.

During the fall the U. S. Government invited me to participate in a special mission to the Ivory Coast and Cameroun. This was a federal assignment — not at state of Michigan expense. Because of my previous service in French-speaking Africa I felt I could make a worthwhile contribution. The January 20th issue of "International Commerce" published in Washington will contain several articles featuring this mission and I will be glad to forward copies upon request.

It is my continuing goal to better serve you as your state senator. I find with added experience and responsibilities in Lansing that it is a constant struggle to get back and meet regularly with groups throughout the 18th senatorial district. But I want to do this. I would like to speak to or meet with any groups. Write me on this if you have suggestions.

I will be continuing my news column "The Lansing Report" in weekly papers in 1969 as in past years. I am planning a series of "town hall" meetings in all cities and villages in the district during the coming weeks. I would like to talk at first hand with you on your problems.

Of great help are the annual questionnaires which I circulate throughout the area. Last May your response to my legislative questionnaire carried weight with my colleagues in Lansing. We made a quick tabulation of the results but for detailed demographic breakdown I have had to rely upon the computer service of the University of Michigan School of Business Administration. I am very much indebted to them for this assistance and will be sharing with you a partial analysis of the detailed results in a forthcoming newsletter. I think this is the most scientific analysis of a legislative questionnaire yet accomplished.

Again my best wishes to you for a really great 1969.

Memorial Reredos To Be Constructed

CLINTON — At the annual meeting of the United Church of Christ, Monday evening, members voted to accept the design by Evel Garrido for the accoustical reredos to be placed behind the altar as a focal point for the lighted cross. The reredos is to be constructed from memorial gifts given to the church in memory of Mrs. Clarence Heimerdinger, Sr.

It was also voted to utilize the church pews as choir seats and to place a small panel beside the organ.

The board of trustees were authorized to use any building remodeling funds remaining when these specific projects are completed, for a new project of redecoration of the church school rooms, Kirker Memorial room, and parsonage.

Mrs. E. John Hoelzer gave a comprehensive report of the entire building program which has been completed and all bills paid, at a total of approximately $19,000, raised by pledges already honored. She expressed the hope that those whose pledges are remaining to be fulfilled, would do so, in order that the work on the church school rooms can go forward.

During her two terms as trustee, which has now ended, Mrs. Hoelzer was actively involved in every phase of the remodeling program, from preparing meals for volunteer workmen, scrubbing and cleaning, removing varnish and refinishing sanctuary furniture, and her industrious example proved a stimulant to the members of the congregation to volunteer their services to make the project a cooperative achievement.

Still without a pastor, the church is being supplied by ministers from Adrian College, and the Pulpit Committee is making every effort to find a pastor, Mrs. Robert King reported.

The yearly budgets were adopted for the general fund and for the benevolence fund, and annual reports were given by each department chairman. Moderator Robert Vogel presided at the meeting.

"Red" Becker made a final effort to apply a top dressing of fertilizer on the 14-acre field, but got stuck in the soft ground. He called Schneider Brothers wrecker to pull him out, and they, too, got stuck, so it had to be given up. It was unfortunate that this was not done earlier while the ground was hard, but was another detail overlooked in the planning.

As summer approached again, the problem of labor for the next harvest became a real worry. Charles Figy and "Red" Becker felt as though the farmers' Grange organization of Tecumseh and North Adrian would be willing to help.

Early in June, Perry attended a Memorial Service at the Rollin Grange to meet Mrs. Bernice M. Curtiss, state Chaplain of the Michigan Grange. She had heard all about the Dynamic Kernels project and promised to attend the next harvest. Mrs. Ethel A. Hood, Chaplain of the Pomona Grange, also said she would be there.

CHAPTER 7.

Glamor Hits Fourth Harvest

National interest in the Tecumseh Biblical Wheat experiment had now grown to such an extent that newspaper reporters, magazine writers, newsreel companies and photographers were writing for permission to be on the grounds for the next big harvest early in July. Friends of the project now advised Perry to capitalize on the opportunity of making his Dynamic Kernels project a world-wide influence. The stage was all set . . . interest had grown steadily during the past four years . . . and now the world was seeking the story. It was decided to enact a huge colorful review of the whole project, by starting with the replica of the original plot being cut with a sickle; another portion of the field being cut with cradles; still another being cut with the old horsedrawn reaper; and finally finishing the field with a binder.

Henry Ford agreed to bring Mrs. Ford and his grandson, Henry II. Moreover, he also agreed to cut the small plot with a sickle. C. D. Finkbeiner was placed in charge of the cradlers. Ed Clark was to bring the old horse-drawn reaper from the Edison Institute and the Tecumseh Grange was to furnish binders and labor to finish the job . . . and Mrs. Hayden was to head a committee to put the finishing touches on the harvest by having a group of women play the ancient role of "gleaners," to pick up the scattered heads of wheat which might otherwise be lost.

Finkbeiner organized a cradling contest. He rated the contestants as "Juniors" up to 60 years of age, "Hustlers" from 60 to 80, and "Pioneers" from 80 up. A long list of entries poured in during the days before the harvest.

Radio Station WJR of Detroit, arranged to broadcast directly from the field, to tell the story of the Fourth Harvest to the world just as it took place . . . so the date for the harvest was definitely set for July 8, 1944.

On June 22, Ralph Comfort showed the pictures of the first three years of the Dynamic Kernels project at the Tecumseh Grange. Immediately after they saw the pictures, they agreed to assume the full responsibility of cutting, stacking and threshing the Fourth Harvest. They also voted to erect concession stands to sell sandwiches, coffee and soft drinks for the convenience of the public.

One night while the plans were developing smoothly, Perry was awakened by a terrific electrical storm. Any wheat-farmer can fully appreciate the sinking feeling that came to Perry's heart when he thought of his Dynamic Kernels being beaten down by the storm.

Going over to his typewriter, he made the following entry in his diary: (3:00 a.m.) "I cannot recall in many years witnessing such an electrical display and heavy rain as we are now having. The thought comes to me naturally of the wheat, and how much of it is being beaten to the ground, but I have confidence to believe that our Dynamic Kernels will come through in good shape."

Perry went back to sleep. The next morning a visit to the field brought a sickening sight to his eyes. The 14 acres of wheat had been leveled by the storm!

There was nothing to do but to wait to see what would happen when the sun came out, so after returning from a trip to Lansing, Michigan, the following entry was made in the diary that evening: — "Tonight I drove out to the wheat field with Ray Kellogg of Morenci, after being in East Lansing for a meeting of the Michigan Millers Association. The wheat which was knocked down so flat by the storm this morning is now standing back up as proud and erect as if nothing had happened."

A few days later, Henry Ford called the Hayden Mill by telephone from his car while traveling 50 miles per hour. He was on his way out from Willow Run, to see how the plans were progressing for the wheat cutting on July 8. Perry had gone to Adrian and as he walked into Koehn's Grocery Store, he was told to call the mill at once. Bertine Walker answered and explained that Henry Ford was on his way to the mill and was expected within five minutes.

Perry almost ran over the customers getting out of the store. He reached Tecumseh in 14 minutes flat. As he drove up in front of the mill, there was Ford's shiny black car parked in front of the office. As Perry rushed in, Mr. Ford was comfortably enjoying a visit with Bill Beardsley. "If you want a thing done well, do it yourself," he was saying.

Mr. Ford wanted to see the wheat.

"Shall we go in my car?" Perry asked nervously, forgetting that Mr. Ford had come in his own chauffeured Mercury.

"That was one time that I was sure glad that I at least drove a Ford," Perry remarked later.

They all jumped into Perry's conspicuous white car and drove to the 14-acre tract of Dynamic Kernels.

The first thing that caught Mr. Ford's eye as they approached the field, was the replica of the first little plot, surrounded by a white fence built by Reuben Van Winkle, making it stand out like a jewel in a magnificent setting.

"That's the plot that we would like to have you cut next week," said Perry.

"I'll be glad to cut at least part of it."

"We are also counting on the presence of Mrs. Ford, Henry II and Wm. J. Cameron."

Ford smiled and with a twinkle in his eye, replied, "I am sure they can all be here, and if Cameron doesn't come I'll tear his clothes off him."

As they drove around the field, Mr. Ford enthusiastically exclaimed, "I have never seen better wheat in my life."

"That's what the Lord did for us, after our failure last year."

"I'm happy to hear you say that," Mr. Ford responded with genuine sincerity. "I'm glad you feel that way. You know that I have no creed. I believe in Reincarnation. You know that there are not two people nor two grains of wheat alike, and so no two souls are alike."

Perry asked, "Do you believe in Jesus Christ?"

"He's a great soul, but he has been back to this earth many times."

One of the group then asked about the story circulated regarding his making a promise to Woodrow Wilson that he would read the Bible every day.

"That story has been exaggerated," answered Mr. Ford. "Mr. Wilson was not a very religious man."

Perry closed the conversation by saying, "You have been a great inspiration to me, Mr. Ford, but I believe Jesus was more than just a man."

Mr. Ford asked many questions about the land, how it was plowed, the amount of grain planted per acre, the kind of wheat planted, how the plans were progressing for the cutting ceremonies and whether there was anything else he could do to help make it a success.

Just before they left the field, Ralph Comfort drove by and asked Mr. Ford whether he would like to see the pictures of the project taken during the past three years. He immediately responded, "Any time you say."

It was decided to show the pictures in Mr. Ford's private studio in the Engineering Laboratory, the following day.

As they were talking, one of Ford's huge B-24 bombers flew over and Bill Beardsley suggested that it would be nice if one could fly over the field during the harvest.

Mr. Ford glanced up as it roared over, "I think that can be arranged. There are always a number of them being tested."

Mr. Ford looked fine physically. He always lived a temperate life and took good care of his health. He showed the group a little container in which he carried warm water, and explained that it was "pollen water" from Maine.

"Why should I use up my body heat and energy, heating the water I drink?" explained Mr. Ford.

The following morning Ralph Comfort, Pastor Escolme and Perry Hayden drove to Dearborn to show the pictures to Mr. Ford and a group of his associates. They were to meet Mr. Ford at 9:30 a.m. but at 9:15 he came out of his office with Frank Campsall to greet them. Rufus Wilson took the group to the Edison Institute Museum to select the harvesting implements that were wanted for the harvest. Henry Ford's collection at Greenfield Village is the most complete in the world.

Mr. Ford pointed out a Triumph Self-rake Reaper with which he cut 25 acres of wheat in one day, when he was only 11 years old. He offered to operate it himself on the day of the cutting.

From the Institute, the group went to the Martha Mary Chapel in Ford's Greenfield Village, where they found Earl Tank playing the organ. Mr. Ford offered to bring a Hammond Organ to the ceremonies and have Mr. Tank play it. When they entered the chapel, he was playing "Galilee, Sweet Galilee," so it was decided that this should be one of the songs for the harvest. Two others chosen were, "What a Friend We Have in Jesus" and "America the Beautiful."

Mr. Ford turned to Perry, "You are doing a marvelous job out there in Tecumseh, and I want to help you all I can. I'll be out again before the cutting."

After dinner in Mr. Ford's private dining room at the Village, the group adjourned to the Engineering Laboratory to see the Biblical wheat pictures. Among the associates of Mr. Ford assembled to see the pictures were Dr. Roy McClure, chief surgeon at the Ford Hospital, Dr. McCarrell, William Craig and several engineers of the Ford Motor Company.

While Perry was showing the movies, he mentioned that the next year's crops would require about 250 acres, and Mr. Ford jokingly remarked, "I'll have to buy some more land out there, I guess."

Mr. Ford intimated that certain private interests were in favor of the war, and Pastor Escolme asked, "Aren't you afraid to make such a statement, for fear they will prosecute you?"

Mr. Ford laughed and replied, "I wish they would . . . All wars are caused by greed and selfishness, and are inexcusable."

Henry Ford hated war with a "holy hate," yet when his country was plunged into two World Wars during his lifetime, he came to the defense of the flag with the huge unlimited power of his great mass-production empire.

Later Mr. Ford told Perry that he liked Pastor Escolme. "I often get folks into an argument just to test them," he said. "That fellow stands his ground and I like him."

W. J. Cameron expressed his interest in the "economics" of the Bible, and said that he had made several talks on the subject. He promised to attend either the cutting or the threshing of the famous wheat and give a short talk.

THE CUTTING—JULY 8

Perry arose before day-break on the morning of July 8, to offer thanks to God for the prospects ahead for the biggest day in the history of the Dynamic Kernels experiment. Seventy prominent guests had accepted invitations to be present, and Henry Ford already had every detail on the field completed.

"All we need now is the weather," said Perry as he prayed. After he praised God for His blessings on the project and the people interested in it, he arose and looked out the window . . . The sun was streaking the eastern sky . . .

Perry donned his familiar white suit for the occasion . . . Dressed in white he could easily be spotted in the crowd, as the newspaper men, workmen and others constantly sought him for information and instructions.

A covered platform had been erected by Ed Clark, where promptly at 10:00 a.m., WJR started to broadcast the official opening of the ceremonies. Larry Payne, assisted by Andrew Friedenthal, explained the Dynamic Kernels Harvest to the outside world, and then Pastor Edward Escolme opened the program with a prayer. Rev. Worthy A. Spring, President of the Cleveland Bible College, was scheduled to give the invocation, but arrived too late. Earl Tank led students of the Edison Institute in singing, accompanied by Mrs. George Parsons on the electric organ which had been set up for the occasion.

Larry Payne then called Perry and Elizabeth Hayden to the microphone to be interviewed regarding the history of the project up to the present time. Rev. Clifton Robinson and Pastor Escolme each gave a short talk on the history and religious significance of the experiment. Hon. Harry F. Kelly, Governor of Michigan, and Charles Figy, Commissioner of Agriculture, spoke on the importance of this project to agriculture and to the State of Michigan. Mr. and Mrs. Henry Ford and Henry Ford II were presented as the honor guests.

Among other important guests who were introduced, were Vernon F. Brown, Lieutenant Governor of Michigan; Clark Brody, Secretary of the Michigan Farm Bureau; Albert Marsh of The Allis-Chalmers Company; Carl Hood, Superintendent of the Ford Schools; Fred Smith, Director of the Greenfield Village Museum; Roy Decker, Head of Farm Crops, Dept. of Michigan State College; Carlton D. McKenzie, President of Millers National Federation; Howard Holmes, President the Michigan Millers Ass'n.; J. Floyd Elliott, Mayor of Tecumseh; Earl C. Michener, 2nd Dist. Congressman; H. B. Earhart, of Ann Arbor, founder of White Star Refining Co.; Prof. Thos. C. Trueblood, University of Michigan; Ray Herrick, President of Tecumseh Products Co.; W. G. Armstrong, Master of Michigan State Grange; Mrs. Bernice M. Curtiss, Chaplain of Michigan State Grange; Perl Ash, Master of Tecumseh Grange; James Marr, Master of Pomona Grange.

your inquiring mind

CHECK THE FOLLOWING QUESTIONS THAT YOU MAY HAVE ASKED YOURSELF:

( ) Can there be more to life than eating, sleeping, studying, working and playing?

( ) What is the purpose of my life?

( ) What is prayer for? Does it really work?

( ) Does God really exist? Can I know Him personally?

If you checked any of these questions, you're the kind of person who "knows" that life should be more than just living. You have an inquiring mind — one that wants to know what life is all about.

You've asked yourself some pretty important questions. Now follow through. Come to church regularly, and get the answers from God.

TWO FOR THE TORIES — Jim Skelton goes up to drop in two points for the undefeated Britton Tories. Rick Maska (32) and Dave Fairbanks (4 2) look on in Britton's win over the Whiteford Bobcats last Friday. Maska was high point man in the victory, dropping in 21 points. Fairbanks contributed 20 and Skelton added 15 to the balanced attack.

Tories Lead the Pack

BRITTON — The Tory cage quintet swept to their sixth straight River Raisin league win Friday night as they posted a decisive victory over Whiteford, 83-64. The win is their 7th overall.

Once again balanced scoring, with four in double figures, plus a strong defense, was the key to the Tory win.

Junior Rick Maska took game scoring honors, as he collected 21 counters for Britton. The 6'1" forward hit 10 out of 16 field goal attempts for a 62% average, playing an excellent steady game for the Tories.

Close behind was Dave Fairbanks with 20 points, many on rebound baskets the lanky 6'6" senior grabbed and popped in.

Jim Brown chalked up 16, several coming on long shots from the top of the key in the last quarter. Jim Skelton, with 15, Jim Lister, with 9, and Rick Brown, with 2, completed the Tory scoring. Dave Simpson was high for Whiteford with 20.

"I'm really pleased that we've had a different high scorer in each of the past five games," stated Coach Jim Landfair. "Any one of our boys is capable of having the big night." All of the Tory starters are averaging in double figures.

Britton led off the scoring with two quick baskets by Fairbanks, who popped in five buckets in the quarter. The Bobcats tried to out-run the Tories, but Britton kept up with them, and the score was 17-all when Lister's free throw put Britton ahead, 18-17, just before the first quarter buzzer. The Tories led from then on, outscoring the Bobcats in every quarter. A lay-up by Maska gave Britton a slim 36-31 lead at the half-time break.

Three baskets in the first minute of the second half put Britton at 42-31, and although the Bobcats kept hustling right down to the final buzzer, they could never overcome Britton's lead, and the Tories continued to pull away to their final 19-point margin.

The Tories made 36 out of 84 field goal attempts for 42%, compared with Whiteford's 37% on 25 out of 67 attempts, and they beat the visitors easily on the boards.

The Bobcats were superior at the free throw line, however, making 14 out of 22 attempts for 63%, compared with Britton's 11 out of 25, or 44%.

The win puts Britton in good position for a first-round sweep in the RRC, as the undefeated Tories host the winless Minutemen of Deerfield Friday night.

The Junior Tories lost to the Whiteford Reserves, 58-44. Dan Warren was high scorer for both teams with 17.

80th YEAR OF SERVICE

Adrian Federal Savings & Loan Association savers earned a record $1,517,965.15 in dividends with their Passbook and Savings Certificate Accounts during 1968.

The record earnings paid savers is another one of the many firsts achieved by Adrian Federal Savings & Loan, which, this year, is observing its 80th year of service to the people of Lenawee and surrounding counties.

Other records achieved in 1968 include the increase of resources of the Association to $40,525,196 — a $2,165,363 gain in Passbook and Savings Certificate accounts — and an increase to $35,304,629 in the mortgage portfolio of Adrian Federal.

Reflecting the sound investments in home financing in Lenawee and surrounding counties was the decision of the board of directors to increase the earnings on Passbook Savings Accounts to 4½ per cent per annum, compounded and paid quarterly. The 4½ per cent earning rate is another first for the area — as is the 5¼ per cent per annum rate of earnings for Eightieth Anniversary Golden Savings Certificates being offered by Adrian Federal on a six-month maturity basis.

These are just a few of the many reasons why Adrian Federal is first with savers — and people who are building, buying or improving homes in Lenawee and surrounding counties.

Circles Meet

The January meeting of the St. Elizabeth Rosary Altar Society gave many members the opportunity to show their wedding gowns to fellow members.

After a brief business meeting members "marched down the aisle" once more to the strains of Mendelssohn's "Wedding March" played by Mrs. Louis Caterina.

Some brides were still able to model their own gowns while others had daughters or friends to "proxy" for them.

Pat McCrate wore Mrs. Ted Golat's dress. Kay Kilson wore that of her mother, Mrs. Kenneth Kitson. Mrs. Walter Rowe after 25 years and 12 children, was still able to wear her own wedding dress as did Mrs. Joseph Schneider, Mrs. William Holmes, Mrs. Murray Palmer, Mrs. Fred McCrate, Mrs. Michael Osburn, Mrs. Norman Stein and Mrs. Steven McCrate. Pat Kane made a lovely bride in her mother's gown. Her mother is Mrs. James Kane. Mrs. Thomas Morgan's gown was modeled by Sue Allen as Mrs. Morgan was busy with her two-week-old baby.

The oldest member represented in this showing of bridal gowns was Mrs. Warren Lewis, who was married in 1931, wore her gown. Mrs. Steven McCrate, a bride of 1968, was the youngest.

Carrying out the theme of a wedding reception, the hall was decorated with poinsettias and greens. Refreshments were served in the manner of a wedding reception by Mrs. Thomas Fagan, chairman, and her committee including Mrs. Kenneth Hunter, Mrs. James Kershner, Mrs. Joseph LeFevre, Mrs. Isabelle Roe and Mrs. Lawrence Cote.

Next month's meeting will be highlighted by "The Four Dads", a local barbershop quartet.

Letters to the Editor

TO THE EDITOR:

It's such a special thing that our Firemen have done. Every day we entrust our lives and property to them, but again they've come up with that something extra to make us even more grateful.

On this Sunday afternoon, sitting here writing this, I'm watching some mothers, fathers, boys and girls of all ages, skating on one of the ice rinks.

It took lots of effort in some very unpleasant weather for these men to make this possible. Because they took the time, our children can skate and we don't have to fear any tragedy.

It's these thoughtful voluntary contributions by our citizens that make Tecumseh the wonderful place that it is.

Gratefully,
Susan Jacoby.

120 Acres Is Picked for New High School

Tecumseh School Board obtained an option on 120 acres from Jens Touborg this week for a future high school.

Site for the new school is at the corner of M-50 and Rogers Hwy., at the edge of the city's east city limits. The property borders Rogers Hwy. on the west, the Arthur Eaton farm on the east, and on the south by the Robert Bonner property.

Price for the 120 acres has not yet been determined.

The Board's decision ends many months of securing a satisfactory site for a new high school. Current plans call for vacating the old Junior High building and moving the seventh and eighth grades there plus the sixth grade into the present high school.

Last fall, the Board sought to buy 65 acres along N. Occidental. The area comprised 65 acres and was bounded on the south by the Hoyt Whelan Implement property, Evans Creek on the east, and David Ousterhouts home on the north.

This site was rejected Monday evening when officials learned that the Detroit owners had jumped the asking price by $700 an acre.

Supt. James McDowell says not all of the 120 acres along M-50 will be necessary for development. Approximately 50 acres will be used by the FFA for crops and a nursery with the remaining 70 acres for building construction, parking areas and necessary outdoor school activities.

Whether the Touborg site is annexed to the city has not yet been determined.

Robert Duhan, assistant superintendent, is investigating the possibility of saving the schools monies by leaving it in Tecumseh Township. Schools are penalized in state assistance by bussing youngsters living within the city. This rule may not apply if the site stays in the township and students live over one and a half miles from the school.

Mr. Touborg, one of the founders of the Tecumseh Products and a retired executive, is no stranger to the Tecumseh schools, their problems and growth.

He was a member of the School Board from July 1941 to June 1960 and was president of the Board for 17 years.

$15,000 Bail Set for Wife

Funeral services were held at Proctor Funeral Home in Clinton, Monday afternoon for James Chalmers "Chas" Campbell Jr., 42, of 15980 Wellwood Rd., who was an apparent murder victim Friday night.

The service was conducted by the Rev. Charles Sturm of St. John's Episcopal Church.

State Police Trooper Buckner Shahan found Mr. Campbell dead of upper chest wounds from a 20-gauge shotgun, when police were called to the Campbell home six miles west of Clinton, by the victim's wife, Marilyn, 38, at 7 p.m. Friday.

An autopsy was later performed at the University Hospital, Ann Arbor.

Mrs. Campbell was taken to the Washtenaw County Jail and was arraigned on a first-degree murder charge before the Washtenaw District Court Judge Patrick J. Conlin, in Chelsea Monday afternoon.

She was released on $15,000 bond to appear at a preliminary hearing on Jan. 27. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Maurice Malady of 651 State St., Adrian.

Mr. Campbell was born in Clinton, Sept. 13, 1926, the son of the late J. Chalmers Campbell Sr. His mother, Mrs. Pearl Whiting Campbell, who was spending the winter with her sister, Mrs. Livingston Latham, near Tampa, Fla., returned to Clinton Sunday.

He graduated from Clinton High School in 1944, enlisted in the Marines and served four years, partly during World War II.

He had been employed for about 12 years at Tecumseh Products Co. He was also an orderly on a parttime basis at Bixby Hospital, Adrian.

He married Marilyn Malady in June 1950.

He is survived by a brother, Norman J. Campbell, and a sister, Mrs. Robert (Eleanor Ann) Pardee, both of Clinton. An infant brother preceded him in death.

Burial was in Riverside Cemetery.

City Buys Globe Pond

Council voted five to one Monday night to exercise the option with Perry Satterthwaite for Globe Mill Pond.

Cost is $15,000, and total property includes nearly 60 acres.

His reason was money and wondered where it was coming from and how much a new dam for the pond would actually cost. A representative of an Ann Arbor firm told officials here that the preliminary work and construction of the dam should not run more than $65,000.

City officials already have discussed setting up a special assessment plan for financing the work.

In exercising the option, Cal Zorn, city manager, was requested to contact the Community Fund Foundation about holding deed to the property. In this manner, the city could be eligible for Federal funds in restoring the pond to its original state.

County Posts Are Assigned

By BILL SANFORD

At second session of the Lenawee County Board of Supervisors, announcement was made of the standing committees for the coming year. Area supervisors fared well on the committees that will be responsible for the county's business.

Fay Whelan of the City of Tecumseh, was appointed to the powerful ways and means committee which will oversee salaries and departmental budgets, along with other capital outlay from the county vault.

The equalization committee has a new member in T. J. Wagner of Tecumseh, who is appointed for the first year. The equalization committee will approve the township assessments as the township supervisors submit them. Changes in assessments through tax factors are sometimes applied. William Mackey, of Tecumseh and Raisin Townships is also a member of equalization.

Whelan was also made chairman of the Lenawee Youth Center and court committee. Wagner's chairmanship is of the airport committee.

Mackey was also appointed to the building and grounds committee. James Mitchell, whom Mackey replaces, on the board, was also a member of that committee. Mackey had served as an advisor on the purchase and remodeling of the former Miller Ice Cream parlor into the new district courts.

Wagner will also serve on the welfare and sheriff's committees. Whelan's other assignments on the new board will be with the county health and extension committees.

M. M. Halley of Clinton and Macon was given the gavel of the legislative committee and other assignments on departmental, assessment rolls and apportionment of taxes and extension.

Ron Brown, representing Franklin and Cambridge Townships, was elected chairman pro-tem of the board. The chairman and pro-tem were not granted chairmanships of any committees. Brown will sit on ways and means, equalization, Youth Center and courts and sheriff's committees.

The power committees of the board were retained by the veterans from the Township Board of Supervisors. John Keller, chairman, retains the keys to the county coffers on ways and means; Wayne Fish of Hudson, equalization; Melvin Rodesiler, sheriff; Stacy Zilke, buildings and grounds.

Bill Conlin Quits Board

United Savings Bank of Tecumseh held its annual meeting Tuesday afternoon at the Tecumseh Country Club with approximately 50 shareholders in attendance.

J. W. (Pat) Meadows, president and chairman of the board, announced that Rollo G. "Bill" Conlin was not standing for re-election to the board, due to ill health.

Mr. Conlin, former State Representative from Tipton, was a director of the bank since 1945.

In appreciation of his services, Mr. Meadows read a statement of commendation from the board and then presented it to Mrs. Jean Johnson, daughter of Mr. Conlin.

All bank officers — with one exception — and directors were re-elected at the organizational session.

Mrs. Mary M. Kovach, assistant cashier, has resigned effective Feb. 15.

Of the bank's 125,000 shares of common stock outstanding, over 85% of 107,215 were represented either by proxy or in person.

Mr. Meadows reported briefly about the bank's outstanding record for 1968, and predicted that the institution would continue to prosper and grow in 1969.

Is New Secretary

Mrs. Donald Cobb was elected secretary of the Tecumseh School Board Monday night, succeeding the late Orville Bishop, who died last month.

Replacing Mr. Bishop on the Board was William Macbeth.

Follies Showing at Boysville

Tecumseh's biggest stage production of the year takes place this weekend at the Boysville Auditorium in Macon where the Jaycees will hold their fourth annual Jaycee Follies.

Evening performances are scheduled for Friday and Saturday nights and a matinee for Sunday afternoon at two o'clock.

A feature of the performances will be the winner announcement of the Mr. and Mrs. Tecumseh contest. Canisters have been in downtown stores for several weeks with proceeds from the canisters destined for Jaycee projects. Winners of the contest will be given a personal gift from the organization.

Profits from the Follies are used by the Jaycees for community improvements, youth development, citizen recognition and international understanding — plus the Pass, Punt and Kick Contest, Tecumseh Jaycee Relays, aid to the Scouts and Operation Get Acquainted, a program for under-privileged children.

The Jaycees are hopeful of raising a record amount of money at this week's Follies as the organization's treasury is reportedly low of funds, according to David Schoonover, Jaycee president.

The organization failed to realize any profits this last summer when rain cancelled a carnival promotion and advertising for the Follies dropped by approximately $500.

Jaycees are hopeful that a well-attended Follies will enable them to recoup some of their losses.

Larry Gerard and Carol Baker are general co-chairmen. The Follies are being staged and directed by Edward J. Hamilton, of New York.

Resignations Asked Of Health Board

On a motion by Fay Whelan, Tecumseh, the Lenawee County Board of Supervisors moved to combine the County Health Department committee of the supervisors with the county health board.

Letters of resignation were sought from all present members of the health board to allow the new board of supervisors to appoint members from the standing board.

According to law, two years ago the health board was established and members of the, then, township board of supervisors appointed members to the health body. The members were elected for five-year terms. Those appointed were Harold Easton, Tecumseh, R. A. Piotter of Adrian, Lowell Hammontree of Morenci, Mills Swick of Macon, and Donald Woods of Manitou Beach.

Only Hammontree is a member of the present board. Others have been eliminated from the board through retirement or by way of reapportionment. The motion from Whelan asked that the present health committee be appointed as the board. Members of that committee are Lewis Glaser, Adrian, Hammontree, of Morenci, Carl Kackstetter of Adrian, Whelan, and Wayne Fish of Hudson.

A duplication of effort and costs to the county were the reasons for the merging.

The board of supervisors can act on the appointments as soon as the resignations are effected.

7 Accidents Are Minor

Although seven accidents were investigated by the Tecumseh police during the past week, none involved personal injury to any of the drivers or their passengers.

A resume is:

Jan. 16 — Margie R. Forsthoefel, 36, of 404 W. Kilbuck St., was cited for failure to yield the right of way after a mishap at the intersection of S. Evans and Kilbuck with Jeffrey A. Carter, 21, of 1809 W. Valley Rd.

Jan. 16 — Mary Jo Ernst, 25, of 702 Inner Dr., slid on the ice and struck a city-owned pickup truck, parked at the time, but normally operated by her husband, Allyn Ernst.

Jan. 18 — Robert Tooman, 24, Clinton, reported to police that he was pulling a trailer while coming from Clinton and the trailer broke loose as he entered Tecumseh's city limits. The trailer clipped a street sign and a small tree and finally stopped in a ditch after whipping across N. Evans St.

Jan. 18 — Pauline H. Moore, 54, of 811 Red Mill Dr., was cited for failure to yield the right of way after she pulled from a service station on S. Maumee St. and struck Joan E. Lauer, 45, of S. Maumee.

Jan. 19 — Mitchell D. Geiger, Clinton, skidded on icy N. Union St. and struck a pole.

Jan. 20 — Weldon Williams, 206 W. Kilbuck, reported his car damaged by an unknown driver.

Jan. 20 — Sandra L. Betzoldt, 24, of 507 Brown St., slid off Macon Rd. into a ditch, damaging her car.

Clinton Clerk Is Appointed To Committee

M. M. Halley, Clinton, chairman of the judiciary committee of the Lenawee County Board of Supervisors, submitted a resolution adopting a committee to act on special elections for the county, cities, villages and townships, as well as school district proposals.

The panel, to which the governmental subdivisions must submit their dates of election, must be composed of the county clerk, a city clerk, a township clerk and a member of a school board within the county.

Submitted by Halley's committee to serve were Ben Mahrle, Clinton township clerk, Vaughn Roberts, Adrian city clerk and Fred Morse of the Onsted School district. Patricia Johnston, county clerk, will serve as chairman. The board accepted the recommendations.

Fire Ruins Semi-trailer

A semi-trailer containing parachutes and equipment, parked at the west side of Meyers Airport, was destroyed by fire Sunday afternoon.

The Tecumseh Fire Department was called at 1:45 p.m. and remained at the scene for almost an hour.

The trailer was owned by Harold Lang of Taylor, and the equipment was owned by Tecumseh Parachuting Service. The loss was estimated at $3,000 for the trailer and $5,000 for the contents.

The fire apparently started in a space heater, while Mr. Lang was working in the trailer. He attempted to put out the blaze with a fire extinguisher before the firemen arrived.

March of Dimes Drive Jan. 30th

The annual Mothers March of Dimes will be held next Thursday evening, Jan. 30, and residents are urged to turn their porch lights on for the solicitors.

Annexation Is Delayed

Annexation of approximately eight acres of Tecumseh Township was delayed by Council Monday evening when city officials agreed that nearby residents should voice their feelings.

The area, south of W. Chicago Blvd., just west of Occidental Rd., and north of Southwestern Dr., was proposed for annexation by Dennis and Thomas Ireland and Sandra Henkel.

Purpose for annexation is construction of multiple-dwelling units, and according to Dennis Ireland, similar to Marlboro Apartments.

Councilman Carlton Cook expressed concern of Occidental residents who might or might not object to adjacent apartment buildings. The doctor felt an advisory-type hearing for the residents was in order.

If, and when the area is annexed, it will automatically be zoned residential A, Tecumseh's top rating. A public hearing will then be necessary to switch the zoning for multiple-dwelling.

YOU TOLD US

By DOROTHY GRIGG
Herald Society Editor

If you think you are beaten, you are.
If you think you dare not, you don't,
If you'd like to win but think you can't,
It's almost a cinch, you won't.
Life's battles don't always go
To the stronger or faster man
But soon or late the man who wins
Is the one who thinks he can.

This little gem picked up in a dentist's office, seemed somehow appropriate as we think of the inauguration of President Richard Nixon Monday. He certainly must have thought that he could become president of this country.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Banner with Dr. and Mrs. D. F. Sarapo and Mr. and Mrs. Charles Hickman of Adrian were in Washington to participate in the inaugural festivities.

Congressman and Mrs. Marvin Esch invited the French Dukes (the marching group from Ann Arbor who were in the parade) and their guests for a special breakfast preceding the formal inauguration ceremonies in front of the Capitol. The Eschs also hosted a reception for Second District visitors in his new suite of offices in the Cannon House Office Building.

Lendall K. Milheim, son of Mr. and Mrs. Lendall B. Milheim, 7488 Billmyer Rd., and Stephen C. Ruhl, son of Mr. and Mrs. Lester Ruhl, 9556 Milwaukee Rd., were among those from Lenawee County to leave Thursday for the induction center in Detroit.

Mrs. William Grigg and Mr. and Mrs. Lyle Grigg were in Jackson Sunday to visit Gertrude and Alta Gray.

Mr. and Mrs. Richard Holdridge and family have returned to Tecumseh from Botkins, O. They are living at 1103 Murray Dr.

Mr. and Mrs. Ward Perso visited the Carlsbad Caverns and Juarez, Mexico, en route to California. They write that "the scenery is beautiful, roads and weather good, though cool, and the food is fair but fattening."

Mrs. Carlton Cook has information concerning a new group of foreign students who have arrived in Ann Arbor and would like to visit homes in this area under the sponsorship of the Lenawee County United Church-women.

Arrangements may be made to host a student Feb. 7, 8 and 9 with a choice of country and male or female student preferred.

Apologies to Mrs. C. O. Butler. In last week's obituary column, it was inadvertently omitted that Mrs. Nellie Z. Eaton, who died Jan. 14, was Mrs. Butler's mother.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Meadows returned Friday from a two-week vacation to San Francisco, Calif., Hawaii and Las Vegas, Nev. The Country Market was closed for two weeks while the Meadows were away.

The Rev. Blair Bashore and Miriam will be home for worship services Sunday, following a three-week trip to Florida. While they were away, Dr. Howard C. Emrich and Dr. John Dawson of Adrian College handled the worship services at both the First Baptist Church and at North Rome.

Frank Glenn is improving daily at his home after undergoing surgery at an Ann Arbor hospital.

David Radant, son of Mr. and Mrs. Rhinehart Radant, 709 S. Union St., has been promoted to gunner's mate 3/c aboard the USS Richard B. Anderson in the DMZ.

Mrs. Fred Seal, 905 Shady Lane, underwent surgery at the U of M Medical Center recently. She is expected to be discharged this week.

Water Usage Down in 1968

Water usage in Tecumseh dropped one million gallons per day in 1968 in comparison to usage in 1962.

Cal Zorn, city manager, pointed out to Council Monday evening that the savings equaled two good wells. Reason for the drop is the re-using of water by the Tecumseh Products.

Table of water usage for the past eight years is:

1961	2,300,000 gallons
1962	2,350,000 gallons
1963	2,340,000 gallons
1964	2,160,000 gallons
1965	1,790,000 gallons
1966	1,590,000 gallons
1967	1,470,000 gallons
1968	1,350,000 gallons

Gallonage is average per day.

Cost Picture Of Construction

A future construction cost picture of over $300,000 was presented to Council by City Manager Cal Zorn Monday night.

Streets and estimated costs were:

Rogers Hwy — $52,000
Evans St. — $43,000
Pearl St. — $7,500
Cummins St. — $48,000
Brown St. — $101,000
Burt St. — $57,000

The large estimated expenditure for Brown St. was necessary if the street were to be extended to Occidental Rd. Such an extension would have been required if the schools constructed a new high school in the area.

However, as the Council meeting was in the process, school officials were voting to secure an option for 120 acres, just east of the city.

All costs were estimated by McNamee, Porter and Seeley, Ann Arbor engineering firm. The firm's estimated costs for preparing plans and specifications totalled $17,000, a figure some officials suggested was high.

Mr. Zorn told Councilmen that he planned to meet with Arthur W. Gillespie Association in Adrian and obtain estimated costs from that company.

New Equipment Purchase Planned

Plans to purchase an additional $2,700 worth of equipment for the hospital were made at the Herrick Memorial Hospital Auxiliary meeting last week.

Two memory loops at $600 each and wiring at $100 to complete the heart unit and two ultrasonic nebulizers at $450 each plus intermittent positive pressure breathing apparatus are on the agenda recommended by Dr. Richard Coak and Administrator William Groover.

Mrs. Murial White, a former missionary to Africa, showed slides and spoke of her work with her husband in eight years as medical missionaries.

Mrs. Charles Coffey and Mrs. Kenneth McElroy were accepted as new members.

Mrs. George Stewart, Mrs. Richard Mevers and Mrs. Robert Vaillancourt were the hostesses.

"Inner Circle" Sunday Topic

BRITTON — The Rev. Duane McNeil will speak on "The Inner Circle" at the worship service Sunday at the Bethel Baptist Church.

Sunday School begins at 10 a.m., followed by the worship service at 11 a.m.

"Battle Scars" is the sermon title for the 7:30 p.m. service.

Young people meet at 6:30 at the same time as the adult Bible study group meet.

Regular mid-week prayer service is held Wednesday at 7:30 p.m.

Moffatt Picked for Chairman

Don Moffatt, Tecumseh's director of Parks and Recreation, was appointed by Council Monday night to be chairman of the city's activities for Michigan Week, May 17-23.

Musings

by Bill Sanford

The New President

It was quite a sight. The son of a California grocer. This day belonged to him. Monday, January 20, 1969. He had stood on that platform before. He had watched three presidents sworn in. The irony of fate, a change in the rules of human nature and it might have happened January 20, 1961. His name is Richard Milhous Nixon. He is the President of the United States.

I have a great kinship for my president. Victory came hard. He struggled and he fought for that "splendid misery." Why, God only knows. He was there once and was suddenly pulled back. People said that he should "quit" that it was all over for him. But you cannot come that close to a cherished dream and pull in your sails, it isn't that easy. Everybody says that it is, but then those who said that never got that far with their cherished dreams.

It is the nature of what our government is, that we have a president. Men must seek the misery that that office brings. It is their duty to choose for themselves. No office seeks the politician. That is the old adage of truth applied to the sainthood most of them want.

I am tired of the need to be loved that is evident in all of our society. Love is like an orchid that tenderly needs the sunlight and warmth that makes it grow. Not a bought commodity of petty dreams that deny the innocent bystander his heritage of free thought.

I feel a kinship for Richard Nixon because I've been down and out before, had to justify for a society unworthy of the justification something I have felt or done. I've been a loser, too. I have been on the brink of doing something and then at the last moment felt myself yanked back from the breach to languish in self-denial.

Whatever Richard Nixon is or becomes as a president, he will have done so as a man. When Edmund G. Brown defeated him for the governorship of California, he was a bad loser. But an old adage that Ted Lindsey told one night at the Lindel Athletic Club in Detroit holds true. The amiable former great of the Detroit Red Wings said, "Baby, I'm a poor loser and another thing, you show me a good loser and I'll show you a loser." Richard Milhous Nixon ain't no loser and Lindsey agrees on that.

Another great of the world of sports, Jack Dempsey was approached by journalist Gene Fowler and asked, "What do you do if you're in a corner?" The Manassa Mauler replied, "There's one of two things you can do, Gene. One is to quit and the other is to fight your way out."

Richard Milhous Nixon fought his way out of a corner which the majority had put him in. The reason, he wasn't the epitome of the establishment.

You're right, I like Richard M. Nixon. The Republicans, here in Lenawee included, ought to realize what he is. He wasn't good enough for the hierarchy here, unless of course he could help the party coffers.

Our congressman at the party convention considered him a loser and preferred Rockefeller. In all probability he will not suffer from that political mistake.

I like Nixon for other reasons but the kindred spirit that he is not a jet set star of Camelot or some other imaginary place of great lassitude but someone like myself, suits me best. But then I'm a minority. Not many of us fail anymore, not many of us lose out along the way. We cannot all be contrived successes without the world losing its conscience.

He is in his third day now and I feel in a small minority, but I will say it with pride, to my kindred spirit, "My beloved president of the United States, Richard Milhous Nixon."

I have dignity once again and a purpose for being an American.

Home Again

The Rev. Rial Simons, of Flat Rock, was hospitalized in Seaway Hospital, Trenton, when he became ill suddenly Friday. However, the spritely 86-year-old, former pastor of Clinton and Macon Methodist Churches, was able to be released Monday. He is a brother-in-law of Mrs. Roy Williams, Tecumseh-Clinton Rd.

Supervisors Pay Selves

Salaries for the board of Supervisors has been established. A salary of $1,800 plus a per diem of $30 for a full day and $20 for a half-day were accepted by the committee of the whole. The chairman of the board will receive the same per diem but an increased salary of $2,000.

Talk among the supervisors prior to Tuesday's action was considerably higher in the per diem rate. Some expressed a desire for a $40 per day for board sessions and committee meetings coupled with the salary.

The main concensus of the board was that those on committees who did the most work should be paid more. Some members of the board are on committees where more business is transacted than others.

The only other topic of interest evolved from a report from the sheriff's department. Adrian Supervisor, Arthur Twiss, suggested that the county study the possibility of a private citizen suing the county through the ambulance service.

The matter was turned over to the building and grounds committee, who oversee the county insurance, for upgrading of policies to protect against future problems that might arise.

Other areas, where a county agency handles the ambulance service have had the problem of individuals bringing suit against the counties for one reason or another.

While there has been talk in several circles here concerning the county ambulance service, no evidence has been offered that might suggest a suit or that the service was not efficient.

WHAT YOU SHOULD KNOW ABOUT YOUR PRESCRIPTION:

90% of today's prescriptions contain drugs unknown just a few short years ago

Many of today's "wonder drugs" are only adolescents in the developing world of scientific miracles. The hypertension drugs made their debut with Rauwiloid in 1953. And in 1954, tranquilizers were first released for public consumption . . . the same year Jonas Salk led the way for the dramatic breakthrough in polio control. In 1962, enzymes were introduced to accelerate tissue repair and reduce inflammation. Going back a little further we find that penicillin . . . which has proved so life saving . . . has been in use since 1941. It was only in 1950 that the antihistamines first appeared on your Pharmacist's shelves. Bearing these developments in mind, the future of prescription drugs promises discoveries inconceivable to the imagination.

For the highest pharmaceutical standards, low prices consistent with quality and the personal attention you can always depend upon, bring your prescriptions to

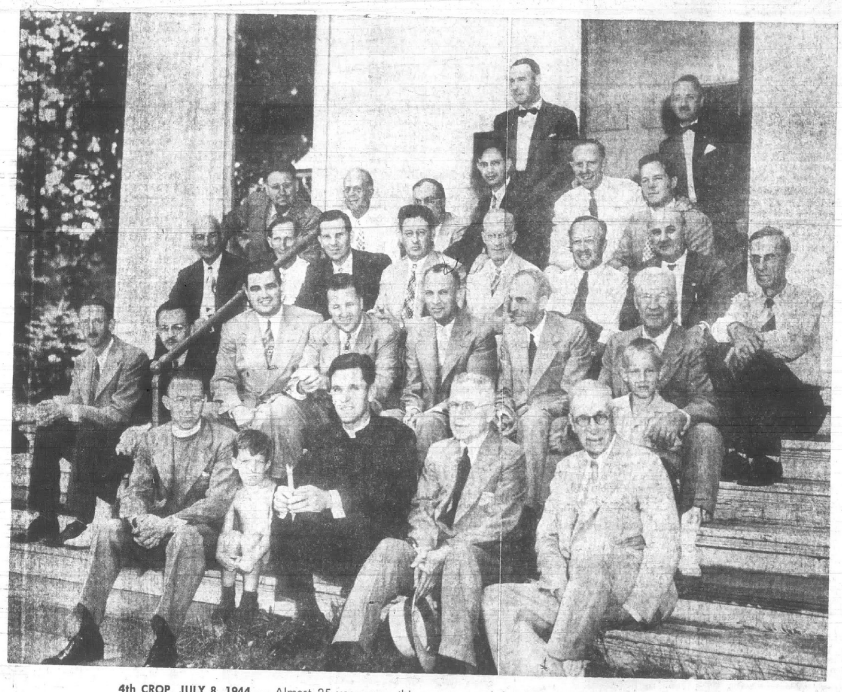
Pictures of the Past

These familiar photos will bring back many memories, and memories of not too long ago — some 20 years ago during the Perry Hayden "Dynamic Kernel" era.

Similar photos will be published in The Herald during the next few months, relative to printing Mr. Hayden's book, "God Is My Landlord."

These pictures have been made available to the newspaper by the Hayden family, and The Herald feels they will be of interest to a great many people.

LOVELY SIGHT — And still is — the mill on Mills-Macon Rd., built by Henry Ford. This estate is one of the finest around Tecumseh and continu es to be admired by local folks. Perry Hayden views the scene back on July 7, 1945.



4th CROP, JULY 8, 1944 — Almost 25 years ago, this group posed for their pictures at old St. Peter's Episcopal Church. They were guests of the Rotary Club and had gathered for the fourth crop of Dynamic Kernels Tithing Wheat. Many are easily identified — Ray Herrick, Henry Ford, Henry Ford II, Rev. John Scarlett, Ralph Comfort, John Zeigler, Wade Jones, Charles Butler, Floyd Elliott, Bert Turnbull and Perry Hayden. Some old timers will even know more of these men.

BOYS ARE NOW MEN — These lads pitched in to help in harvesting the wheat, and judging from their ages, they should now be men of 35 to 40 years old. One look at their baggy trousers is proof of the changing times. Can anyone identify these boys?

OUR READERS WRITE

TO THE EDITOR:

Do you have any historical information about the early brick house at 217 N. Evans Street, Tecumseh, formerly known as the Eccles House.

We are attempting a restoration of the house and would be very happy to see any pictures of the original house, the front porch especially, also the rear of the house where a portion has been torn down.

Do you know anyone who could give us information about the architect who designed the house and when it was built.

You may like to print a little feature in the form of an appeal and see just how much information comes in. We are amazed at the antique interest when we come over, and we may learn a lot about our little treasure through your paper.

I thank you for anything you can do to help.

Yours very truly,

TO THE EDITOR:

I read last week's editorial with great interest, and certainly agree with you that Perry Satterthwaite has offered the city an unbelievable deal for the old Globe Pond at $15,000.00. I certainly hope the city will take advantage of this offer.

I am sure many new people in the area do not realize the great good that not only Perry, but his entire family and ancestors before him have done for Tecumseh. Perry has always been extremely civic-minded, and is very well known to most city residents. If the option is picked up by the city at this "gift" figure, a fitting tribute would be to name same "Satterthwaite Pond".

Very truly yours,
Karl R. Schneider.

TO THE EDITOR:

Could there have been a more fitting climax to the voyage of our astronauts around the moon than the reading from the Bible, that "God created the Heavens and the Earth".

To have seen our earth — a small blue and white planet of a rather small sun floating in infinite space, and knowing as we already do that there are many suns or stars with probably systems of planets around them would be overwhelming.

Of course the Russian astronauts did not vistualize God on their trips. If they infer that the Creator is something like the famous statue of Moses — an immense bearded figure clothed in flowing robes and seated on a throne, their slighting remarks can be expected.

We can not explain electricity, gravitation, or life, but we use every one of them. We believe in all these things and try to use them better and I believe we may be able to understand God better than Abraham, the old prophets or even Peter and Paul. This is my hope.

Sincerely,
W. G. Waldron.

Dinner Speaker Is Rotary Head

The Rotary International President, Cass Piotrowski, of Detroit, will be the speaker for the Rotary dinner meeting Jan. 28, at Bauer Manor.

Mr. Piotrowski is past district governor and vice-president and director of Rotary International.

Hugh Walter extends an invitation to Rotarians of other clubs in the area to attend the meeting Tuesday, following dinner at 6:15 p.m.

Schoonover Is Board Member

David Schoonover, president of the Tecumseh Jaycees, was appointed to the city's Parks and Recreation Board by Council Monday night.

He succeeds Don Maves, who submitted his resignation at the Jan. 6 meeting.

Vietnam Medic Thanks Auxiliary

Mrs. Richard Creswell, chairman of a Jaycee Auxiliary project for Medcap, is sharing with Herald readers a letter written to her by Russell Slick, who requested help for a Vietnam orphanage and nursery from Herald readers.

Sister Maria Angela of the Sacred Heart Nursery also sent a brief form note of appreciation in which she wrote, "we wish we could write to each of you personally but it would necessitate using much time that is now devoted to utilizing your wonderful gifts."

Sickbay, NMCB 3
Camp Haskins
Dec. 30, 1968

Mrs. Creswell,

Finally, I have time to send a letter of appreciation for the donations sent the Sacred Heart Orphanage and Nursery. As the Civic Action and Medcap corpsman, I find myself extremely busy with three more hamlets and another orphanage added to my previous schedule of three hamlets and one orphanage. I even ended up in a beard and red suit on Christmas eve.

When I returned from a three-week detachment to AnHoa, I found the back wall of my pharmacy lined to the ceiling with packages. It was a pleasant, early Christmas for the Sisters and myself.

To show their appreciation to the service personnel who have adopted the orphanage, the Da-Nang order to which the Sisters belong, invited us to a Christmas program. Since I made my first request for help, five other bases in the area, have begun assistance. Thus, over 500 military personnel from rates of buck privates to the rank of lieutenant general attended. Though for the most part, the program was in the Vietnamese language, the message was brilliantly presented. The Vietnamese seem to have inherited talent for "song and dance" and this is evidenced even in the very young. I only wish there was some way to bring this program to you.

Due to the heavy work load during the holiday seasons, the Sisters have found it difficult to respond personally to the gifts sent to "her" children. She asked me to write and send with my letter, her short message to the people who so thoughtfully gave of their time and hearts. I would appreciate it if you would deliver her message to The Herald office and give them my thanks for the publishing of the letters concerning this deed.

Again I thank all the people involved for promoting a very enthusiastic and merry Christmas for the needy at the orphanage, the Sisters and myself.

Sincerely,
Russell G. Slick.

Indians End Losing Streak

Tecumseh High School Indians picked up their second win of the season with a convincing 75-58 shellacking of Gibraltar Carlson last Friday. A balanced scoring attack was mounted by the Tribe which saw ten players figuring in the scoring.

The Tribe jumped off to an early lead in the first quarter with Steve Dalton and Bill Puffer leading the way. The first quarter score was 19-12 at the end. Dalton tossed in eight points and Puffer seven. Forward Jim Hunt contributed the other four points for the Indians.

In the second period it was center Gary Hannibal who kept the Indians in the game with six points. Gibraltar tossed sixteen points through the hoop while Tecumseh was held to 12. The comeback of Carlson moved them to within one point of the Tribe in the closing minutes of the half. A field goal by Mike Kennedy moved the Indians to three points in front at the buzzer.

Jim Hunt led a charged Tecumseh offense into the second half where the game was decided midway through the third period. Hunt tallied eight times, Wally Quinn added six to a total for the Indians of 23 to only ten by Gibraltar Carlson.

The see-saw action of the first half was repeated in the final stanza but the Indian lead built up in the third period was too much for a comeback that saw the Indians outscore Carlson by one point, 21-20 in the final period.

Leading scorers for Tecumseh in the game were Bill Puffer and Steve Dalton both netting 17. Hunt dropped in 15 and Hannibal and Quinn each had eight to round out the starting quintet.

The win gives the Indians a 2-6 record which could easily be 5-2 except for some last second losses earlier in the season. Hannibal's first showing at the pivot might give the Tribe an added strength this Friday when they meet New Boston Huron here.

JV's Remain Undefeated

The junior varsity basketball team at Tecumseh High School ran its string of wins to eight for the season with an easy 47-30 scramble over Gibraltar Carlson last Friday on Carlson's floor.

Center Bob Pettit and forward Alex Gibson led the way for their latest win. Pettit notched seven of the Indians' first thirteen points in starting off to a lopsided 13-5 lead. Gary Alcock came off the bench in the second period to net four points as the little Tribe outscored their opponent 11-8 to go into the locker rooms at half-time leading 24-13.

At the start of the second half both teams had trouble finding the hoop and only 15 points were scored, eight by Tecumseh and seven by Carlson.

The fourth period found the Tribe shooting a little hotter and led by Alex Gibson's seven points, held on to fend off Carlson 15-10 for the period giving them their margin of 47-30.

The leading scorers were Pettit with 14 and Gibson with 13. Craig Smith dropped in eight and Scott Dalton seven. Alcock who came into replace Gary Hannibal who moved up to the varsity dropped in five points and picked off five rebounds in an immressive showing.

The big test for the Little Tribe will come this Friday when they take on New Boston Huron, who were 13-1 as freshmen and sport an 8-3 record for the current year.

Dump De Dump Dump

Under a Health Department order all township and village dumps must be licensed landfills. The department gave the various townships and villages 60 days to follow the compliance of the law.

Raisin Township dump, although licensed by the state, has a water problem that must be cleared up to pass the county inspection. This seems to be the only obstacle to a clean bill of health for that township.

Village of Clinton, not licensed by the state, is in a position to be easily transferred from a dump to a landfill.

The directive was issued in December.

Biafra Fund

Since Jan. 1, 1969, $110 has been deposited in the "Food For Biafra" account at the United Savings Bank. The continuing emergency need for food in Biafra demands the account to be kept open for the many organizations, business places and individuals who have not yet contributed.

Patricia Lawson Weds Jerry Forsyth

Patricia Lawson wore a gown of white velvet as she approached the altar of St. Elizabeth Church Saturday afternoon on the arm of her father to become the bride of Jerry Forsyth.

Styled with a high empire waist and long sleeves, the bridal gown was trimmed with Venice lace at neck, sleeves and hem line. Her train was edged with the same lace which was used, too, in fashioning a tiered crown to hold her fingertip veil of illusion in place.

She carried gardenias arranged on a lace-covered prayer book.

Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. Victor Lawson, 508 Cairns St. and Mr. and Mrs. Glenn Forsyth, 3402 Ridge Hwy.

The Rev. Fr. Robert Handley performed the ceremony and Diane Spycher was the soloist, accompanied by Mrs. Donald Johnson. Diane Lake was maid of honor and the bridesmaids were Donna Forsyth, sister of the groom, Cheri Crane of Wayland and Emily Jach of Troy.

All were attired in floor length empire gowns of green velvet with elbow length sleeves trimmed with white fur. They wore fur pill box hats and carried white fur muffs accented with yellow rosettes.

A reception was held at the Products Union Hall and the newly-married couple left for a wedding trip to the southern states.

The rehearsal dinner was held Thursday evening at the home of the groom's parents.

The new Mr. and Mrs. Forsyth will live at 5760 Holloway Rd., Britton.

MRS. JERRY FORSYTH

The engagement of Brynn Elaine Packard to Ronald Philip Tiede is being announced by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Francis J. Packard, 511 S. Evans St. Mr. Tiede is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Tiede, 8735 Mills-Macon Hwy. Miss Packard is a 1965 graduate of Tecumseh High School and Adrian College. She is presently employed with Lenawee County as an elementary substitute teacher. Her fiance served in the United States Army and is presently employed at the Fisher Body Division of General Motors. The couple will exchange wedding vows on April 12 at the First Baptist Church.

Dieting Dieters Will Diet Right

Sidney Fuller will be the instructor of The Diet Workshop to be conducted at the Lenawee YMCA beginning Feb. 4, at 7:30 p.m.

The Workshop is conceived and established with the purpose of offering an approved program which will enable subscribers to lose weight in a safe, healthful manner.

Anyone interested in this program will be welcomed at the first meeting and at any time thereafter.

Chit and Chat Extension Club Holds Meeting

The January meeting of the Chit and Chat Tiptonaires Extension Club, met at the home of Mrs. William Lucee. There were 12 members present.

Plans for future meetings were discussed, and a planned trip to a furniture shop in Chelsea for the April meeting has been planned.

The February meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. Bruce Norton on Tipton Hwy. The date is Feb. 13, at 7:30. Members are to bring a cake for a decorating class to be conducted by Mrs. William Starkey and Mrs. Wallace Wilkin.

Time Trials For Derby

Cub Scout Pack 72 will hold time trials at Les Dallas, Inc., Feb. 15 for the Pinewood Derby race, which will be run at the Community Center the following Monday night at 7 p.m.

Time trials will be from 10 a.m. until noon and the boys must attend them with their cars to be eligible for the race with no exceptions, according to the officials.

Trophies will be given for first, second and third place winners. The Derby kits are available from Green's Clothing Store at 45c each now.

The swim party Feb. 22 will be held from 7 to 8 p.m., at the YMCA rather than the time originally scheduled.

YMCA Participation Soars

Teens turned to the YMCA of Lenawee County in droves during 1968 and YMCA statistics showed this with a total aggregate attendance of teens in social and recreational activities of over 21,000 . . . a marked increase over 1967's figures of 5,500. The figures seem to indicate that the "Y" has become Lenawee County's Teen Center.

Five hundred sixteen teen-agers were members of the YMCA in 1968, but hundreds more were served who were not members. Teens were active not only in physical activities but also thru programs such as summer canoe trips, Tri-Hi-Y and Hi-Y Clubs, social dance clubs, teen councils and weekend teen center and dance events.

More than 45 teens held leadership positions through club and group officerships or as Junior Leaders and instructors in YMCA activities. These leaders are now moving towards a radical new approach to programming for teens with teens actually planning the total teen program around their own interests.

Organized group activity at the YMCA in 1968 felt a slight decline in total numbers with 178 clubs, classes and teams reported for 1968 while 202 were reported in 1967. However, total sessions or meetings of these groups increased to more than 1,800 sessions and total attendance rose to 32,000. Father and Son Y Indian Guides, along with Youth Instructional swimming classes and Youth Gymnastic classes number over 100.

The YMCA's recreational events, periods and special event program increased from 188 different groups in '67 to 204 in 1968 and total attendance topped 59,000 for the first time in the Y's history.

Community usage of the YMCA was also heavy as more and more church, school, and civic groups met at the YMCA for their own special activities.

YMCA membership dipped slightly from 2541 individuals on the roles at the end of 1967 to 2,024 by December, 1968. However, the total number of different individuals on the books during the year rose from 2731 during 1967 to 3685 during 1968.

Youth still makes up the largest percentage of the Y's membership with 1,070 active; while over 900 adults are also listed. Family membership groups accounted for over 1,000 individuals in the Y's total count of 2,024 and indicated the massive swing to the YMCA being a family centered agency . . . a far cry from the YMCA of a few years ago when only men and boys were members.

On the financial scene, the YMCA ended 1968 in much better shape than it had at the end of 1967. Treasurer Robert Lee reported that un-audited figures indicated that the Y's Current Fund broke even between expenses and income but had not been able to clear the $7,000 debt the Y had at the end of 1967. Income and Expenses exceeded $105,000. Fifty per cent of the Y's income came from membership fees, 20% from United Fund, and 30% from program and rental fees.

The YMCA's Building Fund is still short about $9,000 in meeting all of its obligations while the Y's Endowment Funds totaled $48,000 with all interest earnings restricted to supporting special project areas designated by donors.

Though the Board of Directors and staff feel the YMCA could be advancing faster into new program service areas if it had more operational funds, the Board is pleased that after only two years in its new facility, it has been able to almost complete its $900,000 building program and jump from a $45,000-a-year operation to over $100,000-a-year and only have a total debt of around $16,000.

WINTER LOOKING

It is always surprising that, in the huge flock of sparrows which invades our yard everyday, a newcomer is so quickly noticed. This morning, for example, the yard and all the feeders were full of small brown birds and yet, when Gertie T. glanced out, she exclaimed. I spotted the newcomer immediately, too. Although sparrow-brown in color, this bird was a round bundle of stripes and a dark stickpin mark at the top of his breast. A song sparrow.

For several moments we forgot everything and just watched. The little sparrow was riding weed stems to the ground. Just over the creek bank there are many of these and, of course, at the top of each bare stem there are clusters of tasty seeds.

As the bird fluttered to the top of a stem, his weight bent it to the ground. After daintily nipping off the minute seed, he would move to the next weed and, as he rode that one down the other would be slowly righting itself. Such are the breaks which make a bird-watcher's day interesting and exciting.

More winter-watching came our way several weeks ago. I shall not try to pinpoint the exact date because somehow the first part of the month is rather run together.

The Hong Kong flu or whatever it was, really knocked me for a loop and, instead of trying to sort out what happened when, I would really just like to forget the whole ugly mess. Oh, there were a few moments this one particular day which I will not try to block out — there was such a pretty snow storm.

THE FLAKES WERE large, puffy and tumbling down. It would have been a nice storm to be out in. There was no strong wind to sting or bite. Apparently the bluejays liked my snowstorm, too, because five of them acted as though they were reading my mind. They played.

In rollicking high spirits, they tore and chased from one place to another. Occasionally one swooped down to the feeder but, as often as not, a shout from a nearby tree sent him on his way before there was time to eat.

Such moments never last long though and soon the character of the storm changed. The flakes became smaller and enough wind sprung up to make shivers. The bluejays sensed the different mood, they ceased their games and flew up the creek out of my sight. It was all fun while it lasted, though.

It is turning out that the Wilson Special squirrel feeder is the "in" place to dine. The squirrels are just more than eating their share of corn. It would be a slight exaggeration to say that any time of the day we can look out and see one nibbling — but it truly is only a slight exaggeration. This feeder has a heavy customer load.

THE CARDINALS have worked out an agreement with the squirrels apparently. The latter eat only the germ from each kernel and drop the rest. The cardinals are perfectly happy with leftovers and they clean up what is on the ground as well as the floor of the feeder before tackling full kernels twisted from the ear. By the way, the cardinal contingent is a surprisingly close-knit foursome these days.

The males are keeping careful checks on the females, knowing where they are, allowing them to eat surprisingly close and seldom letting them wander too far away. Nothing to get excited about yet, though, when the male starts feeding his mate and encouraging her to dine at the tray with him, then we shall start checking the calendar and start looking for spring.

So it is that there are many, many vignettes which all blend together and make for winter looking.

NEXT WEEK:
The Chickadees' Peanut Feeder.

Compete In Trappers' Trek

The three patrols of Troop 32 of Birdsall competed in the Wolverine Council's annual winter competition event entitled "Trappers' Trek" Saturday at Camp Kanesatake.

For several months the boys have designed and constructed sleds modeled after an Alaskan dog sled. After arrival the boys went to "Claims Office", station No. 1 for an equipment check and to prepare to successfully complete the course, consisting of five different stations. Each station required certain skills and tasks, and a number of small pieces of real fur or "hides" were issued depending on the performance. Station No. 2 or "Mush" required a race betwen six sleds. "Trappers' Claim" was No. 3 and skills of pacing and compass work were needed. Station No. 4 or "Tall Pine" required a judgment of the height and weight of certain objects by the trappers. Station No. 5 was "Ice Rescue", which included rendering First Aid to an injured member, who was then transported on the sled to the next and last station. Here a fire had to be built, a pancake baked and eaten. The trappers then returned to Station No. 1 for the accounting. The highest number of points received a "Polar Bear" patch, second highest "Wolf" ribbon and lowest, a "Muskrat" ribbon.

The boys were given refreshments at the main lodge.

Just last weekend, eight boys and three leaders showed how brave scouts can be by earning their "Polar Bear" patch by sleeping in an unheated tent overnight and cooking three meals outdoors, the temperature at night must be below 32 degrees. The patches the following boys proudly wear are marked at —3 degrees:: Dennis, John Steve and Bob James, Rusty Hiser, Scott and Gary Griewahn and Kevin Skinner. Winter sports wer enjoyed during the campout. The leaders were Dick James, scoutmaster; Joe Sprow, assistant scoutmaster and Cliff Pifer, scoutmaster of Troop 16.

ENSIGN RAINSBERGER

Tipton Man Is Commissioned Navy Ensign

Navy Ensign David B. Rainsberger, son of Mr. and Mrs. Theron R. Rainsberger of Tipton, and husband of the former Ellen Steffens of Clinton, was commissioned an officer in the U. S. Navy upon graduation from Miami University, Oxford, O.

He received his commission through the Naval Enlisted Scientific Education Program (NESEP), which sends highly-qualified enlisted men to universities throughout the United States to obtain college degrees and eventually a commission in the U. S. Navy.

He was the first NESEP graduate to receive a commission at a university rather than after completion of officer candidate school. He will report to the Naval Air Station, Pensacola, Fla., to begin training as a Naval Flight Officer.

Ensign Rainsberger entered the service in June, 1963.

Dump Closing for Township

CLINTON — Action was taken at a recent meeting of the Village Council, which will deny access to the village dump by Clinton Township residents effective June 30, 1969.

"State dump regulations make this move necessary," according to John Truesdale, village president.

The council voted to contribute $500 from the Electric Fund to next summer's Swimming Program at the high school.

It was voted to change the Electrical Inspector's compensation from $3 each inspection to 50% of the fee. The fee is based on the value of the electrical work.

A special meeting was scheduled for Jan. 22 to finalize contracts for the new fire barn, which is expected to get under way soon if the weather permits.

It was announced that Floyd Tate, a long-time member of the Village Council, has withdrawn as a candidate for the office of trustee, thus making it unnecessary to hold a primary election on Feb. 17.

Ivan is the son of Rev. and Mrs. Paul McKenna, Marion St.

Collectors May Order

Manned Spacecraft Recovery Forces of the U. S. Navy will provide collectors with "Recovery-Day" cachet and cancellation services for the upcoming Apollo 9 manned space flight.

Philatelic coordinators designated for Atlantic and Pacific Fleet Recovery Forces (Task Forces 140 and 139) will receive all such envelopes and make the distribution to assigned ships.

To permit adequate time for required handling of covers, collectors should mail pre-stamped, self-addressed envelopes to reach the appropriate coordinator prior to Feb. 13. Covers received after this deadline will be cancelled at Norfolk or San Francisco.

Due to popularity of this service and postal facility limitations on recovery ships, the coordinator for Task Force 140 will accept only 6 envelopes while Task Force 130 will accept 8 covers from each individual collector.

Task Force 140 —

Public Affairs Office (Apollo 9) Manned Spacecraft Recovery Force, Atlantic Building SP-71, Naval Air Station, Norfolk, Va. 23511.

Task Force 130 —

Chief-in-Charge (Apollo 9) Navy Terminal Post Office, FPO San Francisco, Calif. 96610.

The "Operation Get-Acquainted" program is an opportunity for families in rural communities to become hosts to inner-city children for week-long visits in the summer months.

CLINTON — Philip Bray of the Michigan Municipal League, Ann Arbor, addressed a special meeting of the Village Council and members of the Clinton Chamber of Commerce, last Wednesday night.

The meeting was called at the request of the Chamber in order to hear Mr. Bray's explanation of the requirements, advantages, and problems of a community changing from a village to a city form of government.

Chamber of Commerce President Thomas Young said his organization is planning the circulating of petitions to request the council to give formal consideration to the change to city government. A vote of the village residents would be required to change to a city government.

Mr. Young said the change is being sought to end the duplication of several areas of responsibility by township and village, including tax assessment.

Lecture On Eugene O'Neill

January 22 the English department of Siena Heights College sponsored the first talk in the second half of this year's series.

Moving from the Renaissance to the twentieth century, from England to America, from Shakespearean to the experimental drama of Eugene O'Neill. The lecture explored the major American dramatist of the first half of this century. Sister Melinda Keane, of Rosemont College, in Rosemont, Pa., presented one of the most daring of O'Neill's innovations, his use of masks in realistic plays. As a naturalist, O'Neill's utilization of impressionistic techniques was especially interesting.

Sister Keane is a native of Michigan but she has spent much of her life in the East. Besides earning her B. A. at Rosemont, she holds a M.A. from Catholic University of America and has studied at Oxford, England. She is presently finishing her dissertation at Loyola University, Chicago, Ill., where she is a doctoral candidate. Sister holds membership in the MLA and is a Researcher of Newberry Library, Chicago.

This lecture, as well as the ones planned for February, March and April, was open to the public. Each of the talks in the series begins at 7:30 in the Alumnae Lounge of Ledwidge Hall. Ledwidge Hall is the first building in the complex as one approaches the campus from the city of Adrian. A coffee hour after the talk afforded the audience a chance to question the lecturer in a more leisurely, informal manner.

Three Kinds of Proposals

By BILL SANFORD

An evening of sometimes humor, sometimes tedium was presented at Adrian College last weekend by advanced students in the drama department. Anton Chekhov, Emanuel Paluso and Moliere presented the main courses of the potpourri of one-act presentations. The most noticeable food for thought came through in Paluso's play, "Good Day".

Chekhov's "A Marriage Proposal" was the first of the evening's offerings. I do not know the time in the Russian's career when this seasoned piece was written but it seemed to have the touch of his "Cherry Orchard" written in it, without the classical Chekhovian humor. It is better to not do Chekhov than to do bad Chekhov.

"Proposal" stemmed around one of the aristocrats of Russia attempting to propose to the daughter of a neighboring aristocrat. A dispute over a meadow erupts and the proposal falls flat, exemplary of the whole playlet.

The proposal is finally consummated after a fight over a couple of dogs, not Pavlov's, and it is not defined whose dog, his or her father's, is best.

Sherrie Smith, who played the daughter and the object of the young suitor, played the part over Chekhov's humor. She came across the footlights more as a peasant who preferred frolicking in the meadow to owning it. The three performances in this play were too animated, lacking in sophistication and without a gentility which Russians of a bygone era reveled in. Also in the cast were Mike Berryman as the suitor and Dave Rickard as the father.

The second playlet, "Good Day", was a fine effort, the best of the three by far. The plot concerned an old lady who sought the employment of a young man. No one is allowed to glimpse just what exactly the position is. The psychological drama had good dialogue and the pair of young actors who performed the young man (Cliff Ellyn) and the old lady (Barbara Gearig) had their moments in the play. Howard Pemberton played a mute valet with appropriate stoicness.

The playlet starts out with the visitor as the sure, egotistical, typical young man of today. The old woman sets about to destroy him through his past.

He has had a relationship with a young girl, a cripple who was to have been the heroine of a novel he was writing. She did not live up to his expectations as a person and the interest fell flat.

The climax is the total destruction of the young man and the old lady places the young man in anonymous servitude. The climax of the play was a little too strong, with the old lady having a limp much like the young girl in the man's past. The dialogue was crisp and sharp, the duo delivered it in that style.

The third was a comedy by Moliere, "The Flying Doctor". While this was not Moliere at his best, it was typical of his earthy style of humor. The performances in both the opening play and the final play were stilted as an indication that young actors who have not been trained in Moliere or Chekhov have trouble copying with "style" acting. Too often movements carried on the aspect of a puppet show rather than sophisticated comedy, this had a distracting effect on the audience.

"The Flying Doctor" has a young man in love with a young girl. The young girl is engaged to an old man. She succumbs to the illness known to most adults as second thoughts. Valere, (John Kiel) the young man, has his dim-witted servant, Sganarelle (Bill Stibich) pose as a doctor to aid the young girl. Her father, who opposes the young lovers, (Alan Rust) welcomes the doctor and follows his advice to have the daughter (Janie Tinker) live in a garden house so the lover can visit her more easily. Chips Greenfield appears in a dual role. Ruth Dysert also appeared as a maid to the daughter.

The play itself was funny and Moliere is always entertaining to view. Some of the lines and actions from "The Flying Doctor" applied a shock treatment to local theatre patrons.

The directors of the three playlets were from the drama department. Deborah Schrock directed the Chekhov offering; Brian Davies, "Good Day", and Mike Metzel held the directorial reins for Moliere.

The efforts of the trio and the actors who took part in the presentation all had commendable aspects. You do not expect student productions to have the polish and gloss of a professional or artisans with more experience. The over-all pace, scenery and costuming added to their credibility, however. The Adrian College drama department has taken great strides in the past five years and the progress was evident from the "3x3" student productions.

Tories 'Ho Hum' Gain Easy Win

BRITTON — Coach Jim Landfair's undefeated Tories had no trouble extending their winning streak to eight Friday night, as they thumped the Deerfield Minutemen, 91-45, in a lop-sided contest.

All the Britton players landed in the scoring column, six in double figures, as Landfair substituted freely throughout the game.

The Tories romped over the cold-shooting Minutemen, 19-3, in the first quarter, then Landfair started substituting, but still the Deerfield team could not make any headway. They were easily out-scored in every quarter as the reserves held them in check.

Seniors Dave Fairbanks and Jim Skelton led the Tories with 22 and 16 counters, respectively, in spite of their infrequent play. Other Tories in double figures were Jim Lister and Rick Maska with 12 each, and Bill Tuberville and Mark Hetrick, each with 10.

The win puts Britton on top, 7-0, in the River Raisin League after the first round of play.

This Friday they will host the Sand Creek Aggies, their closest competitors, who own a 5-2 mark in the league, and are 5-3 overall.

The Aggies lost to Ida Friday night and face a critical battle at Britton this week if they are to stay in contention for the league crown.

The Tories beat the Aggies at Sand Creek at their first meeting, 85-83, and will be aiming for a repeat victory this week to protect their undefeated string and their title bid.

Sand Creek has the hot-shooting Bailey brothers and Charlie Risner to lead their quintet, but Britton has a record of balanced scoring, team play and a strong defense which has carried them to eight straight wins.

Gary celebrated a belated Christmas with his family — his first home in three years — on Jan. 11. Guests for the day included Mr. and Mrs. Philip Miller of Manitou Beach, Mrs. Daisy Bartels of Temperance, and Miss Mary Schmidt, Tecumseh.

Sp/5 Dunham enlisted in the Army in January of 1966, and took basic training at Ft. Knox, Ky. In April of '66 he went to the U.S.A. Engineer School at Ft. Belvoir, Va., for a course in heavy equipment. He graduated in August of 1966, fourth highest in a class of 45 men, after 18 weeks of schooling.

On Aug. 28, 1966, he left for an 18-month tour of duty on Okinawa and Tokashiki. After returning to the States, in April of 1968 he returned to Ft. Belvoir as an instructor in heavy equipment.

In August he left for Vietnam, where he was attached to the 178 Maintenance Co., and also the 101st Airborne at Landing one Nancy, 20 miles south of the D.M.Z.

Gary is a 1965 graduate of Britton-Macon High School. He has returned to work at Peerless Gear, and plans to continue his education in the near future.

Jr. Hi Teams Lose Games

BRITTON — The seventh and eighth grade basketball teams both lost at Ida last Thursday.

In the seventh grade contest, the Tories held up well against Ida for the first half, but then the taller Ida boys over-ran the Tories and they went down to defeat, 46-28. Tim Gibbs, Kurt Spohr and Mike Bearinger each scored 6 for Britton, and Gibbs and Spohr grabbed 9 and 6 rebounds, respectively.

The eighth grade team lost a squeaker in the final minute of play, 39-37, against the junior high Bluestreaks. They had four opportunities to score in the last 57 seconds, but couldn't capitalize on any of them.

They out-scored Ida from the floor, but a disastrous 3 for 19 at the free throw line spelled doom for the little Tories.

Brad Hamilton popped in 12 counters for Britton, and Ken Wielfaert added 11. Ken also grabbed 9 rebounds.

Elks Win The Polar Bear

The Elk Patrol of Troop 73 Boy Scouts won top award (Polar Bear ribbon) in the annual Yukon Gold Rush "Trappers' Trek" at Camp Kanesatake Saturday.

The Beaver Patrol was awarded the Wolf ribbon, missing only by one point of winning a Polar Bear ribbon.

Both patrols started on the trail at 11:15 a.m. and finished at 1 p.m.

Station No. 1—"Claims Office" (Camp Boyce Lodge). Each Patrol Leader was given instructions, claim sheets, trail map, and poke bag for claim hides. If Patrol had Scout-built sled they were given one hide.

Station No. 2 — "Mush" (Archery Range). Patrol must have all equipment and firewood on sled, line up six sleds on command, race to the finish line. Awards: one hide if they had all equipment on check list, in addition, three hides for finishing first, two hides for second and one hide for third.

Awards: one hide for correct rescue and one hide for correct First Aid.

Station No. 6 — "Pancake Baking". Trappers must leave the Ice Rescue victim wrapped on the sled. Build a fire, bake a pancake — have it judged — feed part of it to the victim — trappers eat rest. Awards: two hides for Golden Brown Pancake and one hide for participating.

Garden Club Remember

"I Have a House Inside of Me," a poem found in the Bible of the late Mrs. Edna Helzerman, was read Friday at the Tecumseh Garden Club meeting by Mrs. Arch Wray in memory of the deceased member.

Eleven members answered the roll call at the home of the Misses Flora and Laura Smith where the meeting was held.

Laura Smith was appointed as treasurer to fulfill the unexpired term of Mrs. Helzerman.

Members voted to contribute to the Conservation School. Each one told of something interesting in gardening that happened during the past year, mostly frustrations due to weeds, borers, bugs and wet weather.

Date torte and tea were served by the hostesses with Ann Carson, president, pouring the beverage.

A&P

A SHORT STORY!

Not a story in the usual sense... nevertheless, it's one we think is of interest to you.

Our story is about
A&P's short-cut, 7-inch, oven-ready Ribs of Beef, and the fact that we remove the excess Short Ribs and sell them separately at the lower Short Rib price.

That's not all, though.
We remove the excess wasteful chine bone.
For easier carving, we remove the feather (back) bones and cover the area with a thin layer of fat to protect the meat.

As a matter of fact, on an average five-rib roast we trim up to 1½ lbs. of excess fat and bone.
At rib roast prices, that adds up.

Another thing that keeps you from being short-changed on value:
A&P Rib Roasts are cut from the first five ribs only.

Our short story even has a happy ending... your family will enjoy every morsel.

That's guaranteed...or your money back.

Chairmen For Area

Dr. Richard E. Werstler has announced the appointment of township chairmen for the annual March of Dimes fund-raising campaign against birth defects.

Individuals heading the campaigns in this area are:

David Schoonover — Tecumseh.
Mrs. Russell Scott — Ridgeway.
Norman Ries — Franklin.
Mrs. Hamilton Moore, Jr., — Macon.
Michael Walls — Clinton.
Mrs. William Osburn — Raisin.
Dale Mitchell — Raisin.
Mrs. William Phipps — Onsted.

City Chairman David Schoonover announced Monday that the canisters have been placed in the stores and that the Tecumseh Jaycees and Auxiliary, along with other organizations yet to be named, will spearhead the mothers march Jan. 30, as well as the canister distribution and collection.

Chairman Schoonover said that Tecumseh raised a little over $2,000 in last year's drive and that a goal of $2,500 had been set for 1969.

Campaign collection goals total millions of dollars throughout the nation, Dr. Werstler explained, to finance research and to support more than 100 March of Dimes Birth Defect Centers from coast to coast. Lenawee's is as close as Ann Arbor.

In asking a total commitment from both business and family interests, Dr. Werstler stated that examples of progress in control of birth defects are two new vaccines, one to prevent Rh disease due to blood differences between the mother and baby, and the other, now being tested, to prevent German measles which often cripples babies whose mothers contract the disease during pregnancy.

The campaign chairman expressed 'most heartfelt gratitude to those county leaders who have stepped forward to aid the March of Dimes in its fight to insure each child a heritage of sound health and birth."

$47 Million Payroll, 6,600 Employment Here in 1968

Only a six-week strike at the Tecumseh Products prevented payrolls here from topping the $50 million mark. Still, another record was achieved.

Total estimated payrolls for Tecumseh and adjacent businesses in 1968 is $47,098,697. Approximate employment jumped from 6,485 to 6,634 in '68.

Products, area's largest employer, led all businesses with a payroll of $25,200,000 and an average employment of 3,220. The company's projected payroll for the entire year — without the strike — would have been approximately $28,500,000.

The $3.3 million difference would have boosted the total figure well over the $50 mark, one which does not include figures from Stauffer Chemical, Budd Co., and Peerless Gear, three industrial plants in the general Tecumseh area but never included in payroll and employment estimates.

Three industries, besides the Tecumseh Products and the Tecumseh schools, topped the million dollar payroll level. They are:

Faraday, Inc., payroll, $1,696,000, employment 300.

Tecumseh Schools, payroll, $1,638,971, employment 245.

H. W. Tuttle & Co., payroll, $1,651,000, employment 250.

Tecumseh Corrugated Box, payroll, $1,023,000, employment 125.

One employer rapidly approaching the million dollar figure is Herrick Memorial Hospital where salaries totaled $828,514. Employment there, full time and parttime was 205.

Comments about the past year vary.

Virgil Tucker, Products secretary, reports "business and payroll down due to the six-week strike." In looking at 1969, he says the "first quarter is strong."

Since Faraday changed hands last summer, officials there feel a report for '68 would not clearly indicate any trends for this year.

However, Charles S. Buhrman, director of product planning, says Faraday is "looking for a considerable growth in business." His statement was based on the company's acquisition of the Honeywell Clock & Program and an aggressive market program.

Mr. Buhrman also reports that Faraday is looking towards the addition of more new products, either through acquisition or internal development.

Jack Metcalf, Tecumseh postmaster, reports a 5% increase in business with receipts for '68 at approximately $205,000. In viewing 1969, he expects a similar increase in business.

Although construction continued to slip in the city, surrounding townships boomed in comparison, particularly Raisin Township where several subdivisions grew rapidly. Building in Tecumseh dropped below the million dollar figure for the third straight year.

Raisin's building figure for 1969 will soar if no other new construction starts. The Tecumseh schools broke ground on Jan. 10 for a million dollar Sutton Elementary School. Officials are hoping that it will be completed in time for the second semester of the 1969-70 school term.

A possible boom to Tecumseh — or Tecumseh Township — would be the start on a new high school at the corner of M-50 and Rogers Hwy. Schoolmen are hoping to have the bond issue on the ballot this spring, either April, May or June.

If the voters approve a bond issue, whether construction could start this year or next would be determined how fast architects could finalize plans and the School Board obtain bids.

IN BIG RACE — Tecumseh's Jim Harrell will be in one of the world's biggest races Saturday when the 24-hour Daytona marathon will be held. In the past, Ferraris, Porsches, and Fords have dominated the race. Jim will be driving a 1968 Corvette for Owens/Corning Fiberglas.

Tecumseh Race Driver in Daytona Saturday

Twenty-five years old and eager — very, very eager!

That's Jim Harrell, one of the country's most promising racing drivers and a resident of Tecumseh since last November. A resident in the sense that he hangs his hat here.

Most of the time he's putting in time as a sales-coordinator for Double A Products, Manchester — practically every evening and every spare minute he's working on a race car.

Harrell's been racing for the past five years, and for a newcomer he's had pretty good luck. Good enough, in fact, to join the Owens-Corning Fiberglas racing team for this Saturday's big 24-hour Daytona race.

In this race, he'll share the driver's seat with Tony DeLonreza in a '68 Corvette. This car, like all stock racing models, is not the same as those which run up and down the highways.

Harrell says, "we'll hit speeds in the 185 to 187 mph bracket at Daytona."

He left via jet Tuesday evening for the Florida track and will be joined there Thursday by his wife, Mary, an equally enthusiastic racing bug. She's a registered nurse at the Ann Arbor Medical Center, and as Jim puts it, "she supports me and the car."

Last year, Harrell finished second in the "A Sedan class in the final standings. More recently, he finished eighth in the American Road Race at Riverside, Calif.

At Riverside, he ran his specially-tooled '68 Mustang, an auto which looks just like the usual Mustang from the outside — but that's where the similarity ends.

Manchester Ford Dealer, Tom Marshall, provided him with the car last year and less than 24 hours after delivery, Jim was stripping it, saving the motor block, frame and some of the other parts. The entire car was reinforced, special parts for the engine were ordered and then tooled to fit his specifications. Even some aircraft parts were used.

Within the next 10 days, he hopes to take delivery of a new 1969 Mustang, tear it apart, add this and that, all special equipment, and then hit the racing trail — which includes five starts this summer at the Michigan International Speedway.

Harrell wants to be among the top of race drivers, a spot with Bobby and Al Unser, A. J. Foyt, Mario Andretti, Gordon Johncock and others. He's willing to work for it, as evidenced by his hours preparing his cars for races and past driving performances.

He admittedly consults and discusses changes, styling, and other improvements with Ford Motor racing consultants. He says, I listen mostly, hoping to pick up an idea or two, and perhaps one which can be further improved.

"I tell them nothing about what I'm doing, however."

Harrell's headquarters is a pretty good secret locally, but it's in the general Tecumseh area. It's not much to look at from the outside and one would have to do some sleuthing to find it. Inside, the Harrell garage is neat as a pin—just like his cars — and loaded with necessities for building racers.

At the present, he's assisting a dirt track driver in building a car for the Manchester Speedway.

Who is Harrell? What's he like? He's a pretty sharp young man!

First, he's a native of Virginia who picked up a Bachelor of Arts degree from Texas A & M in Dallas. Second, he's a racing bug who has graduated from the motorcycles and dragsters to road racing in Falcons and Mustangs.

A session with him and you'll discover a man who's determined to be a top driver.

Don't bet he won't make it!

To Receive School Aid Of $156,430

Tecumseh Schools will receive $156,430 as their quarterly payment of state aid to schools. The figures in determining an individual district's payment are made in part on enrollments during the first month of the school year and the state equalized valuation of the district.

There is a four-stage formula applied to the districts determined by the amount of the evaluation behind each student.

Clinton Schools will receive $45,560. Onsted will be paid $72,630. Adrian schools will receive the largest grant, $286,710.

Payments are made on Feb. 1.

Icy Streets But Drivers Are Careful

Although the elements turned city streets into a glare of ice Tuesday, careful motorists prevented a rash of accidents.

Police Chief Murell Clark reports only two mishaps were investigated and both were minor. Later in the day, the city spread salt and sand on most of the side streets and driving was not as precarious.

However, these same streets became extremely slippery early in the evening and remained on the icy side through most of Wednesday morning.

A resume of the accidents is:

Jan. 22 — Richard C. Clewis, 17, of 708 Seneca, slid into a car driven by Juanita K. Wilson, 44, of 611 Outer Dr., at the Community Center.

Jan. 24 — Hershel R. Canida, 40, Adrian, was cited for failure to have his car under control after running into Cynthia A. Caterina, 17, of 8800 N. Union St. She in turn was forced into a parked vehicle, owned by Roberta J. Roost, of 304 Herrick Park. Miss Caterina was taken to Herrick Hospital by Louis Caterina, her father.

Jan. 25 — Stephanie A. Hochrein, 19, of 12139 Ford Hwy., and Robert E. Ruttofsky, 19, of 408 Adrian St., collided as both were making left turns off N. Ottawa into a city parking lot.

Jan. 25 — Vernon E. Southwell, 28, of 905 Shady Lane, was charged with improper backing after hitting Mossie L. Slusher, 59, Clinton, in the Kroger parking lot.

Jan. 25 — William E. Bailey, 39, Petersburg, was charged with driving under the influence of alcohol after a mishap with Roy W. Banks, 23, of 115 W. Shawnee, in the Kroger lot. Banks was driving in a traffic lane when Bailey reportedly pulled out and hit his car in the side. Before police arrived, another driver had taken Bailey's place behind the wheel, but upon questioning, he admitted to being the driver.

Jan. 26 — Lee Lemerand, 18, of 413 W. Pottawatamie, struck a parked car on Adrian St. Other auto is owned by Henry Thompson, 28, of 6004 E. Monroe Rd.

Jan. 27 — James L. Thompson, 23, Palmyra, was cited for improper passing after a minor accident with a truck driven by Dorman R. Vescellius, 43, of 1206 Russell Rd.

Jan. 28 — Raymond L. Burns, 21, Ridgeway, slid on icy E. Pottawatamie near S. Maumee and struck a telephone pole.

Jan. 28 — Donald E. Braden, 17, of 6952 Close Dr., slid while driving between two parked cars on W. Kilbuck. He struck a car owned by Carrie E. Betzoldt, of 8542 Clinton-Macon Rd.

Suspect Youths In Stealing Beer, Breaking Glass

Several youths are suspected of stealing four cases of beer from a delivery truck behind the Party Shop last Friday afternoon, and then using two of the bottles late that night in smashing a store window at the D & C and a large plate glass door at Gambles.

Police have questioned a couple of the youths but both have reportedly denied taking the beer or throwing bottles through the window and door.

Leaking Gas Tanker Causes Evacuation

Memories of Aug. 12, 1953, were recalled here Wednesday morning when a 2,000-gallon tanker leaked gas at the Protane plant on Adrian St., causing police to evacuate residents in a two-block area.

Although no fire or explosions occurred, the heavy gas blanketed the area, and as a precautionary move, residents were asked to leave their homes.

The gas leakage occurred shortly after 7 a.m., when the tanker's driver wrapped a logging chain around two rear dual wheels and attempted to drive down the icy drive behind the plant. The flapping chain snapped off a spout from the tank, letting the gas leak out.

Another valve — and one which should have automatically stopped the leakage — failed to work at first. It was later used to stop the leakage.

Two Tecumseh firemen, Ralph Seager and Don Purkey, suffered minor gas burns.

Local police blocked off the area with assistance from the sheriff's department and State Police from the Clinton and Blissfield posts.

The potentially dangerous gas floated close to the ground in the heavy fog and drizzle. Only a slight north wind prevailed and failed to disperse it to any degree. Most of the residential evacuation occurred to the north of the plant.

On Aug. 12, 1953, a fire at Protane sent exploding bottles of gas flying, and a report in The Herald at the time said it sounded like a war.

Jim Cross, then service manager for the company here, was hospitalized with burns.

$5 Million Expansion For Budd To Begin

Budd Company, three miles north of Tecumseh at the edge of Clinton, has announced that it will proceed immediately with a $5 million expansion of its automotive disc brake plant.

The announcement to expand production at the facility comes less than seven months after the first phase of the 152,000-sq.-ft. plant, manufacturing equipment and adjoining office building was completed at a cost of $9,800,000.

Richard H. Tarske, manager of the plant, said, "Despite the fact that we installed the last piece of production machinery only last July, we are already producing disc brakes and disc brake parts at an annual rate above our planned capacity. We're running overtime in order to meet the needs of our various automotive customers."

"We could use the expanded capacity right now although the new program won't be fully completed for about a year. However, we will put each new line into production as quickly as possible after installation and tryout, so that we will have increased production capacity for the 1970 model cars this fall."

Tarske went on to say that employment would increase from the current 250 plant employees to about 300 when the program is completed.

He estimated that the annual payroll would increase from the present $2.3 million to over $3 million.

Like the original expenditure of $9.8 million for the first phase of the plant buildings and equipment, the additional $5 million for expansion will be financed through the issuance of industrial revenue bonds by the Village of Clinton.

Clinton was one of the first municipalities in the State to provide this type of financing when the Industrial Revenue Bond Act of Michigan was approved as to constitutionality by the Supreme Court in 1966.

Because the original plant was designed with a view toward future expansion, the new program will necessitate only minor alteration to the plant building — the addition of 6,000 sq. ft. of floor space at one corner.

More than $4.5 million of the total will go for purchase and installation of technically advanced and specially designed machining equipment.

Included will be four more 12-station Motch and Merry-weather roughing lines and two additional complete assembly lines which, together with ancillary equipment, will increase production capacity from the current 2.2 million hub-and-rotor assemblies annually to 3.6 million assemblies each year.

Coincidentally with the Clinton announcement, Budd also announced the start of a million dollar expansion at its Waupaca Foundry in Waupaca, Wis., as an additional source of castings for the enlarged Clinton operation. Waupaca Foundry, formerly a privately owned firm, was acquired by Budd just a few months ago.

Budd's Automotive Division is the largest independent supplier to the automotive industry with eight plants in the United States and Canada, and others in Mexico and Argentina. It numbers all major automobile and truck-trailer manufacturers among its customers for body stampings and assemblies, tools and dies, chassis frames and wheels and brake products.

Freezing Rain Cancels School

Freezing rain nearly paralyzed Tecumseh and the southeastern section of Michigan Tuesday morning, coating streets, cars and the entire outdoors with a heavy coat of ice.

Although temperatures rose during the day and Tuesday evening, sufficient ice, particularly on side roads, prevented Tecumseh, Britton and Clinton schools from holding classes Wednesday.

Both Britton and Tecumseh schools were running Tuesday, but both quit early in the afternoon, before the end of the regular day. Clinton, advised early by the State Police, did not meet at all.

Local schools were in somewhat of a dilemma. The freezing rain started falling about the time that the senior and junior high schools were commencing classes. Buses had returned to their routes and were in the process of picking up elementary pupils.

Before the elementary classes were in session, streets and highways were glazed. Officials had students in school and decided to conduct classes as normal; however, they cancelled the afternoon sections of kindergarten.

When the freezing drizzle continued, senior and junior high classes were adjourned shortly before 2 p.m. Elementary classes were held throughout the day.

The buses ran somewhat late and many students had to walk the final mile to their homes. Buses stayed off the side roads.

Only one bus slipped into a ditch, although a couple stalled on the ice after pulling onto the berm to let students off.

With the exception of Tecumseh's main streets, which had been salted, travel was precarious, to say the least. Until early afternoon, most side streets were smooth as glass and twice as slippery. Traffic simply creeped, not only due to the conditions but due to the fact there was no traction.

Conditions and careful driving accounted for just two fender-benders, according to the Tecumseh police. Out-of-town traffic was something else with report after report of cars and trucks in ditches.

Both the schools and police received numerous phone calls during the day and Wednesday morning, concerning road conditions and whether school was to be held.

CS/2 RAY LaVERNE SHARP

Ray Sharp Is Casualty

BRITTON — Petty Officer CS2 Ray LaVerne Sharp was killed Jan. 20 in Vietnam when a Vietcong rocket scored a direct hit on the 384 Navy supply ship, Tom Green County, docked at Vung Tau, 6 miles southeast of Saigon.

Crewman Sharp was the only fatality when the rocket exploded in the gallery where he was working, wounding 12 others.

Ray sustained shrapnel wounds to the head and chest.

This was his fourth duty trip to Vietnam.

Born October 20, 1938, he is the son of Mrs. Elmer Robey of County Line Road and Roy Sharp of Newaygo.

Graduating from Britton-Macan High School in 1957, he entered the U.S. Navy in 1960, expecting to make this his career.

He was a member of the Bethel Baptist Church.

Survivors include his wife, Nita, and daughter Gloria Lynn 1½, at home in the Philippine Islands. His wife is expecting another child soon.

Besides his parents, he leaves a sister, Mrs. Oren Pulsipher of Clinton, two half-sisters, Mrs. William Zetlow and Deborah at home.

Ray was home in October, having been called here due to the death of his step-father Elmer Robey.

Funeral services will be held in the Philippines Feb. 3 at 2 p.m., Philippine Island time.

Burial will be in the military cemetery, Clark AFB, Manila.

Early reports indicate many taxpayers are failing to compute the surcharge, and others are computing it incorrectly. The surcharge is just a matter of increasing the tax by 7½ percent of itself, or reading the new tax already figured on a chart.

TO THE EDITOR:

Enclosed $6 for 1 year of The Tecumseh Herald which is a Valentine gift from my dear sister, Mrs. Josephine Hagen. Every week I am waiting that day to get this paper, growing larger and I still know people about the places.

How I enjoyed reading Clara Waldron's 100 years History of Tecumseh as my dear father often said that Tecumseh is biggest town, now lots bigger.

For a while there were no factories in Tecumseh so it kept cleaner. But look at it now with all new factories, schools and new houses. I often took walks west around square, then south, back to east and north to Chicago Blvd. Then father said I thought you had enough exercise, then drove Penny (horse) and auto same day. These were happy days in town and Josephine a fine sister to give me a Valentine which lasts a year while some folks get candies, but I like my Tecumseh Herald the best.

May Tecumseh Herald keep on growing and luck to the folks work in the office. Good luck to all.

From
Miss Elsa Daisher
2804 Lawrence Ave.
Toledo, O. 43610.

I was having my 79th birthday anniversary Nov. 16 nearly with my country schoolmate, Clara Waldron.

I hope we live a while so Clara can start more history and can still read The Tecumseh Herald.

I need no glasses, sing in the church choir, take plenty walking exercises.

Honored at the last association meeting were Mrs. Paul Henning and Mrs. Fred Oberlin. They were given honorary membership in Ecumenical and National Missions, respectively for their "many devoted hours of service to the church which have been an inspiration to so many."

For the program Mrs. John Quigley presented an interesting review on the book, "Beyond Ourselves", by Catherine Marshall.

Jaycee Follies A Big Success

The Tecumseh Jaycee Follies was viewed by approximately 1,000 people Friday, Saturday and Sunday afternoon. Several who attended agreed that it was the most entertaining Follies ever. From the opening, when the cast members descended from the stage to meet and greet the audience to the patriotic grand finale, the show was a fast-moving, fun-filled example of "Good Clean Fun".

One of the highlights of the Sunday afternoon performance was the presentation of the Mr. and Mrs. Tecumseh Award, won by Mr. and Mrs. Walter Mueller. A tight race right down to the wire, the winner was determined by the penny-a-vote donations at intermission of the Sunday performance.

Jaycee President, Dave Schoonover, expressed appreciation of the Jaycees and cast members to director, Ed Hamilton, and presented him with a membership in the Tecumseh Jaycees. Mr. Hamilton left Tecumseh Monday for Northbrook, Ill., where he will direct another Follies performance in three weeks.

The Tecumseh Jaycees and the Jaycees Auxiliary wish to thank all those people in the community who helped to make the Follies a success by purchasing program ads, patrons, those participating in the Mr. and Mrs. Tecumseh Contest and all who attended the three performances. Financial returns are not complete but the tentative report indicates approximately an $800 profit. Funds from the Follies are used for Youth Development and Community Service projects of the Tecumseh Jaycees.

Symbol of Patriotism

To help underscore a growing national trend towards displaying the flag, Reader's Digest will insert a replica of the Stars and Stripes in every one of the 18 million copies of its February issue.

This constitutes the largest single distribution of the flag ever made. The 3" x 5" flag decal can be detached and affixed to windows in homes, offices automobiles and other appropriate places.

In an accompanying editorial copy, the Digest calls our flag "a symbol of America's unquenchable ideals ever since those ideals were first proclaimed."

It urges widespread display of the flag to "express our support of the American credo: one nation indivisible, with liberty and justice for all."

Besides distributing the flags in February copies, the Digest will offer additional quantities—at cost — to interested individuals and organizations.

The Digest is making such offers to key business firms, schools and colleges, service organizations, patriotic societies and similar groups. Fifty thousand copies of the flag were given by the Digest to the Inaugural Committee for use during the inauguration last Monday of President Nixon.

School Taxes Are Explained

By ROBERT DUHAN

Because of a number of questions being asked about total local School Taxes, Robert Duhan, assistant superintendent of the Tecumseh Public Schools, has written the following clarification of the 1968 Tax Notice as sent out by the City of Tecumseh.

There is no breakdown in school operation taxes as in previous years as all the intermediate and local school taxes are lumped together.

The 1968 tax notices, as mailed by the City of Tecumseh, stated 24.7 mills for school operation, however, included in the total of 24.7 mills is .6 of a mill for public library, .5 of a mill for the county special education program, .3 of a mill for the Intermediate School District and .1 of a mill for the Intermediate School Debt, leaving 23.2 mills for the operation of the local public schools.

A breakdown of taxes for the past three years for the local public schools is as follows:

	1966 mills	1967 mills	1968 mills
OPERATION
Allocated	9.5	9.5	9.2
Voted	8.0	8.0	14.0
Debt	6.32	5.12	1.62
Total	23.82	22.62	24.82

Above chart shows that taxes for local schools in 1968 is 1 mill more than it was in 1966 and 2.2 mills more than it was in 1967.

The .6 of a mill has been levied for the public library for the past five years. The millage was voted in 1964 and expires with the 1968 levy.

The 14 extra voted mills for the operation of local schools also expires with the 1968 levy. Four mills were passed on February 17, 1964, for five years and 10 mills were passed last June 10th for one year.

VOICE of THE HERALD

The Quest for Knowledge

"It is just as possible never to have gone to school and know something as it is to go to college and know nothing."

This quotation from Thomas Fielding's Tom Jones is especially relevant to today's world. In Fielding's time, it was possible to acquire all factual knowledge through a college education. This would be impossible in today's world, and modern schools don't even attempt it. They try, instead to impart the basic information necessary for students to continue on their quest for knowledge.

Unfortunately, too many of us "flunk" our end of the bargain. We expect the school to do all the work, to make people educated by some magical process while they just sit in the classroom. And if we can't go to college we just throw up our hands and say that's the end of our formal education.

But education need not be formal. Our history is full of successful men who continued their education on their own. Too many people consider reading a chore. And how many people do you suppose would take the trouble to investigate some interesting topic just for the fun of it?

It's up to each one of us to take up where school leaves off. That's why our country's leading educators are calling for a grass roots movement to instill in all its citizens a quest for knowledge. In today's fast-moving world, an informed public, creates community awareness and is a bulwark for a creative nation.

Make regular visits to the local library. Start a library of your own, with some key reference books such as a dictionary and a reliable encyclopedia as a starting point. Home libraries, however, needn't be vast or costly to be good. For instance, some of the finest reference works on the market today, are the encyclopedias available at your favorite supermarket at a cost substantially below its regular bookstore price.

Parents, particularly, should investigate this opportunity, for they will find it the ideal foundation for any home library and one of the best investments they can make.

Don't put all the blame on the schools for failing to stimulate today's generation. What are you doing at home to help out? Anyone who can read this editorial has a potential for learning which is limited by his initiative.

With technical and cultural advances at peak levels throughout the world, there has never been a time in our nation's history when an informed public has been needed more than it is today. You owe it to yourself as well as your loved ones to stay as well informed as possible. Once you've started, you'll find it exciting and fun.

The young airman, home on leave from Wright Patterson Air Force Base, Dayton, O., had let a friend out of the car, and continued toward Manchester to visit an uncle, when the accident occurred on Pleasant Lake Rd. at Lindemann Rd. It was some hours before the accident was discovered.

The Rev. John M. Michael of St. Paul's United Church of Christ, Saline, officiated at the service.

Neil was born June 19, 1948, in Saline, to Billy and Billie Randall Still.

The family lived in the house until about 1958, when Mr. Still was moved to Veteran's Hospital, Ann Arbor. Musings

by Bill Sanford

Footnote to Society

Another part of the American scene has gone by the wayside. I feel small and insignificant and not very proud of the society of which I am a part. The Saturday Evening Post is dead. She can grow dusty now in her morgue, alongside Colliers, Vanity Fair, The New York Herald Tribune.

The Post wasn't just two-bits worth of print each week, not just a media for the advertisers but something else. I've read the Post since I was in my earliest teens. Many great writers of our times have put their pens to work for her pages.

Why should a magazine like the Post go down the drain? It is a difficult thing to say. Costs go up and it seems on the surface that unless you manufacture a tangible object, such as a car or boat or stove, you go broke. Our economy is so attuned to commercial materialism that it was impossible for any publishing genius to save the Post unless it was revamped into something that was no longer the creation he sought to save. This was very true of the Post. She had to change with the times, that's the story, brother, change while there is still time, march to the sound of familiar drums.

The Post had a history, it had contributors in every major field, the humor of William Saroyan, the intellectual ramblings of John Kenneth Galbraith, the stout-hearted Steward Alsop. John O'Hara, Allan Seager, William Faulkner, Ernest Hemingway, John Cheever, you name them and their names appeared in her print.

She was the great lady of American publications. She was regal in her defiance of showing pretty girls in naughty positions. Playboy makes millions, Post goes broke, and that's the footnote of today's society.

You used to look forward to a good short story now and then. Something to read after supper when everything from the outside day has gone. But not anymore.

I like the way she went, gracefully and without the rancor that might have been there. In the next to the last edition they wrote of her fate simply and matter-of-factly. This week there wasn't any mention of it, no goodbyes, no nothing.

They'll be collectors' items, this last edition of the Post. Like Colliers and the Herald Tribune, there won't be anyone to come along and take her place. Playboy and the rest with their "progressive" attitudes will serve no better than a remembrance to men who have forgotten what a woman looks like.

It wasn't really society's fault, the Post quit or failed or went broke. That isn't it at all. It's just that we live in a society of dimwits. We can no more feel at home in the pages of Playboy than we can in recollections of great-granddaddy's log cabin. That is the dupe under which people protect themselves by associatiating what they aren't to what they might have been. Old or new, there isn't any difference.

The rebellion society pulls on itself now, isn't any singular thing perpetrated toward any single end. It is simply against the present. How many times a day do you hear that things have not changed since the year one. (I'm not talking about the Board of Supervisors).

But that isn't true. In my life alone a multitude of differences can be singled out. Good things that happen to the inner qualities of man, not just outside changes in his facade.

Bad things, too, a society in change always suffers more than the generations that follow and those who will come to enjoy the advances made by their ancestors.

We have a long way to go. A blueprint, a thesis is needed for what will happen in the future. We must know what we are and what our capabilities are. The passing of the Post enters into that. Us old squares are going to have to find somewhere else to go. She was a grand old magazine and I'm going to miss her.

Journalism Hopeful's "Great Experience"

By BILL WHITING

"Distinguished members of the Michigan Press Association and honored guests . . ."

I don't often think of myself as being distinguished, and I was somewhat surprised to find myself in the latter category at the 101st Annual Convention of the MPA. I attended this function as a member of the Herald staff and guest of the boss himself. (I think some of the ladies out front might have put in a good word or two, also).

I have to admit it was a great experience for a young journalism hopeful.

Though it seemed to be more of a social gathering than anything else, the idea of brushing elbows with some of the state's finest writers and publishers more than made up for the lack of program material.

In order to keep up the image of the growing teenager, I have to say that the luncheons and dinners were the greatest part of the two-day meeting. Not that I was interested in stuffing my stomach, but it was one of the very rare occasions at which I actually get a chance to hear the people who make the news.

Attorney General Frank Kelley, in a Friday luncheon speech concerning the Mafia, related some startling facts. In short, a seven billion dollar profit by a criminal organization is kind of hard for this boy to swallow. I wouldn't want his job for the world.

Governor Milliken was impressive. It's not every day you get to hear the governor.

Jeanne Dixon, widely known for her startlingly accurate prophecies, was an entrancing speaker.

Perhaps the most hard-hitting presentation was an appeal by a Lansing police woman. Not so much of an appeal as a factual presentation.

In attempting to present the case of the "young people", with whom she works in her department, this lady accomplished the impossible.

Though gritting their teeth with every bite, the entire gathering downed their midday meal to the sounds of "The Association" and "Simon and Garfunkel". The sight of their suffering was almost heart-breaking.

I hope there are more people like her around to "sell" this generation.

All in all, it was a great experience. I hope I'll be back.

P.E.O. Honors Its Founders

Chapter AJ, P.E.O. Sisterhood of Tecumseh was hostess at a luncheon in Croswell House to Chapter DK of Adrian Saturday, the occasion being in honor of the Founders of P.E.O. and also in commemoration of the 100th anniversary, 1869-1969.

About 26 members and guests were seated for luncheon, followed by a candlelight ceremony, conducted by Mrs. Robert Bonner, president of Chapter AJ. It honored each of the Founders.

Mrs. Edward Mossing and Mrs. Harry Travis were in charge of the luncheon.

P.E.O. was founded 100 years ago as a college sorority on the campus of Iowa Wesleyan College. It has grown to have over 4,200 chapters in the 50 states and Canada, with approximately 165,000 members. It's purpose are charitable and educational.

Cottey College, Nevada, Mo., founded in 1884, has been owned and supported by the P.E.O.'s since 1927. It is a fully accredited liberal arts two-year college for women.

After the program, Betty Jo Hancock, president of Chapter DK, Adrian, and Mrs. Willard Toussaint expressed appreciation and thanks to Chapter AJ.

You Told Us

By DOROTHY GRIGG

We liked Hollis Farley's column, "Hit and Miss" last week in The Clinton Local. He told of and commended the audience at the Friday night basketball game at the Clinton High School when they picked up the key and sang the national anthem after the public address system broke down in the middle of a stanza.

It was a fine show of patriotism sometimes not evidenced too much in today's news columns. We like to read it. We hope "The Star Spangled Banner" will always be as familiar to students everywhere in this country as it is to Clinton's young people.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Bonner and Mr. and Mrs. Harry Bonner of Ferndale were in Washington, D. C., last weekend to attend the inaugural festivities as well as the actual ceremonies on Monday. Mrs. Bonner was thrilled at a reception Friday evening given by Senator and Mrs. Robert Griffin and Representative and Mrs. Gerald Ford, to obtain the autograph of one of her favorites, Al Kaline.

The ladies attended the Distinguished Ladies' reception in the evening, standing in line for an hour and a half to shake hands with Mrs. Spiro Agnew in the National Gallery of Art. They heard Dinah Shore sing at the Gala Saturday evening but Johnny Carson was sick and didn't attend.

They had excellent seats for the inaugural and attended the ball at the Smithsonian Institute. "It was an exciting four days," Mrs. Bonner related, "even though our planes were delayed on both ends due to fog."

Arthur Collingsworth was home over the weekend to attend a funeral of an uncle. He hosted a party for 100 at the Capitol Hill Club in Washington, D. C., last Saturday afternoon. Guests included Mr. and Mrs. Robert Bonner, former ambassador and Mrs. Joseph Satterthwaite, Congressman and Mrs. Marvin Esch, Mr. and Mrs. James Gerity of Adrian, ambassadors from Finland, Jordan, the Republic of West China and West Germany and others.

Mr. Collingsworth, still on the White House Staff, said that he returned from an extended tour to Finland Jan. 6, where he made a report for Dr. Kissinger. The White House aide escorted Elaine Milliken, daughter of Governor and Mrs. Milliken, to the inaugural ball and had dinner with the Millikens in their suite last Monday night. Elaine is a junior at the University of Michigan.

Memoriam

In loving memory of Raynor S. Ross who passed away January 31, 1967.

To your grave I often wander,
And picture your face so dear.
In silence I stand in sorrow,
Of the one I loved so dear.
What would I give to clasp your hands
Your dear, kind face to see,
To hear your voice, and see your smile,
That meant so very much to me?
Loved, remembered, and sadly missed by one whose life he saved. 1-30p

In loving memory of our son and brother, Michael John McLoughlin, who left us two years ago Jan. 30.

A light from our household is gone,
A voice we loved is stilled;
A place is vacant in our home
That never can be filled.
Some may think that you are forgotten,
Though on earth you are no more,
But in memory you are with us
As you always were before.

Guests will be welcomed to the meeting at the Community Center at 2 p.m.

Conservation Name Change

The U. S. Soil Conservation Service leader here in Lenawee County, Vern Anderson, is having his title changed from Soil Conservation Service Work Unit Conservationist to Soil Conservation Service District Conservationist.

Since the basis of Soil Conservation Service programs have been providing technical assistance to landowners, many of whom are members of their local soil and water conservation districts, the new title—District Conservationist — will more accurately reflect his duties and contacts with the public.

But Soil Conservation Service technical assistance in Lenawee County is not restricted to landowners belonging to the Lenawee Soil Conservation District. Soil Conservation Service technicians can work with any landowners who have natural resource problems and who want to receive and will apply proper resource conservation information information and practices to their lands.

Soil Conservation Service District Conservationist Anderson, and his staff members, Martin Urka, Soil Conservationist and David Ricker, Soil Conservationist technician and the district aide, Marian Ruesink, are headquartered at the Federal Bldg., Adrian.

Matmen Look Good

Tecumseh wrestlers fared well in the Michigan Center Invitational held Jan. 25. Dan Anderson won all of his matches on pins to place first in the 175-pound division. Dan was also voted the "outstanding wrestler" of the tournament by a ballot of the coaches. He was awarded a trophy.

A field of nine teams, including Charlotte, who is the State Class B Champion, met. Also wrestling were teams from Holt, Bronson, Leslie, Michigan Center, and Saline.

Tecumseh finished tied for fourth in the team standings.

Many individual stars among them, three state champs, at 127 lbs., Bill Gingerich of Charlotte; 133 lbs., Jim Hudson from Michigan Center; 138 lbs., Bill Mashco from Leslie.

For Tecumseh, winners were Marv Maynard with a fourth place, losing a 6-2 decision to Gingrich, state champion.

Gary Jones took a fourth place, losing a first round match to Jim Hudson, state champ from Michigan Center.

Steve Tilton, fourth place, also wrestled "very well along the way," Coach Pat Connors said.

Merv Maynard took a third place and his only loss was an 11-9 decision to Doug Holderman of Michigan Center. Holderman went on to win the tournament.

Steve Hinkleman took a third place with a fine job wrestling. His only loss was a close decision to the boy that went on to the finals.

Bob Hackett took a third place, with one loss to Jack Lewis of Charlotte. Lewis went on to win the tournament easily.

Coach Connors stated after the tournament, "Obviously we were very pleased with the showing the boys made. We felt, as a team, we wrestled very well in view of the competition."

In a league match last Thursday the Indian matmen won over Grosse Ile, 31-19. Winners for Tecumseh were Steve Ford, on a forfeit; Abel Valdez on a decision. Marv Maynard won on a pin. Dan Anderson with a pin. Bob Hackett won on a pin. Steve Hinkleman, pin, Bill Groover on a decision. Grosse Ile is now 4-3 in the league and Tecumseh, 5-1.

The next home match for the Indians will be Feb. 7 against Flat Rock.

John-John Welcomed

A 6-lb. 6-oz. son gladdened the hearts of Mr. and Mrs. James Cook when he arrived Friday afternoon at William E. Beaumont Hospital in Royal Oak. The baby was promptly named John Leonard when his father arrived from Fort Knox, Ky. Also visiting the new little tyke were his proud grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Cook. Sunday the entire family went to the hospital. John's father will leave Fort Knox for Fort Bliss, Tex., Feb. 14 and his wife and son will join him there as soon as possible. Great-grandmother, Mrs. Neil Pearson, will have an opportunity to see the baby Feb. 2.

Measure Farm Lands

Frank Light, chairman of the Michigan Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation State Committee encourages farmers to contact their local county ASCS office regarding premeasurement services.

All of the counties in Michigan offer measurement services to farmers at small cost. Many farmers take advantage of these measurement services because it usually means more income for them.

Farm operators that participate in the wheat or feed grain program are then able to plant their full permitted acreage and not have extra acreage set aside for diversion purposes under the program.

Since participating farmers now certify to compliance with all program requirements when they report their crop acreages, it is important that they are accurate in reporting these acreages. If they estimate their acreages incorrectly, their government payments can be reduced substantially or lost entirely, depending upon the amount of error.

Light recommends that farmers contact the local county ASCS office for further information on measurement services and their value to farm operators.

Sports Car Race at MIS

Michigan International Speedway has been awarded one of the events in the 1969 Canadian-American Challenge Cup Series of sports car racing. The Sports Car Club of America made the announcement Wednesday that the local speedway would stage the event on their three-mile road circuit on Sept. 28. It will be a 200-mile race.

The guaranteed purse for the event at MIS will be the highest of the series, $60,000.

Top international drivers, Bruce McLaren and Denis Hulme, will be in the competition for the event.

The road circuit at MIS is still untried but estimates of the average speed is around 115 mph for the three miles.

The first test for the road circuit will be on May 11 when the "sporty" compact cars, Mustang, Camaro, Javelin each compete in the first event of the Trans-American Sedan Series.

Second Straight for THS Indians

The Tecumseh Indians basketball team reeled off their second straight win on their home court last Friday when they downed New Boston Huron on a last second shot by Jim Hunt, 65-64. The team which had lost three heartbreakers earlier in the season, put on a balanced defensive and offensive floor show.

New Boston led the Indians at the end of the first period by the score of 15-12. The Tribe did not fare any better in the second period of play when they were again outscored, 15-10. The teams left the floor at half-time with the score 30-22 in favor of the visitors.

While the first half was in the offensive hands of New Boston, the second half was the Indians' turn to put on the scoring show. In the third period they dropped in 17 points to 14 for New Boston. This narrowed the margin to 44-39. In the final stanza, Tecumseh again outscored New Boston, this time, 26-20, both teams finding the range.

The game was evenly played with neither team showing any superiority over the other in field goal percentage, at the foul line or in turnovers. Rebounds and control of the enemy boards were also even.

The Indians threw a press on New Boston in the fourth quarter which was a big factor in overcoming the lead which New Boston held going into the final period.

Hunt, along with Bill Puffer, paced the Tecumseh attack with 19 points each. John Kennedy with 12 and Steve Dalton with 10, rounded out the Indians' scoring in double figures.

Next Friday the team will travel to Grosse Ile to take on a league opponent and hopes are high to keep the team on the winning track.

JV's Outclass Foes 47-28

The Tecumseh Indian JV's, which assistant coach Dave Kelly says has the "poise and defense," won their ninth game of the season in handy fashion Friday. The victims of the Little Indians were the New Boston Huron JV's which had been rated high as one of the toughest opponents for the Tribe. They easily outdistanced New Boston 47-28.

Early in the second quarter the JV's gave the Huron team a 17-10 lead. The Indians missed six shots in a row but failed to lose their poise and were able to fight back.

In a flurry of points Scott Dalton hit from the corner, Bob Pettit dropped in a pair from the free throw line, Craig Smith netted two on a foul, Pettit then scored again with a charity toss and Dalton stole the ball and scored on a running layup. Smith countered again with a pair of free throws and center Gary Alcock pumped in a field goal to cap a fierce scoring attack by the Little Indians.

In the second half the Huron team managed only two field goals and five free throws for a total of nine points while the Tribe was scoring 24.

The defense of Dalton, Smith and Pettit, coupled with the rebounding strength of Gibson and Alcock blew New Boston off the floor. Kelley said that "New Boston could not score from the field or set good defense" against the Little Indians.

Alex Gibson was high scorer for the game with 15 points and 14 rebounds. He blocked five shots.

Bob Pettit had 11 points, 13 rebounds and stopped six attempts at goals by Boston Huron. Gary Alcock at the pivot played a good defensive game and has played with a lot of spark since replacing Gary Hannibal, who moved up to the varsity.

Craig Smith dumped in 12 points, had eight rebounds and 10 assists in playing another complete all-around game. He held his man defensively to two points for the game.

Scott Dalton had seven points, five steals and five assists. Dalton was charged with the responsibility of guarding New Boston's high scorer Glenn Dregansky with an average of 13.8 points per game. He held him to five points, all in the first period. Dalton again displayed a defensive gem for the Indians.

Coach Jim Curth praised the entire team for the efforts as well as his two managers, Doug Wheeler and Richard Johnson, for the efforts they have put forth in helping the team to their 9-0 record.

In the next two weeks the Little Indians will face five opponents, all in contention for the Huron League JV title. The next test will be against Grosse Ile Friday at Grosse Ile and against 6'8" Paul Spoke.

Crownvetch For Erosion Control

Crownvetch, a viny legume, is a good erosion control plant on well-drained soils. A long-lived perennial, it spreads by underground roots and seeds. Crownvetch is winter hardy and somewhat drought tolerant. Its best use is on subsoils such as road cuts, borrow areas, and ditch banks where other legumes are difficult to establish.

The U. S. Department of Agriculture has found that even on subsoils, a thin stand with fertilizer will thicken and give complete soil protection in two or three years. Soil Conservation Service Work Unit Ofice in Adrian can be contacted for additional information.

This long-lived legume, which is a mass of pinkish flowers during most of the summer, will provide beautiful ground cover for many years.

Comparisons Are Discussed

Mrs. Harry Schuch presided at the meeting of the Daughters of St. Peter's Church Jan. 22 when a discussion on the comparison of English and American Churches was held.

Farm Pond Wins Cooperator Award

Staten Smith of Medina Township has received the Outstanding Cooperator Award by the Lenawee Soil Conservation District at their Annual Meeting.

A basic conservation plan was completed two years ago with the assistance of the Soil Conservation Service. Each acre was given a planned land use after walking over the farm and discussing potential conservation practices. This was the beginning of the program.

A one-third acre pond is stocked with black bass, bluegills and catfish. A dike built was a clay soil, helps for the pond to maintain approximately 10 feet of depth. A diversion was constructed around the west side so excess run-off water from crop fields could by-pass the pond. This will help to prevent siltation into the pond.

The banks of the pond were seeded with tall fescue and perennial rye grass. A fertilizer application was worked into the soil before planting. S.C.S. technical assistance was given on design and installation. ACP cost-share was given for the completed pond.

A white cedar hedgerow is located along one side of the pond for screening and attractiveness. Evergreen trees were planted on a slope that had erosion problems. Staten felt that trees should be planted to adequately protect the area from erosion. The trees were planted on the contour of the slope.

A multiflora rose hedge is planted along the upper side of the slope. The purpose will be to provide wildlife food and cover and to help beautify the wildlife area. Evergreen and hardwood trees are being planted around the yard area. Minimum tillage and the use of cover crops are practiced on the cropland.

Special Ed Millage Needs

Lenawee County voters this June will be asked to approve an additional mill for a school program which has existed on one-half mill for 10 years — the Special Education program.

A combination of rising cost factors and a rearrangement of the state aid formula for special education bring about the request, coordinator George W. Eidson explains.

The school currently services some 1,500 students who have varying needs. The program has a full-time staff of 72 persons. It is centered in the Lenawee Institute on Sutton Road, but reaches into all of the school districts with its varying programs.

In all, the program includes eight speech correctionists, two teachers of the homebound and hospitalized, three teacher-counselors for the physically handicapped, four school diagnosticians, four school social workers, a teaching faculty of eight members at the Institute, a fleet of eight buses and eight bus drivers, and two teachers of the deaf and two orthopedic teachers.

Last year, the state changed its formula for allotting money to special education programs, placing more of the burden on the county than in previous years.

If the proposed millage increase is not approved, 1,140 of the students will be out the training offered them currently, and the only students who will continue to receive training will be the 360 who are Type A students. There are 24 classrooms throughout the county for the mildly retarded.

Special Education is a broad term, encompasing more than the four to six per cent of the school population who has physical or mental handicaps and require specialized educational procedures.

The program at the Institute on Sutton Road provides five classrooms for severely retarded children. These children are trainable, but their curriculum of necessity differs from that of children in regular school settings.

Development of acceptable public behavior is stressed, including self-control and citizenship. Vocational training is important so that these people may lead lives of value to society in future years.

Golden Wedding Anniversary

Feb. 16, Mrs. Elaine Boik and Robert Hunt will honor the golden anniversary of their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Hunt.

Ralph Hunt was the son of the O. G. Hunts and was born and raised in Tecumseh. Mrs. Hunt was the daughter of the George Thompsons of Port Huron.

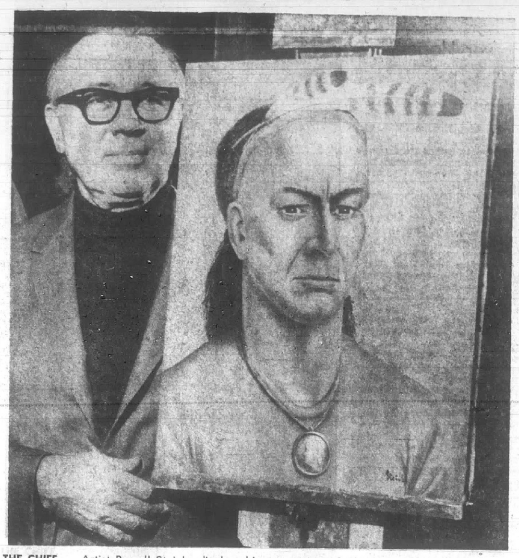
Chamber's Future Is Under Study

A special meeting of the Chamber of Commerce Board was held Thursday to investigate the future of the local organization. Carl Jorgeson, manager of Public Affairs for Michigan State Chamber of Commerce, led the discussion.

Board members note a need for more membership and dues, which are of prime importance, since each Chamber of Commerce is only as good as its members. Money is needed for future projects and the city cannot see the Chamber in action unless there is financial backing.

A general meeting was tentatively set for March, with a dinner and business session for the merchants of Tecumseh. More plans will be announced following another meeting Friday.



THE CHIEF — Artist Russell Steinke displays his conception of Chief Tecumseh. The painting appeared on the cover of Clara Waldron's book and was purchased by the Products.

Witnesses' Convention

Ronald Grimes, R. 5, Adrian, was one of 30 partieipants sharing in the program at the Dundee High School last weekend when Jehovah's Witnesses from 16 congregations met in convention.

Grimes took part in a 'ministry school' program typical of those held weekly in all congregations. He discussed the relationship between a speaker and his audience.

The occasion was the semi-annual Bible Assembly of Michigan Circuit 8 of which the Tecumseh congregation is a part.

The principal speaker for the meet was Marvin L. Holien, District Minister in charge of Witnesses' affairs in Michigan, Indiana, Illinois and Ohio.

Holien's featured talk was, "God's Way is Love."

Following a talk Saturday afternoon by Holien on "Dedication and Baptism" 24 newly-dedicated witnesses were baptized.

4-H Service Club Summer Plans

Sue Ries, Bob Platt, and Larry Saylor showed slides of their Washington Citizenship Short Course trip at the regular meeting of the county 4-H Service Club Jan. 20.

Marty Osburn presided at the business meeting.

Among the items discussed was the possibility of more emphasis on recreation. Plans for summer swimming parties, bowling and nature hikes were discussed.

Gary Ries had charge of the recreation following the meeting.

The next meeting is Feb. 17, at the S. E. Mutual Insurance building. From there the group will go to Adrian College for a lecture in the Planetarium.

Special Ed Faces Financial Distress

Mrs. Paul McKenna, School Social Worker for the Lenawee County Intermediate School District, was guest speaker at the Tecumseh Exchange Club dinner meeting Monday evening. She explained the extensive program for the mentally and physically handicapped children of Lenawee County.

The cost of operating the program this year will amount to $392,000 with the State expected to pay 50 per cent of this amount. The State share has been 75 per cent and this reduction in aid will require the residents of Lenawee County to pay a larger share of the total cost. It is expected that a mill increase will take care of this added cost.

Doug Dunn, vice-president, conducted the business meeting in the absence of the president, Mac Gonser. Dr. Graham Foster explained the need of a sponsor for an Explorer Scout Troop. The Club voted to become a sponsor and referred the project to the Project and Youth Committee.

Feb. 9 through 15 has been designated as Crime Prevention Week. Russ Garno and Wayne Kaiser are co-chairmen for a special crime prevention program at the Feb. 10 meeting of the Club.

TO THE EDITOR:

We would like to comment on the reunion of our two boys in Vietnam over the holidays. We want to sincerely thank the Army and Navy, and anyone else who helped make all of this possible.

Plans started rolling last September when Ym/3 Dennis Mastie first knew he would be in the Gulf of Tonkin area at Christmas time, and Lt. Ronald Mastie had arrived at Dong Tam. Letters were sent back and forth, and permission slips and leaves were signed.

Several weeks before Christmas, an Army officer from Saigon was a visitor on board the USS Hancock, and he assured Den that he would take care of all the final arrangements with Ron's commanding officer back in Saigon.

Arrangements were made for Ron to be taken to the ship Dec. 23 by the Navy, but the visit was delayed because of the ship's position and the security mission they were on.

On the morning of the 28th, he was taken by helicopter to Saigon where he would take a plane to DaNang. He spent that night on the USS Ranger, another carrier in the Gulf of Tonkin, and the next day arrived on the Hancock. Brother Den was there waiting, and they spent the day touring the ship, and watching the launching and retrieving of jets.

Ron commented that the strenuous activity on the ship that day was a little more than he was used to, but he really enjoyed the 30-minute hot shower, a luxury he hadn't had in the last four months. The food really tasted great to him, and he was ready for bed (with sheets and air-conditioning).

On New Year's Eve day they were both surprised to see ABE/3 Randy Frazier back on board ship. Randy and Den had enlisted on the "buddy system" and had been together until last August when Randy was wounded. He had been in Honolulu since then. The three Britton boys spent an enjoyable New Year's Eve together, snacking out of their Christmas boxes and watching the movie, Rachael, Rachael.

Ron arrived back at Tan An Air Field feeling mentally and physically refreshed and ready to face his duties again. He feels that all the boys should be able to get away from it for a couple of days.

Our Christmas at home was a pretty lonely one, but we hope to make up for it next year when our boys are home again. But, we are so thankful that they could spend the holidays together over there.

Mr. and Mrs. H. Mastie and daughter, Barb, and Mrs. Ronald (Kay) Mastie and Michelle.

Tories Down Aggies 79-72

BRITTON — Coach Jim Landfair's Tories overcame a third-quarter deficit to stop the upset-minded Aggies of Sand Creek Friday night 79-72, on the Britton court. The victory lifts Britton's season mark to 9-0 and 8-0 in the River Raisin League.

Sand Creek jumped to an early 10-2 lead in the opening period, but Britton fought back to within two, 17-15, with 22 seconds to go. Then a three-point play by Aggie Paul Bailey made the score 20-15 at the first buzzer.

Senior Dave Fairbanks, who had failed to start the game because of a bout with the flu, entered the lineup and responded with 12 points in the second quarter, as well as four assists. The Tories reeled off 11 straight in the period to pass the Aggies, 26-20, then the Bailey brothers brought Sand Creek back to a 32-32 tie. The Aggies led by a slim 41-39 margin at intermission.

With Britton controlling the ball and the backboards in the third quarter, the Tories tied the score at 47-47 on a basket by junior forward Rick Maska, then went ahead on a tip-in by Fairbanks and were never headed after that.

A basket by senior Jim Skelton gave Britton its biggest lead with 3:50 to go in the game, 69-59. Sand Creek continued to battle back, but lost the ball on numerous violations, and with Maska pumping in 10 big markers in the fourth quarter, the Tories withstood the Aggie threat.

Fairbanks, although limited to half a game, took scoring honors with 22 counters. Close behind was Maska with 21. The quiet forward played an outstanding game, his best of the season, as he continually found the range from the corner. Jim Lister added 14, Skelton 10, and Jim Brown 9 for the Tories.

The win puts the Tories (8-0) solidly ahead of the next three league competitors.

In a three-way tie for second place are Sand Creek, Ida and Boysville, all with 5-3 marks.

Whiteford and Erie-Mason are all even at 4-4; while Summerfield at 1-7 and Deerfield at 0-8 bring up the rear.

This weekend the Tories have two contests with league foes.

Friday night they travel to Boysville, after four straight home games. The Fighting Knights were coming on strong, but dropped a game to Whiteford Saturday night which may slow their momentum. They are a hustling team, however, and always dangerous.

Saturday night Britton hosts the Summerfield Bulldogs for the annual Mom's Night game. The Bulldogs gave the Tories a close fight the first time around, but Britton edged them 70-67.

In the reserve contest, the little Aggies downed the junior Tories 71-51. The Tory reserves just couldn't play team ball in the first half, and by the time they did settle down, the Aggies had a big lead. Phil Servoss and Rick Furgason played good games, as well as Gary Check and Rod Taylor. The little Tories are still looking for that first win.

BRITTON 79

Fairbanks 9-4-22; Skelton 4-2-10; Maska 10-1-21; Lister 5-4-14; Brown 3-3-9; Tuberville 0-1-1; Judkins 0-2-2.

City In the Future?

CLINTON — There appears to be a growing interest in the Village of Clinton concerning the possibility of changing from a village to a city form of government.

An objective analysis of the factors influencing the change from village to city has been compiled by the Michigan Municipal League.

Portions of the pamphlet entitled, "Cost and Effect of Changing from Village to City," will be published in The Herald in ensuing weks to prepare village residents to make an informed determination if, or when, they are asked to vote on the matter.

All information which follows is quoted directly from the Michigan Municipal League:

INTRODUCTION

Since 1931 there has been a steady conversion of villages to cities in Michigan. This trend may indicate that there are certain advantages to be gained by changing to the city form of government. For those officials and citizens of villages who wish to acquaint themselves with these advantages, as well as the cost of making such a change, the best source of information is those municipalities which have gone through this experience.

It is not the policy of the League to promote one form of incorporation over another.

An important by-product advantage to be gained in General Law Villages (now operating under Act. N. 3 of 1895) by incorporating as a city is the opportunity to draft a new charter under the provisions of the Home Rule City Act (Act No. 279 of 1909). The new charter may include a modern organizational pattern and modern administrative procedures. While an up-to-date charter might be secured through the process of charter revision, the additional benefits to be derived from city incorporation may provide the necessary stimulus for bringing it about sooner. The advantage of charter modernization might also accrue to home rule villages operating under charters which are largely copied from the General Law Village Act or which contain obsolete provisions or are otherwise out of date.

While emphasis has been placed on the advantages of incorporating as a home rule city with the establishment of a new and more modern organizational plan, only brief reference is made to the various organzational patterns which are being used in Michigan. The selection of an organizational plan for the government of a new city is the responsibility of the Charter Commission elected to carry out the important duty of drafting a new charter. Additional information on this subject may be secured from Michigan Municipal League headquarters, Ann Arbor.

Every consideration has been given to presenting whatever disadvantages may flow from incorporation as a city. However, the continuous study of this subject by the League staff has shown that, in general, the advantages of city incorporation will result in little or no increase in cost of government. Disadvantages as may arise because of local conditions will be apparent to officials and citizens of that particular community. The timing of the change from village to city may be all-important and careful consideration should be given to these local conditions.

The Difference Between a Village and a City

Local governmental activities in Michigan may be divided into two broad classes based upon the type of activity performed. The first class consists of certain duties required by the State of primarily local units of government. These legally required duties are:

1. Assessing property as a basis of county and school taxes.
2. Collecting taxes for the counties and schools.
3. Conducting county, state and national elections.
4. Serving as a district for sending supervisors to the County Board of Supervisors.
5. Providing a local court system.

The second broad class consists of local services such as fire protection, police protection, water supply, sewage disposal, zoning, public health, etc.

The primary local units of government in Michigan are cities and townships. These two units furnish both the duties required by the state and, in varying degrees, local services. Accordingly, the entire state is divided into non-overlapping cities and townships, to which the legally required duties are assigned. Whenever a new city is incorporated, its area is withdrawn from the township for all governmental purposes.

A village is not a primary local unit but is an incomplete government furnishing only local services. The area of the village is part of a township area, village citizens are also township citizens, and the township government provides for residents of the village the legally-required duties imposed by the state as outlined above. While the township government may perform certain local services for village residents, this is perhaps the exception rather than the rule. The purpose in organizing a village is to furnish local services to residents of a built-up area in the township which the township government, due to its limitations, cannot provide. However, village taxpayers have to pay for such local services and, in addition, may have to help support all the activities of the township government. The extent of this double burden varies considerably from one township to another, and, in all fairness, it must be pointed out that since townships have been receiving sales tax revenues, the direct cost to village residents for township government has been, in many cases, little or nothing.

In cities, however, all local government activities — both state-imposed duties and local services — are unified in one government. In townships, outside villages the township alone conducts all these activities. Only in villages are the governmental activities divided between two governments: Village residents, therfore, are the only persons in Michigan living under and supporting two local units of government, the village and the township.

Changing from a village to a city, therefore, reduced to its simplest terms merely means withdrawing from the township and providing through the new city government the local services formerly provided by the village, plus whatever necessary and non-duplicating functions were provided by the township government. In the process of incorporation, a new home rule city charter must be adopted. Thus there are two major changes the effect of which must be considered:

1. The new city must take over all of the previous village and township activities. The village local services are already being provided; the new functions, therefore, consist of the township's state-imposed duties and the township's local services, if any, being rendered within the village.

2. The new municipality almost invariably modernizes its organization through the adoption of an up-to-date home rule city charter.

The Effect of Separation From the Township

ASSUMING STATE-IMPOSED DUTIES

Upon incorporaton, the new city must assume the legally required duties previously imposed by the State on the township. The effect of assuming these functions and the cost involved to the city are discussed below.

ASSESSING PROPERTY FOR COUNTY AND SCHOOL TAXES

Effect of city assessing of property. As a village, all property has two assessments on it, one made by the village assessor and the village board of review for village purposes only, and one made by the elected township supervisor and township board of review for township, county and school purposes. Making two assessments on village property is a duplication of governmental activity which is completely unnecessary. Having two assessments on property is typical of the inconvenience incurred by every village resident in Michigan. If the village changes to a city, all property would be assessed once by a city assessor and city board of review for all purposes — city, county, and school.

There are several important advantages in having only a single city assessment. First, there is the obvious simplicity, convenience, and saving in cost of having only one assessment and one review procedure for all purposes. Second, it is done by an asessor responsible directly and solely to the citizens of the city. Third, the board of review, provided for by the city charter, would also be responsible only to the citizens of the city. The separation from the township for assessing purposes eliminates the common situation in which the township supervisor assesses village property at a much higher figure than rural property, thus forcing the village residents to pay a disproportionately high share of school, county, and township taxes. Creating a city separates the former township into two assessment districts, and provides the legal means for equalization of rural assessments and city assessments at the same level to insure a fair sharing of the costs of county and school government.

Cost of property assessment by city. This particular change could in no way increase the cost of a city government compared with a village government. The complete assessment is already being made for village purposes; therefore, as a city, the duplicating township assessment would simply be eliminated and the one city assessment would serve all purposes.

COLLECTING COUNTY AND SCHOOL TAXES

Effect of city collection of taxes. The billing and collecting of county and school taxes on village property is now performed by the township. A new city would have to take over this activity. There would be substantially no effect upon the taxpayer from this change, with the exception that he would pay all of his taxes to the city treasurer. The city tax would continue to be due in the summer as is the village tax now, and generally county and school taxes would continue to be due in December, as they are now.

Cost of city collection of taxes. A new city probably would incur some additional expense, as compared to the present village, for the collection of school and county taxes. However, since the village treasurer's office is already in operation, the collection of school and county taxes can probably be accomplished at a cost less than the amount paid by village residents to the township treasurer in the form of a collection fee, where such fee is charged. Additional funds may be derived to defray any additional cost involved by collection of the so-called "excess of roll", — an amount, not to exceed one percent, which may be added to the purpose of avoiding fractions in computations.

Program Fosters An Understanding

CLINTON—A program to foster people-to-people understanding, "Operation Get-Acquainted" was first developed by Dr. Leroy Augenstein, professor of Bio-Chemistry at MSU, in 1967 in the Lansing area. Following the Detroit riots, Dr. Augenstein's family invited two disadvantaged Negro children for a short visit in their home, hoping to open a door for them into a world of friendship they might otherwise never know existed.

The idea has grown and now has the cooperation of several organizations in Michigan including the Michigan Council of Churches. Chamber of Commerce, Farm Bureau Women, and the Cooperative Extension Service.

Twenty-two members of the Women's Fellowship of the United Church of Christ, were shown the film outlining Dr. Augenstein's plan, at a meeting, Thursday evening in the church.

The women were told how visitations can be arranged for the underprivileged children to middle-class homes for periods of 7 to 10 days during the summer.

Mrs. James Quigley and Mrs. Robert J. Murray, both of Tecumseh, described experiences with the children who were guests in homes of Tecumseh Jaycee families last summer.

Children are selected in the 8-13 year-old group from families on Aid to Dependent Children (ADC).

Since there are few Negro children in Lenawee County, several in last summer's visits, were children of Spanish - speaking Americans, or white, although the host family could invite a Negro child from the Detroit area if transportation was arranged.

"The host family has as much to learn as the visiting children," Mrs. Murray said.

She described the poverty conditions in which many of the inner-city children live, and suggested that this program is a positive way to get to understand these youngsters as individuals, not as a separate racial group.

They can be shown a "better way to live" and for many it may be their only opportunity to see a "real father" in his role of responsibility in the family, Mrs. Murray concluded.

Members were asked to consider participation in the "Operation Get-Acquainted" program until the March meeting, by the program chairman, Mrs. Harold Calhoun.

Mrs. Charles Steffens presented the devotional theme, "Hungering and Thirsting after Goodness."

A sum of $25 was voted for a church-affiliated mission hospital, at the business meeting conducted by Mrs. Robert Vogel.

Material Aid Chairman, Mrs. Arthur Hill, reported that the next shipment of used clothing is to be collected by May 1 for Church World Service. Clean clothing, with substantial wear remaining, may be left in the rear entry of the church, Mrs. Hill said.

It was voted to hire a nursery attendant during morning worship hours.

In preparation for the 125th anniversary of the church, Mrs. Linn Weaver was asked to compose a resume of the history of the Women's Fellowship to be presented at the March meeting. She will be assisted by Mrs. Nina Stewart.

Mrs. Donald Corwin and Mrs. Agnes Geiger were appointed to work with the women of other local churches in arranging the World Day of Prayer service to be hosted by St. John's Episcopal Church Women in February.

The nominating committee will report at the March 27 meeting.

We're growing in Lenawee County.

That's because we've got the brakes.

Five years ago, Budd started looking at Lenawee County for automotive disc brake production. We liked what we found. The location. The community. Most of all. the people.

So two years ago, we broke the ground for a completely new, $9,800,000 plant and office building. And the final piece of its production equipment went in just over six months ago.

Today, Budd is a primary source for disc brake parts for the automotive industry. And we are about to spend $5 million more to expand our Lenawee plant to increase our capacity by more than 60%. This means a lot of new jobs. In fact, we estimate our annual payroll will grow from the present $2.3 million to over $3 million, when the expansion program is completed.

Lenawee and Budd are getting the brakes.

THE CHICKADEES' PEANUT FEEDER

It is a long cylinder, the sides are a wire mesh, the bottom wood and from the top there is a hook hanging. It is a peanut feeder. The design is simplicity itself but it works beautifully. It can be filled with either shelled or unshelled nuts and the little birds just have a ball. We have the feeder hung from the awning arm just outside the west-facing window. A perfect spot.

Birds and squirrels are just not overly anxious to accept that which is new and different. Remembering how slow the squirrels were to start patronizing the Wilson Special squirrel feeder, we were not surprised when the peanut feeder went begging for a few days.

I am sure they knew something was hanging from the spot where last year there were bags of peanuts but they all took their own sweet time about rushing up to investigate.

I suppose that a bird's life is so full of hazards and dangers that it well behooves him to be cautious. In this instance though it was a case of what was good for the birds was hard on us. We were anxious to see what they would do with the new feeder.

Finally, of course, one either very adventuresome or very hungry tufted titmouse took the great first step. After sitting on the near-my-window feeder and very, very carefully looking the situation over, he flew up to the peanut holder.

He clung to the wire, leaned back a little, cocked his head from one side to the other and, when nothing disastrous happened, he started eating peanuts. Please note the plural — birds, we find, are as bad as people, they do not stop with just one bite either.

The little gray titmouse had a wonderful feast. He chiseled out bite after bite of peanut and before flying away, he had worked his way all over and tasted many, many different nuts.

ONCE THE ICE is broken, everybody comes in. The upside-down nuthatches are very partial to the new lunch counter and we are thoroughly enjoying their antics. Their long bills are just made for jabbing through wire mesh and nipping out bites of peanuts.

Once in a while a piece breaks off that is just a trifle too large, it may take several gulps but usually the talented upside-down bird gets it — well, no I cannot say down because, living up to his nickname, the nuthatch hangs upside-down even when he was on the peanut feeder and so I guess he is actually swallowing up, isn't he?

But the cutest of all the peanut eaters are the cocky little black-capped chickadees. Two of them will eat at once and what a thrill. They are welcome any day and any time but, if they happen to choose the afternoon of a sunny day, we are doubly pleased.

The latter two can stay away but it should be fun to see what the jays and cardinals will do. The feeder might be a bit small for them.

It shall also be interesting to see what happens the first time a squirrel jumps over and tries to get at the peanuts.

So it is that the new lunch counter is most successful but somehow, even though it hosts other small birds, we keep calling it the chickadees' peanut feeder.

Not at all... when you consider the alternatives!
Your prescription is one of the biggest bargains in history. The average cost of the nearly billion prescriptions filled yearly in the United States is $3.56. What do you receive for that average?

1. These relatively inexpensive pharmaceuticals may save you and your family hundreds of dollars and perhaps weeks in a hospital.
2. They can help prevent a disease from developing to its most serious and painful point.
3. You are up and around sooner... back to work or play.
4. Less time and wages are lost.
5. And, finally, these pharmaceuticals may have prevented minor, but bothersome, physical impairments resulting from the illness.

Next time you have a prescription filled, consider the medical research and development which went into it... hundreds of years of progress serve you in each prescription... and then consider the alternatives... where else could you buy a better bargain?

For the highest pharmaceutical standards, low prices consistent with quality and the personal attention you can always depend upon, bring your prescriptions to

GM Foreman of the Year

A resourceful local Fisher Body-Tecumseh employee was recently designated the Method Improvement Recommendation Program, 1968 "Foreman of the Year," by Plant Manager, F. W. VenWestrenen, thereby receiving a $500 cash award.

Carl Goins, 440 S. Main St., Adrian, was honored during a special award presentation at the Fisher plant.

Mr. Goins, Foreman, Maintenance (Plant Engineering Department) submitted 84 MIR's during the course of the year, which, due to their submission, acceptance and implementation, earned him nearly 300 credit points toward the ultimate award and designation, "Foreman of the Year."

The points earned by Mr. Goins, through the provisions of the Method Improvement Recommendation Program, also netted him other honors, such as, being named MIR "Foreman of the Month" for the months of May and September, and, the added distinction of being "Foreman of the Quarter," for the second quarter of calendar year 1968.

Letters to the Editor

TO THE EDITOR:

I imagine everyone has been thoroughly saturated with the war and civic action stories emanating from Vietnam, so I thought I would offer one which deals with neither.

I have lived near Saigon for eight months now and have become very fond of the city. It is a very crowded and dirty place at the moment owing to the massive influx of refugees, but at one time it was a very beautiful city, perhaps deserving of its claim to being the 'Paris of the Orient'. Many of the remnants of happier times are still in evidence today with the Saigon Zoo being a notable example.

The zoo is located in a park at the end of Thong Nhat Avenue, just a few blocks from the big, white, antiseptic American Embassy. The park contains a museum of Vietnamese sculpture, tapestries and artifacts from former dynasties and an awesome Buddhist Pagoda, in addition to a large menagerie of ingenous and imported animals. The grounds are well kept with a pond in the center and a neatly-manicured topiary garden in one corner. The beasts in the zoo are easily the most lethargic I've ever seen. I guess the climate has affected them as it has everyone else here. However, the story of the zoo lies not in the exhibits, but in the Vietnamese people and especially the children who abound in the park on a sunny afternoon.

I visited the zoo for the third time last Sunday with a friend from the Red Cross. It was a grand day with the sun beating down on the brick pavements and stucco buildings of the city as we rode along Embassy Row to the park. Families were out strolling all around — women dressed in bright colored 'ao dais' and children in shorts and pajama-like outfits — taking pictures by the large statue of the Madonna in front of the Gothic cathedral on Tu Do street. One would suspect that peace had broken out in Saigon.

Approaching the park, we could sense the mood inside from the party hats being sold by the entrance. Admission is five Dong (2.5c on the black market; 4c official rate) and once inside, you can expect to be accosted by half a dozen kids selling peanuts, hats and candy. The kids are aggressive salesmen and waste no time in labelling you as 'cheap Charlie' if you don't purchase their wares.

We arrived at lunch time and several families were picnicking on the lawns while groups of children were playing all over. Boy Scouts were out in short uniforms and 'Smokey Bear' hats and soldiers from Korea and Vietnam as well as a number of GIs were wandering around.

Acting in the traditional tourist manner, we loaded our cameras and ambled over to the monkey cages, stopping to watch one of the creatures pick fleas off another. There were the usual bunch of kids watching the antics of the animals and we tried to engage them in some sort of conversation. Some of the younger tykes smiled bashfully, but the older ones were bolder and joked with us a bit. The Vietnamese are always amused at our attempts to speak their language and many adults stopped to watch us chatting with the kids.

Selling sugar cane by the leopard cage was the cutest little pajama-clad girl. Maybe 12 years old, she had long black hair and pierced ears and was an obvious choice for my amateur camera. Her shyness required a bit of coaxing, but we managed to get a smile out of her and once she found my friend had a Polaroid, she was eager to see the picture. By this time a number of curious children had gathered, all of them wanting to be in the next picture. In fact, they all elbowed their way to the front of the group as I tried to line up a shot and before I could focus, the group was just two feet from my lens.

With some effort, we managed to quell their impatience long enough to take a few pictures and then passed the Polaroid shots amongst the group. Each of the kids wanted to keep the pictures in which he appeared, but we convinced them otherwise and retrieved the snaps, albeit with a few thumbprints added.

We moved on towards the zebra and deer areas and found we had acquired three of the kids as guides and companions. One of them — a ringer for Buddy Hackett — was determined to get a photo before the afternoon was out — and he succeeded.

As we passed the chimpanzee cage, a burly MP was wrestling the beast through the bars — much to the amusement of the chimp and the crowd of Vietnamese which had gathered. When the big GI gave up the match, the chimp rolled over, pointing his finger at the MP and laughed uproariously . . . as did the onlookers.

Our guides steered us to the bear pits next and once again we were besieged by the peanut venders. The kids wrap the peanuts in cone-shaped papers, then stick several cones in the rolled up sleeves of your jungle fatigues and demand payment. This time we bowed to the pressures and got peanuts for our entourage who proceeded to feed the animals while a half dozen GIs with elaborate Japanese camera equipment zoomed in.

We paraded past the cages of exotic birds, snake pits, elephants and various other exhibits. The afternoon sun was hot, so we looked for a shady spot to relax. We strolled around the pond where several of the Vietnamese were feeding the fish from the bridge spanning the water to the island pagoda. We commandeered a park bench alongside the pond and sat down with our troupe which had grown to five or six kids by this point. Vendors came by with snacks and party hats and we bought popsicles for our guides.

Conversation between GIs and Vietnamese is usually pretty lively, although limited, and we managed to talk and joke with the kids in the GI-Vietnamese slang which has developed here over the past several years. Essentially you speak in the present tense, leave out prepositions and mix in a few Vietnamese phrases with simple English. Some of the kids are reasonably fluent in English and this aids the conversation immensely.

After a bit, we set out to finish our tour with a small Viet on each arm. They took us to the rock and topiary garden which is neatly laid out and trimmed. Small pools of tropical fish are nestled in amongst the trees and shrubs, all of which are labelled in Vietnamese, Latin, French and English.

The jaunt through the garden concluded our tour and our host saw us to the gate. Half the kids took their leave at the gate, but three of the boys asked if we were going downtown and hopped in the cab with us for the trip.

And that's what's happening in Saigon on Sunday afternoons. It's a nice place to visit, but . . . .

Sincerely,
Larry Titley

THEATRE BACKSTAGE FROM A TO Z, W. C. Lounsbury; gift of the Tecumseh Players.

KILLERS, story of a fighting cock and a wild hawk. D. Mannix.

STAND ON ZANZIBAR, is exciting, funny, sad and moving — in short, it's like the world we live in, except that it is science fiction. John Brunner.

AMERICAN COOKING, how about red-flannel hash or New England boiled dinner, what's more American than that?

FIVE THOUSAND QUOTATIONS FOR ALL OCCASIONS, Henry, L. C., ed.

DATE WITH DEATH. Would you believe a large, live pig with blue polka dots and painted pink? This psychedelic pig is involved in a murder which Detective Maddox has to solve. Linington, Elizabeth.

HOSTAGES, by Charles E. Israel. A bus load of children — United Nations delegates' children — disappeared on the way to school. Only one mother was suspicious but all of her efforts to get help are frustrated. The FBI and police finally go to work but the clues are few.

Scout Family Robinsons

By DOROTHY GRIGG

Girl Scouting is the "thing" at the John Robinson residence. The whole family, John, Joan and their three daughters, Jera, Jana and Jodi, enjoy and work diligently in the program, about to launch the annual cookie sale.

Mrs. Robinson, the former Joan Buehrer, is the troop leader for Jana's eighth grade cadette troop. She said, "If my troop girls get anywhere near what I did out of Scouting, I will be happy."

She gives much of the credit for her scout family to her own Scouting years from Brownie to Senior Scout when her leader was Mrs. Art Bowser.

"We gained so much from her leadership. I thought she was grand and I still do," said the long-time scouter.

Two long-term projects are taking much of Mrs. Robinson's time just now. She and her husband plan to accompany Jera and others of the Cabana group to Mexico this summer providing they can earn their quota of $400 per girl. They are a bit behind in their goal and frantic newspaper collections have been instituted as a family project to help with the finances.

The Troop leader is encouraging her "girls" to plan to go as a troop to Switzerland to the Girl Scout Chalet when they are Senior Scouts in 1973.

These projects are entirely above and beyond the regular scouting program. The Cabana group of the Irish Hills Council meets one full Saturday each month to raise money for their trip. It will be two years in August that they have been doing this, rotating the meeting place among four towns, Jackson, Hillsdale, Clinton and Tecumseh.

The next time in Tecumseh, the girls will sponsor a fun day for the area school children March 1.

Six Tecumseh girls are still among the 38 of the entire Council who are eligible to go to Mexico. They are Jera, Ann and Sue Beardsley, Renee Albaugh, Vicki Cook and Debbie Shelton.

Mrs. Robinson announced that any group or organization who would like a speaker and pictures would be guaranteed a program if they would like to help the girls toward their financial goal.

People who know, speak nothing but praise for the enthusiastic leader. Mrs. Avery Lee, co-leader with Mrs. R. for the past five years, remarked, "It's time someone wrote about her. I can't tell you where she stops and where she begins with Scouting. You need somebody with leadership qualities and Joan has them. The girls recognize this, too. In the years I've been working with her, we haven't had an argument."

When questioned as to Mr. Robinson's part in all his girls' interest, Mrs. Lee said, "Well, in all that time, I've never heard him complain yet."

Another fine thing about my co-leader," Mrs. Lee said, "She doesn't ask for handouts, she believes that we should work for what we get."

Mrs. Harold Iffland who led the same troop of girls for one year said, "Mrs. Robinson gives the girls the understanding they need, not only as scouts but as growing-up young ladies. She never gives up but always finds a way."

The three Robinson daughters take Mom's efforts for granted but they love scouting.

Jera said, "It's fun and there is lots of stuff to do. I've been making straw-flowers lately. I enjoyed badge work but as seniors we don't do it anymore. We do make favors for the nursing home and baby sit a lot."

Mr. Robinson is a supervisor in the maintenance department of Budd Co., Clinton.

Anyone in need of a sitter, cookies for tea, to be rid of old newspapers or assistance with a forthcoming program, will certainly be able to get some help if they call the Robinsons, 423-3026 or stop at 105 N. Oneida St. with their request.

River Water Is Subject

A conference, concerning the critcal nature of water resource problems of the River Raisin basin and its communities, will be held next Monday afternoon at 1:30 at the Tecumseh Community Center.

The State Water Resources Commission, in conjunction with the State Department of Public Health, will be in charge of the meeting.

All basin citzens are invited to the conference by Ralph W. Purdy, executive secretary of the Commission.

Representatives of the two state agencies will present information on the growing problems of water quality and quantity in this area and will attempt to provide an insight into the need for adequate planning for future needs of the basin.

Although several communities currently are utilizing River Raisin as a source of domestic water supply, state officals are becoming increasingly concerned with water quality.

Some feel that wastewater discharges into the Raisin, even after the most sophisticated treatment known, may have an unfavorable impact on downstream domestic water supplies.

The amount of additional water necessary to support the predicted population and economic growth within the basin is expected to be considerable.

Contract OK'd at $4,000 Price

A contract to Arthur W. Gillespie Associates, of Birmingham, for street construction plans and specifications was authorized by Council Monday evening.

Gillespie's bid was $4,000, while McNamee, Porter and Seeley of Ann Arbor had priced the work at $12,000.

Police Sit As Courts Untangle

In Chief Murell Clark's monthly report for January, Council learned that local police officers are spending considerable time waiting and attending cases in the new District Courts at Adrian.

For January, local officers spent 45 hours off actual duty here for the courts.

The police chief told officials that he himself has been at the courts for up to five hours at a time. He said cases have piled up, and you must simply wait your turn.

County Supervisors Fay Whelan and T. J. Wagner attended the meeting and both explained that they were more or less still trying to find out their duties as new county officials.

Mr. Wagner confirmed Clark's remark that the courts appear to be in a state of confusion and working operations might not possibly be corrected for another month or more.

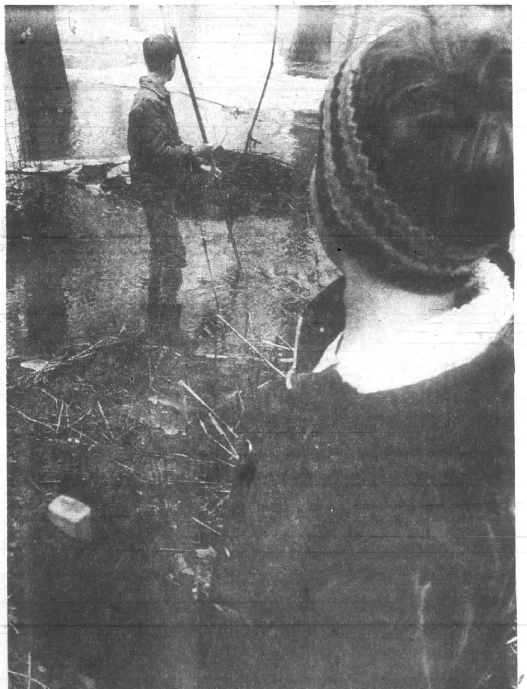
Discussion among local officials then centered around the use of the Council room for judges to come here weekly and hold court for Tecumseh and area cases.

The room was made available to the county for $100 a month, but was turned down. Some county officials feel that the city should provide the facility free of charge.

City Manager Cal Zorn said the room is frequently used, mentioning workman's compensation cases, and questioned whether $100 a month was enough.

What Is It?

This question was posed to city officials last week, and they didn't know. Wednesday afternoon of last week, Mrs. Charles Cook called The Herald and said "we've got mountains of suds." She was almost right. The photo above on Evans Creek, between Marlboro Apartments and the Cook residence — formerly the Robert D. Moore home — shows the suds stretching some 15 feet or more across and a good four feet high. Other patches accumulated along Evans Creek, as these two lads will attest. Rain, sleet and melting snow raised the levels of the creek and River Raisin last week, and contributed to the flooding waters at Monroe on Lake Erie. With some frost still in the ground, the water ran off instead of sinking in. Both Tecumseh waterways were at capacity or over. Allyn Ernst, wastewater plant superintendent, said the dam on the Raisin at N. Evans St. was opened and the water dropped about eight inches on Red Mill Pond. This water in turn flooded the area around the plant but did no harm. As to the lathery-type suds in these photos — taken by Bill Whiting — we're still in the dark, and so are city officials. Patches of the suds were seen coming from west of the bridge on N. Union St.



Mother Joining Injured Son

By CHRISTINE FAIRBANKS

BRITTON — The Britton American Legion Post is spearheading a drive to raise money to send Mrs. Thelma Henning to Hawaii to visit her son, Larry, who was wounded in an explosion several weeks ago aboard the aircraft carrier Enterprise.

Mrs. Henning and daughter, Sue, left Wednesday morning from Metropolitan Airport for Honolulu, where Larry is receiving treatment at Tippler General Hospital for extensive burns on his hands and shrapnel wounds in his legs.

About $600 was collected from various groups, organizations and individuals in the Britton-Tecumseh area to aid Mrs. Henning's trip.

Because of the short notice of the drive, many more groups or individuals who were not contacted, may wish to contribute. Contributions may be mailed to the Glen H. Daykin American Legion Post No. 155, Britton, and they will be forwarded to Mrs. Henning in Hawaii.

Mrs. Henning expects to be in Hawaii at least a week, and probably longer. She reported that Larry will be in Tippler Hospital for another week or two, then will be transferred to a nursing home for about three months, where he will receive therapy on his hands.

Painful burns, and shrapnel wounds in his right knee and his right and left arm are giving him the most trouble.

Five burn specialists have been sent to treat him, reported his mother. He is healing satisfactorily, but it will be a long time before he can use his hands.

Mrs. Henning, widowed in 1954, has been employed the past nine years at Universal Die Casting in Saline. Her husband, Gladwin (Jake) Henning, was a Tecumseh Products foreman.

Left with six small children to raise, she has done a monumental job. The two eldest sons are married, with Larry in the Navy. Three are still at home, including Sue, a bookkeeper at United Savings Bank in Tecumseh. Son, Gordon, is employed at the Rawsonville Ford plant, and JoAnne, 17, is a senior at Britton High School.

Mrs. Henning received good news Monday evening when William Kukral of Tipton called to state that his son, Bill, who is in the Army Security Forces in Hawaii, will meet her plane upon arrival in Honolulu and escort her to Tippler Hospital. He will also make hotel reservations for Mrs. Henning and her daughter, and has offered them the use of his car while there.

"Larry has been so nervous and depressed, I know I can cheer him up if I can just see him," stated Mrs. Henning.

Anyone wishing to contribute to the fund for her expenses, may mail to the American Legion Post in Britton, and any receipts will be forwarded to her in Hawaii.

Land Contract for Globe Pond

Cal Zorn, city manager, told Council Monday night that a land contract had been arranged to purchase Globe Mill Pond and other adjoining property owned by Perry Satterthwaite and Hayden Fuel.

The contract calls for $1,000 down, payment of $7,000 on July 1, and another $7,000 payment on July 1, 1970. Interest rate is 5%.

Mr. Zorn said borings and soil samplings were taken at the dam site on Jan. 17, but no reports had yet been submitted. Estimated cost to replace the dam washed out last June is $65,000.

Hospital Hikes Room Rates, Employees Pay

Salary increases for all Herrick Hospital and Nursing Home employees and hikes in room costs at both places were reported to City Council Monday night.

In the monthly report to Council, the Herrick Memorial Hospital Board reported 6½% salary raises to all employees plus additional hospitalization benefits to full-time help.

Salary increases were effective Dec. 30, with the fringe benefit effective in May, 1969.

A new Registered Nurse's base pay for a 40-hour work week will be $6,406.40 per year, and in four years top pay of $7,612.80 will be reached.

William Groover, hospital administrator, said the approximate total cost is $60,274 for the salaries, and less than $17,000 for the improved hospitalization benefits.

Room rate increases, the second in about six months, were made to cover the additional costs at the hospital and nursing home.

Daily room rates in effect now are:

Ward — $32.00.
Semi-private — $35.00.
Private — $41.00.
Intensive care unit section — $72.00.

Although the rates may appear high to many, they're lower or comparable to practically every hospital in this area.

$250,000 Gift!!

The Herrick Foundation has given $250,000 to the Board at Herrick Memorial Hospital for use in future expansion.

The Foundation has contributed generously to the local hospital in the past and has been largely responsible for its growth and many improvements.

Through gifts and its income, the hospital has been able to operate and grow without city financing and cost to the taxpayer.

Woozy Driver Weaves Way

Charges of drunk driving and driving on a suspended driver's license were placed against Herman William Garland, 31, of 1284 Shepherd Rd., last Friday afternoon after he wrecked his car on E. Chicago Blvd., near Rogers Hwy.

According to police, Garland was coming into Tecumseh when his auto veered off the road, clipped four guard rail posts and then stopped some 70 feet off the roadway.

Local fire department was called, and firemen pried open the left door to get the apparent unconscious Garland out of the car. After he was removed, Garland then became belligerant and had to be forcibly held on a stretcher en route to Herrick Hospital.

His car, owned by a Milan resident, was extensively damaged.

Police had been alerted by several callers that a motorist was headed for Tecumseh. He had been seen driving from berm to berm and nearly lost control of the car before entering the city limits.

A resume of other mishaps during the past week are:

Jan. 30 — Billy S. Calloway, 38, Manchester, was cited for improper backing after a minor accident with Gordon C. Wittman, Jr., 36, Tipton. Mishap occurred in the parking lot adjacent to the Quick Lunch on S. Evans St.

Jan. 31 — Susan G. Butler, 21, of Lincoln Park, was charged with failure to have her car under control after running into the rear of a car driven by Virginia L. Kish, 46, of 6911 Green Hwy. Mrs. Kish was on W. Chicago Blvd., preparing to make a left turn onto Adrian St.

Feb. 3 — Terry D. Yoder, 18, Manitou Beach, was cited for failure to stop within an assured clear distance after striking a Modern Disposal trash pickup truck, operated by Ronald L. Beck, 20, Grass Lake. Accident happened on Adrian St.

Feb. 3 — Arthur A. Dunajski, 43, Dearborn, was cited for improper passing after an accident with Hilda E. Hunter, 62, of 106 Burt St., on W. Chicago Blvd., in front of Keith Bailey Oldsmobile.

Feb. 3 — Harold J. Jones, 19, Adrian, attempted to turn off S. Ottawa into Cummins and struck a pole. He was cited for driving too fast for road conditions and for having improper plates.

New Taxi Service Is Starting Here

A request to provide taxi and chauffeuring service in Tecumseh by Ivan and Ileen Maynard was approved by Council Monday night.

Mr. Maynard told officials he would operate the service from 6:30 a.m. to 7 p.m., Monday thru Saturday, and chauffeuring by appointment.

Headquarters for the taxi business will be Buck's Fleet-Wing Service Station, corner of N. Pearl and W. Logan Sts.

Incumbents File for Re-election

Four incumbents of Council—William Holmes, Gene Tuckey, Ray Puffer and George McCombs — have taken out petitions to seek re-election.

Petitions may be obtained from the city clerk and must be filed by Feb. 17.

Annexation Is Referred To Planners

An advisory hearing Monday night for the annexation of approximately 10 acres in Tecumseh Township to the city resulted in the request being referred to the Planning Commission.

The area, west of S. Occidental Rd., and north of Southwestern Dr., is currently being planned for three 12-unit apartment buildings.

Several residents of the area appeared before Council Monday evening and asked questions about the apartments, the exact site, installation of streets and sewers, and other related factors.

Residents were told that the plans for the apartments would have to be approved by the city and that other city specifications would have to be met.

Robert Holmes Detroit contractor, who is presently building a home in River Acres is the builder for the apartments. Real estate negotiations are being handled by Dan Gould for the Bob Goedert Realtor office.

C. D. Finkbeiner, whose grain was used in the original plot; Rev. Don Falkenberg, Head of the Bible Meditation League; and many others from all parts of the country.

The newsreel photographers set up their cameras and a battery of equipment to record almost every move made by Mr. Ford. The Fords were accompanied by Frank Campsall and John Thompson of the Ford News Bureau. When called upon for a statement, Mr. Ford said, "I believe this experiment of Perry Hayden's is useful, because it emphasizes the natural law of increase and the Divine Law of sharing. The natural increase of real wealth — not money — but usable things, such as wheat, is very high. If we lifted it, many of our problems would be eased. I believe there is a divine method in these matters which we should discover and practice. Wheat, you know, is the divine food and contains everything we need."

Some of the pictures taken that day have been used around the world. Among them were (1) Henry Ford driving the ancient Self-rake Reaper that he used when he was a boy; (2) Henry Ford cutting the replica of the original little plat of wheat; (3) A group picture with Henry Ford, Henry Ford II, Perry Hayden and Gov. Harry F. Kelly; (4) The old cradlers.

Many excellent pictures were taken from a moving platform built by Clarence Hall on one of the Hayden Mill's huge Freuhauf Trailers.

The crowd was the largest that had ever attended any of the events up to this time. It was variously estimated from 2,000 to 2,500. The State Police, County Sheriff's force, Tecumseh Police and Boy Scouts did a fine job in handling the traffic in a pleasant, efficient manner.

The "cradlers contest" was a much photographed event. This was in charge of Louis G. Hall, of Adrian, George Parsons of Tecumseh and C. D. Finkbeiner of Clinton.

The judges, Charles Figy, Roy Decker and Garfield Farley, declared the following as winners in their classes: "Junior" (up to 60), B. F. Allen, 59, of Cement City; "Hustler" (between 60 and 80), John Leedy, 65, of Adrian; and "Pioneer" (from 80 up), David Boyd, 80, from Tecumseh. The honor of "Grand Champion" was awarded to John Leedy.

Another colorful event was the "Gleaners Contest." A set of dishes was offered by E. J. Ronal, of the Ohio China Company, as a prize to the woman who gathered the most heads of wheat from the ground, after the wheat was cut, which was won by Mrs. M. A. Cornell. This added fun to the program, but more important still, it saved thousands of heads of wheat which added to the ultimate success of the famous Religious Experiment.

Ed Clark, manager of the Ford Farms, had every detail in readiness. Bleacher seats were erected and a whole field across the road was cut and cleared for parking cars. It was a magnificent example of "Ford Efficiency."

The Grange women helped make the day a much more pleasant event for the hungry crowd, which ate them out of homemade pies, sandwiches, ice cream and coffee.

"Red" Becker, with his flaming red hair and sunburned face, was seen everywhere heading the labor gang which followed the McCormick binders and stacked the wheat. His chief helpers were Charles Patterson and Harold Rohrbach.

Rev. James Cameron Murdoch, Minister of The Presbyterian Church, stood behind a table all day to hand out literature on Tithing, furnished by the Layman Tithing Foundation of Chicago.

Following the events in the field, Mrs. Hayden served luncheon at her home in honor of Mrs. Henry Ford. The Tecumseh Rotary Club served a luncheon at The St. Peter's Episcopal Parish House in honor of Mr. Ford.

Members of the Ford Party, distinguished guests, newspapermen and out-of-town visitors were invited. There were 12 at the women's luncheon and about 70 at the men's.

CHAPTER 8
Another Intimate Meeting with Ford

A few days after the cutting of the Fourth Crop, Perry was on his "rounds" selling flour, when a message from his office reached him stating that Henry Ford would like to see him at his earliest convenience.

He received the message in Adrian at 11:45 a.m. and at 1:15 he pulled up in front of the Ford Engineering Laboratory in Dearborn. As he entered the building Frank Campsall greeted him cordially and he was then ushered into William Cameron's office. Within a few minutes the door opened quietly and Henry Ford stood there, immaculately dressed in his "usual" grey suit. He seemed unusually chipper and affable. As they were crossing the highly polished floors into Mr. Ford's private studio in the massive Engineering Laboratory, Mr. Ford reminded Perry that he was doing something that would reach around the world before it was over.

"Mr. Ford, it seems that I am being carried by an irresistible force," explained Perry.

"That's right, you are being led," agreed Mr. Ford.

When the group reached Mr. Ford's private studio, he suggested that before discussing Biblical Wheat plans, they go into the dining room for lunch. Mr. Ford, with his usual methodical care, ordered exactly what he thought was necessary for perfect health . . . one slice of bacon, one egg boiled seven minutes and a small glass of soybean milk. Perry ordered the same. In addition, there was a dish of nuts and a bowl of dark cherries on the table.

When asked what he had done to improve his eyesight, Mr. Ford replied, "I roll my eyes around for exercise and it seems to be good for them."

Henry Ford II asked to be excused, saying that he had an appointment with an Army official, after which he was leaving for Boston.

"I'll either fly home on Friday night, or return by train on Saturday morning in time for the Dynamic Kernels threshing program in the afternoon," he assured the group as he left.

A tour of the buildings in Greenfield Village took Perry and Mr. Ford to the second floor of the renovated Edison Power Plant, which Mr. Ford was working on at that time. Perry was impressed with the thickness of the maple flooring.

Mr. Ford remarked, "We have thousands of acres of maple trees in northern Michigan." . . . He later added: "We also have 80,000 acres of pine in the southlands."

Mr. Ford displayed a model of a portable saw-mill that he was having made, which would burn sawdust for fuel and move through the forests on tracks.

Henry Ford was born and raised on a farm. He never lost interest in the soil, nor in labor-saving machinery to ease the lot of the farmer.

The next stop was at a building where Mr. Ford's first car was located. He showed the group the first engine that he ever made. The flywheel was taken from an old washing machine. The total cost was eighty-six cents.

Mr. Ford said with a grin, "When I connected a cord to the light socket for electricity, to my surprise, it ran."

Perry seemed overwhelmed with the fact that his simple Biblical Wheat project had opened the doors of this great man's empire to him.

They drove into another part of the Edison Institute Museum and found a group of men working on a miniature threshing machine which Mr. Ford had built twenty years earlier for his grandchildren, Henry II, Benson, Josephine and William. They were the children of Edsel, whose death in 1943 brought Mr. Ford out of retirement to take over the active management of his huge organization during the hectic days of the war. He had spent many years preparing Edsel for his place of responsibility. Edsel was doing a magnificent job. His sudden death ended a brilliant career and brought the plans and hopes of years crashing about his father's feet. Henry, Sr., then started to train his grandson, Henry II, to carry on the family business.

The miniature thresher was typical of Henry Ford's practical playthings for his grandchildren. It was named for them, by using parts of each of their names, "Hy-Ben-Jo-Bill" — Henry, Benson, Josephine and William. It was an accurate replica of a thresher of that day, but so small that it could thresh only very small bundles of wheat at a time. It was complete with steam engine, separator, water wagon, miniature bags, measures, pitch forks, etc.

Mr. Ford had arranged to have this novel attraction on the grounds for the threshing program on Saturday, July 22.

It had been planned to make this another great colorful event, as was the cutting two weeks earlier, when they used many old haying methods and devices. This time Mr. Ford again offered anything that Perry needed from the Edison Institute Museum, to make the threshing of the fourth crop of Dynamic Kernels a complete historical pageant. He even offered to move a small barn from Greenfield Village to Tecumseh, a distance of 95 miles, but Perry objected. "You are doing too much already."

Fred Smith, Director of the Museum, showed Perry an old steam traction engine and thresher which he said that Mr. Ford had selected several weeks before, as one of the many ancient types of equipment used for threshing wheat.

The traction engine was made by the J. I. Case Threshing Machine Company of Racine, Wisconsin, and was sold to the Meigs Brothers in 1890. In 1896, it was replaced by a Woolf Comoound. Merrill C. Meigs, Vice-President of the Hearst Newspaper Corporation, later presented the ancient engine to Henry Ford. It was rusty, dirty and weatherbeaten, but Mr. Ford cleaned it up like new.

The separator which he was sending with it, was a Westinghouse Vibrating Type Thresher, made in Schenectady, N. Y., about 1890.

Mr. Ford volunteered, "I'll have Merrill Meigs here to operate the machine too."

After they had spent three hours selecting antique equipment for the event, Mr. Ford asked, "Do you have any ideas about the planting of the fifth crop in the fall? I've been talking with Ed Clark about that and we have at least 2,000 acres that you may use. We will put in the wheat for you this fall, and we don't want any special credit for it."

Mr. Ford ended the visit by saying to Perry, "You had faith."

"Yes, that's all I did have."

Perry could have yelled, "Hallelujah!" for this was the first time that he had received tangible assurance that his project would be seen through to a finish.

As Perry was leaving, Mr. Ford asked, "Would you like some pictures of my grandchildren running Hy-Ben-Jo-Bill?"

Perry was thrilled to get them. "Come back here at 5 o'clock, and I'll have them for you!"

When Perry returned, the pictures were waiting.

Between the cutting ceremonies and the threshing, Mrs. Hayden was ordered by her doctors to have an immediate goiter operation. It was impossible to find room in any of the local hospitals at that time, but Mr. Ford quickly made arrangements to admit her to The Henry Ford Hospital in Detroit.

While Mrs. Hayden was recuperating after the operation, Mr. Ford called at the Hayden home regarding some details for the threshing. Perry was away, and his 17-year old daughter, Mary Jane, answered the phone. The idea flashed through her mind to invite the Ford Party to their home for dinner on the day of the threshing. Without the least idea of how it could be managed, and with her mother in the hospital, she "popped the question" and Mr. Ford enthusiastically accepted. When she hung up the receiver she almost fainted when she realized what she had done! . . . There was some excitement in the Hayden household for a while. One of the world's biggest and richest men was coming to dinner — and the cook was in the hospital.

Mrs. Hayden said afterwards, "I never knew anyone could get well so quickly. I just had to get back home to help!" And she did!

THE BOSS

"The boss!" Jim said and laughed to see Jimmy dwarfed by his chair.

And I began to wonder. When our son is ready to occupy that chair, what kind of a man will he be? Will he have integrity and a sense of responsibility for his employees? Or will he cut corners, use the people he works for—who work for him?

So much depends on us. Right now, he learns of love and kindness from our voices, our hands. As he matures, our values, respect for others and concern will help to shape his attitudes.

How glad I am that our Church offers a program of Christian education for Jim and me, as well as for Jimmy. As our son grows, so will we.

The strength you need to meet the responsibilities of your life can be found in your church.

You Told Us

By DOROTHY GRIGG

"On the 12th of this month we celebrate the birthday of a great American who had profound compassion for his fellow man. Lincoln's stand for human dignity, equality, and freedom of the individual has been a source of inspiration to generation after generation of Americans.

"As we think of the humane causes to which Lincoln dedicated his life, we should not overlook the fact that he was also greatly concerned about the evils of crime. '. . . To the support of the Constitution and Laws,' Lincoln stated, 'let every American pledge his life, his property, and his sacred honor; let every man remember that to violate the law is to trample on the blood of his father, and to tear the charter of his own and his children's liberty'."

Taken from a message from J. Edgar Hoover, FBI director, to all law enforcement officials.

Mrs. Myrtle Green, formerly Mrs. Henry Wilson, resident of Tecumseh for nearly 30 years, underwent surgery Jan. 10 and is recuperating at Brae-Burn Nursing Home, 1312 Woodward Ave, Bloomfield Hills. She would enov mail or visits from her friends anytime between 9 a.m. and 8 p.m. Her son, Harold Acker of Highland, gives us news of Mrs. Green who was 78 on her last birthday anniversary.

THE RAINS CAME — Community Park on N. Maumee looked like this last Thursday morning after an all-night shower.

Host Foreign Students

By DOROTHY GRIGG

Three Tecumseh families had the pleasure of entertaining three students from the University of Michigan over the past weekend.

The Jerry Egglestons were hosts to Mariano Jeminis, 16, of Honduras in Central America; the Carson House family entertained Ali Aghenli, 18, of Iran and the Robert Bonners had Ming Chang, 26, of Tai Pei, Taiwan, as their guest.

All three families agreed that their's was a rich, rewarding experience which they hoped to repeat soon.

Mrs. Nancy Hamilton, who has charge of the program for the United Churchwomen of Lenawee County, called the homes to make arrangements for them to meet the bus Thursday evening, bringing their student guests, along, with 15 others from the school to the YMCA in Adrian.

Mrs. Eggleston said that any doubts they had were completely dispelled when they viewed the happy, beaming faces of the students Sunday evening in contrast to the shy, wonderment and sometimes fear they had seen Thursday evening when the families picked up the guests.

The students were reluctant to get on the bus until the driver told them they had to go.

Mariano is the son of a medical doctor and has already graduated from high school. He is here to study animal husbandry and expects to be in this country until April 26. He lives with his father and grandfather in Tegucigalpa, the capital.

He told his hosts that when he thought of the United States before he came here, he could only think of masses of people. "Now I know that they are individuals, the same as we are."

After visiting the George Heimerdinger milking parlor and the Harold Calhoun's Landrace hog finishing barn, Mariano was "so excited." He had never dreamed of such sophisticated set-ups, never seen such equipment, Mrs. Eggleston said, "Mr. Calhoun turned himself inside out to explain the procedures."

They raise beef, pigs, goats and chickens in Honduras but Mariano told his hosts that there the farmer is extremely poor and mostly they live in adobe huts. There are some homes of brick, stone and wood. He was not only surprised at the standard but at the pace of living in America.

He likes horses and was not familiar with tractors as planting and harvesting in his country is done with horse-drawn machinery. He enjoyed a visit to the Cy Krings' and Tim Neills' to see their horses.

Mrs. Eggleston said that Mariano was amendable to anything but he was used to siestas and didn't quite understand the steady continuation of activity here from morning until night.

He seemed to enjoy the Eggleston boys, Mike, 13, Kris, 12, Tim, 11 and Kevin, 9½, and "fitted right into the family," his host mother said.

"I am so happy that we were thought of, we enjoyed having this lovely, lovely boy so very much," she remarked.

We were amazed at the maturity of the 16-year-old, his spiritual values, wisdom and reasoning, in the manner in which he spoke. He seemed to leave all doors open to understanding. I think these young people make much better ambassadors than those that we send," she said. "How many barriers and borders can be crossed with a hand extended and a smile.

"Our family may never get out of this country but we feel that we have experienced a bit of Honduras with this vibrant, charming young guest," she concluded.

"We lost one son in geography and gained another," Mrs. House remarked as she spoke of their student guest, Ali Aghenli, who has been studying for four weeks at the U of M and expects to remain in this country for five years.

His visit was highlighted by a taped interview Mike House made in the Ann Arbor office of former Congressman Wesley Vivian. Mike is writing a term paper on the recent election in District 2.

The young man from Iran said that he had trouble understanding so many "hard words" that Mr. Vivian used.

The House family members experienced "no trouble in understanding his lovely English, however", Mrs. House said.

As they dined at Bauer Manor on Sunday, they had the opportunity to learn first hand just how the English used in this country can be confusing.

A baby shower was being held in an adjoining room and Ali asked, "Are they going in there to wash the baby?"

Mrs. House said that their guest was so polite, so unspoiled even though he has apparently come from a wealthy home. He had never attended a co-educational school and had never dated.

He has a cousin at the U of M, a brother studying in Italy and an uncle teaching at the University of Iran.

Ali was entertained Friday night by Michael's classmates after the basketball game, dancing and with food.

Carson House, III, is the son "lost in geography' Mrs. House mentioned. He and his wife, the former Deborah Earling, are in Spokane, Wash., where he is giving instructions in survival in the army.

Both have enrolled in night school classes.

Ming Chang or Andy, as he asked the Bonners to call him, is 26 years old. He studies English and expects to enter McGill University in Montreal in September, where he will remain for a year before returning to his home.

All of his four brothers are in engineering but he didn't share their interest and has decided to be a teacher.

Born in Shanghai, he is the fifth in his family of six. A brother lives in Akron, O.

Mr. Bonner took Andy for a tour of his plant, the Ace Drill Corp., in Adrian and also Hidden Lake Gardens. They ate out a couple of times and he spent the rest of his time with them studying for a test on Monday.

Mrs. Hamilton would like some help in placing a young Arabian man, 27, in some Lenawee homes during his semester break beginning Feb. 8. He will be free until March 19 and would like to be a house guest in typical homes here while not at the University.

He is an engineer. Anyone wishing to be his host may call Mrs. Evangelia Hamilton 263-1727 to make arrangements.

She was pleased with the reception this group of students received in the area and was sorry that some families were disappointed. Arrangements had been made for 40 students and only 18 arrived.

Indians Prune Maples

It was Joysville in Tecumseh Saturday night when the Tecumseh Indians defeated rival Adrian in a squeaker, 57-55. The joy was in the sweet feel of revenge of an earlier loss to the Maples, 90-63. The Tribe turned the tables on their opponents in a game that saw the Indians lead most of the way through the game.

The first quarter saw the Maples jump off to a small lead, but the Indians capitalized on some hot shooting by Steve Dalton to pull away by two at the buzzer, 13-11. Dalton dropped in eight of the Tribe's points.

In the second quarter Adrian knotted the score at 13-all only to see the Indians go on a hot streak, this time led by Wally Quinn's eight points to build to a 31-23 halftime lead.

In the third period Adrian stormed back at the Indians teepee with 17 points while the Tribe had difficulty with the nets and managed only 11. The lead at the end of three periods was cut to two, 42-40.

The fourth period was a see-saw battle that gave the fans an opportunity to cheer. The game was tied three times and Adrian managed to take a one-point lead midway through the quarter. Tecumseh managed to come back and take a four-point lead and the Indians managed to hang on for their fourth win of the season, 57-55.

Quinn led the scorers with 17, Dalton added 16 and Puffer netted 13. The Indians won the game at the free throw line as they connected on 27 out of 33 charity tosses.

It was a cleanly-played game with the Indians only picking up 12 personal fouls.

The next opponent for the Tribe will be Monroe Catholic Central Friday on the home court. Coach Vic Lawson and company are hoping that the narrow misses of the beginning of the year won't be repeating in the closing games of the season.

HAPPINESS IS A NICE WIN OVER ADRIAN

JVs 'Perfect'

Saturday night the Tecumseh JV's picked up their 11th win of the season against arch rival Adrian by the tune of 75-55. The Indians completely outplayed the Maples throughout the contest as they beat them for the second time this year.

Bob Pettit outplayed a junior from the varsity in scoring 16 points and 13 rebounds. Adrian threw three different players at the big center in an effort to stop control of the boards.

Alex Gibson had 13 points and 11 rebounds. He came on strong in the second half to help lead the offense and defense to the convincing win.

Rich Schuyler had nine points and 10 rebounds in starting his first game of the year. He showed a great deal of poise and proved tough on the boards for the Indians. He hit on three of six from the floor.

Scott Dalton had 11 points and nine assists from his guard spot, he also stole the ball seven times.

Craig Smith had a team and personal high score of 26 points. The Maples repeatedly fouled the little guard in an attempt to stop him. Smith hit several times from the far outside. Dalton and Smith in the back court loosened up the Maple attack and gave Schuyler, Gibson and Pettit movement under the basket.

The 75 points that the Indians scored was the highest for the year for the Little Indians.

The next opportunity for local fans to see the undefeated JV's in action will be Friday night when they take on Monroe Catholic Central.

Long Day's Trip to DST

Of Michigan's 83 counties, only 16 voted for Daylight Time. Sixty-seven of the counties — or more than 80 percent — voted against Daylight Time.

In the 78 counties of Michigan that observe Eastern Time the defeat of Daylight Time was definite and decisive.

Of the 16 counties favoring Daylight Time, 5 border the state of Wisconsin in the Upper Peninsula. These are the Michigan counties which have observed Central Time, not Eastern Standard Time, as does the rest of the state. What they actually voted for, on November 5, was Central Daylight Time, not Eastern Daylight Time.

The misconception that Daylight Time was heavily favored by urban communities and opposed only by rural areas was dispelled by the results of the referendum. Most of Michigan's most populous cities, including Grand Rapids, Flint, Pontiac, Lansing, Saginaw, Kalamazoo, Battle Creek, Muskegon, Monroe, Lincoln Park, Melvindale, Ecorse, River Rouge, Southgate, Taylor, Wyandotte, and Hamtramck, voted against Daylight Time. In the City of Detroit, the vote was almost a standoff. Of the 406,697 ballots cast in Detroit, there were 216,119 for, and 190,578 against Daylight Time . . . a difference of only 25,541.

According to law, continental United States is divided into five time zones. Ninety-six percent of Michigan, including all of Detroit and environs, is geographically located in the Central Time Zone. The dividing line touches Michigan only at the Port Huron area. This means that the sun rises and sets approximately one hour later each day in our time zone, i.e., the Central, than it does in the Eastern Time Zone which includes New York and Boston. In order to counteract this natural occurrence, the time is officially set at one hour earlier in our Central Time Zone than it is in the Eastern Time Zone.

Then came the Uniform Time Act of 1966 when Congress required all clocks to be moved ahead one hour for six months each year, uniformly starting on the last Sunday in April, and ending on the last Sunday in October.

The same Congressional Act provided, however, that any state legislature may act to exempt its state from the law. Congress did not wish to compel those states, such as Michigan, which were already one hour ahead of the sun time, to move two hours ahead to what would be double daylight time. By being forced to observe double daylight time during the past two summers, Michigan had to face 10:00 p.m. sunsets in the summer, and 8:00 a.m. sunrises in the fall . . . a situation which caused considerable hardship to many Michigan residents.

The state legislature did exempt Michigan from the Uniform Time Act in 1967. But the decision was suspended when proponents of fast time were successful in petitioning for a referendum.

Now, it appears there will be no Daylight Saving Time in 1969.

Grosse Ile Over Tecumseh, 73-69

The Tecumseh Indians suffered another of their patented heartbreaking losses of the year Friday night when they were defeated by Grosse Ile, 73-69. The Indians have gone down to defeat three times by margins of two points, once by four and once by six. Only twice have the losses been decisive. A change in fortunes and the Tribe could well be 8-2 on the season instead of 3-7.

In the opening quarter Grosse Ile ripped off seven straight points before the Indians made it on the score board. They came back to narrow the margin to 17-13 at the end of the period.

In the second quarter both teams tallied 18 points with Grosse Ile maintaining the four-point spread at the end of the first half, 35-31.

The Indians battled back in the third period to knot the score at 48-48 to start the final period. In the fourth quarter Grosse Ile led off the scoring dropping in four points to go ahead, 52-48. A goal by Jim Hunt, a pair of free throws and a field goal by Bill Puffer gave the Indians a 53-52 advantage.

Grosse Ile then came back to take the lead and go ahead, 59-51. The Tribe wouldn't give in and whittled away at the lead until it was 71-67. A pair of free throws by Grosse Ile in the closing seconds put the game on ice. A score by Wally Quinn at the end made the final score Grosse Ile, 73 and Tecumseh, 9.

High point men for the Indians were Bill Puffer and Steve Dalton, both netted 17. John Kennedy with 11 and Jim Hunt with 10, rounded out the players in double figures.

TOWEL — Wiping the sweat off his brow, Vic Lawson paces through a win.

Girl Scouts Sell Cookies

Mrs. Stanley Kruse, cookie chairman from the Tecumseh Neighborhood Girl Scouts, said last week that the leaders and girls ask for and appreciate Tecumseh help with their annual project.

"Approximately 235 Brownies and Scouts will ring doorbells until Feb. 18 with the plea, 'Buy Girl Scout Cookies'," she said.

"We hope you will order a good supply of all five flavors because the sales help the girls with a vital part of their program, camping," the chairman continued.

She stated that proceeds go directly to camp maintenance and expansion of the program, with year-round facilities at Camp O' the Hills on Wamplers Lake.

Last year, over 5,600 girls attended the camp. Dick Egli is a member of the Irish Hills Council's board of directors. Cookies will be delivered during the month of March.

Water Pollution Is Discussed

The Raisin River Water Shed Section of the Michigan Water Pollution Control Association, met Monday, Feb. 3, for the regularly scheduled monthly meeting. Allen Ernst, Supervisor of the Tecumseh Waste Treatment Plant, arranged the program.

Guest speaker was Cyril G. Desmet, Chemical Process Engineer for the Tecumseh Products Company. Mr. Desmet graduated from the University of Notre Dame with a B.S. in Chemical Engineering, and completed his graduate studies in Organic Chemistry at the University of Besancon in France. His industrial experience with chemicals pertinent to industry was gained as an engineer with the Ford Motor Company and as head of the Chemistry Department at the Detroit Testing Laboratory.

Mr. Desmet, in his talk, pointed out chemical usage which is common to industry, and to the community. He also discussed numbers of chemicals which are peculiar to specific applications in industry. Finally, he explored the disposal problems relating to these chemicals in light of the regulations set forth by the State of Michigan.

According to Mr. Desmet, the awareness and keen interest of K. G. Herrick, President, and W. Haselwood, Board Chairman of Tecumseh Products Company as citizens and representatives of local industry, will help immeasurably with the final solution to problems created by these substances.

Other communities in southeastern Michigan may benefit from their example of close cooperation with the City of Tecumseh and the State.

JV's Grab Tenth Win

The Tecumseh JV basketball team rambled on to their 10th win without a loss over the weekend. On Friday the Tribe downed league foe Grosse Ile, 58-44.

A full court press by Tecumseh against Grosse Ile forced their opponents into 42 turnovers on the court. Grosse Ile had three juniors on their roster from the varsity in hopes of turning back the Indians.

Center Bob Pettit was charged with defending 6'8" Paul Smoke who had been averaging nearly 17 points per game prior to Friday night. Smoke was held to one point in the contest. Pettit dropped in 14, picked off eight rebounds and made four assists to give the Indians strength under the basket.

Alex Gibson playing at one of the forwards was high scorer for the game with 15 points and also grabbed eight rebounds. Rich Schuyler played at the other forward and scored four points, but showed spark and defensive prowess in helping to lead the team to victory.

Scott Dalton had nine steals in the back court and as he has done all season long, played the press well enough to steal the ball nine times. He also picked up nine assists to go along with eight points from the floor.

Craig Smith the other guard, had 14 points and worked the press with Dalton accounting for the number of turnovers by Grosse Ile. He also had nine assists.

Trojan Battle Ends Redskin Drought

By GINA GREEN

CLINTON — A frustrated Clinton basketball squad finally ended a long series of close, but winless, contests Friday night when Coach Doug Decker's red squad started sluggishly, but overcame a half-time deficit to defeat Madison, 74-67.

Three times in recent weeks, the Redskins challenged LCAA leaders, only to lose in the closing minutes of a game. First the clinch was put on Adrian CC, who had to scramble for a 53-50 victory.

Then the Redskins put a scare in the league-leading Manchester Dutchmen but lost to the Dutch press in the second half, 60-51.

Jan. 24, Hudson's Tigers needed a last-minute shot by Jim Sweigert to outlast a torrid Clinton second half and a 20-point, 20 rebounds effort by Redskin center Tim Merritt. Hudson escaped with a 61-60 win.

In Friday's match, the Trojans leaned to a quick first quarter lead as Clinton's big rebounders, 6'4" center Merritt and 6'3" forward Mark Wegner, ran into foul trouble.

Senior guard Jerry Porter came off the bench to spark the Redskin comeback, scoring 14 points in the middle two quarters.

With Ron Hintz and Lon Schneider hitting from outside and a strong rebounding and defensive effort from Dave Slusher, the Redskins dominated the second half.

Clinton grabbed 44 rebounds with Merritt, Hintz, Slusher and Schneider sharing the load. A balanced offensive attack saw Hintz, Schneider and Porter notch double figures at 14 points each with Merritt adding 10. Don Beach dumped in 18 for Madison.

The Clinton junior varsity also got back on the winning track after three losses by thumping the junior Trojans, 70-37. Bari Campbell poured in 18 points for Clinton and Pete Schneider contributed 14 as the junior Redskins scored 35 points in each half. Both the second and third Redskin squads turned in fine performances when Coach Paul Gilliland gave his starters a breather. The JV's upped their win-loss record to 5-4.

This week the Redskins will host Addison Friday evening and travel to Morenci Saturday, both league bouts.

Mr. and Mrs. Dale Tuckey and little Jennifer spent the weekend until Wednesday with Grandpa and Grandma, Maurice Tuckey, before leaving for their home in Highland Park, Ill. The baby was christened the previous weekend in Algonac.

COACH LAWSON — Coach Vic Lawson of Tecumseh's Indians spurs his charges in their win over Adrian.

MRS. LOUIS CARL CATERINA, JR.

Debra Gallant Becomes Bride of Louis Caterina, Jr.

Debra Ann Gallant became the bride of Louis Carl Caterina, Jr., at 12:30 Feb. 1 at Our Lady of Fatima Church in Michigan Center.

Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. John A. Gallant, III, of Clark's Lake and Mr. and Mrs. Louis C. Caterina, Sr., 8800 N. Union St.

The Rev. Fr. Sylvester L. Fedewa performed the ceremony before 75 guests.

The bride entered the sanctuary on the arm of her father. She wore an A-line gown of white faille, softly gathered at the waistline with re-embroidered Alencon lace enhancing the wedding ring neckline and long fitted sleeves. Her watteau train was chapel length.

Her English illusion veil was secured to a matching lace petal headpiece and she carried a modified colonial bouquet of carnations and Snowdrift chrysanthemums.

Jacqueline L. King of Clark Lake was the maid of honor and Mrs. James S. Smith of Concord was the bridesmaid.

Joseph C. Ohlman of Tipton served as proxy for the groom's brother, Joseph C. Caterina, who is serving with the marines in Vietnam.

The guests were seated by Richard J. Wickert of Detroit, cousin of the groom, John A. Gallant, IV, of Clark Lake, brother of the bride, and Kim B. Rendall of Jackson, cousin of the bride.

A reception was held in the Clark Lake Community Church.

The bride was graduated from Michigan Center High School and attended Jackson Business College. She is employed by the Commonwealth Association of Jackson.

The groom attended Tecumseh High School and is employed at the Saline plant of the Ford Motor Co.

The rehearsal dinner was held at the home of the groom's parents.

The newly-married couple will live on Wampler's Heights Dr., Brooklyn.

Barbara Wood and John Miroballi Wed

Barbara J. Wood and John Miroballi were united in marriage Friday evening at St. Elizabeth Church by the Rev. Fr. Robert Handley.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert L. Wood of Adrian, formerly of Tecumseh. The groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Angelo Miroballi of Blue Island, Ill.

White chrysanthemums, palm leaves and lighted white candelabra flanked the altar.

William Whiting was the soloist, accompanied by Mrs. Donald Johnson at the organ.

Escorted to the altar by her father, the bride wore a gown of Chantilly hand-clipped lace designed by Eva of New York. The basque bodice was fashioned with scalloped Sabrina neckline appliqued in sequins and seed pearls. Long tapered sleeves and the full skirt featured four deep ruffles worn over a hoop and ending in a cathedral train.

She fashioned her own fingertip veil of silk illusion, secured to a crown of matching petals and seed pearls.

The bride carried white and yellow roses arranged on her aunt's lace-covered, white Bible. Her pearl earrings were the gift of the groom.

Beverly Wood was her sister's maid of honor in a floor length empire gown of olive green with velvet bodice and crepe skirt. Her watteau train of chiffon was secured with satin bows and her brief face veil of matching olive green was held in place by seed pearl petals. She carried three long-stemmed yellow roses.

Nancy McKee and Mary Mennella of Blue Island, friends of the bride, were bridesmaids attired as the maid of honor. Libby Yager, cousin of the bride, was the flower girl in a floor length gown of olive green velvet styled by the bride's mother. Miss Yager carried a basket of yellow Sweetheart roses.

Master Willam J. Summer, cousin of the bride, helped serve mass as the altar boy.

Tony Mennella of Blue Island was the best man and 200 guests were seated by Robert Wood, brother of the bride, and Angelo Miroballi, nephew of the groom.

Change is Needed in County

Those of us who will live another decade or more are likely to witness the growth of public opinion strengthened by new experience which will make nations more concerned with living to the fulfillment of the high intent of man than with agencies of warfare and destruction.

The torches of understanding can be lit easily, they can glow and encircle. The first light to that torch must be lit in our own backyard, that place where it will do the most good. With the young clamoring for a part in the universal scheme of things, the cross-section of the public becoming aware, both can shed great light on our futures. However, in the end it can also be extinguished by the apathy that all too often follows a moment of exhilaration.

What changes, if any, there will be in the picture of Lenawee County government? A group of county individuals has begun to study possible changes. The first tenure of the newly-elected newly-installed Board of Supervisors has brought a clamoring for change from many areas.

The group interested in the government are going to study the possibility of fighting for further and more concrete changes in local government. With a progression of the times, it is felt on many quarters, that the present Board of Supervisors are too sectionally represented.

Arguments have risen up from various segments of the government. Monies to run the various subdivisions of the government have become sticky when confronted by members of area establishments.

It is axiomatic that the differences in government's role in the individual existence has changed. These differences must be understood and held out as an example of what the revision must be.

If the future power play by the new study group is toward a county government drifting to an urban control then the change will be of no more difference than present government. Re-establishment of power within the structure must be accomplished and a full idea of what the county oresents to the people must take into consideration as well as all of the aspects of life.

Lenawee County is presently strained between two areas of thought. Like so many areas in the country it is not simply an area dominated by rural, farm areas, but a county balanced with a large manufacturing community as well.

When a manufacturing community is involved, necessary steps must be made to style the government with an understanding of what is involved in industry while at the same time realizing that the farm community also has an equal share in the economy and over-all picture of local government.

The truth of the matter is that we have too many people in elective and appointive office in the county that are ill-fitted for their jobs. Their qualifications are nil and yet they are allowed to sit in state and direct our socio-political lives.

Any advice to people who would like to reverse local government, and it would be a reversal in form, should ponder carefully what is necessary. The political misfits in office should be weeded out with new blood, new leadership aimed with positive and educated approaches.

With the rising rate of taxation practically making it impossible to own a home securely for the average person something has to be done. But it cannot be done with replacing one misfit for another and this is what I'm afraid will happen.

It is hard to discern just where it is exactly that people gather the information necessary to make a judgment on governmental change.

A good start would be the grass roots. The young people in our high schools and colleges are ripe for knowledge of government workings. They hear their elders speak of government in the abstract, something which is far-off, that has no direct influence upon their lives. The local courthouses and city halls of America are the breeding grounds for ideas in Lansing and Washington, is an irrevocable fact.

The power structure of American politics has not changed since the beginning of time. All politicians must have a power base from which to get elected and to espouse their dogmas.

The courthouse is an excellent beginning. In the Lenawee County courthouse no new faces appear within the average of every 10 years. True, they may be doing a competent job, but much more is needed.

Changes must come through participation of all segments of society. It is a great challenge and a stimulating one. If we fail to live up to, to place our mark on it, people can say of us as Tacitus spelled of Rome, "It cannot be said that we have lived, but, rather crawled, the youing toward the decrepitude of old age, the old to dishonorable graves."

Fire, which was started by straw being ignited by a salamander, did about $75 worth of damage to the new high school building on N. Maumee St.

Dr. R. F. Helzerman was re-elected chief of staff of the Tecumseh Hospital, at a recent hospital staff meeting.

1959

Jaycees presented the 1958 Tecumseh Distinguished Service Award to John Hamilton and named Oliver Mueller of rural Britton, Young Farmer of the Year.

A five-year grant of $360,000 from the National Institutes of Health assured the continuance of the University of Michigan Community health study of Tecumseh. The study involves 8,500 persons in the Tecumseh area.

E. O. Jewell, general manager of the Port of Toledo, told Jaycees the opening of the St. Lawrence Seaway in the summer of 1959 will affect all the area within 200 miles of the port. "You'll grow bigger in spite of yourself." Toledo is closer to Holland by boat than New York City, Mr. Jewell noted.

Tories Race On

BRITTON — River Raisin League teams are still looking for a way to stop Britton, as the Tories raced to their 10th and 11th straight wins last weekend.

The Tories, guided by Coach Jim Landfair, dumped Boysville, 81-61, Friday night at Macon, and then took a 71-56 victory over Summerfield Saturday night at home.

The county's only undefeated team is 10-0 in league play, still three games ahead of second-place Sand Creek and Ida, and ranked eighth in the state in Class D by the Associated Press ratings.

Junior guard, Jim Brown, took the scoring honors Friday night, connecting on 11 field goals and 2 free throws for a 24-point total. The Fighting Knights just couldn't stop his spectacular 20- and 25-foot jump shots. Close behind was forward Jim Skelton with 22. Juniors Jim Lister and Rick Maska added 13 and 11.

Fouling was heavy on both sides, as Britton had three starters with four personals and three with three, but Brittons accuracy was too much for the Knights. Elbert Neal was high for Boysville with 15.

BRITTON 81

J. Brown 11-2-24; Maska 5-1-11; Skelton 3-6-22; Fairbanks 2-2-6; R. Brown 1-0-2; Lister 3-7-13; Tuberville 0-3-3.

BOYSVILLE 61

Neal, 4-7-15; Jones 4-4-12; Rockwell 1-4-6; Carter 2-0-4; Sacks 4-2-10; Malenfant 1-0-2; Clough 5-2-12.

Balanced scoring brought the Tories their 11th straight victory Saturday night as they took the measure of the Summerfield Bulldogs, 71-56, at the annual Moms Night event.

Mothers of the varsity and junior varsity players and cheerleaders were presented with red carnation corsages and introduced at half-time ceremonies.

Every starter on both teams scored in the first quarter as the two teams traded baskets. Summerfield edging Britton, 15-14, in the period. In the second quarter, the Tories tied it up at 17-all on Jim Listers free throw, then two charity shots by Dave Fairbanks put the Tories ahead, 19-17, and they led from then on.

Britton outscored Summerfield 25 to 12 in the third quarter, to lead, 53-35, after 24 minutes of play. The Bulldogs stayed with the home five in the final quarter, but ran into foul trouble and ended up losing three starters on personals.

6'6" Fairbankse paced both teams with 20 points and 26 rebounds. Senior Jim Skelton added 18, plus 13 rebounds; Rick Maska, 11; Jim Brown, 10; and Lister 7 for the Tories, following their usual scoring pattern of four in double figures and the fifth close behind.

Summerfield had balance, too, with three in double figures, but didn't have enough fire-power to match the Tories. Shaner was high for the Bulldogs with 12.

Britton faces another double bill this weekend as they host league foe Erie-Mason Friday night and non-league Grass Lake Saturday night. These will be the last home games of the season for the Tories, as their following games against Ida, Whiteford, Ypsilanti - Roosevelt and Deerfield are all away.

BRITTON 71

Fairbanks 7-6-20; Skelton 7-4-18; J. Brown 3-4-16; Lister 2-1-7; Maska 1-1-11; Tuberville 0-1-1; Moore 1-2-4.

SUMMERFIELD 56

Degner 3-3-9; Missler 4-2-10; Shaner 3-6-12; Tibbits 3-0-6; Bolster 4-2-10; Aldrich 0-2-2; Cunningham 1-2-4; La Rocca 0-3-3.

8th Grade Win, 7th Grade Lose

BRITTON — The 8th grade junior high team beat the Sand Creek eighth graders last week, 56-52. All 12 players saw action in the game. The Little Tories had raced to a 26-7 lead midway in the second quarter, and again to 55-38 at one time in the second half. Coach Bob Bolton cleared the bench to give everyone an opportunity to play.

Brad Hamilton led the scoring with 21, while Dave Newman added 16 and Ken Wielfaert 9. Wilfaert also was the leading rebounder. The team record is now 5-2.

The seventh graders didn't fare so well. Although they had a strong second half, they lost to the seventh grade Aggies, 35-31.

Five missed free throws in the one-and-one situation in the final quarter spelled doom for the Little Tories.

Tim Gibbs with 10 and Sam Skelton with 7, led Britton's scoring. Kurt Spohr and Mark Maschino were the leading rebounders.

The team record is 2-5.

Tory JV's Post Win

BRITTON — The Britton junior varsity basketball team won their first game of the season Friday night, downing Boysville, 50-30. Sam Bates and Rick Furgason tied for scoring honors with 14 each, while Gary Check added 9.

Dan Warren was high scorer in that contest with 12 pointers, followed by Rick Furgason with 9 and Gary Check with 6.

Tips about apples!

Now...right now, is the time to buy apples.
Right now at A&P, apples are at their best.
Here are some apple buying and handling tips:

SELECT APPLES THAT ARE FIRM, particularly the larger sizes. Big apples tend to mature more rapidly, and when soft, usually have a mealy texture.

REFRIGERATE YOUR APPLES. Warm temperatures cause apples to lose their crispness and tangy flavor.

QUICK PEELING TIP: If you are going to cook apples, dip them quickly in and out of boiling water. The skin will come off much more readily.

TO PREVENT DISCOLORATION OF PEELED APPLES, place slices in a pan of cold water. Add a pinch of salt for each whole apple peeled.

LEAKING PIES: Sprinkle salt on spilled juice from pies in a hot oven. The juice will burn crisply, making it easier to remove.

DISCOLORATION OF ALUMINUM UTENSILS can be removed by boiling a number of apple peelings in the utensil.

THE BEST TIP OF ALL: Don't miss the wonderful selection, the great apple values A&P has right now.

Raise Funds for Choir Robe Fund

CLINTON — Ten members of the Mary-Martha Class of the United Church of Christ raised $21.55 at a swap shop auction during their meeting Monday night at the home of Mrs. Arthur Hill. Proceeds are to be used for the choir robe fund.

The group voted to consider serving a public dinner, also for the robe fund, with a decision to be made by the March meeting.

Mrs. Hill, chairman of the Women's Fellowship material aid committee, explained the needs of Evangelical Deaconess Hospital, Detroit, for such children's articles as: baby bottles, rubber pants, crib pads, wash cloths, towels, small clean toys, coloring books, crayons and puzzles. Members were asked to bring any of these things to the March meeting to complete the quota gift.

Mrs. Donald Corwin, president, reported on the Christmas party which the group prepared for a cottage at Girls' Training School.

Mrs. Corwin also announced that the church nursery will be open, under the sponsorship of the Fellowship, beginning Sunday, with Janna Lee Welch to take charge each Sunday during the morning worship service. A new ceiling has been installed in the nursery, a carpet and several toys donated.

Mrs. Ben Mahrle conducted the lesson study on the Gospel of Matthew from the Cambridge Bible Commentary.

Mrs. Howard Hintz and Mrs. William Kaiser, assisting the hostess, served squares of strawberry dessert, topped with red Jello hearts, and coffee.

The March meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. Robert Vogel and another swap shop is planned.

NEW PASTOR AND FAMILY — The Rev. Richard A. Budden was installed Sunday evening as pastor of the Holloway and Palmyra Presbyterian Churches. He and his wife, Donna, have two children, Jon Richard, 5, and Karen Elizabeth, 3, (dolly's name, unknown.) The Rev. Budden is a native of Saginaw. He was graduated in 1960 from Asbury College in Wilmore, Ky., and from Wesley Theological Seminary, Washington, D. C., in 1963. The Buddens came from Battle Creek Base Line United Methodist Church. Sports, music and poetry are his hobbies and he sang with the Wesley Singers in the Seminary. She likes reading and sewing and the whole family likes cycling. John Saling, Tecumseh Presbyterian Church Elder and member of the Ministerial Relations Committee of the Southern Michigan Presbytery, preached the installation sermon entitled, "New Things For a New Year."

Health Board Fired

By BILL SANFORD

"To be or not to be, that is the question. Whether 'tis better to bear the slings and arrows of outrageous fortune . . . ." and thus spoke Hamlet. He might have been speaking of the dilemma the Board of Supervisors find themselves in concerning the county health board.

At the January session of the Board of Supervisors a resolution passed without discussion calling for the resignation of the members of the present Health Board, Harold Easton, Tecumseh; R. A. Piotter, Adrian Mayor; Mills Swick, of Macon and Donald Woods, Manitou Beach. The members of the board are all former city or township officials who once sat on the now defunct township Board of Supervisors.

The office of the health board was established by Michigan statute in 1968. The Board of Supervisors at that time established the board at five members. The five members were to be selected from the board of supervisors.

Since that time, reapportionment and retirement has eliminated all but one member of the health board from the board of supervisors. Lowell Hammontree of Morenci. Hammontree resigned from the Board of Supervisors two years ago and was just recently elected as a county supervisor, which in essence means that he was off the board for two years and still served on the health board.

Since the letters, authorized by the board, have been sent to health board members asking for their resignations, the dilemma has come to the front. Two of the members have indicated that they would not resign from their positions and that the supervisors would have to "kick them out". No contact was made prior to the letters to the board members.

A strong point in their argument is, do they have the powers legally to ask members of a statutory body to step down without cause. In essence those members of the supervisors who submitted the resignation requests were also the supervisors who would make up the new health board, unless otherwise advised by the board as a whole. Members of that committee are, Lewis Glaser, Adrian; Hammontree, Carl Kackstetter, Adrian; Fay Whelan, Tecumseh; Wayne Fish, Hudson.

Harold Easton, Tecumseh has indicated that he refuses to resign his position. Donald Woods went to the board in session to voice his disapproval of the method used in clearing the health board of members who no longer belonged to the Board of Supervisors. Mayor Piotter has submitted his resignation to the Board.

A rule change passed in the organizational meeting of the County Board of Supervisors, calls for immediate resignation of any supervisor who leaves the board for any reason and also sits in appointment as supervisor on a county agency board. The present supervisors cannot pass a rule which would be retroactive to a board no longer in existence.

Fay Whelan of Tecumseh introduced the resolution to the board. The move was the "compromise" of a previous argument amongst board members as to whether or not a health committee of the Board of Supervisors was necessary. A duplication of effort and the committee having no arbitrary power over the health board was considerable argument for the elimination of the committee.

However, the majority of the board felt that the financial outlay to the health department warranted a committee to oversee the expenditures. Considering that members of the health board were not members of the Board of Supervisors and could not in essence answer back to the board for actions that might have been taken.

It can be safely said that the question might perhaps greet the "ill winds of March," as another matched confusion of Lenawee's entrance the Age of the Wheel.

Kiwanis Ponders Aid To Institute

Thursday evening, Jan. 30, seven members of the Tecumseh-Britton Kiwanis Club traveled to visit Maple City Kiwanis Club in Adrian. Carl Lamb presented the program at the Kiwanis meeting, giving many interesting facts about drugs and medicines.

Following this inter-club activity, a business meeting was held at George Burkhard's office in Tecumseh. President Russell Scott presided with 11 members of the newly-organized board present. The board discussed at some length the pending crisis in the county if the Lenawee Institute was forced to close. Suggestions were offered as to how we, as a service club, might stimulate interest and encourage community knowledge and support of the Lenawee Institute. Details to be worked out.

Kiwanis has again decided to hold a used merchandise sale in May, and the used merchandise is already coming in. George Burkhard will again be chairman.

The installation service for the new board will be held Thursday eve., Feb. 13, at Harry's Cafe.

City In the Future?

CLINTON — We continue the discussion by the Michigan Municipal League on the cost and effect of changing from a village to a city form of government, with sections pertaining to conducting elections and providing a local court system.

3. CONDUCTING COUNTY STATE AND NATIONAL ELECTIONS: REGISTRATION

Effect of city maintaining registration records. Under village organization in Michigan, the village maintains a registration record and conducts elections for village purposes only. The township maintains a separate registration record of village voters for township, county, state and national elections. As a result, the voter must be registered in both township and the village in order to vote in all elections. In a city, however, the registration records for all election purposes are combined. The person need only register once with the city clerk, and he may keep his registration active for all purposes by voting in any election at least once every four years (or two years if so provided by the City Council).

The effect of changing from a village to a city in this particular instance, therefore, is to save a great deal of confusion for the voter. The duplicate registration system is confusing because it requires that an elector vote in both a village-conducted election and a township-conducted election in every four years in order to automatically keep both registrations active. Many voters do not realize that there are two separate sets of election officers and two separate sets of registration books, and believe this one registration is sufficient for all elections. This often results in the voter being ineligible to vote either in elections conducted by the township or in village elections.

Cost of city maintaining registration records. The responsibility for keeping registrations for county, state, and national elections would in no way increase the cost of municipal government under the city form, because the one municipal registration record would simply serve for all elections. Present township registration records for this purpose merely duplicate the registration records already kept by the village government. This is still another example of a total saving of money for the taxpayer thru the unification of duplicating functions under one government.

4. CONDUCTING COUNTY, STATE, AND NATIONAL ELECTIONS: VOTING FACILITIES

Effect of city providing voting facilities. The citizen of a city would vote in the same place for all elections, and this one voting place would be within the city limits. As a village resident, however, you may have to go to one place for voting in village elections and another place for voting in national, state, and county elections, and the latter may be outside the village limits. Also, the possibility of conflicting simultaneous township and village caucuses is eliminated.

Cost of city providing voting facilities. The cost of conducting county, state, and national elections would be an additional expense item for the new city as compared to the present village. However, here again the cost would be small. If paper ballots are used, they are supplied by the County Clerk. If voting machines are used, there is no cost of ballots. The only additional cost to the new city would be the publication of the election notices and salaries of election officials on election day.

It is true that the matters of registering for voting with two different clerks and voting in two different places are not major problems and in themselves would not constitute reason for changing from a village to the city form of government. However, such matters are confusing and annoying to the citizens and they are typical examples of the unnecessary confusion of being governed simultaneously by two local governmental units instead of one.

5. PROVIDING A LOCAL COURT SYSTEM

Effect of city providing a local court system. A new city would have to provide a local court to replace the township justice of the peace. This is frequently an important factor influencing city incorporation due to dissatisfaction with the service rendered by the township justice of the peace. In many instances his services are remote when he does not reside or conduct his office in the village, and in a number of villages it has been reported that it is difficult to secure enforcement of village ordinances thru the township justice.

The form of the local court must be determined by the Charter Commission. The charter may provide for a fee-paid city justice of the peace under a court system substantially similar to that of the township. City incorporation, however, provides the opportunity for the creation of an improved court system by including in the charter provisions for a salary-paid city justice. This is thought to be advantageous for the following reasons:

(a) The payment of a definite salary to a justice is thought to remove much of the incentive to abuse of the powers of the office sometimes existing under the fee system.

(b) The court becomes a definite part of the city government, and the city has a certain degree of control over the administration of the court. The city pays the justice, provides the court room, determines the hours, and in general brings the court into the framework of the city administration.

(c) A qualification may be introduced requiring that the justice be an attorney. It is generally conceded that this is a desirable qualification if a sufficient number of attorneys are available in the community to run for the office. Provision may also be made for an alternate or associate justice to serve during the absence of the elected justice or at times when the work of the court may be particularly heavy.

(d) Civil jurisdiction of a salary-paid justice court may be increased over that of a fee-paid justice, thus providing greater convenience for local citizens.

Cost of city court system. The township justice of the peace courts are operated without cost to the taxpayers; the justice is paid for his court work on a fee basis, and the village receives the fines for violations of village ordinances. In a city government, a fee-paid justice of the peace would operate in exactly the same way. If a salary-paid justice court is established with all fees going to the city, the justices may be paid a salary no greater than the average returns from these fees. In either case, therefore, there would be no increase in cost to the taxpayers over the existing judicial system.

As a matter of fact, the court may produce a net revenue for the city over and above the salary of the judge and other expenses. However, costs should not be an overriding factor since advantages to be gained from an improved local court system should more than compensate for any additional expense that may be involved.

Visitor Calls Car and All

CLINTON — Luckily for Harold Mouser, he wasn't at home at 5 a.m., Sunday morning when he had an unexpected visitor at his apartment, owned by Robert Allen on W. Michigan Ave., one mile west of Clinton.

Harold G. Adkins, 23, of Matthews Hwy., Tecumseh, was attempting to pass a vehicle driven by S. Dannie Dykes, 22, of Ypsilanti, when his automobile was forced off the highway by Dykes. Adkins plowed through some guard rails, scraped the Harold Mouser car parked nearby, and plummeted through the large plate glass window of the Mouser apartment, ending up completely inside the building. Flying debris also broke a window in the Kitchen Nook adjacent.

Adkins was admitted to Herrick Memorial Hospital with chest and back injuries. He was later charged with speeding.

Clinton State Police were in pursuit of the Adkins and Dykes automobiles, since they were seen speeding through Clinton. They continued after Dykes, following him down N. Adrian Hwy., and saw him lose control on a sharp curve near M-52, whereupon Dykes' car struck a mailbox and stump. Dykes was uninjured.

Dykes was ticketed for reckless driving and lodged in Lenawee County Jail.

Missionary Will Be Guest Speaker Here

CLINTON — Rosa M. Reineker, an Assemblies of God missionary to Germany, will be guest speaker Thursday, Feb. 13, at 7 p.m., at the Clinton Assembly of God Church, 13893 Allen Rd., Clinton. the Rev. Ralph Tennyson, pastor, has announced. The Missionary Convention will include other missionary speakers Friday and Sunday, to be announced later.

Miss Reineker first went to Germany in 1962 where she assumed responsibility of the Sunday School Department while Missionaries Paul and Gladys Williscroft were in the United States on furlough. She developed a weekly Sunday School paper for primary-age children. This was printed in the German language for a three-year cycle.

Miss Reineker also taught in the Assemblies of God Bible school and in 1967 prepared a Bible correspondence course in German. Her work in Germany included camps for children and adults, Sunday school conventions, teachers' training courses, and various weekend ministries.

Before her missionary service in Germany, Miss Reineker was appointed as a missionary to Celon where she served for over 24 years. She pastored a congregation in Galle, and later transferred to Jaffna where she supervised the building of a church and oversaw the work. Her missionary duties involved her in children's revivals, teachers' training classes, Bible school teaching, and translation of Sunday school literature into the Tamil language.

Miss Reineker graduated from Central Bible College in Springfield, Mo. Until her appointment as an Assemblies of God missionary, she ministered in the Kentucky mountains.

During this special missionary, Miss Reineker will present the challenge and needs of the mission work in Germany. The public is invited to attend.

Through My Window

THREE FACES OF WINTER

This may well go down in history books as the winter of the great fogs. At least it seems to me that we have had fog, fog and then some more fog. Thank goodness the gray stuff does not depress me the way it does some people. A three- or four-day stretch of gloomy, sunless days will sink my spirits much, much faster and much, much lower than a siege of being fogged in. Oh, of course, if I could order ideal weather, it would be sunshine and blue skies all the time but it just does not seem to work that way.

My window worlds are interesting on a foggy day. They take on a sense of unreality and as everything is softened, the trees become shadows and the neighboring houses simply fade away. The view up the creek disappears into a gray nothing. Even the traffic sounds from the boulevard are muted. It, for all the world, is as if Mother Nature had tucked her out-of-doors into a soft, snuggly blanket of gray.

The bird and squirrel action is unusually interesting. Not that they do anything differently, we merely view them from a new perspective. And oh, the color change. Papa Cardinal, when he crunches sunflower seeds at the near-my-window feeder, is his usual bright self. However, when he flies to the other covered feeder, he loses many shades of color and, if he ventures as far away as the creek bank, he is recognizable only because of his top-knot, his fat tummy and his tail. The diffused light of fog makes color disappear.

On the flip side of the coin are the days, and we have not seen too many of them, that start out bright and clear. These prime winter mornings come after a bitterly cold night, a night with temperatures so low that it freezes the frost on every tree and bush. This makes for fairyland mornings. And if the thermometers stay low enough, the beauty lasts well past mid-mornings.

ONLY WHEN every twig and branch is etched with white, does one fully appreciate what an intricate structure a tree top is. As I write this, Tecumseh is in the midst of one of these breath-takingly beautiful mornings.

The sun did not rise in an especially glorious sunrise but instead came up as a big red ball of fire. The first light, of course, shown on the tree tops and, as the sun climbed higher in the sky, its rays worked lower and finally the whole world responded to the magic. Even the yards were covered with glittery multi-colored jewels.

My enthusiasm for the day has only been bolstered by the appearance of all sorts of birds and at least four squirrels. Four squirrels and only three eating places always makes interesting looking. When the chases carry them into the trees and out on some of the smaller limbs, the white frost that is dislodged comes down in a sparkling shower. But most fun are the birds — chickadees, tufted titmice, cardinals and bluejays fly thru the heavily-starched, lacy scene. Lovely, lovely, lovely.

AND WE MUST not forget the ice storm days. Often the freezing rain is a nighttime affair and we awake to an ice crystal world. The last storm, however, started just after daybreak and all day long we watched the ice build up on trees, shrubs, yards, driveways, sidewalks, roads and bird feeders.

The first three were beautiful, the next three meant treacherous walking and hazardous driving and the slippery bird feeders afforded both good and bad. It was interesting to watch the usually surefooted squirrels slow down and become a bit careful and, as for the few birds who ventured our way, they just had all sorts of problems. Such undignified landings.

The mourning doves's troubles were compounded by the ice that each and every one of them had frozen on their backs and tails. Actually the only one who was having no difficulties with the weather was the muskrat. The creek was only partially frozen and this little character played along at the edge of the ice shelf, popping up and diving in, just as though it were the nicest day of the year. We shivered but he absolutely ignored the cold and wet.

So it is that there are many others but just lately we have had interesting encounters with the above three faces of winter.

9 Candidates Are Possible For Council

A race for four seats on Council appears certain, although several petitions have yet to be filed.

All four incumbents — William Holmes, George McCombs, Ray Puffer and Gene Tuckey — have taken out petitions, and Holmes has filed.

Paul Burns, school teacher and former Councilman, has filed a petition and will be seeking a seat.

Three newcomers also have joined the race:

Mrs. Donald Purkey, whose husband served on Council several years ago.

Dr. Carlos Knisley, Tecumseh veterinarian and a member of the Planning Commission.

Wallace Whiting, an inspector at Tecumseh Products and a candidate for County Supervisor.

One other petition is out, but it's not known whether it will be filed.

Residential Evaluations On Way Up-Taxes Too

Between 70% and 80% of the residents in Tecumseh will learn next month of increases in the evaluation of their homes. Increases will average 10% per house but some will go as high as 20%.

Property owners in nearby townships are also apt to have their evaluations increased.

Robert Hamden, city assessor, says the only area not being affected is Wenonah Park, or the small section on S. Pearl St., in the vicinity of Muscody and Mohawk.

Increases are due, according to the assessor, on the prices folks are receiving on sales of houses.

John Brattin, county equalization director, reportedly recommended an average increase of 30%, about three times the increase being enacted. Folks will receive a notice from the city about the increases, prior to the Board of Review meeting in March.

Residents currently pay about 40% of local taxes, with a residential assessment evaluation of $12,559,000. This figure will be hiked to about $14 million when all assessing is completed.

With the increase in residential evaluations and the normal growth of the community during 1968, Tecumseh's total evaluation should jump from $28,435,500 to over $30 million.

In the Lenawee County Equalization Committee's annual report, Tecumseh received a favorable review:

Here the rising market is a most prime consideration, and the assessor should keep a close eye on sales, not to make changes in individual assessments, but to determine patterns which would indicate that assessments in an entire subdivision should be corrected. Commercial values in downtown Tecumseh appear to be holding the line better than anywhere else in Lenawee County.

Reports from the committee for local townships varied. They were:

◄ Cambridge Township — This unit will pick up value in 1969 due to new construction, but the basic appraisal methods were good in 1968 and the new supervisor has inherited a well-balanced roll. No structural change in assessing method seems indicated.

◄ Clinton Township — Assessments in this unit vary by classes. Agricultural and residential assessments have been too low in the past, with proper assessments on industrial and personal property, and commercial assessments have been too high. With nearly half of this roll in personal, the supervisor must bring his real estate into line.

◄ Franklin Township — A professional reappraisal has taken place in this unit, establishing better equity than has been known in the past, and if the township supervisor and Board of Review do not tamper with the equity established in this reappraisal, their roll will be correct in 1969.

◄ Macon Township — The application of a large factor last year, the warnings given to the supervisor, and appraisals made by the State Tax Commision and the equalization director have given this supervisor sufficient guidelines. Certain "problem properties" in this unit will also be observed.

◄ Raisin Township — With constant, rapid growth of the Adrian - Tecumseh corridor, most of the new subdivision activity in Lenawee County, and the promise of further industrial expansion for the future, Raisin Township is one of the most difficult units to assess properly. In 1968 a factor was applied to this township on the basis of conservative assessments on agricultural and residential property. It is the feeling of the Committee that much more work should be done in these categories if Raisin Township is to escape a factor in 1969.

◄ Ridgeway Township — Some corrections in the method of appraising agricultural land, particularly that which is not quite the best quality, have been suggested to the supervisor. In addition, it has appeared that good quality residences are not being assessed properly.

◄ Tecumseh Township — The roll appears to be in good shape, with a second look indicated on some high-priced residences. The supervisor is well aware of the market conditions in his unit.

200 Attend Hearing on Water Problems

By BILL SANFORD

A murky 150-page report on the River Raisin Basin was presented to a group of over 200 persons who attended a conference of the Water Resources Commission at the Community Center Monday afternoon. Future water resources for communities in the basin and ways of controlling pollution of the surface water of the River Raisin was discussed and explained.

The study had been in the hands of the interested parties for less than a week in some cases and made it impossible for a complete discussion by the city or county officials involved.

Commission chairman, John Vogt, asked city manager Cal Zorn and Adrian City Manager Clifford Miles to make statements concerning the study. Both denied the opportunity, based on the fact that they were not versed enough at that time and would file written reports to the commission.

A state representative from Monroe spoke briefly reprimanding the upstream communities for not doing their share in keeping the River Raisin free from pollution. He said that "Monroe was getting the dirty end of the stick" from the state and everybody because of water pollution at Monroe coming downstream from other communities.

The study that had been submitted for consideration and as an offering of a solution to future water needs of all cities, villages and townships in the basin, explained in great detail the federal and state programs available for improving water conditions.

Recreational facilities on the River Raisin were also included in the study.

The conference was led off by three spokesmen from the state agencies involved: J. Mark Hargitt of the Water Resources Commission, Gordon Oliver and Thomas Wasbotten of the Michigan Department of Public Health. All three read verbatim from the study handed out to those attending.

No concrete evidence was displayed by the commission members or of several spokesmen of the state who attended. Many of the people felt that only vague generalities were touched upon and the methods of community participations was not discussed fully. No questions of depth were put to the commissions or any of those in attendance. Questions put to state officials in attendance were answered in paraphase from the study.

It was evident in an instance or two that personalities were a major part of the present dilemma which confronts the communities which lie in the River Raisin Basin.

Hargitt attempted to prompt Miles into a commitment on his view of the study, Miles refused and later commission chairman Vogt also tried to pry a statement from both Zorn and Miles. Outside of this parley, the conference was held with decorum offering little excitement or promise of an immediate solution.

Other members of the commission in attendance were Gerald Eddy, Stanley Quackenbush and Norman Billings, assistant executive secretary of the commission.

So, quietly flows the River Raisin, garbage and all, while the City of Tecumseh and other communities in Southeastern Michigan probe for answers to the question of future use of surface water.

Ruttofsky, 19, of 408 Adrian St., reportedly had frosted windows. The young girl was not hurt and did not report the accident until several hours later.

You Told Us

By DOROTHY GRIGG

Our Valentine to you this year is a comparison written by K. Morgan Edwards and printed in "A Treasure Chest" filled with soul-satisfying bits of poetry and prose, given to us a couple of years ago by a dear friend.

Jesus and Lincoln

There is a striking similarity between the Man of Galilee and the man from Illinois.

Both had obscure beginnings.

Each came to his own and they received him not.

Neither allowed difficulty to turn him from his central purpose.

Both prepared for responsibility through self-sacrifice and self-denial.

Both loved little children. Both befriended the weak.

The common people heard each of them gladly.

Neither condescended, yet both loved all men as children of God.

Both hated the things which enslaved men.

Each had a passion for justice and truth.

Each took the pains of humanity as his own so that he was a "man of sorrow . . . acquainted with grief."

Neither made room for bitterness.

Each of them knew the loneliness of following the course of the heart rather than the dictates of men.

Both marched resolutely toward death for humanity.

Each of them died to set men free.

Program On Patriotism

RIDGEWAY — The Grace United Methodist Women's Society of Christian Service met at the home of Mrs. Howard Haas, Jr., with 16 present.

The program entitled "Foundations for Patriotism" was led by Mrs. Raymond Bird. It consisted of a panel-type discussion pondering on the truth that unless aid is given in a true Christian spirit, world conflict between the rich countries and the poor countries could plunge the world into chaos. Those taking part included Mrs. Paul Frazier, Mrs. Andrew Crutchfield, Mrs. Clifford Southard and Mrs. John Lover. Mrs. Fred Schober gave a meditation on the deeper meaning of peace.

It was decided to cancel the beef supper which had to be postponed due to weather. The meat and other food purchased for it will be used as the women serve the Father-Son Banquet which is March 22. The Mother-Daughter Banquet was set for May 3. Mrs. Charles Bishop asked that sewing items such as needles, thread, etc., be brought to church by Feb. 16 for an African mission.

Stewardship Crusade Begins

"Reach Forth Your Hand" is the theme for the stewardship crusade being undertaken Feb. 14 to 25 at the Tecumseh United Methodist Church.

Members of the local church, just completing a three-year commitment which made possible the design and construction of the present facilities on Bishop Reed Dr., hopes to be able to wipe out the debt against its property during the next three years.

As a part of this crusade the annual budget pledges will be sought for the present year. This latter drive has been delayed from fall due to economic problems in the community.

The Rev. Dr. D. George Davies, a stewardship crusade director from the Department of Finance and Field Service of the Board of Missions of the United Methodist Church, will offer the challenge and guidance to the congregation to meet the goal of $105,000.

Born in northwestern Iowa, Dr. Davies grew up in Methodist parsonages. He did his undergraduate work at the Morningside College, Sioux City, Ia.

After earning his bachelor of divinity degree at Garrett Theological Seminary in Evanston, Ill., he attended Drew Theological Seminary and received his Master of Arts degree from New York University, New York City.

Dr. Davies is a member of the New York Annual Conference and has served numerous churches in New York before joining the Department of Finance and Field Services. He is married to the former Nema Wesner of Sioux City, Ia., and they are the parents of a son and daughter.

This Sunday Dr. Davies, who is trained and experienced in the specialized ministry of stewardship, will speak to the congregation at the morning worship service on "A New Church For a New World."

In preparation for the concentrated drive about to begin a special executive committee from the local church has been completing numerous tasks which will enable the Crusade to proceed smoothly. Under the guidance of the Rev. Donald Porteous, pastor, the chairman, Aden Mead and Merlyn Downing, have been assisted by Robert Bonney and Carl Hale, advanced gifts; Mrs. W. N. Winfield and Mrs. Harry Farley, visitation; Harry Stanifer, spiritual life; Mrs. Merlyn Downing, Mrs. Robert Younglove, and Mrs. Charles O'Brien, production; Mrs. Morris Cornell and Mrs. Robert Meads, food and fellowship; and Mrs. William M. Steele, Jr., publicity.

Special training sessions, dinners, and the 12-hour prayer vigil, planned for this Saturday, are scheduled.

Further details of the ensuing Crusade will be announced next week.

Two stained glass windows were dedicated in St. Peter's Episcopal Church on January 26 by the Rev. Francis Outram, exchange priest from Battle, Sussex, England.

The windows were given in memory of J. Paul Ammer, one time senior warden of St. Peter's and long time communicant, by his wife, Mrs. J. Paul Ammer and Mr. and Mrs. Orville W. Farver.

The windows were designed by Willet Studios of Philadelphia, Pa., and depicts St. Peter and St. Paul in the theme of a prayer book canticle, the Te Deum Laudamus.

Ridgeway Scouts Go To Church

Grace United Methodist Church in Ridgeway observed Scout Sunday Feb. 9 as part of the morning worship service. Two community scout units were in attendance: Cub Pack No. 23, sponsored by Grace United Methodist Church, and Boy Scout Troop No. 23, sponsored by the Britton Post of the American Legion. The service opened with a processional which included the following: Color Guard, Cub Scouts, Boy Scouts, Scouts to receive their God and Country Award with their parents, and the Senior Choir of the church.

Following the Salute to the colors, Kenneth Plank, Institutional Representative for the church introduced the Cub Scout Committee: D. J. Frayer, Cubmaster; William Gorton, Committee chairman; Kenneth Smith, Webelo Leader; and Mrs. Ronald Frayer, assistant Webelo leader. Den mothers: Mrs. Nancy Gibbs, Mrs. Dorothy Lorenz, Mrs. Judy Maschino, Mrs. Barbara Frayer, and Den-coach, Mrs. Joy Hintz. Mr. Plank then expressed his gratitude to the church for taking an interest in the Scouting program.

Then Richard Linn, Institutional Representative from the American Legion introduced the Boy Scout Troop No. 23 committee: Neal Judkins, Scoutmaster; and committeemen: Stewart Niblack, Herman Bates, Marvin Rayburn, Lowell Dunbar, John Check and Elmer Dick.

It then became the privilege of the pastor, John Lover, to award five God and Country Awards to the following Scouts: Eagle Scout, Richard Rayburn, son of Mr. and Mrs. Marvin Rayburn; Eagle Scout Gary Judkins, son of Mr. and Mrs. Neal Judkins; Eagle Scout, Gregory Dunbar, son of Mr. and Mrs. Lowell W. Dunbar; Star Scout, James Rayburn, son of Mr. and Mrs. Marvin Rayburn; and First Class Scout, Richard Frazier, son of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Frazier.

To earn the God and Country Award, scouts must be active in the church and work with the minister for at least a year in areas of study, service and worship. One of the requirements is that they take the course of study and unite with the church in full membership.

These boys then presented their mothers with a pin representing their efforts in helping them earn this award.

Citizen Help Is Needed

"We need your help," as the urgent request placed before Tecumseh Exchangites by Police Chief Murell Clark and Lenawee County Sheriff Richard Germond, at the 22nd annual observance of National Crime Prevention Week, Monday evening.

"Citizen cooperation is the key to the solution of many local law violations," said Mr. Clark.

Both speakers emphasized the existing close cooperation between the various departments in the county and also with the State Police.

Mayor Harold Easton, in a proclamation, has appealed, "to all citizens to become active Partners in Crime Prevention, to pledge total cooperation and support of law enforcement, and to participate enthusiastically in year around community efforts to conquer crime."

GM MARK OF EXCELLENCE

Join Oldsmobile's Great 88 Escape. Step into the big-car world without overstepping your budget.

Once you move into 88's big-car world—for no more than the price of the average car—you've got yourself a lot of basic value.

But we don't stop there. We always put extra values into an Olds 88 that keep it way ahead of its price.

Like new guardrails built in the doors for added security.

And a new anti-theft ignition, steering and transmission lock system to help protect your Olds.

A pushbutton ashtray that does nothing—except eliminate a lot of fumbling around while you're driving.

Ditto for a turn-knob glove compartment door.

They're important little things, because they make big things about an 88 that much more enjoyable.

The smoother, softer ride on its new, longer, 124-inch wheelbase.

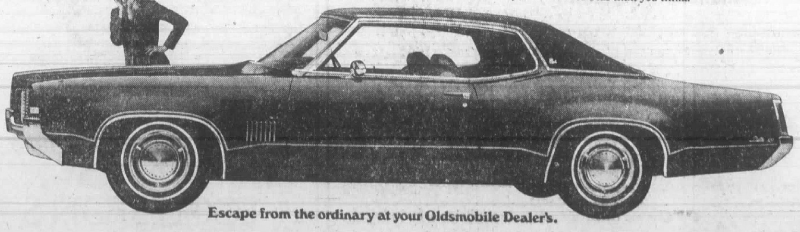
The quiet, strength and comfort of that roomy, big-car body.

The luxurious interiors, with things like Flo-Thru Ventilation that regulates the airflow without drafts or noise.

And the big Rocket V-8 power that moves you so briskly. So smoothly. Oh, so quietly.

Now, is it any wonder we call it Oldsmobile's Great 88 Escape?

Go let an Olds dealer show you: you're closer to Olds than you think.



Escape from the ordinary at your Oldsmobile Dealer's.

Tecumseh Is Area Entry for Award

Tecumseh's annual vehicle safety check campaign was an entry in Michigan's recent State Community Achievement of the Year contest.

Williamston, however, won the major award for its community project.

In a release from Greater Michigan Foundation at Lansing, it cited Tecumseh for checking some 2,900 vehicles during Michigan Week.

Tecumseh represented Region 16, which included Lenawee, Livingston, Monroe and Washtenaw counties. The judges have yet to select four entries of the 11 entered for special certificates of merit for significant accomplishment to community betterment.

The local vehicle safety check program is sponsored locally by the Rotary Club.

Musings

by Bill Sanford

What is love?

All of the dictionaries in the world try to define it. All of the poets and writers and composers have attempted to put into the mind's eye the ethereal being of it, and yet, it remains as illusive, as mysterious, as undefinable as its very nature.

What is love? Love is an emotion. It is the one true emotion that controls and establishes all other emotions. It is the reciprocal agreement between body, mind and soul. It is the coupling of great suns, the floods of many disappointments.

It is endless, timeless, yet so brief, so tragic, so irremovable.

Love is a tender emotion, one that lives and dies by its very motives, yet strangely enough, it thrives on its very bruises.

Love cannot be bought, sold, bequested, willed, forced, commanded, ordered; it can only be given. And yet this same emotion is a demanding one. No, love cannot be acquired but in one way, given.

It is free and yet it is costly to the emotions, to the soul, to the very being of what we are. It can be defined and yet it cannot.

It is strange that to people, love is such an unspoken emotion, passion, compassion, anger, despair, bliss, joy and other feelings stem from its having lived once in that core of our inner beings, we want to protect from all outside emotions.

Love comes in many ways, sizes, shapes and forms. For one it is the love that seems platonic to the other who needs love in a strengthened or bolder form.

Love is not a capacity in itself and yet love establishes its own capacity. It is the growing need for two people to communicate and exist within the framework of sanity. It is the hunger of two people for a void that exists and cannot be filled with the menial existence with which you have shrouded yourself.

Love can lift you to the pinnacle of success or throw you to the depths of depression.

Any given moment in our lives has its beauty, its life, its breath. Say it or not, it is love, that helps that moment come into being. I have seen and known many whose capacity for love had been diminished by outpressures. With that sad death of love they are never whole people again.

To think long and hard about love and what it is would be fruitless and yet from the first time an attraction for someone of the opposite gender, it appears that the study goes on and on.

What is love, perhaps there is no simple way to tell or explain. It doesn't really matter as long as you know it, and can feel it.

A poem from the pen of Oscar Wilde that is a favorite of mine and of someone else in my life is appropos of February 14.

"Love will die
If held too tightly;
Love will fly
If held too lightly.
How do I know
Whether I'm holding
Or letting love go?"

Happy Valentine's Day, love.

Squaws Scalp Napoleon, 62-3

The girls' junior varsity basketball team scored the most points ever for a JV team in defeating Napoleon, 62-3. The Tecumseh team has shown a great deal of improvement and it was the first game for the young Napoleon squad.

The Indians had two top scorers. Nancy Dustin led her team with 18 points. Gail Kennedy poured in 16 points.

Mary Jo Rosacrans and Lorraine Ruhl continued the scoring with 9 and 8 points respectively. Kathy Schwartz and Dendy Luce were the leaders on defense.

The varsity defeated the senior Napoleon team, 44-15, while turning in their best over-all game of the year.

Debbie Frumpe was high scorer contributing eight goals and two free throws for 18 points. Jackie Rodgers scored six field goals and two charity tosses for 14 points. The scoring was evenly distributed with the Indians getting 11 in each quarter. Lisa Pence and Linda Wheeler were outstanding at the guard spots.

Sandy Miller was high scorer for Napoleon with 6 points.

The girls play Columbia Central at Tecumseh Feb. 17. The local gals will be looking for revenge as the varsity suffered their only loss at the hands of Columbia Jan. 23.

Memoriam

In loving memory of my darling mother, Mary P. Jones, who would have been 63 years old Feb. 17, 1969.
Each passing day brings thoughts of you,
Of memories sweet and dear,
I know you never will return,
Yet in my heart you're near.
Still greatly missed and forever loved by your loving daughter, Lee Horton and family. 2-13c

In loving memory of our son and brother, Ricky Frank Horton, who would have been 20 years old Feb. 13, 1969.
We can't say 'Happy Birthday,' Rick,
The way we used to do,
With cake and candles and presents;
Those joys we buried with you.
And eternity's not measured,
On earth's finite scale of years,
But here, on our heart's calendar,
Today's e'er ringed with tears.
Forever loved and sadly missed by Mother, Dad and Brother. 2-13c

Memoriam

In loving memory of our Dearest Husband, Father and Grandfather, Bert Creger, who left us so suddenly on Sunday, Feb. 14, 1965. We miss you so since you passed on, beyond the range of sight, into the glory of the morning light, out of reach of sorrow and despair, safe in the shelter of our Father's care. Missed and longed for always by wife, Maude L. Creger, and children and all their families. 2-13c

In loving memory of Mrs. Gertrude Stockinger who went to her eternal rest one year ago, Feb. 13, 1968.
Her life a beautiful memory,
Her absence a silent grief,
She sleeps in God's beautiful garden,
In the sunshine of perfect peace.
Sadly missed by her family. 2-13p

New Chlorinator To Cost $576

A new chlorinator, costing $576, was approved for the city swimming pool by Council Monday night.

City Manager Cal Zorn told Councilmen that he hoped to enclose the new unit in a small building and eliminate the need of lowering 100-pound tanks into the present pool section, a pit used in the past for chlorination.

The Way is in Education

By JAMES McDOWELL, Superintendent of Schools

Editor's Note: This is the first of a series of articles on education to be presented by the Board of Education, Administration, Teachers and other employees of the Tecumseh Public Schools on "The Way Is In Education" and "The Direction of the Future."

We take pride in the churches of Tecumseh and their contributions, spiritual, moral and educational.

We take pride in the municipal government of Tecumseh and its employees. The Council has vision and understanding in its consideration of the problems of people living together in the community and has always sought to move forward.

We take pride in the Supervisors and Township Clerks of this district who have so diligently worked to serve the people and assisted the schools in every possible way. We are particularly proud of those who have opposed the so-called Big 4 County Supervisors in their attempt to secure for the county funds which come directly by reductions in the school's share of the 15-mill limitation schedule of taxes.

We take pride in the history of Tecumseh and the ability of its people to handle their own affairs with very little outside help. The history of Tecumseh, 1824-1924, as presented by Miss Clara Waldron, shows the pride of great people. History since that time, 1924, has also indicated that same civic pride.

We take pride in our Service Clubs and their contributions to the growth and welfare of our community. They have been invaluable in assisting the Board of Education by providing scoreboards, bleacher seats, band uniforms and many other gifts which have given our young people the additional material things so necessary for a good program which would have been impossible for them to have had otherwise.

We take pride in all the manufacturing and business enterprises in our district. We are especially proud of the Tecumseh Products Company, the original Tresco, and Mr. Ray Herrick for their donations to the welfare of the city and the schools. Their gifts through the years have enabled this district to move ahead with a lighter load of taxes than would have been possible without their aid.

We take pride in The Tecumseh Herald and its contributions to the growth in our district. Even though the editors have not always agreed with the City Council or the Board of Education, when the chips are down, they come through and stand for progress in our community.

We take pride in the Intermediate School District and Mr. Milton Porter for the vision and assistance given to us in helping all our children to be better prepared for life. The services of diagnosticians, speech correction teachers, adjusted study teachers, counselors, home bound, deaf and orthopedic teachers, and teachers of the uneducable are now available to our children through this office.

We take pride in our schools and the personnel who plan for and operate same. The Board of Education works ceaselessly to provide the best possible facilities and curriculums for the education of the children of the district. It is a pleasure for us to work with such a dedicated and sincere group who can withstand pressures of minority groups and ever move forward towards a more equitable education for all children and adults of this district.

We take pride in the administration who supply the professional leadership of our schools, the classroom teachers, and other personnel who provide the professional teaching, the educational secretaries, the maintenance, custodial cafeteria, and bus personnel who keep our schools running with little friction.

We take pride in the Tecumseh Educational Association which has developed with the Board of Education a Master Contract which has been used by other Michigan Educational Associations as a guide and the salary schedule for 1968-69 which is the best in Lenawee County even though not as high as in some areas within the state. We are also proud of the other associations representing the educational secretaries, bus drivers, maintenance and custodial employees and others who have negotiated with the Board of Education in good faith and with the welfare of the pupils always in mind.

We take pride in the Tecumseh Community Fund and its contributions to the community, particularly the Public Library Building, the Pit development, as well as the many other contributions to a better way of life in Tecumseh.

We take pride in the Tecumseh Players who have brought much fine entertainment to our community and have given the citizens of this community an opportunity to make excellent use of their leisure time.

We take pride in the Herrick Hospital and the Nursing Home and its staff. Few communities have such facilities or such dedicated professional and lay personnel.

We take pride in the Tecumseh Country Club for its contributions to the leisure time activities of our adults and children. Without the generosity of the club the school would not be able to praticipate in interscholastic golf.

We take pride in our banks, the United Savings Bank for all of its commercial and savings activities and for the assistance given the Board of Education in bond sales; and the Adrian Federal Savings and Loan for its savings activities and home loans within our district.

We take pride in the many youth organizations such as the Scouts, 4-H Clubs, etc., which help our youth to make wise use of leisure time and to develop fine attitudes of citizenship in our community.

We take pride in the citizens of the district who have so graciously supported our educational programs, building programs, and personnel in achieving our envious record of young citizenry making good throughout the world. We appreciate the good will with which most of the citizens of the district pay their taxes to support fine schools. We realize that there are a few elderly persons within our area for whom school taxes are a burden and are proud of those who still pay them willingly with the needs of the youth of our community for a better education always in mind.

The next article will be on "The Forward Look in Secondary Education", by Mr. Neville Hart, High School Principal.

Britton Tories Clinch Share of RR Crown

Britton Tories can breathe easier now after at least clinching a tie for the River Raisin League title. Erie-Mason provided opposition for the title clincher. The score was 82-49.

The Tories left the gate fast and built a 20-10 half-time lead. The Eagles came back in the second period to put on a high-flying display by matching the Tory point output, 18-18, but still trailed as they left the floor at the half, 48-38.

The opening minutes of the third period spelled doom for the Eagles as the Tories shot down the Eagles by adding twenty more points to the spread. The Britton title-winners poured 26 points through the nets to only 6 for Erie Mason.

The final stanza saw the teams play a close game, 18-15, Britton on top. The Eagles were no match for Britton and the Tories left the floor, 82-49 winners.

All five starters hit in double figures for the Tories. Dave Fairbanks paved the way with 18, Jim Skelton 17, Don Maska and Jim Brown had 16 and Jim Lister 10.

Dave Vollmar led the Eagles with 17.

The eighth-ranked Tories are now 11-0 in league play, 12-0 overall. Ida and Sand Creek are both three games behind Britton and with three games left to play, the Tories would have to drop all three in order for the Blue Streaks or the Aggies to have a crack at the league crown.

BRITTON

Fairbanks 4 10 18, Brown 7 2 16, Hetrick 1 0 2, Maska 7 2 16, Tuberville 1 4 6, Skelton 7 3 17, Lister 5 0 10.

12 Straight For JV Team

The Tecumseh JV basketball team ran away with their 12th straight victory by downing Monroe Catholic Central, 66-52, last Friday. The win keeps the "heap big" Little Tribe atop the heap in the JV standings for the Huron League.

Craig Smith, with 21 points, again led the way for the Indians. It was the second straight game in which the little sophomore whose score had passed the 20-point mark. He also had seven assists and seven rebounds.

Bob Pettit at center dumped in 14 points and had 15 rebounds and played another good all-around game on both offense and defense. He was high man for both teams in rebounding.

Forward Alex Gibson helped out on the boards pulling down 11 rebounds to give Tecumseh undisputed control of ball. Gibson also chipped in with 14 counters.

Scott Dalton managed to score only four points but the quick quard held Lenny Bank who had been averaging 18 points per game to seven. He stole the ball seven times and assisted on seven goals.

The whole team shifted smoothly from offense to defense and kept the Catholic Central team off balance during the game.

"Burdens of Man" Is Lenten Sermon

"The Burdens of Man," is the sermon series, announced by Pastor Kenneth W. Strack, for the Lenten Services at Grace Lutheran Church.

Pastor Strack said, "In our age of complexities and anxieties these messages will have a two-fold goal: to do some serious thinking about some of the burdens we must carry seen in the lives of eight men described in the Book of Genesis; about how Christ carried these burdens perfectly; about what difference that makes for us. The second goal is to apply to our everyday lives the insights learned."

This Lenten series is planned to stimulate thought as a prerequisite to constructive action. Following each service there will be a fellowship period served by the Pioneer groups of the congregation. The time of the services will be 7:30 p.m. Wednesdays.

Through My Window

A BUSY TEN MINUTES

Gertie T. and I were both stuck. Neither of us dared move for fear of disturbing the late breakfaster. It happened so suddenly that we were caught completely off guard. Of the two of us, I was in the better position. My arm was comfortably resting on the reading table and, while I did not dare bring it down, to hold it there was no hardship. Gertie T., however, was standing right next to the window and she hardly dared breath.

Most of our regular free loaders are quite accustomed to movement and will tolerate a sometimes surprising amount of activity. The little guy on the feeder, though, was skittish and would have taken off at the first inkling of movement on our part so we were just very, very still.

Who was this shy bird? None other than a cute little goldfinch. Unfortunately the breakfast table was almost bare. That is why Gertie T. was by the window, she was all set to crank the window open, give me a big whiff of fresh cold air and put out a new supply of scratch feed and sunflower seeds. Her hand was reaching for the window latch when the goldfinch swooped down and perched on the top branch of the yew which grows beneath the window.

WHAT A SPOT to be in — we knew that to open the window would frighten him away and yet, what a shame to have one of these all-too-infrequent visitors find short rations. In unison we vowed to set the table earlier from now on. That would not help matters today, though.

Fortunately when, after giving us a good look at his back and wings, the goldfinch flew to the feeder, he found more edible scratch feed than we realized was there. He had a good breakfast.

A winter-garbed male goldfinch is a far cry from the bright yellow and black bird of the summer. The wild canary of warm weather becomes, at this time of year, a bird with almost a greenish cast to his tannish-gray head and back. His wings, however, still bear the jet black and snowy white markings.

Incidentally, these wings plus his smaller head are good identification marks when these birds cast their lot with and start bumming around in the company of a flock of sparrows.

Suddenly the little newcomer's breakfast was cut short.

The telephone rang, I automatically hit the switch with my wrist and as I said, "Hi", he took off. But happily he did not go far; in fact, for the next five minutes or so, he played between the feeders, the yews and the trees. He seemed to be having a good time, we hope he returns and brings all sorts of relatives and friends.

WHILE THE goldfinch was flitting around, a pair of upside-down nuthatches hurried to the near-my-window feeder and somehow found a few sunflower seeds. We also saw a hairy woodpecker inching along the suet feeder limb of the walnut tree. My, but his black and white markings were pretty and the light was just right to show off his bright red cap.

Suddenly everybody left, it were as if on signal. A busy yard one second and absolutely no one here the next.

Gertie T. used the lull to finally put the scratch and seeds on the tray. It casually glanced out the south-facing window. Good gracious — running along the sidewalk on the east side of Democratic Street (and I still think it should be Sycamore Street) but anyway, scampering along was the black squirrel. There was absolutely no doubt about it, even at that distance his black fur coat against the white snow was just unmistakable.

He was traveling at top speed but, when opposite the small maple tree, he zipped up the trunk and sat for a very few minutes on one of the higher branches. I mean a very few minutes, too, because just as I was going to call Mrs. Mast and alert her as to who was in her tree, he tore down, shifted into high gear immediately and continued his journey southward.

So it is that, although by the clock not much time had been used, it had certainly been used well and Gertie T. and I had a very, very busy ten minutes.

County Road Funds Not Sufficient

CLINTON — William Birchfield, Lenawee County Road Commissioner, discussed the problems faced by the commission in its efforts to keep the roads of Lenawee County passable, at the regular meeting of the Clinton Township Board, Feb. 3.

Mr. Birchfield stated that the county has approximately 1,500 miles of roads in all classifications which are maintained by a total working force of 101 employees.

The 1968 expenditures of the commission was approximately $1,900,000, about one-third of this used for payroll and $450,000 went into new equipment.

Mr. Birchfield stated that even though every effort is being made to economize and cut corners, the funding is still not sufficient to keep Lenawee's road system from gradually deteriorating.

Various program wre suggested by Mr. Birchfield for improvement of township roads and culverts. Clinton Township soil, according to the Commissioner, makes a better base for roads than most areas of the county.

The Board began preliminary work on formation of the new fiscal year budget. Supervisor Earldean Roe presided at the meeting.

Mrs. Francis Packard twisted her ankle twice the same day, Feb. 5, as she carried mail on her route. The first time at the Robert Bird residence, 404 Outer Dr., and again at the Don Linden's, 703 Wenonah St. She is recuperating at home from a dislocation and torn ligaments.

$14,678 Reached In Seal Drive

Christmas Seal campaign contributions in Lenawee County have reached $14,678.00, reports the Michigan Tuberculosis and Respiratory Disease Association.

This is an increase over last year's total of $14,005, reported at the same time.

Winthrop N. Davey, M. D., president and member of the board of trustees for the MTRDA, said late contributions are needed to enable the association to continue its efforts against emphysema, tuberculosis, asthma and other respiratory disease. He said state-wide contributions to date total $1,523,566, which is an increase of $67,810 over the same period at this time last year, but below anticipated needs.

Bob LaPrad Does Yeoman's Job

Yeoman 3/C Robert E. LaPrad of Tecumseh, is presented the Navy Commendation Medal by Vice Admiral Elmo R. Zumwalt, Jr., Commander U. S. Naval Forces, Vietnam. The presentation took place on board APL-21, a barracks ship anchored off Phu Quoc Island in the Gulf of Thailand.

Petty Officer LaPrad received the medal for meritorious achievement while attached to Coastal Division 11. The Division normally patrols the southwestern coast of South Vietnam in 50-foot "Swift" boats. When the U. S. Navy began "Sea Lords" operations Oct. 7, 196, they began taking their heavily armed patrol boats into the narrow, twisting rivers and canals in the western and southernmost tip of the Republic to block the infiltration of enemy troops and supplies into South Vietnam.

Petty Officer LaPrad's wife, Jacqueline, is residing in Milan during her husband's tour of duty in the Republic. He arrived in Vietnam in August, 1968.

A proposed $100,000 revolving fund for Tecumseh narrowly missed being approved by property owners at a vote, Feb. 16. Although showing a slight majority 258-217, it was not the required three-fifths. Had it been approved, a $91,000 sewer and water project would have been started for 142 homes in Tecumseh Acres.

A broken water main washed out soil beneath a 60-foot stretch along Herrick Park Dr., Feb. 1, and caused its collapse. Before it could be closed to traffic, a city truck, loaded with crushed stone, sunk its rear wheels nearly four feet beneath the surface.

Mrs. Florence Weer, owner and operator of the Vogue Shop and her daughter, Mrs. Virginia Kinesbury, are quitting business after nearly 20 years in Tecumseh's downtown district.

He is presently home for a 20-day leave and will go to Mare Island near San Francisco, Calif., for 24 weeks training at nuclear power school. It was different," was the young seaman's remark when asked about life aboard the Camden. He had 16 weeks' advanced training at Great Lakes Naval Base following boot training there. Since then he has been aboard the USS Camden.

Adrian's record for the year is eight wins and one loss.

Although losing the meet, most all local swimmers posted their best times.

A City In The Future?

CLINTON — Village residents who may be asked to vote on a change to city government, may wish to consider the various Township services which they would be required to assume as outlined by the Michigan Municipal League:

Assuming Township Local Services

In addition to assuming the legally required duties imposed by the State, the new city would also have the responsibility for any local municipal service now being performed by the township which it may be desirable to continue. As pointed out above, the township government provides few, if any, local services to the village residents. Some townships, particularly in heavily populated areas, do provide certain services, most commonly, fire protection, libraries and cemeteries. Since such services are now usually financed through sales tax revenues rather than property tax, there may be some additional expense to the new city government if such services are to be continued.

Due to widely varying local situations it is not safe to generalize and a careful analysis must be made in each instance to determine the cost and effect of the city assuming such services. In any such analysis, the amount of township property tax is an important factor, for the larger such tax the greater the potential savings to the taxpayer by incorporation as a city.

One other matter deserves mention as a possible disadvantage in regard to cemetery service. The law provides that a township cemetery located within the boundaries of the new city becomes the property of the city. Experience has shown that revenues rarely pay for the cost of operation of a cemetery. In such case, the city taxpayers will be called upon to make up the difference.

Upon incorporation as a city, joint contractural relations with the township will not be severed. This will not entail any additional expense, and, again depending upon whether or not a township property tax is being levied, there may be a saving to the taxpayer in the city.

General Effects

Simplifications of government would be the result of changing from a village to a city. As village residents, citizens are part of two local governments. As a result, they must elect not only a Village Council, but the township officers making up the township board. Thus, they have two governing bodies — one for village purposes and one for township purposes, and the township government is only partly responsible to the citizens of a particular village because generally it serves a much larger area.

Village residents have the inconvenience of dealing with the village clerk on some matters and the township clerk on others; they pay village taxes to the village treasurer and township, county and school district taxes to the township treasurer; they have a Village Council taxing for certain governmental services and a Township Board taxing for others; and they must hold a township primary election or caucus in addition to the village election or caucus.

It may not be a major problem to be under two local governments, but it is an unnecessary inconvenience, expense, and waste of time. The net effect of the situation is the lack of interest in and control of the "second" or township government. As a city, all local affairs will be managed by a government consisting only of citizens of the municipality and responsible only to them.

The word "city" is often thought of as meaning a complex governmental unit providing more services at a greater expense to the taxpayer than in the case of a village. This is not the case. The City Council may wish to maintain the same level of local services as was formerly provided by the village. In this case, the only increase in cost to the citizens would be the slight additional cost of carrying out the duties required by the State. As pointed out above, this is not a major item.

City incorporation would mean a saving in township taxes (this does not refer to county and school district taxes collected by the township). With the incorporation of a city, township taxes, if any are levied, will be discontinued within the municipal boundaries.

Again, in fairness, it should be noted that many townships do not levy a tax, and of those that do, few have a high rate. Although this tax may be small, city incorporation means that any township taxes are saved not for one year but indefinitely. Incorporation removes for city residents the possibility of resumption of a township tax if none is now levied.

City incorporation will also mean a sharing in the township's assets and liabilities. When a new city is incorporated, the assets and liabilities are divided with the city in the proportion that the assessed valuation in the area incorporation as a city bears to the total township assessed valuation before the city incorporation.

The assets mentioned refer to personal property such as cash on hand or invested, furniture and fixtures, equipment, and so forth. In addition, any real property owned by the township and located in the area incorporated as a city would be held jointly by the city and township and subject to division.

School districts in Michigan are distinct from local governmental units. There would be no change in the size, composition, or organization of the school districts in the community as a result of incorporation as a city. The new city would, however, replace the township as the agency for the collection of school district taxes. School taxes would, therefore, be collected by the city treasurer instead of by the township treasurer.

Social welfare (relief) is generally administered and financed on a county-wide basis. Costs are, therefore, paid by the county-at-large, with the assistance of State funds. When a village becomes a city, there is in these counties no change in the cost of social welfare to the city taxpayers. A few counties (Berrien, Cass, Eaton, Livingston, Ottawa, Saginaw and St. Joseph) operate on the "charge-back" system whereby all or part of welfare costs are paid by the city or township of residence. Upon incorporation as a city, in these counties, the city would have to bear this expense formerly borne by the township.

Stump Stumps Young Driver

CLINTON — Three young men were treated for cuts and bruises at Herrick Memorial Hospital after their automobile tangled with a stump at 1:30 a.m. Sunday. The injured were Dillard R. Jackson, 18, 5335 Clinton-Macon Rd., Clinton, and his passengers, Rocky L. Cole, 14, of Sharon Hollow Rd., and Roger D. Walden, 18, 5217 Clinton-Macon Rd.

Jackson, the driver, told Clinton State Police he was driving north on Murphy Hwy., when the tie-rod broke and the car went out of control and struck a stump. He was given a summons for no registration or proof of insurance.

Sweet Dreams Are Overturned

CLINTON — State Police issued a summons to William K. Rothfuss, 22, of 1750 Wamplers Heights, Brooklyn, when he rolled his car over on US-12, at 4:30 a.m., Sunday morning. Rothfuss sought his own treatment for minor injuries.

He told officers he was tired, but didn't remember falling asleep, when he ran off the road on the right, then lost control as he attempted to get back on the highway, the car skidded across the highway and overturned.

Plans Approved For Water Way

CLINTON—Engineering plans for the water way, from River Raisin Development mobile home park, were approved by the Village Council at the Feb. 5 meeting. Plans call for the construction of a tube south of the River Raisin bridge, east across to the raceway, to provide sufficient water for the sewer plant and as a coolant at the electric light plant.

The contract for the new fire barn at the corner of Jackson and Michigan Ave., was recently granted to Clintonian Construction Co. at an approximate cost of $42,000. Work is to begin about March 1 on the brick veneer building to be located on the site of the present fire barn. The adjacent service station building, recently purchased by the village, is to be torn down and that portion of the site will be landscaped.

It was reported that the remodeling is almost complete on the former post office area. A new drop ceiling has been installed there.

There was some discussion of the Chamber of Commerce proposal to change the village into a city government, but since the Chamber was not represented, the matter was tabled.

Sp/4 Ben Beach Calls Home From Australia

CLINTON — Sp/4 Ben Beach telephoned his mother, Mrs. Nora Beach, from Sidney, Australia, Thursday, where he was spending a seven-day rest and recreation leave.

Ben has been serving as an army mechanic and tank driver in CuChi, Vietnam, since last April. He expects to come home in March for a 45-day leave before reassignment in the States.

He is a graduate of Clinton High School.

Pop Goes the Judge's Mailbox

CLINTON — State Police were investigating a blown-up mailbox at the Robert Dayss residence at 10925 Hogan Rd., Saturday, and they also observed a similarly damaged mailbox at the residence of Circuit Court Judge (Wayne County) John B. Swainson, at 10301 Hogan Rd., rural Manchester.

Parts from a M-80 firecracker were found in the Dayss box, and Judge Swainson reported he had heard some noise in the night. Swainson is a former Michigan Governor.

However, the ground was frozen and officers were unable to get any tracks at the scene.

Police Nab Two In Auto Theft

CLINTON — State Police officers on patrol at 11:30 p.m., Thursday, near the Underwood Bonanza used car lot on US-12, west of Clinton, noticed a 1968 sports car leaving the lot without license plates.

As officers turned around to give chase to the eastbound vehicle, they noticed the license number of another automobile parked beside the highway nearby.

Officers were led on a high speed chase through Clinton, and two miles east of the village, the stolen automobile crashed into guard rails on a curve, where they were able to apprehend the driver, Marion John Shiflet, 31, of Detroit.

While at the scene of the crash, officers noticed a passing car was the one they had previously observed while it was parked near the Bonanza lot, only by then the license plates had been switched.

Officers apprehended Richard W. Richardson, 28, of Livonia, in the car, owned by Shiflet.

Richardson and Shiflet were charged with unlawfully driving away an automobile.

Arraigned before Lenawee District Court Judge Yale L. Kerby, the two men demanded examination. Bond was set at $1,500 for Richardson and $1,000 for Shiflet. They were to appear for examination Feb. 13, and were lodged in Lenawee County Jail.

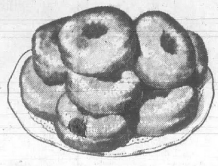
we care



This week we'll make and sell about 9 million donuts!

Wonder why?

Well, maybe it's because we make more types of Donuts than probably any other wholesale baker.
We make Golden Donuts, Sugar, Cinnamon, Jelly, Frosted, Homestyle, Glazed and more.
Or maybe it's because our Jane Parker Donuts are known to be light and luscious.

Whatever the reason, it's a fact.
We will make and sell about 9 million donuts this week and average nearly the same every week of the year.
Such popularity must be deserved.

This week, shop A&P. Visit the Jane Parker Department. Pick any donut variety and discover for yourself why they're so popular.

Airlift Begins For U. S. Bases

The military services began airlifting on Jan. 20 from all overseas APOs and FPOs "newspapers and magazines which feature current news of interest to the Armed Forces and the general public, that are published weekly or more frequently," according to new instructions regarding handling of second-class mail issued by the Armed Forces.

This means that second-class mail that formerly moved to most overseas areas by surface transportation, is now flown abroad at no additional cost to the subscriber or the publisher.

As a result of the airlift service, second-class mail that used to require more than a month to reach subscribers in far places by surface mail is now expected to be delivered to the servicemen in about seven days.

This is great news to The Herald office and should be also to parents of servicemen. A $2.50 subscription will send The Herald anywhere in the world to a serviceman for a year, and his address can be changed whenever he gets reassigned.

Heart Attack Strikes, Takes Dunc Lectka

Duncan Lectka, 47, popular and highly successful football coach here from 1958 through 1961, died suddenly from a heart attack Wednesday afternoon of last week in an athletic club in Buffalo, N. Y.

Funeral services were held Friday evening at Detroit, and interment was Saturday in Maple Hill Cemetery, Cadillac.

Just before his death, he was playing paddle ball at the athletic club when stricken. He died almost immediately.

For the past four years he was ticket director for the Buffalo Bills of the American Football League. Prior to that, he was assistant ticket director to William Beardsley at Michigan State University.

Some of the fondest memories of high school football for local fans accurred here during the Lectka days. Dunc took over in 1958 after the Indians had floundered in previous years.

In 1958, his team posted a 6-1-2 mark, and then followed that up with a 9-0 season with probably the strongest team in the history of the local high school. The 1960 eleven finished with a splendid 7-1-1 record.

His last year—and also Dunc's final year as a coach—an inexperienced squad managed just a 4-5 year. However, his overall record for four years was an outstanding 26-7-3.

Dunc's ability as a coach here was evident when other area coaches sought his advice, spending hours at the Lectka home on Ternes Rd., going over and over game movies.

In the Nov. 16, 1961, issue former editor Tom Riordan pretty well expressed the sentiments of the community when he wrote:

"This week's issue is one of those that runs the gauntlet from joy to sorrow. There is delight in the story of a father and son being re-united after 21 years. More happiness comes with the story of a veteran grade school teacher at Ridgeway being honored. Excitement is a part of the piece about the new Community Center being dedicated.

"But, these happy thoughts are tempered somewhat in the news that Duncan Lectka has resigned his position here as football coach."

He grew up in Cadillac — one of his best friends there was Vic Lawson, Tecumseh basketball coach — and graduated from that Michigan high school in 1939.

After attending Western Michigan University 1939 to 1941, he served in the Naval Air Corps as a pilot from 1942 to 1945. After World War II, Dunc entered Michigan State and received his degree in 1948. His first coaching assignment was at Sparta, serving as top mentor from 1948 through 1951.

In 1950, while at Sparta, he earned a masters degree at MSU.

Dunc then spent one year on the East Lansing coaching staff before moving to North Muskegon as head coach in 1953. After a top record there, he moved to Tecumseh to take over the realm here.

The School Board announced his appointment here in March, 1958. Less than four years later, he resigned after the '61 season and left the Tecumseh system for the assistant ticket director position at MSU in January, 1962.

Immediate survivors include his wife, Phyllis; two daughters and one granddaughter.

Donations in the memory of Duncan Lectka are being accepted at the Lenawee County YMCA in Adrian. His sudden death last week and the fact that local media failed to report it, prevented many of his friends from knowing about his death until after the funeral.

Pet Watchers Receive $200

Council approved an expenditure of $200 to the Pet Watchers Monday evening after Ruby Caesar appealed to city officials for some financial assistance.

She told Councilmen that the Pet Watchers had raised some monies through their efforts during the past year but needed additional aid.

Mrs. Caesar briefly reviewed the work performed by the Pet Watchers and some of their accomplishments, particularly in field of helping to see that stray or lost dogs are properly taken care of.

She also pointed out that the costs for dog licenses and rabies inoculation were too expensive for many folks.

Larry Henning Returns Home From Hospital

BRITTON — Larry Henning was given a 10-day leave to return home Sunday with his mother, Mrs. Thelma Henning, and sister, Sue, from Tippler Hospital in Hawaii.

His hands are healing remarkably well, doctors told him but there is still shrapnel in his arms. They did operate on his knee, his sister said.

The Henning family is happier now that Larry is recovering. The situation was bleak only two weeks ago. Larry was wounded while serving aboard the aircraft carrier Enterprise.

United Savings Bank, Adrian Federal and Tecumseh Post Office will be closed Saturday for George Washington's birthday.

Revised Zoning Is Questioned by Councilman

A discussion of Tecumseh's revised zoning ordinance came before Council Monday evening when Councilman William Holmes questioned the feasibility of the city's status pertaining to rebuilding of commercial buildings after a disaster, such as a fire.

Officials were not sure whether the current statute would allow a businessman to rebuild without being affected by the off-street parking requirement.

This off-street parking requirement states a businessman must provide so many parking stalls, depending on the business and size of the building. If a businessman is unable to provide the stalls, he is charged $1,000 per stall, payable to the city.

Whether this statute affects rebuilding after a disaster is expected to be clarified, perhaps at the Planning Commission meeting on March 11. Also apt to be discussed at that time is the off-street parking requirement of additional stalls for a business, which would tear down an old building and erect a new one in its place.

Councilman Holmes, like many others, feels the off-street parking stall requirement is prohibitive for new businesses in Tecumseh. Only recent new business construction in downtown Tecumseh was last year's Gambles 11,000-sq.-ft. addition.

When this addition was proposed, city officials reportedly first wanted the business to provide 30 or 40 stalls — or pay the city some $30,000 to $40,000 for failure to provide the parking space.

This requirement of Gambles was then narrowed down to nine, and eventually to seven. The local store then sold its warehouse building — occupied by Lenawee Glass — to the city in lieu of the requested parking stalls.

A small office addition to the F. C. Hanna Agency this year required this business to pay the city $1,000 for a parking stall it was unable to provide.

Purpose of the charge is to finance future off-street parking. Some contend that the charge is excesive or not warranted, a belief shared by Councilman Holmes.

A few years ago, a restaurant attempted to buy and locate on the southwest corner of E. Chicago Blvd. and Ottawa St., only to discover that it would be charged an additional $14,000 or so for being unable to provide additional off-street parking. The restaurant investors pulled out of Tecumseh.

Also, Monday night's discussion included dispositions of non-conforming businesses in the down town district. If non-conforming businesses are hit by fire or some disaster, they would not be allowed to rebuild on original sites.

An example cited was the Mobil Service Station at the corner of W. Chicago and S. Pearl St., and leased by Mayor Harold Easton.

He agreed that after such a disaster, he would have to relocate. He also stated that the ordinance to non-conforming businesses was proper.

Robert Hamden, city building inspector and assessor, pointed out that such businesses struck by disaster could use their insurance monies and re-locate elsewhere.

He did not say where, and in the case of service stations, Council has pretty well eliminated future station sites in the city by past action.

Councilmen generally agreed that conforming businesses should be allowed to rebuild after a disaster, but it was not clear as to their feelings about businessmen who would like to rebuild and replace an old building.

Several Councilmen also expressed in statements that the $1,000 per parking stall charge was fair.

2 Accidents Investigated

Only two accidents were investigated here by the Tecumseh Police during the past week, and it was the lowest recorded number of mishaps here in years.

Wednesday of last week, David L. Waters, 17, Clinton, was cited for failure to yield after running broadside into a car driven by Zelma M. Kliendienst, 58, 601 S. Pearl St.

Mrs. Kliendienst was traveling north on S. Pearl when Waters came from the west on Kilbuck and ran the yield sign. After colliding with the Kliendienst car, Waters then veered off, knocking down a street sign before coming to a stop against a telephone pole.

The woman suffered a bumped head and was taken home by the police. Wreckers towed both vehicles away.

Last Saturday, James D. Covell, 32, of 502 Adrian St., struck Mrs. Julia B. Tiley, 58, as she was backing out of her driveway at 203 Adrian.

She was cited for failure to yield the right of way.

City Officials Are Attending League Session

Mayor Harold Easton and City Manager Cal Zorn are attending a Municipal League session in Lansing this Wednesday and Thursday for the purpose of acquainting themselves with legislators, legislation affecting communities and for the drawing of Mayor's Exchange Day for Michigan Week.

Wednesday evening, Tecumseh city was host for State Senator Gil Bursley.

Michigan Week has been designated for May 12 through May 24 with the Mayor's Exchange Day on May 22. Communities are classified in the drawing according to population, and Tecumseh will be in the 7,000 to 15,000 bracket.

New Activities Are Suggested

A "drop-in" center for all ages was suggested to Council by Don Moffatt, recreation director, Monday night.

Such a center would include pool tables, ping pong tables, chess and checker tables and other game-type amusements.

The main room, no longer used by the Shawnee Squares for square dancing, would be converted and opened daily to the public.

10 Candidates File for Council

One of the biggest races in recent years will take place here this spring when 10 candidates seek four seats on Council at the April 7 election.

Ten petitions were filed with City Clerk Vera Zornow before the Monday afternoon deadline.

Incumbents seeking re-election are William Holmes, George McCombs, C. Raymond Puffer and Gene Tuckey.

Five of the other six candidates are newcomers in seeking Council positions. Paul Burns, high school teacher, is a former councilman.

Newcomers are Dr. Carlos Knisley, Bonnie Purkey, Wallace Whiting, Sidney Adams and Edwin McClain. All were reported last week except Mr. Adams and Mr. McClain.

Dr. Adams is a chiropractor, and Mr. McClain is traffic manager at Rumpf Truck Lines on S. Maumee St.

Musical 'Oklahoma' on Stage Here Next Week at Center

One of the most popular musicals ever to play on Broadway opens here next week, Thursday, Feb. 27, when the Tecumseh Players present Rodgers and Hammerstein's famous "Oklahoma."

Nine performances are planned at the Tecumseh Community Center with the musical starting each evening at eight o'clock. Dates are Feb. 27-28 and March 1-6-7-8-13-14-15.

Tickets are on sale and may be purchased by calling Jo Wegner, 423-3283 or Mrs. Robert Bagdon, 423-7375, or from any member of the cast. Ron Wisner, Players' president, urges folks to purchase their tickets early and make reservations.

Tickets also will be sold at the door, but with a seating capacity of 165, a reserved seat is not guaranteed.

"Oklahoma" features such famous numbers as "Oh, What A Beautiful Morning," "Surrey With the Fringe On Top," "Kansas City," and "People Will Say We're In Love."

Director for the play is Joe Balsanek, assisted by Judy Sherwood.

Mrs. Ted Pihl, is choreographer, and Helen Bendes is in charge of the music. The set is taking shape under John Raymond, assisted by Bob Bagdon and Mr. Wisner.

Barbara Streby has the female lead, and Ervin Lhotka, top male role.

The cast also includes Phil Baker, Ted Broderick, Bill Fowle, Scott Duncan, Hal Weakley, Joe Cherry, Peg Kisar, Marty Bagdon, Dale Close, Marie Woynski and Bertha Vallelunga.

Assisting Mrs. Wegner and Mrs. Bagdon with the ticket sales is Dorothy Wetter, who also is in charge of the house. Mrs. Vallelunga will supervise make-up.

At the present, final touches of the set are being completed, and rehearsals are being held each evening.

Council Delays But Agreeable To Annexation

Although annexation of approximately eight acres of the Irelan property was verbally assured by Council Monday night, officials decided to wait until the necessary resolution is received from the Tecumseh Township Board.

The area, just west of Occidental Rd. and south of W. Chicago Blvd., is being annexed for the development of apartments there by Robert Holmes, formerly of Detroit who is building a home in River Acres.

Raisin's Boom at $1 Million

Construction last year in Raisin Township was about as expected — nearly equal to the combined building in the City of Tecumseh and Tecumseh Township.

William Mackey, building inspector for Raisin and a County Supervisor, reports construction for 1968 at $1,037,000. Tecumseh's estimated total was $680,755 and Tecumseh Township's $417,550.

Topping Raisin's construction were 49 permits for houses. There were nine permits for commercial buildings, 19 for remodeling, and five for garages.

Robert Hamden, Tecumseh's building inspector, reported just 13 permits for homes here last year, and Arthur Eaton, Tecumseh Township Supervisor, reported 20 housing permits.

Raisin's construction growth will zoom again this year with the new Sutton Elementary School. Ground-breaking for the new school was held Jan. 10, and its cost is just under $1,000,000.

New Telephone, Hours in Effect at Office Here

The Secretary of State's office in Tecumseh will be open daily from 9-12 and 1-4 until March 1. On Saturdays the office will be open 9-12 and closed in the afternoon.

The Fire Department is still being deluged with calls for people asking information. The lines ahe being held up at times so that any emergency call would have trouble getting an answer. The department issued another statement hoping the people would not call the fire barn to query the hours of the state office.

Two Reports Exaggerated by Rumors

A racial disturbance last week following the Tecumseh-Ypsilanti West junior high basketball game was apparently blown out of proportion in rumors which circulated here last week.

David Dick, local principal, says school officials there called and apologized for the incident — some pushing and shoving and obscenities — and reported that a couple students had been suspended.

A rumor Friday night after the Tecumseh-Willow Run basketball game that a fire had been deliberately started in a rest room adjoining the gym also was incorrect.

Assistant Principal Don Brazee had requested a couple of Willow Run backers to leave the rest room after being noticed smoking there. Apparently a discarded cigarette started a small fire in a waste basket.

No damage occurred and the fire was extinguished quickly.

2 Nominated for Academy by Rep. Esch

Randall A. Disbrow, 516 Seminole St., son of Mr. and Mrs. Wendell E. Disbrow, and Stephen E. Shepherd, son of Mr. and Mrs. Wendell L. Shepherd, 2205 W. Monroe Rd., Tipton, have been nominated to the United States Naval Academy at Annapolis by Congressman Marvin Esch.

Each young man is required to take a designation examination administered by the Civil Service Commission, submit evidence of academic qualification and appear before a non-partisan Academy Board for interview.

Nominees are chosen on the basis of academic records, test scores, extra curricular interests and activities and interest in military career and maturity.

This nomination does not assure these young men that they will receive Academy appointments but does make it possible for them to continue in competition.

Tar, Grass Fires

Wednesday morning's fires were at a tar wagon at the Tecumseh Products, and the second fire, which followed almost immediately, was a grass fire on Cairns St.

Little or no damage was reported.

Circus Time For Youngsters

There were 260 wide-eyed youngsters from the Sutton, Tecumseh Acres and West Branch schools who attended the Shrine Circus in Detroit.

It took two weeks to get them all there and they should consider themselves pretty lucky, since the performances were a complete sell-out, long before the end of the appearance in Detroit.

Grades 1, 2, 3, and 4 from Sutton School; grades 1 and 2 and type A students from West Branch and both first grade sections from Tecumseh Acres made the jaunts, leaving at 11 a.m. and returning home, a bit sleepy at 7 p.m.

They were accompanied by one parent for each seven children. An efficient system was devised so that each group of children and their leader wore identically-colored tags.

Many a household was no doubt assailed with reports of the afternoon, long to be remembered by the little folks.

Youth Symphony Attendance High

Over 300 persons attended the concert presented by the Michigan Youth Symphony Sunday in Britton.

Director Orien Dalley told about the selections preceding their performance and remained following the concert so that students and parents had an opportunity to talk with him.

Highlight of the music was the first performance of "The Three Preludes for Orchestra" composed by Richard Aikman who was present. It was well received.

Opportunity for Mr. Dalley to explain the harp was presented when the solo harpist had a string break before her rendition. The harp has to be tuned after the string is replaced, which also provided opportunity for the audience to learn more about the little-known instrument.

James Bush, Britton, and Barry Moll, Tecumseh, were participants.

Proceeds from the concert will be used for scholarships to music camp for members of the orchestra and Britton band.

Charles Gabrion, assistant director and also director of the Pioneer High School orchestra in Ann Arbor, conducted several numbers.

Refreshments were served to the orchestra members and their parents by the Britton Band Parents. Arrangements for the event were made by Mrs. Elwood Bush.

VOICE of THE HERALD

Dunc's Passing Shocks, Saddens Fans, Community

In the four years that Dunc Lectka lived and coached football here, many became acquainted with him and appreciated him not only for his coaching but as a person.

He was likeable and personable, and dedicated to coaching, although leaving this profession early in 1962. His sudden death last week was a shock.

Dunc was a competitor, a characteristic which is necessary if you're to be successful in sports. He was successful as thousands of local football fans will attest.

He worked hard at coaching, as hard as he drove his players. Execution of plays, a stubborn defense and a strong desire were characteristic of his teams and players.

These characteristics were equally strong in him — as a competitor. And, it was in competition that he died. Although just a friendly afternoon game of paddle ball, knowing Dunc, he wanted to win.

He served Tecumseh schools well here in his coaching position. His other activities included scouting for the Detroit Tigers. If sports were involved, Dunc was involved and this included his last two positions — assistant director of the athletic ticket department at Michigan State and as director of the ticket department for the Buffalo Bills of the American Football League.

The boys he coached here and the admirers he acquired in Tecumseh will long remember him — as a coach and man. We're sure many others will, too, whether they live in North Muskegon, East Lansing, Buffalo or in Cadillac, his home town.

Downtown in "Clamp"

Councilman William Holmes and several members of the Planning Commission are on the right track to correct what we consider to be a "clamp" on the growth of business in downtown Tecumseh.

Mr. Holmes questioned the restrictions placed on downtown businesses at Monday night's Council session, particularly to the possible restrictions on businesses rebuilding after a disaster. Other Councilmen generally agreed with him in his thoughts, but disagreed in reference to the $1,000 fee for businesses who were unable to provide off-street parking.

This fee has in the past and will in the future curtail — possibly end — business growth in downtown Tecumseh. This charge, which conceivably could add 30% or 40% to the cost of a development, is prohibitive and certainly would be a factor in creating a shopping center outside the city limits.

We agree with city officials that a method of financing is necessary for future off-street parking. Present method is unfair and excessive for business development in Tecumseh — and should be changed.

Tecumseh's downtown is the hub of the community, it is just as much a part of the city as city hall, and when it ceases to be, downtown Tecumseh will be no more than a decaying area.

We urge both Council and the Planning Commission to take a more realistic view in the plight of present business and that of the future.

Mr. Holmes, only downtown Tecumseh businessman who owns property there, is on the right track in questioning a zoning ordinance which could affect others in the area. Perhaps others would feel the same way if they were in business downtown.

Let's release this "clamp."

FFA Offers Practical Experience

By MAXINE CALHOUN

Practical experience in many types of agricultural practice and animal husbandry is gained by the 36 members of the Clinton Chapter Future Farmers of America through their chapter projects.

Working after school hours, some released time and Saturdays, last year, the local members planted 30 acres field corn, six acres popcorn, nine acres alfalfa and 12 acres wheat, using the chapter-owned two tractors and field equipment.

Last summer, the Clinton Chapter purchased a field sprayer and did custom weed spraying on 750 acres. They also have a mounted sprayer for custom mosquito control. The equipment is operated by members, trained and supervised by their advisor, John Jansen.

A flock of ten registered Hampshire ewes is owned by the chapter and cared for by some of the members.

Such chapter projects make it possible for non-farm members to have experience with animals and cropping.

One of the most successful enterprises has been the popcorn project. Ten tons of popcorn was raised by the chapter, harvested, dried and stored at a Brooklyn popcorn plant. Throughout the year, members sell sacks of the dried popcorn.

Since they purchased a large gasfired corn popper 17½ years ago, they have sold more than a ton of popped corn at school athletic events.

Five area schools are good customers for the popcorn, and Saline Schools even buy the ready-popped product for resale at their games.

Each year the chapter prepares an artistic fruit display entry for the Michigan State Fair, winning the $600 first prize in 1967. Their 1968 entry placed third for a $300 prize.

Members participated in sheep shearing contests and exhibited swine at the Michigan State Fair and Tom Moore won Junior Champion Shearer award. Other members exhibited at the Lenawee County Fair, and FFA member Jim Woodward showed the grand champion steer there.

Each year the chapter sponsors a chicken barbecue, with the cooperation of the Clinton Rotary Club members. Proceeds from last fall's barbecue was used to pay part of the cost for the chapter members to visit Chicago on a three-day trip during the International Livestock Exposition.

Nearly 60 boys and even a couple of girl members from Tecumseh and Clinton chapters took the bus trip to Chicago.

Clinton Chapter hosted a sheep-shearing school Feb. 14-15, conducted by Graydon Blank of Michigan State University. Participating were 18 boys from Tecumseh, Dexter, Britton, Litchfield, Jackson and Clinton.

The local Ag-Shop is a lively place these days with several dozen chicks "peep-peeping" noisily, while hatching in the chapter's incubator. Eggs are hatched for members' projects.

Gary Kershner, John Mullaly, Charles Finkbeiner, John Ebbert, Steve Shelley and Terry Calhoun were guests on Ann Arbor Radio—WPAG, Feb. 19. The boys were interviewed on the Howard Heath noon hour farmcast, and had an opportunity to assist by reading some of the farm news reports, livestock reports and commercials. This was in observance of National FFA Week.

Chapter meetings are conducted with adherance to parliamentary procedure and regional contests are held on farm forum discussions, demonstrations and public-speaking. Clinton FFA team recently placed second in parliamentary procedure contests.

Members also participate in livestock, dairy, poultry and mechanics judging contests and delegates attend the Farmer's Week activities at MSU in March.

Each member must make reports on his individual agricultural projects and through his efforts can try to achieve wider recognition as Chapter Farmer, State Farmer, Star Farmer and American Farmer awards winners.

Tecumseh FFA Membership Increases

Tecumseh Chapter Future Farmers of America has its highest membership — 77, since it was chartered in 1929. Only in 1966 were there more members — 95. Paul Burns is advisor for the group.

The local chapter Parliamentary Procedure team placed first in the district FFA contest at Blissfield recently. Team members include: Steve Kring, chairman; Kathy Kopke, secretary; Charles Munger, Rick Ruhl, Bill Mukensturm, Robert Hartman and Bill Cordray.

Tecumseh will host the regional winter contests on Feb. 20.

The chapter is engaged in a variety of work-experience projects:

Farm 15 acres of crop land.

Raise, dress and market 300 broilers a year.

Operate a sheep chain of 15 head.

Feed 20 feeder pigs a year.

Operate a 14'x20' greenhouse.

A major activity of the chapter was in December, when members of Tecumseh and Clinton Chapters spent three days in Chicago attending the International Livestock Exposition and touring museums.

Delegates to the 1969 State FFA Convention are Bill Mukensturm and Ron Wimple. Kathy Kopke and Robert Hartman will be ushers at the convention.

FFA Advisor Paul Burns is also the chairman of the Michigan FFA advisory committee, which is composed of advisors from all parts of the state.

There are about 178 FFA chapters in the state with about 9,500 members.

The annual parent and son banquet was held Feb. 10 in the high school cafeteria. Each year mothers of FFA students hold this banquet for their sons and daughters, signifying the close relationship between parents and the school activity, Mr. Burns said.

Britton FFA Is Award Winner

By PETER FORGACS

The Britton FFA Chapter started in 1952 with Russell Spaulding as the first advisor.

Since that time the local chapter has won 25 awards in leadership contests. It has had five American farmers, 32 State farmers, three state officers, nine outstanding chapter awards, three regional officers, also 41 honorary chapter farmers.

This year the Britton FFA has 52 members, with Paul Marks as their advisor.

This year the chapter has an investment of $978 in the hog business, including one boar, three brood sows and 30 feeder pigs.

The members are planning to farrow three sows each three months during the next year. This is conducted in the barns located behind the school and owned by the school board. The purpose of this adventure into the swine business is to teach members proper swine management, stimulate interest in livestock, and make purebred stock available to members at a reasonable price.

The chapter also maintains a two and one-half-acre field with members planting different crops and setting up test plots, but for the last few years they have planted corn because of chemical weed control which may be used in corn. Also, they have the harvest to feed to the livestock they now own.

Various contests are conducted among the chapter members, including a contest to find the tallest corn stalk, the bean stalk with the most pods, the highest yield of corn, the most profit per acre of student crop projects, and a pest hunt to help eliminate pests on the farms.

In the spring, a banquet is served by the FFA for parents of the members, where awards are presented and parents are honored by the members. This year a whole roasted pig is being planned for the menu.

Britton FFA hosted the annual District Leadership Contest Feb. 6. The local Farm Forum team composed of Doug Steinman, chairman; John Rowe, Louis Wagner, Rick Brown, Bill Rowe, Rodney Taylor and Dick Frazier won first place and a gold award.

The Parliamentary Procedure team, composed of Gary Maska, chairman, Jim Pilbeam, Bruce Summers, Tom Dick, Chuck Loomis, Gale Spohr and Greg Hamilton won second place and silver award.

Entering the Public Speaking contest for the first time, Britton's Harold Jeffers won a first place and a gold award.

The first place winning Farm Forum team and Public Speaker, will enter the regional contest to be held at Tecumseh High School, Feb. 20.

President — John Rowe.

Vice-president — Dick Schroeder.

a prayer for everyone

"Tonight, I want you to ask God to bless everyone in the whole wide world.

"On World Day of Prayer, children in every corner of the globe, grown-ups too, will pray that God will make this world a better place.

"Remember last summer at camp when you called out at the edge of that cliff and your echo came answering back? Well, imagine all the people in the world calling out at once in prayer. Imagine how big the echo would be, and how much it would please God to hear it.

"You are lucky because you live here in America, because you have your Church and the right to attend it. So tonight, thank God for things like that, darling, even if you don't entirely understand them. And when you've finished . . . ask Him to bless everyone."

Memoriam

In loving memory of "Our Cindy" who suddenly left us one year ago today, Feb. 22, 1968.
"I'll lend you for a little time,
A child of Mine," He said,
For you to love the while she lives,
And mourn when she is dead.
It may be six or seven years,
Or twenty-two or three,
But will you, till I call her back,
Take care of her for Me?
She'll bring her charms to gladden you,
And tho' her stay be brief,
You will have lovely memories
As solace for your grief.
So sadly missed by her parents, Ron and Susan McKeever and brothers and sisters, Freddie, Betsy, Mark, Tammy and April.

Korean Vet Speaks Out

Lt. Col. Jack Mohr, first American serviceman to be wounded in the Korean War, spoke Sunday evening at the Assembly of God.

One of the 10 most highly-decorated military men to come out of that war, he told of his own experiences of the terrible consequences of compromising with Communists.

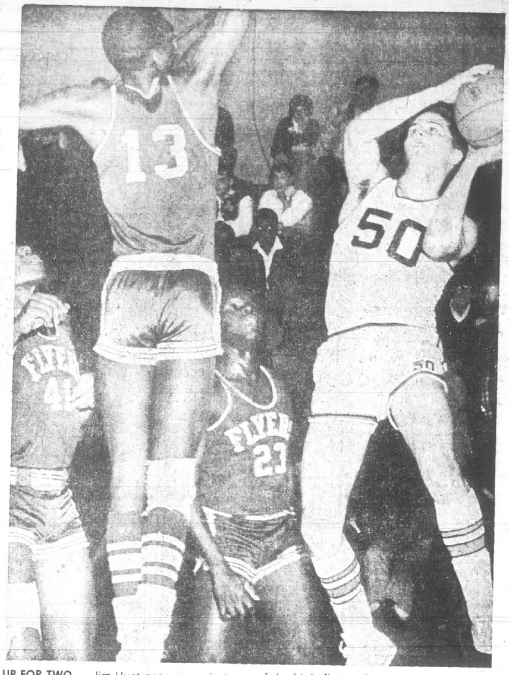
"More Americans were killed and wounded by the Communists in Korea after negotiations were started, "Col. Mohr said, "than in the fighting before the peace talks. And the same thing is happening now in Vietnam."

He stated that he knows the Communists must and can be defeated but not under the present restrictions, handicaps and limitations that have been placed on our fighting men.

Col. Mohr told of being subjected to long hours of torture before he faced a firing squad and of his rescue by a Korean sergeant whom he had known previous to hostilities.

He is presently on a speaking tour sponsored here by the TRAIN Committee of Ann Arbor. Tecumseh being the 145th community he has visited in the past six months.

Bruce Taylor of Howell introduced Col. Mohr following a welcome by the Rev. Harold Speer, pastor of the church.



UP FOR TWO — Jim Hunt goes up against one of the high flying Flyers of Willow Run in last Friday's loss to the non-league foe. The next game for the Indians will be this Friday at Blissfield. Their last home game will be against Monroe Jefferson, it will also be the last game of the season on Feb. 28.

Father and Son Banquet Held

The annual Father and Son banquet was held Saturday evening at the Tipton Community Church with around 100 attending. A ham supper was served at 7 p.m., followed by a program with Ray Stockinger as toastmaster.

The program opened with the invocation given by Rev. Bailey.

A toast to the fathers was given by Bill Bailey and a toast to the sons by Rev. Bailey.

A barbershop group, called the "Buffalo Bobs" entertained with songs. The highlight of the program was the appearance of a magician, David Norton, of Adrian.

Gifts were presented to Ernest Linger, the oldest father; Tim Baker, the youngest father; Todd Rockwell, the youngest son; Leslie Wisner coming the farthest distance.

The program closed with benediciton by Rev. Bailey.

Medical Society Installs Officers

Installation of officers followed the address. Those installed were:

President—Marvin Wolf, M.D.
President-elect —Alvin J. Phelan, M.D.
Vice-president — Gordon Hammersley, M.D.
Secretary-treasurer — Richard D. Coak, M.D.

Flyers Shoot Down Indians

Tecumseh took on a non-league foe here Friday night in hopes of snapping a two-game losing streak — but the Indians picked the wrong team. Willow Run bombed the Indians, 68 to 54, and left no doubt which was the better club.

Except in the opening moments when John Kennedy flipped in a fielder for a 2-0 Indian lead, Tecumseh never led and gradually dropped off the pace during the game.

The Flyers opened up a five-point margin in the first period, stretched it to nine at the half, and held a 52-39 lead at the end of third quarter. WR played its reserves much of the time in the final stanza, and still managed to hold its own.

Several cheap buckets, largely gained through a Flyer press, accounted for much of Tecumseh's dilemma. Another major obstacle was getting the ball off the boards. Time after time, the Indians shot and fell back — unable to obtain a second and third shot which the Flyers capitalized on.

Bill Puffer, top Indian scorer, again paced his teammates with 19 points. He was the only consistent scorer for Coach Vic Lawson's club and the only one in double figures.

Four visitors tallied in two figures with nine Flyers hitting the scoring column. Only weakness, as far as Tecumseh was concerned, was at the foul line where the Flyers shot a very poor six of 17 attempts.

Once in the third period, the Indians drew to within eight points of WR and had some momentum going for them. However, the Flyers' press resulted in two quick buckets and the Indians dropped off and never threatened again.

Midway in the fourth quarter, WR built up a 19-point lead and only late baskets by Jim Hunt and Puffer narrowed the margin. Late in the game, Coach Lawson pulled all starters from the line-up and cleared the Tecumseh bench.

Honors List

Anne P. Moeller, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Moeller, 7247 Wisner Hwy., Tipton, has been named to the scholastic honors list for the 1969 fall semester at Central Michigan University. Miss Moeller is a sophomore studying elementary education.

Spirit Moves Tories On To Win

It's known as Tory Town again, and the spirit of the early sixties has returned to the home of the two-time state champion Britton Tories. The halls at the high school are covered with banners calling out the spirit of the county's only undefeated basketball squad and the eighth ranked Class D team in the state.

The latest victim of the River Raisin champions was the Blue Streaks of Ida. As the song went so must the teammates of the Tories on Friday, "Ida On My Mind."

Over in Ida the opposite was the matter of the day. The Streaks met the Tories on the Ida court with upset on their minds. It took all four periods for the Britton team to convince Ida that Valentine's Day was not upset day, downing the stubborn five, 58-52.

The Tories were the masters of the game and held off a strong Blue Streak attack. At the end of the third period the Blue Streaks pulled to a four point advantage. Jim Skelton and Rick Maska came back to sink baskets to even things up as the fourth period opened. A field goal by Jim Brown and a charity toss by Dave Fairbanks put the Tories in the lead and Ida ran out of steam against the ball hawking of Britton.

There was little thrilling about the opening period for both the squads were chilled as Britton found the range for 12 points and Ida was held to a meager 7. In the second stanza both teams dumped in 14 points and left the floor with Ida trailing by five 26-21.

In the third period Britton fans had one of the scares of the year when the Streaks found the range for 21 points and the Britton quintet was stopped with 12. The Tories trailed by four going into the last quarter.

The Tories have seen better days as the game went last Friday, but the comeback ability and the desire to win have proven to be the biggest asset that the Tories have held. The spirit and determination of Britton came through when cold streaks in the shooting appear.

There were many turnovers by both teams in the action but as ever Britton played an aggressive game on the boards and defensively.

The only honor that the Blue Streaks were able to produce outside of a good display of determination was high point honors in the person of Marv Skampo who dumped in 22 points.

A balanced scoring attack by Britton produced three players in double figures; Jim Skelton with 17, Dave Fairbanks with 16 and Jim Brown with 12. Rick Maska with eight and Jim Lister with four, rounded out the scoring for the Tories.

Newspapers have been giving attention to the Britton Tory fortunes of 1969. But of all of the words written none probably have the effect of the scrawled, written, blocked cards and signs which line the halls of Britton-Macon High School and herald the spirit of the "prides and joys" of Britton, Michigan.

BRITTON

Skelton 8 1 17; Fairbanks 5 6 16; Brown 4 4 12; Maska 2 4 8; Lister 2 0 4.

IDA

Skampo 10 2 22; Hanas 3 3 9; Obershie 5 0 10; Leonara 3 1 7; Firestone 2 0 4.

Score by quarters:

Ida	7	14	21	10—52
Britton	12	14	12	19—58

Mother Finds New Challenges

By DOROTHY GRIGG

"A new challenge every day, the stimulant to develop one's possibilities, the desire to do superior work no matter how hard it may be, this is what the University of Michigan means to me" — says Mrs. Leslie Calhoun — who, although just recently having received her Master's degree, at the end of April will have completed half of the requirements toward a Ph.D in Romance Languages and Spanish Literature.

"My studies as well as my teaching at the University have proven to be two of the most rewarding experiences of my life."

Mrs. Calhoun was born in Mexico City and came to this country 23 years ago with a limited knowledge of English. In 1964 she was graduated Summa Cum Laude at Siena Heights College, where she taught for four years. Her record at the University of Michigan includes all A's and a B+. "We all have our weaknesses — you know — and that B+ is worth to me an A+, as I have never worked so hard in my life, and furthermore, enjoyed it."

With delight and enthusiasm she refers to the special literature courses that she will be teaching next fall. All of the text materials for these classes were selected by the vivacious, dark-eyed teacher, and she was given the great honor of being allowed to use her own short stories and poetry, some of which have been published in The Herald.

How does her career affect her family? "Wonderfully" — she says. "For a while last year, the four of us were attending college: Chuck, 20, a junior at Jackson Business University; Cindy, 19, a sophomore at Michigan State and Les, getting the revalidation of his Flying Instructor Certificate." Besides farming the family's 260 acres, Mr. Calhoun teaches part-time at Jacobs Flying School in Adrian.

Mrs. Calhoun has also taught at the Adrian College and for three years she was head of the foreign language department in Tecumseh High School.

"As for the students, I like them all no matter where. In Adrian I was thought of as a Methodist at Siena, as a Catholic; in a big university like the U of M there is no time to wonder. . . . Every once in a while I meet in the corridors some of the students that I had when they were five or six years old and it fills my heart with joy to see them there . . . majoring in Spanish."

MRS. LESLIE CALHOUN

Mr. Calhoun is a strong supporter of his wife. He said, "She enjoys it. I've been told that she is a natural born teacher and should use her talents".

His attitude seems to be "If she is happy, I am happy".

When queried about protestors on the campus, he said, "She doesn't get nearly as excited about the minority groups as I do, either she doesn't think they rate much consideration or if we ignore them, maybe they will go away".

Leslie Calhoun brought his bride to Rogers Hwy. in 1946, after their marriage in Mexico. A pilot in the U. S. Air Force, he met her as she worked in her father's office in Laredo on the border between the two countries. Gloria's father was chief of customs at that time.

Many Tecumseh area residents have had the pleasure of studying with Mrs. Calhoun, others only know her sparkling personality, but slightly. It is generally agreed that she is a marvelous addition to the community and people are proud of her accomplishments.

February is birthday month for the family of Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Hoag, and they are busy observing each one. Son, Roger, was home from Ferris State College to cut his birthday cake, Feb. 5.

The Hoags were at the home of their daughter and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. James Harris, in Westland, Sunday, to celebrate Mrs. Harris' birthday. They took along Mom's traditionally home-decorated cake for the festivities.

Mrs. Bertha Hoag's 90th birthday anniversary is Feb. 24, and a family birthday dinner will mark the occasion, Saturday at her home at 207 W. Logan. Arrangements for the dinner are being made by daughters-in-law, Mrs. Herbert Hoag and Mrs. Dale Hoag, of Saginaw.

Foundation Grants Open

Arthur J. Collingsworth, chairman of the board of directors of Niels Hansen Memorial Foundation, has announced that the Foundation has applications available for high school juniors interested in receiving financial assistance for participation in student exchange programs this summer.

Tecumseh students may obtain application forms from Mrs. Mervyn Boltz or Thomas Rohrer.

The Foundation, which was established in December, 1966, to honor the memory of the late Niels Hansen, a German exchange student who attended Tecumseh High School in 1961-62 and was killed in an auto accident in Germany in November, 1968, has granted scholarships to eight students during the past two years.

The recipient students have lived with families in Belgium, Brazil, Denmark, Germany, Mexico and the Netherlands.

Students interested in obtaining more information should write to the Niels Hansen Memorial Foundation at Post Office Box 234, Tecumseh, Michigan 49286. Contributions, which are tax deductible, may be sent to the same address.

Aside from providing scholarships to students for participation in student foreign exchange programs, the Foundation sponsors the Annual Niels Hansen Memorial Lectureship in International Understanding in Braunschweig, Germany.

Ambassador George V. Allen, former Director of the United States Information Agency and Director of the Foreign Service Institute, and the Honorable Eleanor Lansing Dulles, distinguished author and lecturer and sister of the late John Foster and Allen Dulles, presented the first lectures last October.

"A Fellowship on Fire" Is Methodist Sermon

"A Fellowship On Fire" will be the subject of Dr. George C. Davies, the stewardship crusade director for the spiritual renewal mission at the Tecumseh United Methodist Church, when he addresses the congregation at the morning worship service this Sunday.

Sunday will be a day of personal commitment to enrich the life of the church and a day of responsible discipleship in the pledging of funds to meet the challenge goal of $105,000. This goal includes $30,330 which will enable the church to continue and expand its services to God and the community. $75,000 for debt retirement will allow the congregation to have a debt-free property.

Approximately 80 members of the congregation will be making fellowship calls on the church families and friends Sunday afternoon following an inspiring session of instruction. During the course of this week many others will have contributed of their time and money to make this crusade successful.

A family dinner last Tuesday night, under the direction of Mrs. Julius Vince, assisted by Mrs. Harley McConnell, introduced an intensive training session and special session of the advance callers.

The 233 member families of the church expect to put their "faith into action" on this vital day of the "Reach Forth Your Hand" crusade.

Med Assistants' Heart Program

The Lenawee County Medical Assistants' meeting was held Feb. 18 at Rock Inn in Adrian.

A program on Cardio Pulmonary Resuscitation was presented by the Michigan Heart Association, following the dinner.

THE VERY LATEST NEWEST ABOUT EVENING GROSBEAKS

All winter we have been hearing, in little drabs and dribbles, about the brightly-colored visitors from the north. They are hop-scotching around town, following no predictable pattern whatsoever. No, I shall amend that because the one predictable thing about evening grosbeaks is their unpredictability. And this year they are almost more than running true to form.

It was early last fall that Ella telephoned to tell us the exciting news, she had a tree full of chattering evening grosbeaks. I tried to think about the birds themselves and not what their extraordinarily early appearance might mean weatherwise.

Since that first report, we have heard about grosbeaks being, at one time or another, south and also east of town, down around Britton, along the Red Pond and to the west of us. Sometimes they were in a large flock, again it would be just a pair of birds and occasionally there would be one all by himself.

They might stay a day, a week, 10 minutes and, in one instance, they have practically become regulars. Until the grand and glorious day several weeks ago when we saw evening grosbeaks in our own yard, they had been as close to us as Mrs. Mast's and Mrs. Dustin's.

My, but on that grand and glorious day, what a thrill it was to actually see the evening grosbeaks again.

Many years ago we had a tremendous season with these birds, day after day after day they came our way. But since then, even though the wandering ones have been in the area, they have not been too eager to dine at our free lunch counters.

This winter they have not been very cooperative either, but I shall not complain because their short visit was absolutely breathtaking.

I WAS TAKING a longer than usual noon hour rest, I was trying to get those stupid Hong Kong flu bugs off my back, when suddenly I looked up into the middle branches of the nearby maple tree and could hardly believe my eyes. There they were, all big and beautiful, a pair of evening grosbeaks!

The sun was shining brightly and hitting them full-on. How in the world does the "Peterson Field Guide" have the nerve to say that the male grosbeak is a dull yellow? If he is dull, what would they call bright!

These are handsome birds — about eight inches long with short V-shaped tails, chunky bodies, heavy bills and, of course, color, color, color.

The lower part of the male's body is a bright yellow which, about midway up, starts shading into a rich burnished gold and finally, on his head, becomes almost chocolate; pushed down on his head, until it rests on the base of his bill and then extends along the sides towards the back of his head above his eyes, is a slashing stripe of bright yellow; his tail is an all-over black, while his black wings show large patches of snow white.

The less flamboyant female has some white in her tail plus the white wing patches, her body shades from silver gray to a fairly bright yellow and her grayish head lacks the yellow stripe. She may not be as flashy as her mate but, like Mama Cardinal, she is pretty.

In the current issue of the "Purple Martin News", their letters-to-the-editor section had some surprising evening grosbeak stories. Once it was thought that these birds, who summer in the far north, were wandering to the extreme southern limit of their area when they visited us here in lower Michigan.

This year, though, these erratic travelers are showing up in Ohio, Tennessee and even Mississippi. And for company, they have taken a few purple finches with them.

THE VERY BEST evening grosbeak story of this or any year, however, comes from Doctor and Mrs. Blanden.

It happened on a snowy evening when, in the midst of a hot bridge game, someone noticed the pretty snowfall and the outside lights were turned on. All of a sudden the bridge game was forgotten — there were birds at the feeding station.

There was quite a commotion as they went back and forth between the feeder and the trees. Whoever heard of evening grosbeaks living up to their name so well!

So it is that, as of now, this is the latest, the very latest news about evening grosbeaks.

Judge Van Deusen Resigns Position

By MAXINE CALHOUN

CLINTON — Leon Van Deusen, who began his first term, Jan. 1, as magistrate in Clinton, under the new court system, resigned this week, because of ill health. He returned to his home last Wednesday after two weeks in the hospital with a heart condition.

Judge Van Deusen, 74, has served continuously as Justice of the Peace in Clinton since July 4, 1931. A life-long resident of the area, he operated a large dairy farm a mile west of Clinton during his early years, and continued limited farming, while conducting his justice office in his home for 25 years.

LEON VAN DEUSEN

In 1956 he sold the farm, and built a home on Jackson St., where he resides at present. At that time he located his justice office in the rear of the Clinton Township Hall, and the Michigan State Police Post was located in the main portion of the building.

When the State Police moved to their new post east of the village, Justice Van Deusen moved into his present office near the front entrance in the Township Hall, now used as a Clinton Township Library.

Throughout his career, he has been situated on one of the state's busiest highways, formerly US-112, now called US-12, and consequently became one of the busiest justices of the peace in county, for many years. Those were the years when justices handled a vast assortment of cases, not just traffic offenses.

Many of his cases involved truck overloads from the Cambridge Junction weigh station, and often he had to drive out there to decide a case.

Though his demeanor may have appeared stern to wary traffic offenders, he became known for his ultimate fairness in determining cases.

A sort of fringe benefit of the justice position was the 200 couples who came to him to be married, many at odd hours of the night, providing some of the lighter moments in his career of mediating people's troubles.

Justice Van Deusen and his wife, Mable, observed their 50th wedding anniversary, June 1, 1967. They have three children, Stanley, in Ontario, Calif., Mrs. Edward Miller, Denver Colo., and Larry at Bedford, O. Another son, Grant, died last year.

Judge Van Deusen was appointed magistrate by the newly-organized district court and his appointment was approved by the Board of Supervisors, the procedure now required by Michigan's new constitution.

Two Presidents' Contrasts Shown

CLINTON—Albert Fox, teacher of social studies at Clinton High School, and a research hobbiest of 18th Century history, spoke on "A Comparison and a Contrast — Lincoln and Washington" at the Clinton Woman's Club, last Wednesday.

Introduced by Mrs. Linn Weaver, Mr. Fox explained that "A knowledge of our heritage and those who made it is relevant in order to understand ourselves."

Both Lincoln and Washington were physically big and strong men. Each danced — Washington, the graceful minuet and Lincoln, the more vigorous square dance.

Though both men inspired trust, their personalities were in contrast. Lincoln's sense of humor is legendary, however Washington was never known to tell a joke, Mr. Fox recalled.

Mrs. Ralph Reed presided at the business meeting, welcoming Mrs. Neil Hause as a new member.

The nominating committee, composed of Mrs. Clarence Feldkamp, Mrs. William Kershner and Mrs. Lawrence Van Giesen, will report at the March meeting.

Mrs. Loren Scott reported that the ways and means committee is planning a card party.

Silhouettes of Lincoln and Washington set the theme on the refreshment table, which was centered with an arrangement of white chrysanthemums and red hearts.

Church Program of Lincoln and Valentines

CLINTON — Mrs. Thomas Pence presented the program on Abraham Lincoln and described old-fashioned Valentines at a meeting of the Philathea Class of the United Church of Christ, Thursday afternoon.

Mrs. Clarence Feldkamp was hostess for the dessert luncheon meeting attended by 14 members. Mrs. Walter Zick assisted the hostess.

"Different Kinds of Silence" was the devotional theme from the Psalms presented by Mrs. Rosemond Jenkins.

Members selected new wallpaper for a Sunday School room project.

The February birthdays of Mrs. Leo Smith, Mrs. Fred Kaiser and Mrs. Dayton Sell were noted in song.

The March 13 meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. Richard Denning.

Golden Agers Match Hearts At Box Social

CLINTON — Sixteen members of the Golden Age Club found their partners for a box supper, by matching valentines, last Tuesday evening at Lyster Hall.

The hostess for the evening, Mrs. Alfred Schwellinger, present each member with a valentine.

The Valentine motif decorated the tables. Mrs. Thomas Pence, Doris Negus and Mrs. Schwellinger served ice cream and cake.

Mrs. Glenn Randall entertained by reading an appropriate poem and Miss Negus presented a piano solo.

Group games were led by Mrs. Pence and card games concluded the evening.

CHS Will Host LCAA Wrestlers

CLINTON — The Lenawee County Athletic Association has chosen Feb. 22 as the date for its annual League Wrestling Tournament. The host school this year shall be Clinton High School. The LCAA is attempting to make this tournament a huge success in attracting spectators to a relatively new sport for LCAA high schools.

The following schools will be represented: Addison, Manchester, Clinton, Madison, Hudson and Onsted.

There will be two different sessions of wrestling, preliminary matches, 1:00 - 5:00, and finals in the evening, from 7 p.m.

Prices for the match will be as follows: Preliminary afternoon matches — 75c adults and 25c students. Consolation evenings and finals — $1.25 adults and 50c students.

Although wrestling is a young and minor sport, the LCAA is doing all it can to develop the interest and enthusiasm of both students and adults in the program.

A team trophy will be presented to the school who wins the league meet. While each wrestler who finishes 1st, or 2nd in his weight class will be awarded a medal.

Outstanding wrestlers from Clinton participating includes: Dave Elliott, 145 lbs., 11-3; Bruce Grossman, 154 lbs., 11-2; Tom Moore, 165 lbs., 14-0; Bruce Handy, heavyweight, 13-1.

Participants from Manchester are Dan Roberts, 95 lbs., undefeated; Mark Kaiden, 133 lbs., 12-2; Pete Haeussler, 175 lbs., 13-3.

Onsted will be represented by Dick Kimball, 120 lbs., 7-4; Lee Yoder, 112 lbs., 13-0; Mel Corbin, 133 lbs., 10-0-1; Roger Craft, 145 lbs., 10-1.

The LCAA officials expect that among the spectators for this turney will be college coaches, evaluating personnel and newspaper staffs reporting the outcome.

It should be noted that after the preliminaries in the afternoon session, the gym will be emptied! The ticket counter will open at 6:30 p.m. for the evening session.

Redskin Action, Win One, Lose One

By GINA GREEN

CLINTON—The Redskins' basketballers salvaged a potentially disastrous weekend, Feb. 7-8, and balanced a Friday night loss to Addison with a Saturday night victory over Morenci. The Redskins could do little or nothing right against Addison as the Panthers came out on top by a 69-59 score. After taking an early lead and holding a slim margin at the half, Clinton simply ran out of steam. Mark Wegner and Ron LaSovage scored 10 points apiece for the Redskins.

Saturday the tables turned as Clinton had to come from behind to shut off Morenci in the second half and take home a 59-51 win. Dave Slusher continued his game-by-game improvement and was especially strong on the boards, pulling off 13 rebounds. Lon Schneider led the Redskin offense by scoring 22 points on long jump shots and fine ball handling moves. Jerry Porter was close behind as he hustled up 20 points. Jack Valentine paced the Bulldogs with 17 markers.

Meanwhile the Clinton junior varsity rolled to double victories, defeating Addison Friday, 58-47, and putting down Morenci the following night, 44-43. Three junior Redskins hit double figures Friday, led by Bruce Carlton with 18 points, Jim Sharpe with 13, and Pete Schneider with 11.

Saturday Clinton had some problems in the close quarters of Morenci's gymnasium, but pulled out a one-point victory behind the fine playing of Bari Campbell and Pete Schneider. Though they started off slowly and trailed, 24-18, at the midway point, the Redskins tallied 14 points in the third quarter while holding the Junior Bulldogs to just 7.

Schneider hit for five consecutive field goals in that stanza, finishing the game with 14 points, and Campbell overcame foul problems to notch 17 points for the Redskin JV's who upped their season record to 7-4.

TOURNAMENT WINNERS — Six members of the Tecumseh Indian wrestling squad finished in first place at the Huron League Tournament in Grosse Ile last Saturday. Those taking the coveted prizes were Bill Groover, Bob Hackett, Steve Tilton, Dan Anderson, Gary Jones and Able Valdez. The Indians can clinch undisputed first place in the Huron League this Thursday in their last home match. Monroe Jefferson is the opposition.

Matmen Avenge Early Loss

Paving the way for a showdown match at the league tournament at Grosse Ile last Saturday, the Tecumseh High School wrestling team outpointed Flat Rock, 27-19, to avenge an earlier loss to the Ram matmen. The win gave the Indians a tie for the league lead.

Coach Pat Connors said of the win, "The team wrestled a great match. The final outcome was not decided until the second to the last match. It was a great victory for Tecumseh High and the win puts THS in a tie for first place in the Huron League."

The wrestling title of the Huron League is decided on the final standings in dual matches and the finishes in the league tournament, each counting 50% toward the title.

Last week the Tecumseh High wrestlers completely outclassed a corps of wrestlers from Monroe Catholic Central, 46-6.

Merv Maynard, Dave Ward, Marv Maynard, Bill Groover, Steve Tilton, Steve Hinkelman, Bob Hackett, and Dan Anderson all won with pins. Able Valdez and Ralph Miller won on decisions in the lopsided victory.

JV winners with pins were Tom Huber, Mike Tilton, Denny Puffer, Joe Bailey and Roger Ashenfelter. Dan Brooks won on a decision.

The matmen from THS have improved ability in their second year after returning to wrestling schedule. The outlook seemed dim early in the season when the heavyweight classes were not represented by the high school. However, the lighter classes have proven tough all season and some enviable records have been compiled by some of the team members.

Dan Anderson has wrestled to 17 wins, 1 loss and 1 draw; Bob Hackett has a 14-3-1 record. Steve Hinkleman is 12-4-1, Bill Groover, 11-2-3, Marv Maynard at 15-5, Able Valdez, 13-3.

Golfer Shoots 1st Hole-in-One

Polly Moore, who holds more club championships at the Tecumseh Country Club than anyone else, shot her first hole-in-one earlier this month at St. Petersburg, Fla.

Witnessing the 80-yard ace was her husband, Robert H. Moore, plus many others. She used an eight iron for the shot.

Indians Clinch Title

Indians were known to be great wrestlers, and in the Tecumseh Indians' version of the sport, somewhat refined from their namesakes, the school and the town has a champion in the Huron League.

Tecumseh sports fans will have the chance to see their champion team in action Thursday night when the Tecumseh High wrestlers will take on the Monroe Jefferson matment in their final home meet. The wrestlers won at least a tie for Tecumseh last Saturday at the Huron League Tournament at Grosse Ile. In the final results six men of the hometown team were league champions.

Coach Pat Connors stated that his team "completely dominated the tournament," which was evident in the final standings that saw Tecumseh athletes in nine of the 12 final events. They wound up with six firsts and three seconds to easily outpoint their closest rival, Flat Rock, 119 to 80.

Connors went on to say that "our team was physically strong, stayed in there real tough, Dave Ward and Marv Maynard wrestled real well and could easily have been league champs." Both wrestlers lost close matches in the finals.

In addition to the first and second place finishes, the Indians also placed third and fourth in other matches.

Those who finished as champions of the tournament were Able Valdez at 112 pounds; Gary Jones at 133; Bill Groover at 138; Steve Tilton at 145; Bob Hackett, 165 and Dan Anderson, 175.

Second place finishes for the Indians were won by Dave Ward at 120, Merv Maynard at 127 and Steve Hinkleman, 154.

Merv Maynard finished third in the 95 pound division and Dave Frownfelder, fourth at 103.

The Tribe needs a win over Monroe Jefferson Thursday night in order to secure outright possession of first place in the league. Coach Connors does not expect the match to be as close as the first meeting of the two teams where Tecumseh won easily. The addition of a couple of wrestlers and several who have improved considerably, as was shown in the tournament, are cause for some concern in the coaches' room at Tecumseh High.

The final standings for the tournament last Saturday were:

Tecumseh — 119.
Flat Rock — 80.
Grosse Ile — 67.
Jefferson — 62.
Blissfield — 42.
Monroe C. C. — 12.

Next Saturday the matmen will travel to Parma Western High School, near Jackson, for the district tournament with hopes of putting on another display of winning.

The spirit of the team is high for Thursday's match where the Indians can claim undisputed first place in the Huron League. Coaches and members of the team are hoping for a good turnout to see the town's latest league winners.

FFA Week Is Called Opportunity for Youth

The week of Feb. 15-22 is National Future Farmers of America Week, or FFA Week as it is commonly known.

The Future Farmers of America was organized in 1928 in Kansas City, Mo. Thirty-three official delegates representing 18 states were present.

The theme for this year's FFA Week is "FFA . . . An Opportunity for Youth."

FFA is a national organization for boys studying vocational agriculture in public secondary schools under the provisions of the National Vocational Education Acts.

The FFA is a non-profit, non-political, non-sectarian farm youth organization of voluntary membership, designed to take its place along with other organizations striving for the development of leadership, the building of a more permanent agriculture, and the improvement of country life.

The FFA colors are National Blue and Corn Gold. The motto is: Learning to do, Doing to learn, Earning to live, Living to serve.

The official publication, the National Future Farmers Magazine, goes into the homes of 450,000 members.

FFA Week is a way of informing the public of the great importance of agriculture to the nation, and of the many opportunities for gainful employment within this field.

SERVING LAND OF LENAWEE FOR 80 YEARS

"Changes Are Long Overdue In Our Education," Hart

By NEVILLE L. HART

For the past several years high schools of all sizes have been making numerous changes and innovations involving not only curriculum but also daily schedule modifications. After studying these trends carefully, I am of the opinion that increasing the flexibility of the daily schedule by the use of team teaching can materially improve the service we are attempting to furnish our students. I urge the immediate implementation of these changes.

I realize that serious consideration must be given to the fact that the present traditional program which we offer is considered by many to be adequate for this community. However, there is nothing sacred about our present educational program, and furthermore, since our graduates compete with graduates of schools throughout the nation for jobs and college admission, change of an innovative nature is long overdue in our high school.

According to traditional secondary school educational standards, our local program must be considered only average. Why not attempt to make our program better than average?

The following areas of our program are in need of improvement:

1. Individual attention for students
2. Greater opportunity for independent functioning
3. Increased staff interaction is necessary
4. Staff utilization is needed
5. Student motivation must be improved
6. Our daily schedule must be more flexible.

Individualized instruction has long been the rallying cry of educational reformers, but few concrete illustrations as to how this can be obtained within the rigid framework of secondary school scheduling have been forthcoming.

In common with most schools caught in the mesh of a lock-step tradition, we operate under the typical "cellular concept" of secondary school instruction, wherein teachers meet for "55" with twenty-five to thirty-four students within a daily schedule. Little opportunity is provided for them to supply the personal attention which a wide range of student abilities demand.

Our program actually succeeds in keeping teachers away from those students who need the extra attention most. This problem arises from the fact that many extra-curricular activities occur at the close of school. In addition, a large percentage of our students utilize school bus transportation. These students are normally out of the building within five minutes after the last class period. Another problem which affects after-hours instruction is that many of our students hold after-school jobs.

It is obvious that our pupils lead a full and exacting life, but what they are doing is in many ways unrelated to their primary goal of securing an education. The concept of providing a full measure of individual attention for each student must be carried out within the framework of the academic school day and a way must be found to increase the daily availability of teachers to students. Any new program must include this goal.

I am also concerned about the lack of opportunity our students have for functioning on an independent basis at least part of the time. Most college dropouts occur during the freshman year, and many higher education authorities are placing the blame on the student's secondary school preparation, which, they felt, failed to prepare students for an environment in which they were expected to "think for themselves."

In common with the program at most schools, our pupil-teacher interaction process requires the student to play the passive role, while the teacher handles the instructional activity. While the teaching process includes such activities as lecturing, demonstrating, assigning and reviewing, the student's major responsibility lies in listening, note-taking, and occasional participation in class discussion. Thus, our student's intellectual functioning consists primarily of daily passive intake succeeded by the taking of spaced examinations, the successful passing of which serves primarily to prove that they had not been lacking in attention. Since each student carries four or five subjects, each goes through a similar process four or five times daily. It is evident that our present rigid program is successfully preventing teachers from providing students with the opportunity to function on an independent basis during the school day, as they are expected to do when they enter college.

The occasional library research topics teachers assign to selected students are inadequate preparation for the time when students will be intellectually "on their own." We must devise our program so that students are given the opportunity to delve into selected areas of the year's work as deeply as their intellect and inclination allow, while at the same time providing teachers with ample time and opportunity to serve as consultants and advisers in order to supplement classroom presentations with instruction more nearly geared to individual student needs.

Lack of professional staff interaction among faculty members is another problem we share in common with typical secondary schools. Not surprisingly, the only one to witness a teacher instructing his students throughout the year is the principal. Whatever excellent techniques a particular staff member his developed throughout his years of experience in a particular content area are lost to fellow teachers, since these skills are being practiced behind the closed doors of his own classroom. Thus, a new teacher is denied access to the examples and skills which would most help him to improve his own techniques and delivery. Rigid scheduling compounds the difficulty. Teachers also have little opportunity to exchange information about students. The conference period, occasionally spent in the faculty lounge allows but brief moments to question another teacher about his reaction to a particular student, if indeed, the other teacher, subject to the rigid schedule, was there at all. While our teachers do meet in faculty meetings, much of the time is taken up with administration matters, rather than those involving students. The new program could incorporate ways to enable groups of teachers with common interests regarding particular students to interact on a daily or weekly basis.

The services of individual staff members can be put to more effective use by the programs. Why should teachers address themselves four or five times daily to groups divided equally by number, rather than by ability or interest? There is certain material in each subject matter area which could be presented to larger-than-normal groups by combining several classes, thus giving a tetcher additional time to prepare future lessons, or work individually with students.

It is generally felt that too many secondary school students regard time spent in the classroom as a necessary evil to be dispensed with as quickly and as painlessly as possible, and with the least possible expenditure of intellectual effort. With extensive new fields of knowledge opening up daily, and current discoveries making standardized textbooks outdated almost from the date of publication, it seems important to spur students' desire to know through built-in motivational devices within the new curriculum. By utilizing flexibility, change, and individual challenge, student interest can hopefully be captured.

Our daily schedule of classes and teacher assignments, like so many typical secondary schools, controls all of the daily activities within the school. Teachers needing more time with students are forced to relinquish them at the sound of the bell; other teachers in other classrooms are waiting for them. Students hurry from class to class according to the dictates of a schedule handed them on opening day, with no deviation visible in period length, for example, from Spanish III to Industrial Arts I. They report to assigned study halls with teachers unfamiliar to them, in many cases, serving as proctors. In most cases, their subject matter teachers are teaching another assigned group of students in another part of the building.

Ways must be found to free both teachers and students from the rigidity of a daily schedule which controls not only mass movement of individuals, but also exerts undue influence on the manner in which the curricular and instructional program is carried out. Teachers and students should be given greater control over their daily activities, and the schedule relegated to its proper place — that of providing an orderly framework within which the instructional and curricular needs of students and teachers become the controlling factors.

I believe that the time has come to break away from a strict adherence to the established traditional secondary school program, and introduce new instructional methods which would, more than anything else, personalize and individualize the educational process.

The concept of large group instruction, sometimes designated as team teaching, gives sufficient promise of breaking down the artificial barriers between teachers and students, and between teacher and teacher to warrant building a new curriculum around it. In a new program, groups or teams of teachers would be given responsibility for the instruction of several sections of students assigned to them. These teachers would be responsible for placing the teaching-learning situation on a level of academic intimacy hitherto thought impossible in a traditional program. Staff utilization studies would be made an on-going part of the new program, so that new ways of increasing teacher availability to students could be found.

The incorporation of a team teaching enterprise within a given school program requires the making of many decisions. The most important of these revolve around the selection of subjects to be included, the selection of personnel to staff the program, and the choosing of student participants. An additional concern is the determination of the number of different teaching teams to be included at the outset.

Although we have forty or more teachers and a thousand or more pupils who could be included within a team teaching enterprise, feel that wholesale experimentation can only lead to chaos and an early death to team teaching.

Each one of our staff members is an individual human being, each with his own preconceived notions about the merits of team teaching. Some, I believe, are eager to try a new program, while others, I am sure, are convinced that team teaching will fail. I have prepared pages of material designed to inform the staff of the goals of team teaching. I feel that a series of educational workshops should be held to further inform the staff. We must convince, even the most adamant that he should willingly alter the teaching techniques learned through years of hard experience, and embark upon this as yet, uncharted educational voyage which gives promise of tremely comfortable status quo. I believe that we can expect to encounter opposition from some of our staff members, and I would expect this to be the case. What is needed is an example, a pilot program, staffed by dedicated, interested teachers, carried on within our building next year, so that eventual benefits of such a program would be there for all to see.

The wish to change must come from within, and no amount of administrative pleading or pressure can alter this facet of the human personality.

I would like to introduce one team of three teachers, working with a group of ninety students during the 1968-69 school year. I suggest an integrated, or interdisciplinary subject matter team, rather than a horizontal one in which all the teachers teach the same subject. I believe our limited facilities for this type of program can be stretched to accommodate this one group of ninety students.

After several informal discussions with various interested staff members, I think that we would like to begin our pilot program with three basic subjects which are required of ninth grade college preparatory students — English, Algebra, and Social Studies. This group would also be scheduled for a fourth period which would be termed a flexible instructional period. The ninety students after completing their team subjects during the first three periods would report to a large group room daily. The three team teachers they have just had for English, Algebra and Social Studies would report to this same room. If possible, another teacher or aide should be assigned as proctor and attendance taker.

By assigning the total group of ninety students and three team teachers to a large group room one period each day, we provide the three basic ingredients needed for all truly flexible large group instruction:

a. a homogeneous group of students available on a daily basis throughout the year.

b. a complete team of three teachers available at the same time.

c. a large group instructional area ready for use.

When not utilized for large group lecturing, this flexible instructional period serves as a new kind of study hall. A study hall supervised by their three subject matter teachers. During this period, each teacher can also work with small groups of students. Thus, individualized instruction becomes possible, and it also provides time during the school day for independent study for those students whom the teachers feel can profit from such an arrangement.

Earlier, I made mention of our limited facilities for this type of program. Actually, our facilities have become limited for our present traditional program. A school of our size with its narrow hallways, scarcity of classrooms, a library-study hall combination, which is strongly frowned upon by the North Central Association, a cafeteria, which doubles as a vocal and instrumental area, a little theater area seating one-hundred-and-forty with its home-made stage, inadequate locker room space, a vocational education curriculum which should be expanded unless the County Vocational School becomes a reality, inadequate outdoor area for our physical education classes and athletic teams, lack of storage space, cramped quarters for the guidance and administrative offices, need for publications facilities, and on and on.

To meet the needs of building facilities for the "Forward Look in Secondary Education" we need a high school building which would include an auditorium, a swimming pool, vocal and instrumental music facilities, and a maximum of flexible spatial areas which are adaptable in terms of size and instructional procedure. If this building is constructed with an eye to spatial and instructional flexibility, the educational program incorporated therein can combine the best elements of the traditional and the innovative, and will adapt most readily to future shifts of the educational pendulum.

LEAGUE CHAMP — Dan Anderson, wrestling in the 175-pound division, won the Huron League Tournament championship last Saturday at Grosse Ile. Anderson has been one of the standouts on the new league titleists.

JV's Remain Undefeated

In what Coach Jim Cureth termed "the most crucial game of the season," the Tecumseh High JV's continued their winning ways, upending Willow Run, 73-60. The taller Willow Run Flyers proved to be little trouble for the Indians as they hit 50% from the floor and 35-45 at the charity stripe.

Willow Run pressed hard throughout the game but the speed and balance of the Indians offset it.

Alex Gibson poured 24 points through the hoops and picked off 12 rebounds. He played a solid game under the nets against much taller competition. Rich Schuyler, playing with an injured hand had nine points and nine rebounds to help considerably on the boards.

Bob Pettit, at center, had 11 points and 12 rebounds. Several times he came through with important baskets for the Indians. Pettit, along with Gibson and Schuyler of Tecumseh, has time and again had the edge in rebounding against their foes.

Scott Dalton collected 13 points and picked up five assists. His back court ball handling was an asset to the Indian charge.

Craig Smith, playing with a heavy case of the flu, contributed 16 points, six rebounds and played the second half of the game with four personal fouls against him. He hit on 14 of 19 charity tosses.

The Indian offense had little trouble hitting the open man for two-pointers in the game.

Last week's other victim of the undefeated JV's was Flat Rock on Feb. 11. The win clinched the Huron League title. The score was 69-44.

Alex Gibson was high point man with 20 points and 14 rebounds. Pettit scored 15 points, and Dalton 11 to lead the scorers.

Tecumseh built up a 52-26 lead and the Indian reserves flooded the floor. Several men who have ridden the bench much of the season came on as replacements and made good showings: Tom LaFerriere, Gary Alcock, Frank Geisenhaver and Paul Randall.

They play Blissfield at Blissfield Friday in hopes of extending their winning streak to 15.

Letters to the Editor

TO THE EDITOR:

Our seventh grade health class has started a campaign to stamp out smoking and drinking. Our basic theme is "We would rather fight than switch". We would rather fight the cigarette habit than switch and be one of the thousand people who die each year from respiratory diseases caused by smoking. We are adopting a creed that all boys and girls who drink are heading for trouble, trouble that means the vital organs of the body are being damaged.

Please back our program as we are making posters, pamphlets, plastic buttons, and kits to show here at our school and throughout the county. Our health teacher, Harvey Jackson, our school's wrestling coach, is helping in our program. He is letting us do all our own work and express our ideas. So many times people say our society is one of vice and corruption and we, the seventh grade students at Onsted High Cchool, are young people who want to prove that our society is not one that is so different and made up of all long-haired hippies, addicts, drunks, but people who care about America, their states, cities, town, neighbors, and tomorrow's citizens. We aren't a different generation but a generation that cares.

Thank you very much.

Sincerely,
Brad L. Butler,

TO THE EDITOR:

Yesterday while visiting my daughter in your city, I got a parking ticket, even though there was an hour left on the meter, after I returned from your city's lovely restaurant. In reading the traffic ticket it said to drop it and 50c in a certain box. Before doing so, I asked a Navy man in uniform about it, and he said he'd had a ticket also and had 10 minutes left on the meter. Another person said a lady traffic officer had gone through this municipal parking lot back of the stores, recently.

So naturally I'm wondering what kind of a racket your city's traffic dept. is pulling off — it looks as though it's done by her on cars with out-of-town licenses on them. Or the lady cop might be trying to compete in getting the most tickets.

However, this is sure poor publicity for your city. It's the first time I've ever been in Tecumseh and naturally I want to come to visit my daughter as often as possible and so will our other relatives, but we'd be very wary of parking at any meter unless you publicize this and we're assured of it not happening any more.

I've traveled in most of the states in the U. S. but have never received such an unwelcome and such a dishonest way to make money.

Yours truly,
Mrs. F. M. Pappert

"A THURBER CARNIVAL" — A rousing dance scene, a moving monologue . . . all the ingredients for a fun-filled evening are promised with the THS Senior Play this week. The rollicking production is to be presented in the high school Little Theatre February 26, 27, and March 1, at 7:30 p.m.

Burglary Spree Strikes 8 Tecumseh Businesses

A burglary spree, probably the biggest in the history of Tecumseh, took place here early Tuesday morning with break-ins reported at four business places and attempted burglary at four others.

Stores hit in the spree were Flanders Music Company, Baldwin Hardware and Decorating Center, all in the northwest business block, and Tony Marchese's barber shop at the edge of Tecumseh on W. Chicago Blvd.

Biggest loss occurred at Flanders where owners Bill and Betty Flanders report one portable color TV, three black and white portable TVs, two electric guitars, a battery pack and several rolls of change were taken.

Their loss is just under $1,000.

At Baldwin's, five rifles, one pellet gun, three power saws and change from two cash registers were stolen. No other missing merchandise was found, although other items could have been taken.

The Decorating Center was entered and a desk ransacked, but owner Harvey Frankhouse said it would be impossible to determine anything missing until after an inventory.

At the downtown businesses, entries were made through rear doors. The inside door lock at Flanders was practically ripped off. A large chunk of the Baldwin door was smashed and pried off, including the lock.

A pane of glass was broken at the Decorating Center.

The burglars also tried to enter Cal's Tog Shop, and left jimmy marks in the rear door. A pane of glass in the rear door of Larry's Grill was broken, but it's believed that the burglars did not enter the restaurant.

Tony's barber shop was entered by smashing the plate glass out of the front door. Mr. Marchese reports about $20 in cash taken, plus several silver dollars, a barber's jacket and a pair of shears.

Joe's Market, next door to the barbershop, also was hit but the burglars were thwarted in their attempt to enter. They broke the glass out of the front door and attempted to pry apart steel bars covering the rear window.

Burglars broke the front door lock at Jerry's Market, but Jerry Coffey, owner, reports no entry into his store.

Police Chief Murrell Clark believes the break-ins occurred sometime around 3 a.m. Fingerprints have been lifted in hopes of connecting some suspects.

120-Acre Site Is Optioned for $100,000

Completion of legal papers to acquire 120 acres from Jens Touborg for a new high school were authorized by the School Board Monday night.

Cost to the schools will be $100,000 — but $96,000 less than the appraisal figure for the property, located at the southeast corner of M-50 and Rogers Hwy.

Recent appraisals, including one by an Ohio appraiser, listed the property value at $196,304, or approximately $1,600 per acre. Mr. Touborg's sale price to the schools is about $830 an acre.

Assistant Superintendent Robert Duhan says the Board's plans are a down payment of $5,000 — upon completion of the necessary legal papers — and the balance on or before Jan. 15, 1970.

At the present, school architects are preparing preliminary plans for a new high school, and a proposed interior plan of classrooms, workshop areas, laboratories, gymnasium, auditorium, and swimming pool have already been presented to school officials.

No architectural plans have been finalized and no estimates have been suggested by the architects or school officials.

However, Saline's recently approved high school is costing approximately $6 million, a figure which is apt to be less than Tecumseh's since the local schools are reportedly planning a bigger school, due to a larger enrollment.

Officials first planned for a millage vote in April — at least before the regular school election in June — but are uncertain about the date, since plans and costs are not projected by the architects yet.

City officials are aware of the school's plans and the extension of city sewer and water to the area. No decision has been reached as to whether the property should be annexed to the city or left in Tecumseh Township.

Costs for the utilities are estimated at $25,000, and would probably be financed by special assessment against property owners in the area.

Mental Health Project Is Still An Uncertainty

By BILL SANFORD

Milton wrote, in Paradise Lost, "The mind is its own self and in itself can make a heaven of hell, a hell of heaven." The latter makes up what could be the segment of the population who are afflicted with mental illness. These afflicted become the center of interest in Lenawee County.

Two weeks ago a proposal was put to the Board of Supervisors in Adrian calling for the establishment of a mental health program. A mental health board, appointed by the supervisors, drew up the recommendations and submitted them at that time.

The supervisors in a quandry over the role of the mental health agency received a budget request of slightly over $8,000 referring it to the Ways and Means Committee of the board for further study.

Discussion arose over the financing ability of the board. Several organizations throughout the county have applied pressure to the board to reconsider the proposal at the March session.

The vote on the original issue was 14-7. Attempts are now being made to force a change in four votes to allow passage. Pros and cons to the effort have confused the issue. Reports issued by the Mental Health Board last July to the supervisors and the one submitted this month differ in certain aspects.

The opposition to the mental health program is based mainly on funds available and future county funding of the program.

Last week the Adrian Jaycees sponsored a meeting where the members of the mental health board presented to interested parties the outline of establishing a mental health facility in the county.

The meeting turned into a political three-ringed circus with high-flying oratory and daring jibes of discontent. One supervisor who voted for the proposal stated that this campaign to force the issue was aimed at breaking the back of a strong, conservative coalition on the board.

The Keller, Zilke, Fish and Hull quadrumvriate led the opposition in the previous session of the board. Where the local funds were coming from were the basis of most opposition.

At the Adrian Jaycee meeting all who voted for the proposal were present with the exception of Lowell Hammontree of Morenci and Carl Kackstedter of Hudson. Arthur Twiss, Russell Rohrback, Oscar Hauch, Lewis Glaser and Hugh Flippo were present. Two who voted "no" attended, Faye Whelan of Tecumseh and M. Halley of Clinton. Several times barbed remarks were thrown in their direction with no retort from the dissenters.

Whelan near the end of the meeting did take a stand, however, telling the group, "I voted 'no' last time and I'll be quite frank with you. I haven't heard anything tonight that's going to change my mind." He referred to county finances and the fact that he has served less than 60 days on the board and was unable to grasp fully the financial workings of the county budget. He went on to add that he could not support any further government spending not included in the budget until he was more familiar with local outlay.

Several opponents of the program noted the lack of qualified personnel who aided in establishing the written report for the supervisors. There were no professional persons from the psychiatric field available for questioning at the Jaycee meeting.

A social worker for the Intermediate School District spoke on how the care was needed for Lenawee Schools. As an example she cited the expulsion of 15 students from Clinton High School for actions last week. Actually only four students were expelled and two reprimanded for vandalism. She stated that if psychiatric care had been available it would not have happened.

The committee also sympathized with parents who found it inconvenient and time consuming to take their children 40 miles for help. The July proposal said, "The committee is impressed with arguments of teachers and school administrators that his facility, Huron Valley Child Guidance Clinic, is altogether too far away. Parents are often slow to recognize that their child has a problem and when they do, are discouraged by the fact that so much time and inconvenience and personal expense is involved in getting the child to and from Huron Valley."

A wait is also a problem with the Huron Clinic, sometimes as much as six to nine months. Last year the Washtenaw facility treated a total of 572 children, according to the report, of which 92 came from Lenawee. There are cases in which the time of wait can be disputed.

The proposed Lenawee facility could be expected to handle 300 patients. Huron Valley has a staff of 26 full-time and four part-time professionals. The Lenawee facility would have a staff of three professionals.

Also for some concern by the board was the fact that even if the county were to add a mental health facility in the county, it would be necessary to maintain a budget for use of Huron Valley.

Other items in the $125,000 budget, which will be subsidized by a three to one ratio of state funds are an appropriation from local united and community funds. Any decrease in these collections could easily affect the county resources and force increased appropriations from the county. This happened between 1966, when $6,100 was appropriated to Huron Valley and 1967 when $4,800 was contributed. The county would have to make up the difference in this case.

Mayors Exchange pairings for the 16th Annual Michigan Week, May 17-24, were announced recently. They are:
Britton - Pinckney
Clinton - Manton

Mental Health

Any salary increases, according to law, would be the responsibility of the local government also.

Many of the supervisors voiced fear that within three or four years a budget of $40,000 to $50,000 would be necessary.

It is difficult to project whether or not the board will accept or reject or even consider the proposal in March. The pressure applied thus far indicates that it will be considered, passage will be indicated by that pressure.

Halley and Whelan who sat among their foes on this issue were somewhat like Seneca's, "It is often better not to see an insult than to avenge it."

Mr. and Mrs. Austin Partridge have set a precedent in the family of taking a grandchild who attains the honor roll at school out to dinner. Sunday was a double barreled occasion for young Matthew Barrett, son of Mr. and Mrs. Allan Barrett. He not only went to the Country House with his grandparents but his great-grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Mel Partridge, were also guests of the Austin Partridges.

The occasion marked the 62nd wedding anniversary of Tecumseh's long-time W. Chicago Blvd. residents. Upon returning Matthew to his home Mel and Emma were surprised to find the whole family gathered at their granddaughter's house.

What a wonderful time they had and Emma said, "Then's when you really appreciate your grandchildren." She enjoyed cutting the three-tiered cake, too, and serving it to the Roger Partridges, Mickey and Arnold and the Forest Barretts of Britton.

The Partridges were thrilled Friday by a visit from their niece and husband, Major and Mrs. Charles Hall of Monterey, Calif. The couple were en route to Washington, D. C., with their two children. He had been stationed in Korea for 14 months. The Halls were accompanied by Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Lindow of Chelsea.

George Green of Pentwater was a visitor of his mother, Mrs. George Green, Sr., this past week.

Mrs. Lavern Seizert has been ill most of the winter in Mesa, Ariz. The Seizerts lived on N. Adrian Hwy. before going to the sunny clime. Mrs. Al Bagshaw visited Mrs. Seizert while she was hospitalized. They are spending the winter in Arizona. It has been suggested by some of Mrs. Seizert's friends that a card shower would be most appropriate. Her address is 523 N. 56th St., Mesa, Ariz. 85201.

Mrs. Harry Crosby left by jet from Metropolitan Airport Saturday after a long distance call from her son-in-law, Capt. Ronald Siwik, Friday when he said that an 8 lb., 6 oz. girl, Mary Kay, had been born in Forbes A. F. B. hospital, Topeka, Kan., to he and his wife, the former Rita Crosby.

The baby was born on Mrs. Crosby's birthday anniversary Feb. 21. The baby's big sister, Julie, 3, was born on her great grandmother's birthday anniversary March 23. The girls also have a five-year-old brother, Steve. Mr. and Mrs. Glenn Driscoll are the maternal great grandparents of the children.

Sp/4 James Kirk arrived home Feb. 19 after spending 17 months in Germany with the U. S. Army. He and Mrs. Kirk, the former Sue Hammack, are living in Ann Arbor. Mr. Kirk, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ray Kirk, entered the army in March 1967. His wife joined him in Germany for a year. The couple visited his grandmother Sunday in Dayton, Ohio putting off for another week the Christmas (yes, Christmas) celebration at the Hammack residence. Mrs. Ernest Hammack has her tree still up waiting for the time when her daughter's husband would be able to enjoy it with the family.

Mr. and Mrs. Ronald Harris are enjoying a visit from their entire family including granddaughter, Alison, daughter of 1/c P. O. Jerry Crunk and Mrs. Crunk, formerly Janet Harris. They arrived Friday from Groton, Conn to spend a week. He is attached to the nuclear submarine now under construction, the Sea Horse. Chief Petty Officer Duncan Harris who is attached to a fighter squadron on the carrier Constellation arrived home last week to spend a 30 day leave before returning to Miramar, Naval Air Station, Calif.

Our beloved Beth Satterthwaite has been hospitalized in California and we didn't know about it 'til she was safely back home again, nicely recovering. In case there are those of her friends who would like to send a note of greeting to her, we have her address — 401 Santa Clara Ave., Oakland, Calif. 94610 Apt. 324, and 20 whacks with a wet noodle to Brother, Perry, who should have told us.

Mrs. Howard Simmerman of Sylvania, O., came Feb. 20 to be with her mother, Mrs. Maude L. Creger, on her birthday anniversary. They spent the afternoon at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Claude Creger and family in Clinton. Mr. Creger had just returned home from St. Joseph's Hospital, Ann Arbor. Mrs. Creger was a supper guest in the home. Others present were Ronald Creger, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Adams and son, Scotty, Mrs. Florence Minehart, Mrs. Adams, granddaughter of the honored guest, made a decorated cake for the occasion.

Alice Johnson who makes her home with her niece, Mrs. Neil Pearson, was feted at an afternoon tea Thursday honoring her 92 birthday anniversary. A decorated cake made by Mrs. Thomas Gallant Sr. was served to more than 20 friends from the area and Ann Arbor. Miss Johnson received many gifts, candy and flowers.

In honor of their 25th wedding anniversary Mr. and Mrs. Henry K. Smith were entertained Saturday evening at Arne's Restaurant at Toledo by their family. Present were Dr. and Mrs. Gregg Smith of Harbor Beach, Mr. and Mrs. Phillip Smith of East Lansing, Patricia and Pamela Smith. Mr. and Mrs. Smith were married February 25, 1944 in Tecumseh.

Among the members of the Tecumseh Music Club who attended the concert of the Michigan Youth Symphony in the Britton High School recently were Mrs. Earl Mason and family, Mrs. T. Rentschler, Dorothy Ruthruff, Mrs. Elizabeth Wilson and Mrs. Wilfred Waldron.

Stewardship Nears Goal

The "Reach Forth Your Hand" stewardship crusade of the Tecumseh United Methodist Church has successfully attained one of two goals set for the drive. With slightly more than 95% of the membership contacted the minimum needs goal has been surpassed with $100,000 presently received in pledges and gifts. The challenge goal of $105,000 is within sight and could be achieved before the final results are totaled.

Past Chief Club

The Addie Kemp Past Chief Club met at the home of Mrs. Howard Luce. Mrs. Harriet Gleason and Mrs. Rollo Thielan were the co-hostesses.

A friendship night for another club was planned.

Euchre was played with Mrs. Earl Luce winning high prize, Mrs. Rollo Thielan the low prize and Mrs. Howard Mattis the lone hand prize. Mrs. Grover Swarts won the mystery gift. Refreshments were served by the hostesses.

New Director

The YMCA announced today that Robert King of Clinton will be the new director of the Day Camp for 1969. Mr. King is married, has two children and is currently teaching Physical Education in Clinton, working evenings at the 'Y' in Adrian and attending Eastern Michigan University.

Continue Talks

At one time, the asking price was $16,000. Officials hope to determine if the price has changed, and discussed having the property appraised.

Farm Declined

The farm is located beyond the Country Club on Milwaukee Rd.

County Cards Not Accepted

School Board approved a proposal Monday night not to accept county library cards in the future at the Tecumseh Public Library.

Difficulty in having books, pictures and other records returned to the local library were cited as the reasons.

Accomplishments Are Honored

Tecumseh was one of five Michigan communities to be honored recently by the Greater Michigan Foundation for "significant accomplishment to community betterment."

The state-wide contest is conducted annually and sponsored by the foundation in connection with Michigan Week.

Judges also awarded a special citation to Tecumseh for the Vehicle Safety Check campaign for attacking one of Michigan's major problems. In the program almost 3,000 local vehicles received safety checkups in a campaign that vowed Tecumseh to become "the safest small town in Michigan."

COL. CARL SCHOFIELD AND SP/4 LaVERNE C. STITES

Tecumseh Soldier Praised for Duty

Sp/5 LaVerne C. Stites, son of Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Stites of 1954 Russell Rd., arrived at Metro Airport Saturday from being stationed at Fort Buckner, Okinawa for the last 18 months. He is home on a 30-day furlough before leaving for Ft. Benning, Ga., to complete his time in service. Sp/5 Stites will be married March 8 to Jane Iffland of Blissfield.

Since Sp/5 Stites has been on Okinawa he has been made soldier of the month twice within the year and was awarded a $25 Savings Bond. The last award was presented in January of this year. Sp/5 Stites was also awarded a certificate of achievement in recognition of distinguished meritorious service during the period October 1968 to February 1969 as personal driver for the Commanding Officer, Fort Buckner, Okinawa.

"Sp/5 Stites consistently performed his duties with technical skill, enthusiasm and dependability. Also was directly responsible for the rapid and timely transport of the Installation Commander during a rigorous daily schedule. He exhibited the utmost concern for the welfare, safety and comfort of his passengers.

In response to frequent requirements for performance during his off-duty time, Sp/5 Stites displayed a positive, willing and dependable attitude. He attained a perfect driving record despite hazardous traffic conditions. Stites' outstanding achievements are in keeping with the highest traditions of the United States Army and reflect great credit on himself and the Military Service." The above certificate was presented by Carl Schofield, Colonel, Infantry Commanding.

Sp/5 Stites received his new promotion the day after this award.

The Lloyd Stites have another son overseas, Pfc. Gordon L. Stites, who is stationed in Mannheim, Germany. He left Feb. 22 for maneuvers in Baumholder, Germany.

4 Expelled, Discipline 2

Vandals, throwing bottles, did estimated $123 worth of damage to windows on the north side of the Clinton High School building, apparently late the evening of Feb. 14.

Four Clinton students have been temporarily expelled from school — for various lengths of time — and two others are being disciplined, as determined by Principal Jack Miller, who investigated the incident along with the Lenawee County Sheriff's Department.

Several Clinton High School youths were involved, although only one confession has been reportedly made. The window breakage occurred after an away basketball game.

Wrestlers "Great Job"

The Tecumseh High School did, in the words of Coach Pat Connors, "a great job" at the district tournament at Parma Western High School last Saturday. The matmen finished in second place behind Holt, 98-92. The rest of the field trailed far behind.

Evelen wrestlers entered the tournament and nine placed in the final standings. Tecumseh captured three firsts, five seconds and one fourth.

Abel Valdez, Bill Groover and Dan Anderson took first places for the tribe matmen. Merv and Marv Maynard, Steve Tilton, Steve Hinkleman and Bob Hackett finished with second place honors. Those who finished in first or second place will travel to Chelsea High School this Saturday for the regional tournament.

Gary Jones was the fourth place finisher.

Tecumseh forfeited the heavyweight division or the final results might have been different.

After nearly 10 years without a wrestling team the Indians have become one of the sports highlights on the local scene coming back in their second year of competition to cop the league tournament and crown and finished a close second in the district.

Eight wrestlers will be carrying the Indians' colors into the regionals on Saturday with a chance to capture more honors for the city's high school.

Indians Lose Lead, Game

Tecumseh High jumped off to an early 20-13 first quarter lead but couldn't hold off a determined Blissfield team who downed the Indians, 66-55, Friday night.

Tecumseh led through three periods of play but fell flat in the final quarter allowing the Royals to dump in 21 points while only managing eight themselves.

Jim Hunt tallied 13 points, John Kennedy 12 and Wally Quinn ten as the Indians mounted a well-balanced scoring attack.

Tournament drawings were held Tuesday. Tecumseh drew a first round bye and will take on Ypsilanti Lincoln on Wednesday, March 5. Thursday, Milan will play the winner of the Tecumseh game and the winner of the opening tilt on Tuesday, Saline vs. Willow Run. All games start at 7:30.

The tournament will be in Saline High School.

Guest Pastor Serves Interim

The Rev. Raymon Bair of Ypsilanti will be the guest minister at the First Presbyterian Church this Sunday and will serve as interim minister until such time as they call a new minister.

Mr. Bair is the minister emeritus of the Ypsilanti First United Presbyterian Church. He came to that parish in 1940 and finished his active ministry there.

Mr. Bair's sermon topic will be "The Secret of God" — text: Job 15:8. Worship service is at 11:00 a.m. and church school is held at 9:45 a.m. All are welcome.

Hot Dog!!

The Fire Department was called to Kerby's Grill on W. Chicago Blvd. Monday morning when a fire started in the grill. The restaurant closed for the rest of the day but was open on Tuesday as usual.

Team Rivalry Ends In Tie

The Adrian Lenawee YMCA and Adrian Junior High swim teams stroked to a 92-92 tie in the Junior High pool Thursday night.

The YMCA scored a 54-38 win in the seventh grade division while the score was reversed in the eighth grade portion of the meet.

Due to the extreme rivalry between the two local teams this was one of the most exciting and close meets of the season with many swimmers from both teams posting their best times.

Laurie, daughter of the Paul Hohensteins, was on the winning 200-yard medley relay team, second in the 100-yard individual medley, and fourth in the 100-yard backstroke.

Doug, son of the Richard Egglestons, was third in the 50-yard breaststroke. Dennis, son of the Paul Koecheles, was third in the 50-yard breast stroke.

This is the last dual meet for the YMCA and has ended its season with a fine record of 9-1-1.

Memoriam

In memory of Staff Sgt. Robert Check, who was killed in service, Nov. 20, 1944. He would have been 50, Feb. 27.
We do not need a special day,
To bring him to our minds.
The days we do not think of him
Are very hard to find.
Within our store of memories,
He holds a place apart
For no one else should ever be
More cherished in our hearts.
Sadly missed by his father, sister and two brothers. 2-27p

In loving memory of our darling baby, Douglas Jay Bannister, born March 22, 1967, and left this world to live with Jesus one year ago, Feb. 27, 1968.
Our home is lonely without you.
We miss your beautiful smile.
You were our darling baby
For such a very short time.
You filled our lives with sunshine
Then left so suddenly.
There is a vacancy deep within our hearts
That no amount of time will heal.
Sadly missed by Daddy and Mama, Brother Donnie, and Grandpa and Grandma. 2-27p

Entertain Class

The Power Class of the Friends Church entertained members of the Overcomers Class Saturday evening serving a smorgasbord to 61 attending.

Guests included Larry and Phyllis Richards of Indianapolis, Ind., who presented the devotions in song, accompanied by Mr. Richard's accordian.

Joe Hayden, master of ceremonies, introduced an interesting impromptu program including a "newlywed game" with the youngest newlyweds married 21 years. Those participating were Mr. and Mrs. Lee Spohr, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Randolph, Mr. and Mrs. Richard Vaughn and Mr. and Mrs. Richard Thompson.

A quartet sang and Linda Chase played her "grand piano."

There's Joy in Toryland

By BILL SANFORD

Population wise, Britton may not be the biggest town in the county, but twelve young men make it the ninth biggest town in the state, in Class D basketball. The Britton Tories have whipped up this farming community, home of past champions, that had seen her basketball fortune diminish during the last three years, sixteen straight wins wiped out the years of frustration. Coach Jim Landfair's charges have brought joy back to Toryland.

Over the weekend the Tories wrapped up victories 15 and 16 over Whiteford and Ypsilanti Roosevelt respectively. Whiteford's Bobcats were easy foes after a tough first quarter, 75-55. Ypsi wanted to be spoilers but the tough Tories pulled out a close one, 69-66.

Friday's action had the Bobcats trail by only two behind Britton at the end of the first period, 16-14. The Tories pulled out the spirit and scoring to turn the two-point lead into ten points by the half by dumping in 16 compared to 8 for the Cats.

The second half was all Britton as the Tories added six more to their lead in the third stanza and four more in the last quarter to make up their 20 point margin.

Dave Fairbanks led Britton scorers with 25, Jim Skelton, Jim Brown and Dave Lister all produced 11 for the double figure output of the Tories.

Against Ypsi, the Tories found a tougher foe and they needed all the determination and skill they had used all season to pull away with a narrow three-point win.

Roosevelt led at the end of the opening period 18-15. The second quarter the points were reversed as the Tories knotted the score, 33-33, with 18 points to 15 for Ypsi.

During the third period Britton opened a six point margin going into the final stanza but a determined Roosevelt quintet kept up with the Tories and came within three at the final buzzer of handing the Britton five their first loss.

Jim Lister tossed in 17 to lead the scorers and Skelton with 14, Brown with 15 and Rick Maska with 12 gave the balanced attack.

Britton's leading scorer Dave Fairbanks was held to four points in the contest, being plagued by foul trouble. But as has been the case all season long for the spirited Tories, when one player has an off night another moves into the slot to give the team the needed boost.

The Tories wind up the season this Friday with a game on the Deerfield court.

Tuesday the Tories participate in the tournament drawings in the county class D district. Summerfield and Adrian Catholic Central are slated for the first round in the district. Britton drew a bye and will face the winner of the opening tilt. Deerfield and Sand Creek will square off at one another in the other opening Class D encounter.

As evidence of the support of the local team, a downtown restaurant has signs posted weekly cheering on their "boys". The one this week looms, "Let's wrap it up clean with victory 17. Beat Deerfield." Mrs. Clare Griffin has been the poet laureate for the team. Each week she applies her touch of the poet to the ninth-ranked Tories from Britton.

Win No. 15

By DAVE KELLEY

Tecumseh's undefeated JV's ran into some trouble against Blissfield last Friday night but recovered and pulled away with a 14-point win. One field goal was all the Indian offense could muster in the first period, and six free throws, luck being with the little Tribe Blissfield was having trouble finding the hoop and managed only 10 to lead at the end of the first period, 10-8.

Bob Pettit broke his arm early in the game, but it was not detected until after the contest. He played at center with the arm tightly taped. He only managed two points but helped on the boards by battling down 12 rebounds.

In the second period Craig Smith hit for 10 points and led the Indians back to a two point lead at half-time, 22-20. Tecumseh stretched the lead to six at the end of three and kept up the pace in the fourth quarter to set back Blissfield's Royals 57-43.

Smith led the scorers with 22 while Rich Schuyler dumped in 17. Scott Dalton and Alex Gibson each garnered eight points in the win. Schuyler has averaged 10.2 points per game since replacing Gary Hanibal. He has steadily improved on offense and defense, 17 points was his high game.

In the second half Tecumseh hit 10-14 from the floor for 71% after a slow start.

This week Tecumseh will attempt to become the first unbeaten basketball team from Tecumseh when they host Monroe Jefferson's Bears in their final game of the year Friday. Game time is 6:30 p.m.

Gal Forward

Emily Manwaring, junior at Michigan State University, is playing her third year as starting rover forward on MSU women's varsity basketball team. They won over Jackson Junior College but lost to Calvin at Grand Rapids.

Adrian College was defeated by MSU when Emily was high with 22 points during that game.

Linda Oberlin, freshman at MSU, is playing guard on the junior varsity.

Emily will be playing with the team Thursday night when MSU meets University of Michigan at Ann Arbor.

Teenagers in Action at THS

"Teenagers in Action" will be in evidence Saturday at the Tecumseh High School gym. The 38 Senior Girl Scouts, working their way to Mexico this summer, will be holding their third Cabana Carnival.

The fun will begin at 11 a.m. and end at 7 p.m. Many booths will be featured, several of which have never been at school carnivals in Tecumseh before.

Pre-schoolers through grandparents will enjoy many of the events, which include Tic-Tac-Toe Toss, Hippie Fortune Telling, Silhouettes, Balloon Dart Toss, Lucky Pen Pick, Pitch for a Prize, Penny Hunt, Saucer Pitch, Dart throw at Balloons, Ring toss for Pop, and Bowling Pin Toss.

The Zoo Parade, featuring all sizes of stuffed animals one may win for only a dime, and the ever popular Win a Pet, will find many taking home a pet goldfish in a bowl, for only a dime.

Cake walks will be held every 15 minutes, and at all times there will be fresh warm popcorn, and yummy candied apples.

Doorprizes, solicited from local merchants will be given each half hour, a bake sale will be held all day. From the Sales Table one may buy such things as comic buttons, blow pipes, and gooks. (You don't know what they are? Come and see!)

"Refreshments and pop will be available at any time, and if your hands are not full of prizes when you leave, you might like to take a cat-head balloon on a stick home to the baby," Mrs. John Robinson said.

The Cabana Girls held their first school carnival in Hillsdale in January, in Jackson in February and will hold one in Adrian in April.

Each girl in the group is responsible for preparing, moving and running her particular booth at each of the carnivals. Girls taking part are from Jackson, Hillsdale and Lenawee Counties.

Local girls are Vicki Cook, Ann Beardsley, Jera Robinson, Debbie Shelton, Renee Albough Sue Beardsley, Tecumseh, and Georgia Bancroft of Clinton. Each girl must raise $400 to make the trip in August.

News of Girl Scouts

The Neighborhood Association of the Girl Scout Council met Wednesday at the scout cabin with Mrs. Richard Egli presiding.

The Cabana girls will hold a carnival for all ages at the Tecumseh High School gym March 1 from 11 to 7.

Plans were completed for the Thinking Day dinner to be held Monday at the Products Union Hall.

Girl Scout Cadette Troop 71 recently learned what it is like to be processed as a juvenile at the local police department. The girls visited the department and met Police Chief Clark. Sgt. Skinner explained the processing at the station and the records kept. Riot weapons, saws, police radios and fingerprinting equipment were shown to the girls. An accident map proved interesting to them. The highlight was the examining of the jail cells.

Tuesday, Girl Scout Troop 78 held their first badge presentation. The girls earned their Gypsy and Skaters badge as a troop and additional badges were earned by the girls. Mothers were present and were served cupcakes and punch.

Those receiving badges were Kathy Creswell, Maureen Fagan, Jennifer Fielder, Kendra Goldmann, Renae Johnson, Lisa Lundahl, Mary McElroy, Lori Naugle, Amy Phibbs, Nora Lee Platt, Kelly Sisson, Teri Todd, Lynn Wikle, Ann Wilson and Suzy Wraight.

Troop 123 Juniors held their Court of Awards February 18th at he Scout Cabin. Candles were lit designating the Girl Scout laws and the Girl Scout promise was said by the girls. Valerie Egli, Vickie Morley, Marsha Gadek, Suzanne Norris, Kim Hill, Kim Jedele, Rene Lapham, Sue Gould, Sue Frazier, Lisa Lee, Linda Staples, Kay Vensze, Louise Sievert, Denise Christman and Peg Upell.

Recently troop 123 attended a party given them by their sponsor, the American Legion Auxiliary. A gift was presented to each girl. The troop made an artificial flower arrangement for the Auxiliary.

Open House Is A Big Success

Approximately 300 parents attended the Patterson School open house "Salute the Teachers." If there had been a prize for room attendance the second grade would have won with the fourth and fifth running close behind.

Kindergarten had the lowest attendance. Kindergarten was the only room which had scheduled teacher-parent conferences this semester. This could account for the low attendance.

The planning committee met at the home of Mrs. Herbert Simon. It was felt that the large turn out showed a definite interest by the parents in the school and teachers. No other activity is planned for this year.

Next year, new representatives will be selected by the room teacher. This year's committee hopes that there will be an open house for fourth, fifth and sixth grades early in the fall since the lower grades will have regular scheduled conferences at this time.

Through My Window

THERE JUST MIGHT BE NO ARTICLE TODAY

I give up — I quit — unless the birds straighten themselves around, there just might not be a "Through My Window" article this week. Usually the birds cooperate beautifully. Something happens, I plan the article, check a few facts so as to be half-way accurate, dictate the thing, and Gertie T. types it. For years I have roughly followed this routine. How should I know today was going to be different?

The subject was all set, on Valentine's Day Clara had called to say that she was being entertained by a black and white creeper. Surely this, plus what I remembered about a long ago visit by one of these birds, and a few facts from some of the bird books, could be molded into an article.

Gertie T. was busy picking books from the shelves when the first interruption side-tracked us. What was that sound?

The day before we had shivered when the window was opened so that we could better hear the singer; today, though, with windows shut tight, the happy sound of the song sparrow was coming through loud and clear.

Next it was the two-note whistle of the perky little titmouse. Oh, well, a few minutes out to listen was really not going to disrupt the whole day.

Neither was a quick look outside to enjoy the springlike sunshine and blue sky.

AFTER SO many dreary days it was a marvelous treat to have brilliant sunshine and I still believe my black and white creeper article might have materialized had I contented myself with sunshine watching. On the other hand, perhaps I can blame everything on Gertie T. — she is the one who asked who that bird was. Who indeed! A dark-backed bird with white edgings on his wings, a small crest, and a band of yellow on his tail. Gertie T. knew as well as I did, it was a cedar waxwing.

But there is never just "A" cedar waxwing. These wanderers are gregarious characters and travel in flocks. We looked around and sure enough, the trees were full. And instead of darting about, many of the birds seemed to be enjoying the sunshine.

Actually, they were doing exactly what I wished I were doing — they were sitting in the sun and just soaking it up. Ahhh! Now waxwings are such lovely birds and, after all they are not around everyday, so certainly a few minutes watching them should be very much in order.

MY TROUBLE is apparently no self-discipline, my few minutes of watching has stretched into almost a whole day.

The flock of waxwings moved from the trees along this side of the creek to the ones on the other side; they trooped to the maples out in front; they checked Prettyman's crabapple bush for any fruit which might have been overlooked on their last visit; they did the same, only with more success, to the clump of barberry by the driveway; then they started the whole procedure again. Gertie T. and I have looked and looked and looked.

Other birds have contributed to the day's excitement, too. When the song sparrow is not singing, he has been hopping along the top of the creek bank and a little goldfinch, not yet showing any trace of his summertime yellow, simply cannot believe that the little round heads of last year's bergemont are seedless.

He picked them clean long ago but today he keeps coming back and looking just to make sure. There is a big pile of food on the feeder. In fact all of the feeders are full — why doesn't he get smart and sample the easy life?

The card table is piled high with bird books, some of which are actually opened to Clara's black and white bird and a couple have even been propped on my reading table. Still I cannot keep my attention inside.

The black and white bird crawling on the trunk of the small maple tree is not her creeper at all. It is much, much bigger, the marking are in no way similar, his feathers are all messed up, and he has a dullish red cap pushed to the front of his head. He is my yellow-bellied sapsucker.

So it is that my intentions were good but what with waxwings, song sparrows, goldfinches and sapsuckers — well, there just might be no article today.

Yoga Anyone

"All right, everyone, assume the horizontal position and relax," called Jon Rosenbaum Thursday evening as he instructed about 20 women in the slimnastics class in Yoga.

The ladies lay on the clean, bare floor of the gym in the Junior High Building in Adrian for perhaps five minutes with the only sound, the creaking of the beams and flooring made by someone's footsteps on the floor above.

Then, "Breathing exercise. Raise arms overhead as you inhale through the nose for four counts. Exhale as you lower arms to sides in a slow eight count." Relax completely, came the quiet voice of the instructor as he participated from the front of the room.

Yoga in this country is not something that rubber-jointed swamis do on a bed of nails, but a marvelous form of exercise, especially suited to women. It's restful, relaxing and graceful, relieving many of the tensions created by the frustrations of daily living.

Mr. Rosenbaum has said that the exercises provide for a generally higher level of fitness for the entire body. All major muscle groups and most individual muscles are exercised thoroughly, adding to one's general comfort.

He has shown many people how to increase daily endurance, relieve backache, and back tension, increase lung capacity and circulation, exercise the heart and other internal organs, aid digestion and relieve constipation.

Next to the headstand, Mr. Rosenbaum, favors the shoulder stand as the most beneficial of exercises. It is done by starting from the horizontal position, inhale deeply and raise both legs straight up into the air in one graceful motion, keeping knees straight and supporting back with hands at the waist. Exhale and hold for three minutes, breathing deeply before lowering slowly back to the floor.

Breathing properly is of utmost importance—when inhaling, the lower ribs should expand as far as they can and when exhaling, every ounce of air should be squeezed out.

Several Tecumseh and Britton women make the drive Thursday evenings to participate in the class, another eight weeks course will begin March 13.

Registration may be made by sending the $5 fee to the Adrian City Recreation Department, City Hall, Adrian, Mich. 49221.

Golden Year For Farm Bureau

The Michigan Farm Bureau will celebrate its Golden Anniversary this fall, and the occasion has sparked renewed interest in the changes which have occurred in farming in the past 50 to 100 years. Old-fashioned churns, hair-curling irons, kerosene lamps and lanterns serve as reminders of how it was in "the good old days."

But few people would care to live now, as it was then — when nearly every housewife baked her own bread, churned butter and scrubbed clothes on a washboard perched in a tub. Water was hand-carried and heated on a wood stove.

—And, most everybody lived on the farm.

Recently, the chairman of Michigan's important 5-member Commission of Agriculture, Walter Lange — who farms near Sebewaing in Huron county, acted as master of ceremonies at a community gathering where the group took a "trip back through time" by means of an exhibit of antiques among them early farming tools.

A threshing flail and an ox-yoke to illustrate an important point. This flail probably cost the farmer of that time about one or two dollars, if he didn't make the flail himself," Walter explained. "Now it has been replaced by a complex machine costing today's farmer between $15,000 and $20,000," he said.

The flail, a wooden-handle, hinged by leather thongs to another shorter length of wood, was swung by muscular threshers to beat kernels of grain from the stalks and husks on the threshing floor. The self-propelled combine was the modern threshing counterpart against which it was compared.

In similar fashion, Lange told how the team of oxen have been replaced by a modern tractor "costing from $10,000 to $15,000" — but immeasurably more effective. At the conclusion of the trip-through-time, both Lange and his audience of farm and city folks agreed they much prefer things the way they are now.

But the point was well made that progress does not come cheaply, and that a large part of the cost-price-squeeze about which farmers complain, has been caused by replacing once abundant farm manpower, with high-priced machine power.

Clinton Study Of City Charter

CLINTON — A new charter is one of the requirements when a village changes to a city form of government. The Michigan Municipal League describes the ways in which government can be modernized:

Modernizing the Form of Government

In addition to the advantages of city incorporation which arise from separation from the township, there is also the opportunity of improving the organization of the local government itself. Before a change from village to city government can be accomplished, the local citizens must vote favorably on the adoption of a city charter. The procedure in becoming a city requires that a Charter Commission of local citizens be elected to draw a charter for presentation to the electorate of the new city. This compulsory preparation of the charter automatically provides consideration of improvements and changes in the existing form of government.

The type of charter is important because it determines, in large measure, how well a city can operate with the greatest economy, benefits, and convenience to its citizens. Based upon the experience of a large number of Michigan cities during the past 40 years or so, it is evident that the most satisfactory form of local government is home rule government. Most of the villages in the state considering the change to city government are now operating under the General Law Village Act (Act No. 3 of 1895). During the years since this law was passed, much thought has been given to providing better systems for local government. The General Law Village has been frequently amended, but many of its faults have not been corrected. It does not provide the flexibility or self-determination of form of government which is provided in the Home Rule City Act.

The Home Rule Act permits the drafting and adoption of a "tailor-made" charter designed to best suit the needs and requirements of each individual city operating under such a charter. In other words, while every general law village has to operate under the same charter (that is, the General Law Village Act), every home rule city has the opportunity to operate under its own particular home rule charter. Certain broad limitations and requirements are outlined by state law, but the details of organization are decided by the elected local Charter Commission and must be approved by the electorate.

The adoption of home rule city government, therefore, has two significant advantages: (1) the broader and more flexible powers granted to local government, and (2) the wide range of governmental organization permitted under the Home Rule City Act.

Greater Powers of a Home Rule City

Under existing court decisions, it is clear that powers of general law villages are confined to those specifically enumerated and those that must be necessarily implied therefrom, and further that these delegated powers will be strictly construed. The purpose of the home rule powers conferred by the Constitution and the implementing statutes was to confer upon local units broad powers in the conduct of their own affairs. In the absence of constitutional and statutory restrictions, home rule municipalities have the power to manage their own affairs in their own way. A few examples of the restrictive powers of general law villages as compared with the more liberal and flexible powers permitted under the home rule charter are discussed below.

The Home Rule Act is more generous and less cumbersome with respect to the levying of taxes than the General Law Village Act. The latter, for all practical purposes, permits the levy of up to 20 mills, but this limitation is broken into several small rates for different purposes. The Home Rule Act provides for the establishment of a tax rate limitation in the charter up to a maximum of 20 mills for all purposes to be allocated at the discretion of local officials.

Another example of the contrast in powers is that pertaining to special assessments. General law villages may not levy an individual special assessment for an improvement which will exceed 25% of the assessed value of the lot or premises, and because of the necessity for spreading assessments on a uniform basis throughout a special assessment district, the lowest valued lot in the district will become the standard for all lots in the district. This limitation almost precludes any sort of special assessment program in a general law village. Furthermore, the maximum number of special assessment improvement purposes, and full payment must be made in advance for all other improvements. No such limitations apply to home rule cities.

A recent Opinion of the Attorney General (No. 2035, June 13, 1955) offers a good example of the legal theory so frequently applied to limit the power of a general law village to those which are specifically set forth in the statutes. It was ruled that a general law village has no power to purchase group life insurance for its employees, such power not being expressly granted by the General Law Village Act nor necessarily implied in any of the village's expressed powers. The same reasoning might well be applied to other types of fringe benefits normally provided for municipal employees.

The validity of this type of reasoning with respect to the powers of general law villages is shown in a recent decision of the Supreme Court (Sebewaing Industries, Inc. v. Village of Sebewaing, Mich.). In this case, the rule was applied rather strictly to find first that there is no express power in the Constitution or general laws authorizing the issuance of revenue certificates by a general law village, and then that the express grant in the General Law Village Act of two methods of financing the acquisition of equipment impliedly excluded the use of any other similar method. This same reasoning would undoubtedly be applied to other types of financing such as installment purchases or lease-purchase agreements. Thus, as contrasted to a home rule municipality, a general law village lacks flexibility in handling fiscal matters.

A&P a lot of your neighbors have stopped baking pies!

Maybe it's because they discovered Jane Parker Pies... thousands have.

But...you say, "No thanks, there is nothing like a good home-baked pie." We agree...they're great."

But would you believe it if we told you our Jane Parker Pies taste home-baked? Probably not...until you've tried one.

Then you'd discover the crust is short and flaky like your own.

You'd discover the fruit is the kind you'd use... the best...juicy, not stiff with starch.

And if you popped a Jane Parker Pie into the oven and warmed it before serving, you'd discover a pie you'd be proud to call your own.

Are Jane Parker Pies a good reason for shopping A&P? They're one of many.

5 Juveniles Are Suspects In 2 Thefts

Five juveniles have been charged by Tecumseh police with thefts from St. Elizabeth Catholic Church and St. Peter's Episcopal. The Catholic church robbery was reported to the police Friday evening.

According to Chief Murell Clark, the young boys took a public address system amplifier, valued at $500; a microphone, $200; and a microphone stand, valued at $13, all from St. Elizabeth.

All of these items plus several small items from the Episcopal Church have been recovered. The boys were noticed depositing the stolen items in a hole along the railroad tracks, just north of St. Peter's.

Chief Clark says there is a possibility that other youngsters also are involved.

Petitions have been prepared for Juvenile Court, which will then schedule hearings.

Pure Opening New Station

Lenawee Fuels, Inc., local bulk distributor here for the Pure Oil Co., has purchased the Texaco Service Station site on N. Evans St. for a new Pure station.

Partners of the firm, Donald Purkey and David Faling, sought the site the middle of last week and finally obtained permission Friday to establish their station.

Texaco closed the station approximately six months ago, and zoning here prohibits the re-opening of non-conforming businesses.

Less than six months ago, Lenawee Fuels and the Pure Oil Co. attempted to buy the Top Hat Restaurant site for a new station. Planning Commission approved and recommended a zoning change, but Council denied it after a public hearing.

FLAMES BLACKEN BASIN — A huge grass fire blackened over 200 acres of the River Raisin bottom here Tuesday afternoon. Fire reportedly started from a diesel and Raisin Fire Department is billing Penn-Central for $600, and Palmyra is silling for $200. Law officers stopped the train in Tecumseh.

TP Sales Up, Net Dips; New Plant Indicated

Although Tecumseh Products Company set a new sales record of $329,039,184 during 1968, net earnings dropped from the mark setting $15,700,631 of '67 to $14,399,457.

However, according to the recently released annual report of the Company, the net income figure for the year is still the second best in the history of the Products.

Kenneth Herrick, company president, explained in the annual report about the company's growth and expansion of facilities in the compressor and engine divisions and at Peerless Gear at Clinton.

In 1968, Products capital additions cost $6,700,000, and during the past three years the Company's expenditures for capital additions now total $21,000,000.

One of the most informative features of Mr. Herrick's report was the Company's announced plans of building a new plant for production of compressors, and at a new location. No information was released as to size of plant and prospective locations.

His statement is:

The Company is actively exploring the advisability and feasibility of establishing at a new location a manufacturing facility for the production of compressors to meet the expanding demand, particularly for compressors in air conditioning. Plans for such a new facility are in process and several different locations are being investigated and evaluated.

At the present, the Products produce compressors here and at its Marion plant.

Mr. Herrick's report cited higher labor costs — TP negotiated a three-year Union contract here in October after a six-week strike — but still "expects sales and earnings to continue at satisfactory levels during the first half of the year."

The local strike attributed to the company's net sales and undoubtedly caused the Products to slip below last year's record for net earnings.

The annual meeting of the shareholders will be held Wednesday, March 26, at 2:00 p.m. at the Tecumseh Country Club.

DRIVE NEARS END—Tecumseh United Methodist Church drive to raise $105,000 is nearing a conclusion with over $102,000 already contributed or pledged. This chart — held by Aden Mead, the Rev. Donald Porteous and Merlyn Downing — shows the campaign past the minimum needs goal of $100,000. Mr. Mead and Mr. Downing are drive co-chairmen.

Diesel Fires River Flats, Over 200 Acres Burn

Little rain or snow in February and now March has left Tecumseh and area tinder dry—as local fire departments will attest.

In the past week, Tecumseh, Clinton and Raisin firemen have had over 20 calls for grass fires and there seems no letup, although fire permits have been suspended.

The biggest grass fire in a long time developed here Tuesday afternoon when approximately 200 acres of the flatland along River Raisin, just south of Tecumseh and east of Raisin Center Hwy., were blackened. Sparks from a Penn-Central engine apparently started the fire.

The engine continued north from the area and into Tecumseh, where John Boudreau, conservation officer, halted it between Pottawatamie St. and Chicago Blvd. The diesel engine reportedly threw sparks from its stack. Another engine towed it back to Adrian.

Raisin Township firemen battled the grass fire for a short period of time and then summoned the Palmyra department. Tecumseh — which has no fire pact with Raisin — was not called, although three firemen, Chief Wallace MacGeorge, George Ruhl and Lonal Bishop volunteered and took the city's tanker to the scene.

Raisin, Palmyra and Tecumseh tankers were of little use as the firemen were unable to get the water to the fire over the rough terrain. City Manager Cal Zorn offered the township fire departments water at the corner of Russell Rd. and S. Evans, if it were needed. Shortly after Raisin firemen arrived at the scene, brooms were loaned by the Tecumseh department.

During the past 10 days, the local firemen have responded to 12 fires, of which nine were grass. So far this month, seven fire alarms have been answered — and without rain, the number of calls seem certain to increase.

John Escott, Raisin fire official, reports the township department has responded to eight fires in just a four-day period. He says Tuesday afternoon's fire along River Raisin resulted just after a big grass fire in the Laberdee and Case Rd. area, adjacent to the Penn-Central tracks.

Another fire occurred in this area Monday afternoon, but Tuesday's fire also apparently resulted from railroad's engine.

Mr. Escott reports 15 township firemen fought Tuesday afternoon's fire and four from the Palmyra department.

He said the township is billing Penn-Central $600 for the fire, and he understands Palmyra is asking for $200. Tecumseh is also considering a charge to the railroad for its three volunteers and water tanker. Escott asked law officers to stop the train.

Clinton also has had its share of fires since a week ago Wednesday. Its department reports 10 calls of which seven were grass. One alarm was for a car, one at the village dump and another to the Everett storage barn which detained firemen some four hours.

The present fire station and an adjacent service station at Clinton are currently being demolished for a new station. Sunday, fire trucks and equipment were moved to a vacant industrial plant, previously occupied by the Budd Co.

Britton has had four minor fires, and in most cases small extinguishers were used and it proved unnecessary to use its pumper and tanker.

Accident Victim Still Hospitalized

A two-car, headon collision on N. Evans St., just south of Macon Rd., sent two persons to Herrick Hospital Friday evening.

Still confined in the hospital and reported in serious condition is Anna Heimerdinger, about 80, of Clinton. William Houser, Jr., 42, of 2303 Occidental Rd., also was admitted to Herrick for treatment of knee injuries.

According to the police, the Clinton lady was headed north and Houser south when they collided headon in the southbound lane. Details as to how the mishap occurred are unknown, and the accident is still under investigation.

Police Chief Murell Clark says officers were unable to question Mrs. Heimerdinger until Monday evening, and she reportedly told them that she doesn't know how the accident happened.

No citations have been issued.

A resume of other accidents is:

Feb. 27 — Gerald L. Baker, 50, of 718 Ternes, reported to police that the under part of his car was damaged by chunks of asphalt on a poor section of S. Ottawa St. The exhaust pipe and gasoline tank sustained damages.

March 1 — Michael Mobley of 811 W. Russell Rd., reported his car damaged while parked in front of Lamb's Rexall in downtown Tecumseh. Other driver is unknown.

March 4 — I. V. Engle, 49, N. Raisin Center Hwy., was cited for failure to yield the right of way after running into Robert L. Hawkins, 20, of 310 Adrian St., at the intersection of W. Chicago Blvd. and Pearl St.

Police Hours Up for Courts

In his monthly report to Council Monday night, Police Chief Murell Clark reported 51 hours were spent by local officers at the District Courts in Adrian during February.

Upon questioning by Councilmen, he said this situation could become worst before any improvement, and that most of the time could be saved if the judges would hold court in Tecumseh.

In January, Tecumseh police spent 45 hours away from the city for arraignments and hearings in Adrian.

According to law, the judges must hold court in Tecumseh, but there's no indication of when they will do so. Chief Clark and James Beardsley, city attorney, both told officials a considerable amount of time could be saved by their officers if court were held here and if the local magistrate were allowed to conduct arraignments and handle other cases.

Both Yale Leland Kerby and Kenneth Glaser, judges, have indicated a willingness to hold court here if space were provided. City Council offered its chamber for $100 a month and agreed to the installation of necessary equipment.

Building and Grounds Committee of the County Supervisors objected to the rental fee, and has indicated to city officials that Tecumseh should provide space free-of-charge.

This committee, along with the old county Board of Supervisors, has spent over $100,000 for the purchase and remodeling of an ice cream parlor in Adrian for the District Courts. It's reported that even more money is being spent now at the court site and the eventual cost could be in the neighborhood of $120,000.

It's not known whether the Supervisors will authorize a court here or not after all the expenditures at the Adrian building.

Delay Annexing Apartment Site

Another delay in annexing approximately eight acres of Irelan property to the city occurred Monday evening when City Manager Cal Zorn reported that a resolution from Tecumseh Township had not been received.

According to a township official, the resolution was completed Monday afternoon and given to a city representative — not Mr. Zorn — for presentation at the Council session.

The site, just south of W. Chicago Blvd. and west of Occidental Rd., is for new apartment buildings. City Council had agreed at a previous meeting to favor annexation.

World Day of Prayer

A special observance of the World Day of Prayer will be held March 7 at the Tecumseh Friends Church, corner of W. Pottawatamie and S. Van Buren Sts.

The announcement was made by Mrs. Paul Brantingham, wife of the pastor, who said the following churches will participate in the services: Missionary Baptist, Church of the Nazarine, Raisin Center Friends, Church of God, and Assembly of God.

The World Day of Prayer is observed annually by churches throughout the world. "For a Broken World" is the theme for the observance this year.

The prayer booklet which will be used as a guide for services has been written by Agatha F. Partridge, Christian author and editor. The booklet, which contains devotional thoughts, responsive readings and hymn selections, is prepared and issued by the National Association of Evangelicals, a n organization representing 39 church denominations, which sponsors this world-wide observance.

Local services will be held at 7:30 p.m. The public is invited to attend.

Bids Are Sought For New Garage

Council authorized City Manager Cal Zorn to proceed with advertising for bids for a new 8,400-sq.-ft. city garage.

Mr. Zorn presented the architect's plans to Councilmen for review and answered questions relative to storage of city equipment and vehicles. He told officials that the building should suffice for many years to come.

He also said that he expects bids between $42,000 and $45,000, and based his expectations on previous estimates by contractors.

No Indy Race At Local MIS

A dispute which erupted between Michigan International Speedway and USAC, the ruling body of championship race cars, has caused the race card at the Irish Hills track to be missing an Indy event for 1969.

Three stock car races and two sports car-type races have been scheduled, but, the Indy-type, which opened the speedway last October, are not scheduled.

According to USAC officials the dispute centered around the guaranteed purse for the events. The speedway offer was below what the association was asking.

Loot Recovered

Police have recovered most of the loot stolen from Tecumseh stores last week with the exception of the rifles and power saws from Baldwin Hardware.

Items recovered include four television sets, two electric guitars and a battery pack from Flanders Music, practically all the money taken from the businesses, and a barber's jacket lifted at Tony's Barber Shop.

Mrs. William Flanders reports that their merchandise was damaged, including one electric guitar which was cracked. The cash taken in the burglary rampage—eight business places here were either entered or attempted entry was made — was found in a boot.

The stolen merchandise was discovered in a field near Tecumseh.

Police Chief Murell Clark says the department has a couple of suspects and are awaiting fingerprint reports for certain identification.

Three Rivers Is Exchange City

Tecumseh and Niles were paired last week in drawings for the Mayors' Exchange Day during Michigan Week—but Niles doesn't want to come to Tecumseh and asked for another pairing.

Mayor Harold Easton, who attended the drawing, along with City Manager Cal Zorn, told Councilmen here Monday evening that Niles officials would like to be paired with a community further away.

At Monday's session, officials had a choice of exchanging with Hastings or Three Rivers, and since Tecumseh and Three Rivers had never exchanged, Three Rivers was the choice.

8th Police Ball Set for March 29

The eighth annual Tecumseh policeman's ball will be held Saturday, March 29, at the United Products Union Hall on S. Maumee.

Music will be provided by The Four Notes.

Tickets for the dance may be purchased from any local police officer or at the department.

There are a limited number of the 1969 Michigan Highway maps available at The Herald office. Come in and pick one up.

Good red-blooded Americans are needed at the March 6 Red Cross Bloodmobile to be held at the Underwood-Orr American Legion Post Home from noon until 6 p.m. Mrs. Dyke Helms, city chairman, mentally sticks a pin in area residents to remind them of the date. Careful, Claire, we don't want any blood "spilled."

Jim and Shirley Lawson are celebrating their 16th anniversary in business this week. To show their appreciation for the public support they have received, a color television is being given away Saturday. "Come in and register Thursday, Friday or Saturday," says Shirley. "You need not be present to win."

Spring will officially arrive March 20 at 2:08 p.m., six hours later than last year, according to a University of Michigan astronomer. The sun will rise and set almost exactly at the east and west points and the day and night are said to be of equal length.

A "watch-a-macallit" which appears to be a handy gadget for a Boy Scout's camping trip, was found on the corner of N. Union and Pottawatamie, Monday morning, by Mrs. Marie Horak. Owner may identify and pick up at The Herald.

Cicero advised the politicians of his day: "The budget should be balanced, the Treasury should be refilled, the public debt should be reduced, the arrogance of officialdom should be tempered and controlled. Assistance to foreign lands should be curtailed lest Rome become bankrupt. The mob should be forced to work and not depend on government for subsistence." Rome did not take that advice and fell.

When last seen, The Herald's Society Editor, Dorothy Grigg, was heading homeward last Wednesday, with an unknown virus dogging her all the way. She hasn't been back since; we expect she's still locked in combat with the pesky critter. Oh, well, if the mighty government couldn't lick the common cold in time to send the astronauts to the moon on schedule, we shouldn't feel too bad if some of the social news doesn't get into the paper until next week.

Sgt. Frankhouse Awarded 'Star'

Army Sgt. Gary L. Frankhouse, 20, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Frankhouse, 705 Seneca St., received the Silver Star at ceremonies near Ch Chi in the Republic of Vietnam. Sgt. Frankhouse received the award for gallantry against enemy forces on Christmas Eve of last year.

At the same ceremonies he was also presented the Bronze Star for heroism in connection with military operations against hostile forces on October 26. He was also named the soldier of the month for 2nd Bn., 12th Infantry, 25th Infantry Division.

The Silver Star is the third highest honor to be bestowed upon men in the armed forces. The Bronze Star is also one of the highest honors accorded servicemen.

He entered the Army in March 1968 and was stationed at Ft. Polk, La., before arriving overseas in August of the same year.

Sgt. Frankhouse is a 1966 graduate of Jefferson High School in Monroe.

He was a Pfc. at the time of his first honor, shortly promoted to Sp/4 and on Feb. 1, 1969, attained the rank of sergeant.

His citation for the Silver Star read: "For gallantry in action: Specialist Four Frankhouse distinguished himself for heroic actions on 24 December 1968 while serving as a squad leader with Company D, 2d Battalion, 12th Infantry Division, the Republic of Vietnam. While on a combat operation, Company D came under a treacherous barrage of communist automatic weapons and RPG fire.

"Specialist Frankhouse, reacting immediately dauntlessly exposed himself to the fierce Viet Cong shellings as he placed lethal suppressive fire on the enemy positions. Observing a wounded comrade in severe pain, and in an exposed position, Specialist Frankhouse courageously moved through the bullet-swept area toward the endangered soldier. Although seriously wounded attempting to reach his comrade, Specialist Frankhouse ignored his injury and continued through the hail of exploding projectiles to the aid of his colleague.

"Upon reaching his fellow soldier, Specialist Frankhouse immediately applied lifesaving aid, simultaneously placing blazing M-16 fire on the fanatical aggressors.

"With complete disregard for his personal safety, Specialist Frankhouse remained in an exposed position protecting his injured comrade until the enemy attack was thwarted. His valorous actions were responsible for saving his comrade's life.

"Specialist Frankhouse's personal bravery, aggressiveness, and devotion to duty are in keeping with the highest traditions of the military service and reflect great credit upon himself, his unit, the 25th Infantry Division, and the United States Army.

"By Direction of the President under the provision of the Act of Congress, approved 9 July 1918."

During the above stated confrontation with the enemy, Sgt. Frankhouse was wounded in the arm.

In the citation for the Bronze Star, it was stated: "While on a reconnaissance in force mission, Company D came under intense enemy small arms and automatic weapons fire from a well-entrenched enemy force. Private Frankhouse, being situated on the left flank, unhesitantly commenced to throw hand grenades and place effective fire on the enemy positions.

"With complete disregard for his own safety, he moved forward to inspect the enemy positions. Private Frankhouse spotted three insurgents fleeing from their location, and immediately rushed forward to engage and destroy them. His valorous actions contributed immeasurably to the defeat of the aggressors and success of the mission."

Don't Blame Merchants

"No Students Allowed During Lunch Hour."

This and similar signs are posted in most downtown Tecumseh stores — and we can't blame the business folks. Apparently, the only solution of eliminating shop lifting by students is a closed campus, a situation which will not exist until a new high school is built.

Local merchants have lost hundreds and hundreds of dollars in articles, ranging from record albums to clothing, radios to sporting goods, and just about everything else that can be carried out the front door or rear door.

If shoplifting is to be eliminated, both the students and their parents will have to cooperate.

The student can help most by not shoplifting in the first place. A student, or a group of students, can avoid suspicion by not loitering in and around stores. Shop owners are not stupid and blind, but they simply are unable to cope with a large number of teenagers browsing around their shops.

This is the reason for the signs. They don't want you in their shops unless you are in there for busisnss — not stealing. Unfortunately, there's probably only a small group which casts suspicions on the others.

Parents can help the merchants dilemma by inquiring about merchandise which just happens to show up at home. Where did you get it? How much did you pay for it?

We need to respect our students, and most of us do respect the majority. We would like to have them respect us and our property.

Settle Differences Now

On June 26, 1968, the City of Tecumseh was in trouble with a flooding, rampaging River Raisin. The city's disposal plant was in jeopardy of being flooded.

We needed help — and got it voluntarily from Raisin Township. There's no doubt that such help will ever be forgotten here by local officials.

Tuesday afternoon, the Raisin Fire Department needed help, and within a half mile of Tecumseh. A big grass fire was engulfing the basin along River Raisin. The township called Palmyra, some seven or eight miles away.

Why not Tecumseh, less than a half-mile away?

We know that Raisin and Tecumseh no longer have a fire pact and there has been needless friction between the two for many years. We also know that there were several Tecumseh firemen — three actually went — who would have gladly responded.

In a situation which could be seriously damaging, we're sure that local firemen would have volunteered to help Raisin folks in just the same manner that they helped us.

We still have Russell Rd. and some past differences dividing us. It's unfortunate.

We should sit down and discuss our problems, working out solutions beneficial to both. Cooperation is needed by both. It should not take a flood or a disastrous fire — which the grass fire was not — to bring Raisin and Tecumseh together.

VIEWING THE RUINS — Donald Everett, center with cap and fur collared jacket, views the remains of his storage shed which burned to the ground in an early morning fire Tuesday. The building was a complete loss.

Fire Destroys Storage Barn

A bad cat that sometimes claws the furniture, perhaps saved a house from burning early Tuesday morning at the Donald Everett residence at 5750 Pennington Rd. Mr. Everett awoke to sounds of cracking or scratching. The family owns a pet who sharpens its claws on furniture. He was about to find the cat when he looked out the window and noticed that it was bright outside. The light was from a fire in a barn near the rear of the Everett house. The sounds he had heard were that of the flames gutting the building.

He summoned the Tecumseh and Clinton Fire Departments who responded. They managed to save the house but the refrigerated storage shed and its contents were destroyed. No complete estimate of damage was available. Several thousand cabbage crates and 19 tons of fertilizer were among the contents.

The 20' x 40' structure was a complete loss. Firemen battled the fire for over three hours to save the house and keep the fire from spreading.

Mr. Everett had just removed 2,600 bushels of apples from the storage and shut down the refrigeration unit on March 1. So the damage estimate was reduced.

He said that at times they had worried about living so far in the country whether a fire department would be able to respond in time to be of help, after the fire Tuesday, he said that they did an admirable job and he had nothing but praise for both Tecumseh and Clinton Fire Departments.

The Everetts who have lived at the Pennington Rd. address for four years have suffered somewhat from what Mr. Everett called a "jinx." Shortly after they moved into the home, the Palm Sunday tornado hit and part of the roof of the storage shed and the chimney of the house were destroyed. The chimney fell through the roof of the house and caused considerable damage.

Another time a hail storm which ripped the area destroyed a complete crop of cabbage and tomatoes. The Everetts are truck farmers.

Tuesday morning he said, "I hope it's all over. First the tornado, then the hail and now this. It makes you feel like you want to quit, but you don't I guess."

Attend Leadermete in Lansing

Lenawee County delegates to the 4-H Leadermete Conference held at the Kellogg Center at Michigan State University, last weekend, were Mr. and Mrs. Elwood Bush of Tecumseh; Martha Osburn, of Tipton; Alan Gould of Morenci; and Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Terry of Blissfield.

This year the program was designed to bring to the attention of the leaders the role of Teen Leader development in all phases of the 4-H program and is the first time teens have been invited to participate in the annual conference. Martha and Alan represented the Teen Leaders of Lenawee County.

The purpose of the conference was five-fold. 1. To give recognition to the leaders for their contributions to the 4-H programs. 2. To give inspiration and support. 3. To provide an educational opportunity for discussion of 4-H Leaders' and Teen Leaders' opportunities and responsibilities. 4. To stimulate an exchange of ideas by leaders and teen leaders from all over the state. 5. To serve as a task force across Michigan in the more significant involvement of teens.

Praise Police

Copy of letter to Murell Clark, Chief of Police.

Dear Chief,

As Pastor of St. Elizabeth Church I want to express the sincere appreciation of all the members of my Parish for the outstanding police work which resulted in the quick apprehension of the juveniles who robbed St. Elizabeth Church Friday afternoon, February 28, and the prompt recovery of our stolen property.

In particular I would like to cite the outstanding work on this case by Officer Richard Royal who worked on this case on his own time together with the outstanding work of Gerry Green and Jerry Anderson. We feel that the people of Tecumseh can be justly proud of their Police Force and their constant work to maintain law and order.

It seems to me most unfortunate that some parents care so little for their teen age children that they allow them to break the laws of our community without fear of parental punishment. I would hope that the apprehension of these individuals will act as a deterrent in the future to all who contemplate violation of any properties, especially Church properties.

With my strong backing and sincere encouragement, I remain

Cordially yours,
Father Robert J. Handley,
Pastor.
St. Elizabeth Church.

At Museums

Mr. and Mrs. Russell Lawhead of 515 Russell Rd., recently visited the state-owned Ringling Museums while vacationing on Florida's lower west coast.

The Ringling Museums are the foremost cultural center in southeastern United States. Situated on 68 tropically-landscaped acres in Sarasota, they were a gift of John Ringling to the state, and are operated in the cultural and education interests of Florida residents and visitors.

Clinton School Driving Policy

Since bus service is provided to students living outside of the village and the school is centrally located within the village, it is felt that only under special circumstances such as participation in vocational-technical school, extra curricular activities, or employment, is student driving to school necessary. The school stands in "loco parentis" of its students from the time they board the bus or arrive at school in the morning until they get off the bus or leave the school at the end of the day. Therefore, the school must assume responsibility for student conduct, including automobile driving during this period.

Student driving before school, at noon, and after school, both in the immediate school vicinity and the greater community, is becoming an increasingly dangerous and undesirable situation.

It therefore shall be the policy of Clinton Community Schools that all student driving during the above described time shall be controlled by school officials.

Administrative Regulations

1. A student who drives to school must immediately upon arrival at school park his car in the school parking lot.
2. No driving shall be allowed from arrival at school, including noon hour, until departure from school without the written approval of the principal's office.
3. At no time immediately before and after school, or during the school day, will unnecessary driving be permitted in the immediate school vicinity by students.
4. The parking lot is controlled by the school. Therefore, all regulations governing student conduct shall apply to this area.
5. Infractions of any of the above regulations shall be disciplined through detention, suspension or other appropriate measures, including legal prosecution and ultimately expulsion from school.

The school administration is seeking the community support on this matter, and is requesting that anyone who notices a student driving in the village during school hours should call the school office to facilitate enforcement.

Letters to the Editor

TO THE EDITOR:

Last Friday, during the sixth and seventh hours an assembly was presented in the THS gymnasium. The presentation, made by Evangelist Joe H. Schultz and a mannequin, focused itself on the evils of teen-age sex.

The program, which incidentally had a religious orientation, was divided into two parts. The first consisted of a dialogue between the dummy and Mr. Schultz set to the tune of our times by several jokes, which are best described as ranging from ancient to vulgar. The first half climaxed with a fascinating magic show which symbolically represented God as a multi-coloured handkerchief. The second portion hit upon a more serious note intended to educate the student body to the evils of sexual intercourse. This was done by use of mesmerizing imagery which depicted sexual intercourse as a bomb with a fuse lit by the fires of licentiousness. Mr. Schultz supported his opinions with some very persuasive statistics concerning the frequency of pregnancies occurring in drive-in theaters, a vivid word picture of the deterioration caused by venereal disease, and never a dull moment!) several of his singular witticisms which primarily concerned techniques of "necking".

The general results of this stirring episode in the exciting history of THS assemblies were varied. Upon exiting from the gymnasium several people were obviously on the verge of nausea (if memory serves me correctly, Mr. Schultz repeatedly recommended nausea by saying, "Go ahead, barf!") Others were bordering on hysteria from the amusing nature of his brilliant dialogue. I cannot speak for the whole student body, or even a large minority, but I was personally apalled by this uncivil presentation. It seems to me that if a student behaved in a similar manner he would be promptly disciplined.

In conclusion, I can only hope that my fellow students have the intelligence, self respect and value judgment to have been uninfluenced by this obnoxious display and, if possible, to let their displeasure be heard and felt about this and future incidents (hopefully there will be no reoccurrence) of a similar nature.

Hopefully yours,
Michael W. Murphy.

Musings

by Bill Sanford

She could be beguiling when she had to be, the face on the Grecian Urn, the symbol of sweet innocent purity and the devilishness of a thousand years of courtesans.

If you see her briefly she is just another child 10 and awkward. See her twice and she is still 10 and awkward. See her every day of your life and she is the crowning beauty of feminity.

She is 10 because she was born 10 years ago. She is 90 because her curiosity will not allow her the mere age of 10. She is between the ages of "no-no" and imponderable question.

She is at that age where messianic dreams fill her days and nights. A trip through skid row and she is going to open a mission and save the souls of its inhabitants. Take her to see the "Nutcracker Suite" and you suddenly have a pint-sized Maria Tallchief dancing the Sugar Plum Fairy on your hands.

Imply that she is difficult and she retorts that "thee are much more difficult than me." She is at that age when you begin to believe that she will understand most things of great importance and at last the chance comes to use big, full sentences and words and she will comprehend them. Then she befuddles you by not understanding at all. You find that her sophistication is just a facade upon the last dying moments of her childhood.

She is a tender orchid groping slowly toward the sunlight. You and what you are become the umbrella under which she huddles when the clouds blot out the sunlight. When disaster strikes in the way of a blemish on the complexion, a broken doll cradled since two, or the insult of some acned "monster" of likewise age, it is your lapel onto which the tender tears of 10 are shed.

Fathers and daughters form strong relationships. Those relationships are strengths not only of a nation, but, better yet, of a civilization. I wish more people knew that. I wish more people understood that there is only one world, one civilization with different tastes and cultures and opinions. There are no individual worlds of mores or morals or any other code of human relationship, only one, the brotherhood and compassion of the statement, "I am my brother's keeper."

Too often we forget that once we were young, that once we stood upon the springboard to the future and viewed the vast and cynical world that little understood the toy-sized universe of the young.

If we build only for ourselves, when we die, so will what we have built tumble into dust and rubble. It will live only so long as we live. In the young lies the only chance for immortality.

When a child fails in the world, more than likely the adults around him or her, drew a line and compounded the influence and failures of their existence and made the child live up to it, temporarily.

If the young of today want to find a better world and a better way, wish them God-speed, don't throw obstacles in their way. If they can build a better world let them build away, how could anyone but a half-wit be jealous of such a noble thing as that.

The blueprint for a better civilization, one that can live in peace; free from poverty and injustice is not contained in a fist-full of money, only the better product is, in small print, e pluribus unum, one of many.

More young people today enter services to mankind that any time in history. A symbol of caring. Prosperity or the pursuit of happiness, whichever you prefer, cannot be founded in an isolated area surrounded by the bleached and dried bones of less fortunate individuals or nations. E pluribus unum, one of many, and the young who realize that will be richer for it, not poorer.

Like the father and the daughter who fleetingly passed my history, the elders of society must be the umbrella, the warriors returning from battle, defeated, yet not beaten. They must hand over the lance and the torch, then whatever is built will be a part of them.

Memoriam

In memory of Mrs. Elizabeth Hamilton, who passed away March 6, 1960.

It's a lonely life without you
And sad has been each day.
For life and home are not the same
Since you were called away.
God gave us a wonderful mother—
Her memory will never grow old;
He fashioned her life on the sunshine
And moulded her heart with pure gold.

Indians Win Season Finale

The Tecumseh Indians ended their regular season last Friday night on a bright note, downing Monroe Jefferson, 73-55. Nine players figured in the scoring for Tecumseh as the scoring was even among the starting players.

Tecumseh ended the regular season with a 4-8 league record. The Indians led throughout the game with the exception of the opening minutes and then the spread was never more than two points.

Unable to muster an offensive against the Tribe, the Jefferson Bears were hit with turnovers, fouls and an inability to control the boards.

Five of Tecumseh's players hit for double figures. Jim Hunt leading the way with 14. Bill Puffer tossing in 13, John Kennedy added 12, Steve Dalton and Wally Quinn each posted 11.

The Indians will be heading into the tournament against Ypsilanti Lincoln at Saline High School. The Ypsi team has a 7-9 record compared to 5-11 overall for Tecumseh. Of the teams playing at Saline, only Milan has a winning record. With some luck and determination the Tribe could take the district crown.

The season, dismal from the standpoint of wins and losses, is misleading. The Indians have been tough against some better opponents only to lose in the closing moments.

The Indians are a formidable team and well balanced and a win Wednesday night could pave the way for better things.

Shooting Match Winner Decided

The final Rifle Club shooting match has been held and winners determined. The match was carried over a four-week period. Each team used best of three kicker handicap scores.

Bob Cheers and Ray Smith were winners with a 3488 score.

Bob Erpelding and Gordon Grieman nosed out Bob Lowe and Pard Diver for second place with 3411.

Individual honors went to Bob Cheers with the best total score of 1781, two points better than Erpelding's 1779.

Lowe fired the best score 597, and Don Withrow shot the best for the course of fire with 274.

Floyd Barrett will handle the tickets.

Tories and Minutemen

By BILL SANFORD

If the British Tories had had the luck against the Minutemen as Britton's Tories had against the Deerfield Minutemen, we would all be addressing each other, "I say old boy," and tea would be the national drink. The Toryland Raiders unleashed a 101 point attack against the Minutemen that would have sent Paul Revere running the other way.

The Tories sent ten men to the floor and all ten contributed to the point total with Rick Maska leading the way with 18 points. Five players hit for double figures and performed in a balanced team attack.

Dave Fairbanks tossed in 16, Jim Skelton on 15 and Jim Brown and Rick Hetrick each contributed 13. The Tories burst to a demanding 23-7 first quarter score and the Minutemen seemed far outclassed. In the second period Deerfield came back to match Britton's 22 but it still wasn't enough. In the third period the teams played fairly even with the Tories gaining a three point edge 19-16.

The fourth quarter started with the subs going in for Britton to give them experience and a shot at playing for the league champs. Deerfield put on a shooting display of 27 points, good against most any other team, but the smaller Tories responded with 37 counters to give the tournament bound Tories their 101-72 win.

Wayne Plotter was high point man for the Minutemen with 17 points.

The Tories will face their first test in the tournament on Wednesday night against Adrian Catholic Central in the Adrian High gym in the second round of district Class D tournament play.

The game begins at 8:30 p.m. If the Tories win they will meet the winner of the Sand Creek-Deerfield game played earlier on Wednesday.

Perhaps history wasn't changed with the clash of the Tories and the Minutemen, however, history has changed for the community of Britton and their basketball fortunes. A couple of dismal seasons have been forgotten in the wake of an undefeated season.

Facts on Mental Health

(EDITOR'S NOTE — The Lenawee County mental Health Board has printed a fact sheet explaining the proposed program for mental health in Lenawee County. Following is a digest of a report prepared for the Board of Supervisors and the public.)

Since the fall of 1967 a committee, appointed by the Lenawee County Board of Supervisors, has been studying the mental health needs of Lenawee County, the largest county in Michigan to be without any type of mental health services.

This committee completed its studies and reported back to the Lenawee Board of Supervisors July of 1968 and their major recommendation was that the county affiliate itself with the state through the provisions of Act 54 of the Michigan Statutes and established a Mental Health Board for Lenawee County.

The county supervisors acted favorably on this recommendation and in August 1968 passed a resolution adopting Act 54 and in September 1968 appointed a community Mental Health Board in accordance with that Act. The members appointed to the Act 54 Mental Health Board have completed the work of the previous study committee and have prepared a plan for comprehensive mental health services for all of Lenawee County.

The Mental Health Center, through its professional staff, will provide a variety of services in order to meet the different needs of the mentally and emotionally handicapped citizens of our county. Among these are:

In-patient care — Many people currently being sent to Ypsilanti State Hospital, Ann Arbor, or Toledo could be cared for in our community near their families and friends if in-patient services were available. The Mental Health Center will work with Bixby Hospital in the development of a program to provide short term psychiatric treatment in Bixby Hospital. A written commitment from Bixby has been secured by the mental health board.

Out-patient care — Many people, both children and adults, have emotional problems but do not require hospitalization if treatment is begun early. The provision of an out-patient service within Lenawee County will make it possible for these people to receive the necessary counseling treatment.

Emergency care—Through the out-patient center and in-patient facilities it will be possible to provide immediate care and treatment for the occasional psychiatric emergency that develops. This would make it unnecessary to confine people in jail or for families to care for severely disturbed persons until proper care could be provided. The occasional psychiatric emergency, such as the suicidal patient, could be assured of immediate, adequate, care locally.

Specialized children's services — The specialized resources of the Huron Valley Child Guidance Clinic will continue to be utilized for those children who are in need of this service. The Mental Health Center will develop working agreements with the Huron Valley Clinic so that the clinic will be able to work directly in Lenawee County, thereby making it unnecessary for parents, children and others to make the trip to the Huron Valley Clinic in Ypsilanti.

Consultation and education — One of the major concerns of the Mental Health Center will be the prevention of emotional illness whenever possible. In order to do this the center staff will provide an educational program throughout the county and will also serve as consultants with the various concerned professions such as doctors, school personnel, social agencies, etc. This consultation will be available on a regularly scheduled basis but will also be available on an emergency basis through telephone contacts with center personnel. Such consultation services are presently inadequate and sporadic.

All residents of Lenawee County will be eligible for services of the center. Individuals will be encouraged to come to the center directly if they feel the need of help or will be referred by local professional persons and agencies.

The center will be staffed by highly trained, professionally competent persons. Among the staff members will be psychiatrists (doctors with special training in mental illness); psychologists; psychiatric social workers; and other specialists. They will work under the direction of a center administrator and a medical director co-ordinated by the Mental Health Board.

Persons receiving services from the center will be charged a fee if they are financially able to pay for the service. Those individuals who are unable to pay will receive the services either at a reduced rate or free of charge. In addition to fees the center will receive funds from a number of state and local resources. For the first year of operation the following funds will be needed:

Income expected from fees	$ 8,282.00*
Present contributions from community chests	5,200.00
Present county appropriation to Huron Valley Child Guidance Clinic	8,025.00
Additional appropriations from Lenawee County Board of Supervisors to Mental Health Center	9,975.00
State funds (through Act 54)	94,446.00
TOTAL FUNDS	$125,928.00

*Approximately $4,300 of the income from fees is being paid at present time to the Huron Valley Child Guidance Clinic.

The total budget outlined above, $125,928.00, will provide $85,928.00 for the staffing and establishing of the Lenawee County Mental Health Center providing new services in Lenawee County. The budget includes $40,000 for the continuation of services by the Huron Valley Child Guidance Clinic working towards the establishment of a local office of that agency in Lenawee County.

It has been the experience of other counties that the cost of institutionalization in mental hospitals has been reduced by shortening hospital stay and providing mental health services on a local level.

Perfect Season for JV's

By DAVE KELLEY

Jerry Warner, who scored his first basket of the year, summed up the season for the Tecumseh High JV basketball team, "Coach it was a heck of a year." The JV's had just scored their 16th triumph of the season to become the first undefeated basketball team from Tecumseh.

Coach Jim Curth said of the team, "The Tecumseh 16-0 season was able because of the teamwork, defense and hustle of all 13 players."

In Friday's final game it was again a balanced attack that paved the way for a crushing 61-29 victory over Monroe Jefferson.

Forward Alex Gibson finished the season as high point man with 15 counters and 12 rebounds. He hit on 5 out of 5 filed goals and made five out of six at the charity stripe.

Scott Dalton stole the ball nine times and passed off for scores or scored himself. He ended the game with 11 points and nine assists. His defensive ability was a highlight all season.

Craig Smith dropped in nine tallies and ended his career as a JV player as the most-improved man on the Indian team. His game average over the season was tied with Gibson with a 12.8.

Richard Filber, son of Mr. and Mrs. Fred J. Filber, was initiated as an active member of the Alpha Theta Chapter Phi Kappa Phi fraternity at Michigan State University, Jan. 19. He is a second year student of Corporation Insurance.

Coach Curth had praise for Rich Schuyler. "His hustle was a big factor in our 16-0 record." He came off the bench midway through the season and came up with a 10-point average and finished in third place in rebounds behind taller Bob Pettit and Gib. He was another of the Indians that gave 100% all season long.

Social Ways To Be Shown

Martha Osborn, Susan Ries, Dave Cole, Elaine Kalnbach, and Roger Sherman, who have recently returned from a Camp Kett Recreation Training Lab, will be conducting District Leadermettes in Lenawee County this month.

This recreation team will be sharing ideas on drama, music, games for socializing, and simple musical games and folk dances at the Northeast District meeting, Tuesday, March 4, at the Tecumseh Community Center, at 7:30 p.m.

Gary Alcock came off the bench Friday to replace injured Bob Pettit and tossed in four points in the Indian rout. He was also strong on the boards and all season long came off the bench to give Pettit rest and the team didn't suffer.

Pettit, who broke his wrist last week against Blissfield, sat out the entire game.

All five starters figured in a 26-4 lead early in the second period giving no doubts that the JV's would not win their 16th.

As the lead grew the coach cleared the bench and Tom Laferriere, Tony Lisenbee, Frank Geissnhaver, Greg Burns, Paul Randall, Jerry Warner and Rich Hierholzer came in to keep the attack moving.

Curth also praised the work of his right-hand men, the managers, following the season finale, Doug Wheeler, Rich Johnson and Mike Seitz.

Tecumseh proved throughout the season that they are the No. 1 JV team in Southeastern Michigan. To quote Jerry Warner, "Yes, it was a heck of a season."

Mr. and Mrs. Elwod Bush and Martha Osburn of Tipton attended the state 4-H Leadermete on the Michigan State University campus March 1 and 2.

Youth Wage Own Campaign

Seventy boys in two Health classes at Onsted School and their teacher, Harvey Jackson, have established another first in Lenawee County for that school located in the northwest section.

The morning class of 35 seventh grade boys decided that a campaign against alcohol and tobacco was in order. They were soon joined by 35 boys in the afternoon Health class. Committees were set up to make posters, organize skits and publicize the drive including a button committee. Thursday afternoon, finishing touches were added to the skits admirably presented with humor and accuracy and a rare bit of acting by the young men.

One — a take-off on the Mike Douglas show — with George Metzli as "Skip" Douglas and Dr. Rinaski by Donald Ryan, presented enumerable facts about the effects of tobacco and alcohol on the body.

Robert Fox was the cameraman for "Wildcat TV Onsted Channel 25."

In direct contrast to the infamous Hippies and Yippies, the boys were neatly dressed in sport coats, slacks, while shirts and ties.

Dr. Rinaski informed his audience that in contrast to many commercials telling how refreshing, relaxing, good tasting and "they help one to enjoy life more fully," statistics show that "cigarettes cause coughing, shortness of breath, bronchitis, lung cancer, heart disease, emphysema and many smokers pay with their lives."

Other skits were presented with Gregg Yeutter as Dr. Dill Pickle, assisted by Larry Lambes, as the experimental mouse.

Lambes also gave a note of reality to "The Bum on the Corner" as he coughed his way to perdition before the eyes of a group of his fellow students in spite of the efforts of Charles Nelson.

Those on the skit committee was Larry Lambes, Jay Vandergriff, Charles Nelson, chairman; Greg Yeutter, Mark Bishop, Tim Lowe, Len Neeb, Mark Stock and Robert Fox. Len Neeb as Grandma and Jim Lowe as Grandpa, both heavy smokers and drinkers, with Greg Yeutter as narrator and Ken Lerch as cameraman, was well received.

Mike Yoder was chairman of the button committee with Chris Pelham, Royal Gentz, Darwin Sherlock, Dale Clark and Stephen Harris assisting.

Brad Butler had charge of advertising with Greg Fisher, Larry Schultis, Paul Crouch, Leonard Cote, Archie Ross and Peter Glancy helping.

Posters for the halls and bulletin boards of the school were arranged with Tim Hubbard, Terry Furgason, Michael Ruttkofsky and Ron Smith in charge.

The future Wildcat football, basketball and other sportsmen are wholeheartedly supported by their parents in the current drive even though many parents indulge in the habits the boys are trying to curb in the community.

Several radio stations have presented live broadcasts of the efforts of the boys which certainly livened the interest of the other grades at Onsted who were given the full treatment the fore part of this week in an assembly program.

THE LITTLE BLACK AND WHITE CREEPERS

Well, last week I tried to do an article about the black and white creepers but it just would not work for me. There were simply too many outside interruptions to do much concentrating on inside things. It has turned out to be a whole week of interruptions.

The cedar waxwings hung around for the better part of five days; chickadees, goldfinches, tufted titmice, and an unusually bright male cardinal kept the feeders busy; a muskrat worked along the edge of the creek and was most interested in an old log which years ago wedged itself against the bank; and, although we did not see the whole flock that visited in Gertie S.'s back yard, two evening grosbeaks wandered this way far enough so that we had good looks at them.

Today is the black and white creeper's day, Marda — you may have to put on blinders or perhaps even close the drapes, please though summon up all sorts of will power, or something and try to stay inside.

It was Clara who started all of this black and white creeper business. She was being royally entertained by one and wondered if we had any, had we ever had them and weren't they around unusually early?

We followed the usual procedure when such questions arise — I sent Gertie T. scurrying to the bird books. For once they almost let me down. I finished my search and reading with more questions than answers.

FIRST AND foremost there is confusion about the name. These are tiny little birds, no more than five inches long. Both male and female are completely covered with black and white stripes and, oh, yes, all of the books manage to mention that usually the females were slightly duller.

They are most often found nimbly scrambling up and down tree trunks, exploring each little crevice and cranny with their bills in hopes of finding a tasty tidbit for lunch.

They act much like the brown creepers and, since their black and white markings are so distinctive, isn't it natural to assume that they would be called black and white creepers? However, for no explained reason, we found them usually being called black and white warblers.

My next complaint about the treatment these cute little characters receive in the bird books is that the write-ups are sketchy and present nothing but basic facts. They do nothing to give the little guys any character.

Of course, it is important to know their length and coloration, and that they nest on the ground in slightly protected hollows which are carefully filled with leaves, grass, rootlets, etc., and that their migratory range places this area as being in about the middle of their summer territory while the cold weather months may find them anywhere from Florida to Venezuela and Ecudor. There must be more though.

NATIONAL GEOGRAPHIC Society came to my rescue. In their book, "Song and Garden Birds of North America", copyrighted in 1964, the partial answer is given as to why Clara's little black and white creeper, or warbler, is here so early.

They say that whereas most warblers start their journey north to coincide with the leafing out of the trees, these birds may arrive a month early. Unless we can stretch a month a great deal, a black and white creeper in mid-February would bring the rest of the warbler clan here in March and, let us face it, that just is not going to happen. As we said, however that these birds are early migrators is at least a start on the why they are here now.

My faith in bird books was restored by a marvelous old N. G. S. publication, this one with a copyright date of 1918. We have often notices that in these older books they take the time to use a bit of personality, wit, and charm.

For example, I love to read, "None of the warblers are noted as songsters, but the black and white creeper, as I like best to call it, emits a series of thin wiry notes which we may call a song by courtesy only."

So it is that I needed neither blinders nor pulled drapes today, the outside world behaved itself and allowed me to "get on" with the little black and white creeper.

SINGING SEMINARIANS — March 11, the Singing Seminarians of Ashbury College will present a concert of sacred music at the United Metho dist Church. The Seminarians are one of the longest established vocal groups of their kind.

Singing Seminarians Present Concert Here

The Singing Seminarians, one of the longest-established (26 years) and best-known choral groups in the United States, is presenting a concert of sacred music at the Tecumseh United Methodist Church on Tuesday, March 11, at 7:30 p.m.

The twenty-four young men who compose this group are students at Asbury Theological Seminary in Wilmore, Ky. They offer a varied program including early church classics, spirituals, and modern hymn arrangements under the direction of Professor John S. Tremaine who is Associate Professor of Church Music and Head of the Department of Music at Asbury.

Professor Tremaine received his Master Music degree from Wayne State University. During World War II he served as Director of Music for the Treasure Island Naval Base and led the famed Chapel Choir during a world-wide broadcast opening the United Nations Organizing Conference. Following this he served as Minister of Music in several large churches, the most recent appointment being that of Minister of Music at Mulberry Street Methodist Church, Macon, Ga.

During the Singing Seminarians' Mid-west tour this spring they will give 19 concerts in 15 days. Traveling with the singers are the director, Professor Tremaine, and his wife; the accompanist, C. Barron Buchanon, and the President of Asbury Seminary, Dr. Frank Stanger. These people will be guests in Methodist homes for their overnight stay in Tecumseh.

An invitation is extended from the Methodist congregation to the community to share in this sacred concert. The program is open to the public without charge. A free will offering will be taken, however, to defray the group's travel expenses.
